Muir Beach Home Raided As Pot Market

Narcotics agents swooped down on a pleasant two-bedroom house overlooking Muir Beach last night and arrested its two long-haired occupants, charging that the youths had been conducting a thriving marijuana business.

Booked into Marin County jail were Jeffrey James Morse, 22, and William Mansfield Graham, 19, who both live at the Sunset Way house.

Also arrested were two other young men and a 17-year-old boy, who arrived together while agents were arresting Morse and Graham.

William Edward Pola, 20, and Charles Bede Benedetto, 19, both of Alameda, were booked on suspicion of marijuana possession after agents said they found marijuana in their car and a marijuana cigarette in Pola's possession.

The 17-year-old was cited to juvenile hall. Agents did not arrest a fourth youth who accompanied the three arrested.

Officers arrived at the house about 9 p.m. armed with a search warrant which they had abtained after numerous reports that the traffic of visitors to Morse and Graham's home seemed extremely large.

In the home, where a marijuana plant grew in a pot beside a television set, the six agents found six kilos of marijuana, hashish, suspected LSD and "a great deal of paraphernalia," according to Lt. James Schwedhelm, head of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

About $1,000 was also found in the house, Schwedhelm said, and one of the visitors, Pola, had $300 with him.

Agents said they believed Morse and Graham were volume marijuana dealers, who specialized in selling the weed in kilo quantities.

Morse and Graham were booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale, possession of dangerous drugs and cultivation of marijuana.

They were held without bail today.

One U.C. Student Expelled; Wild Fracas Leads To Use Of Mace

COMBINED AP & UPI

BERKELEY — University of California officials announced today disciplinary action against 89 students and former students for their strike activities.

The action came as some 100 striking teaching assistants paraded at five campus entrances. Tight security was enforced at violence-rocked Sproul Hall and at off-campus University Hall, where U.C. Regents were meeting.

Richard Hafner Jr., public information officer, said the first student has been dismissed for actions taken during the current chaotic student strike. He declined to give his name.

Hafner said 11 other students have been suspended, 49 face a disciplinary hearing which could lead to suspensions and 28 former students have been barred from readmission.

The wildest confrontation yet between militants and police during the one-month strike by a minority of the school's 28,000 students yesterday produced two dozen arrests and five injuries. Sixteen windows were broken and countless other incidents of vandalism occurred, after law school students defied a rally ban.

For the first time since the strike by the Third World Liberation Front began on behalf of the autonomous Third World College, police frequently used Mace in their efforts to disperse hundreds of protesters and onlookers.

Officers were pelted with rocks, bottles, eggs, stink and smoke bombs, apples, oranges and even one fire bomb as they tried to keep the Sather Gate clear.

Strike leaders, alarmed at the stick-swinging violence, exhorted their supporters to disperse and go home, but were ignored.

Another new development found 200 members of the American Federation of Teachers joining the picket line. The AFT voted an official walkout Tuesday after police arrested 15 teaching assistants picketing

Regents Get Hiring Blast, Budget Squeeze Complaints

BERKELEY (AP) — University of California regents met today across the street from the troubled Berkeley campus and prepared for protests from legislators as well as students. U.C. officials also voiced concern over budget cuts.

Three Republican legislators announced their opposition yesterday to the one-year rehiring of philosophy Prof. Herbert Marcuse on the San Diego campus.

Marcuse, 71, is the author of books popular among some student activists.

"Dr. Marcuse has been issuing a call to arms to students . . ." Assemblyman John Stull of Leucadia said in Sacramento.

Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes of San Diego and Sen. James Whetmore of La Habra sad they sent telegrams to regents' Chairman Dewitt A. Higgs of San Diego asking the board to veto San Diego Chancellor William McGill's decision to rehire Marcuse for one year.

Marcuse has said, "The Russians consider me an agent of Wall Street. There must be something good about me if I'm equally condemned by both sides."

The university faces "a grave financial problem" of turning away qualified students in the next 10 years unless more construction money is provided, U.C. President Charles J. Hitch warned today.

Hitch reported to the regents on Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed 1969-70 state budget, which provides $331.6 million for operations and pay raises and $82.3 million for new buildings.

The proposed operations budget will allow U.C. "to meet its critical workload needs, as well as fund a few improvements and new programs," Hitch said. However, he also reported that the governor's budget provides

Bomb Raid On Clinic Kills 45

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — A welfare clinic was bombed in Umuahia today and 45 people were killed, the Biafran Information Ministry reported.

Several other buildings were destroyed in the raid, which officials said was carried out by a federal Nigerian plane.

A Biafran Health Ministry official said that about 200 women and their babies attend the clinic daily. Some had just left the building when the plane attacked.

State Campus Quiet But Words Fly Over Issues

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's been quiet on the San Francisco State campus since spring semester opened Monday — off campus, words continue to fly over a number of issues.

There were few pickets on campus and only one minor disruption in a classroom reported yesterday.

However, the reason for the quiet may be that radical students want to attend class to make sure they are officially enrolled for the spring semester. And striking professors want to register those taking a class.

The some 200 faculty members involved in the strike also wish to make sure the administration doesn't drop their courses from the schedule.

In other developments:

George Yamamoto, manager of student finances at the school, flatly denied there has been any mismanagement of student funds. He was the first witness at a Superior Court hearing to determine whether the freeze on student funds should be made permanent. College Acting President S. I. Hayakawa asserted earlier this week that as much as $100,000 had been misspent by the pro-strike student government.

Gov. Ronald Reagan and former President Robert Smith of San Francisco State College were in disagreement today over who gave the governor a report students had been enrolled at knifepoint.

The governor told a UPI newsman yesterday Smith disclosed the incident to him at a closed-door session of the trustees. An aide to the governor said it was during the trustees' November meeting. It was at this meet Smith resigned and Hayakawa was selected as acting president.

"He must be mistaken," Smith said. "I did not even know of such an incident and, therefore, how could I have reported it?"

The college issued a statement saying Reagan's report was "absolutely, categorically, positively untrue."

State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke confirmed the incident occurred but said the student involved denied any threats were made at knifepoint.

Charles Stone, dean of admissions at San Francisco State, denied he enrolled any students under threats of force.

"I have been pressured in various ways but never threatened with bodily harm or with weapons," he said.

Washington's Birthday Is Semiholiday

All Marin and Sonoma County schools and Novato city offices will close tomorrow in observance of Washington's Birthday which falls on Saturday.

Other city and county offices, banks and businesses will be open tomorrow, but it will be a holiday for all but necessary personnel at Hamilton Air Force Base.

On Saturday, all union barber shops throughout Marin will be closed, according to Manuel Martin, secretary of the Barber's Union.

Post offices will close Saturday and there will be no mail deliveries.

Also scheduled for closing Saturday are most Mill Valley stores, 47 of 75 San Anselmo businesses surveyed and real estate offices in Sausalito, according to chambers of commerce in those cities. Most supermarkets will be closed.

Most businesses in other cities will remain open, with many holding special Washington Birthday sales.

Parking will be free Saturday in all Marin cities except Sausalito, whose meters will be working.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

33,000 Draft Call For April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, maintaining high induction levels this year, called today for the drafting of 33,000 men in April.

The Selective Service System was asked to draft 30,500 for the Army and 2,500 for the Marines.

Draft calls have been relatively high this year as the Pentagon prepares to release thousands of reservists and National Guard who were ordered up in 1968 after the Pueblo crisis in Korea and the Tet offensive in Vietnam.

A total of 26,800 men were sought in January. Other draft calls this year included February's 33,700 and March's 33,100.

U.S. Asks Geneva Viet Plan

PARIS (UPI) — The United States called today for a return to the 1954 Geneva agreements which ended the French Indo-China War and said there must be a mutual de-escalation of the Vietnam War if there is to be peace.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said the de-escalation was "an absolutely essential first step." And he impatiently rejected once again the Communist demand the Americans pull out of Vietnam, unconditionally, as a first step at another peace conference noons.

Backed by South Vietnamese chief delegate Pham Dang Lam, Lodge accused the Communists of hampering the progress of the month-old conference by failing to make concrete proposals while insisting on demands they knew were unacceptable.

SUPPORTED PACTS

The Geneva agreements were a set of documents which ended the French colonial war in Indochina. The United States, which did not sign them, nevertheless supported their provisions.

Lodge urged the Communist delegates to discuss with the allies such key provisions of the accords as the establishment of a Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) along the 17th parallel, the disengagement of opposing military forces, the cessation of hostilities, the non-intervention by the South and the North in one another's internal affairs and the impartial international policing of the agreements.

HANOI'S POLICY

On the Communist insistence on a U.S. military pullout Lodge said the Hanoi and Viet Cong negotiators "obviously recognize that the solution of military issues is an absolutely essential first step for the creation of conditions in which the political problems can be resolved."

Turning a deaf ear to the Allied appeals, Viet Cong delegation chief Tran Buu Kiem and North Vietnamese chief negotiator Xuan Thuy repeated all over again that the Americans must pull out of Vietnam without any condition.

Today's session lasted 5½ hours, the shortest since the expanded talks began Jan. 18. The delegates agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Outgoing American deputy negotiator Cyrus R. Vance predicted yesterday that peace eventually would emerge from the talks, but he cautioned that the search would be long and arduous.

Splitting Tam High District Is Proposed

Three-Way Slicing Asked, October Ballot Requested

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A school district unification plan breaking Tamalpais High School District up into three unified districts was tentatively proposed last night by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The action could mean that the districts' voters, who twice before have rejected unification plans, will be asked again in October for their approval.

The tentative proposal would form one unified district in the present Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area plus the Bolinas-Stinson School District, one in the Redwood High School attendance area and one in the Tamalpais High School attendance area except for Bolinas-Stinson.

The proposal, to be put before the taxpayers at a series of public meetings next month, was opposed only by committeeman Galen Williams, who said to put it before the public now would almost insure its defeat.

Committeeman Helen L. Gardner abstained from voting and committeeman Roy Parks was absent.

Although Williams, of Mill Valley, said he favored the three-district unification proposal, he insisted an election on it should be put off.

If an election is not held in October, one could not be held until next June.

Pointing to recent defeats of school bond issues, Williams told the committee, "I am as anxious as anyone to proceed . . . but I question whether right now is a good time for a unification election."

Committeeman David D. Ring agreed that most taxpayers "have reached the point that they feel they are not going to spend a penny more than they have to on education." But he

Aby To Run Again For Mayor's Position

Dr. Charles W. Aby, former San Rafael councilman who lost a bid for mayor four years ago, filed yesterday for an April 15 rematch with the man who defeated him, Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

Meanwhile, an 11th hour rush of candidates has expanded the contest for two city council seats into an eight-man race. Only the incumbents, Harry A. Barbier and Frederick C. Robbins, had submitted official papers to City Clerk W. C. Cornwell as of noon yesterday.

The filing deadline for the mayor's post, council seats and two seats on the San Rafael Board of Education was noon today.

Aby, who resigned from the council in 1967 after 16 years, took out his nomination papers yesterday and filed them shortly afterward.

Bettini, who defeated Aby in 1965 and was unopposed in 1967, previously had filed to seek reelection.

The third candidate in the race for mayor is Arthur F. Dieters, proprietor of Marin Upholstery.

Atty. Joseph D. Dahlman and George S. Burton, a commercial truck dealer, who were unsuccessful candidates two years ago, have again entered the council race.

Newcomers are John J. Adams, a planning commissioner and San Francisco auto sales executive, Thomas H. Litz, a systems analyst, of 1350 Lincoln Avenue; Ray White of 169 Greenwood Avenue, executive manager of the Redwood Empire Sheet Metal and Air Conditioners Association, and Benjamin F. Walton of 165 Park Street, who has led a drive to turn the San Rafael courthouse into a museum.

Burton, 40, of 19 Hacienda Court, is general manager of San Rafael Sales and has attended all council sessions for the past two years.

Dahlman was one of the applicants for the seat vacated when Louis H. Baar became a county supervisor last month, but the appointment went to Robbins, a former planning commissioner.

Alone in the race for two seats on the board of education are the incumbents, Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Paul L. Jones.

FAST CHANGE ARTIST USES NEW MATH?

A San Rafael department store cashier was bilked of $10 yesterday by a fast shuffling con man who confused her with some tricky money changing.

Betty Marie Nevi, a cashier at F. W. Woolworths, told police the man came up to her cashier cage and asked her for a $10 bill in exchange for 10 $1 bills. She handed him the $10 bill before discovering he had only given her eight $1 bills.

When she told him this, the con man was willing to take the eight ones back, then asked her to change a $20 bill. She did and he had left the store before she realized she had not taken the original $10 bill back.

Atty. Joseph D. Dahlman and George S. Burton, a commercial truck dealer, who were unsuccessful candidates two years ago, have again entered the council race.

Newcomers are John J. Adams, a planning commissioner and San Francisco auto sales executive, Thomas H. Litz, a systems analyst, of 1350 Lincoln Avenue; Ray White of 169 Greenwood Avenue, executive manager of the Redwood Empire Sheet Metal and Air Conditioners Association, and Benjamin F. Walton of 165 Park Street, who has led a drive to turn the San Rafael courthouse into a museum.

Burton, 40, of 19 Hacienda Court, is general manager of San Rafael Sales and has attended all council sessions for the past two years.

Dahlman was one of the applicants for the seat vacated when Louis H. Baar became a county supervisor last month, but the appointment went to Robbins, a former planning commissioner.

Alone in the race for two seats on the board of education are the incumbents, Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Paul L. Jones.

FAST CHANGE ARTIST USES NEW MATH?

A San Rafael department store cashier was bilked of $10 yesterday by a fast shuffling con man who confused her with some tricky money changing.

Betty Marie Nevi, a cashier at F. W. Woolworths, told police the man came up to her cashier cage and asked her for a $10 bill in exchange for 10 $1 bills. She handed him the $10 bill before discovering he had only given her eight $1 bills.

When she told him this, the con man was willing to take the eight ones back, then asked her to change a $20 bill. She did and he had left the store before she realized she had not taken the original $10 bill back.

Muskie Hints Presidential Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the Democrats' unsuccessful candidate for vice president last year, says he is more and more interested in his party's presidential nomination in 1972.

Muskie

But, Muskie told a news conference yesterday, "whatever enthusisasm I am able to generate may cool off."

He said a presidential race is "quite an undertaking for a man without means. It becomes more awesome the more I contemplate it."

And he said he is not surprised at recents polls showing that Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts is the leading prospect.

To Grant Asylum?

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish government is considering a demand by left-wing groups that it grant political asylum to deserters from the U. S. armed forces.

Some 175 American servicemen have been given "humanitarian" asylum in Sweden. But Interior Minister Erik Holmqvist pointed out Tuesday their status is reviewed every three months, and they can be expelled if they violate Sweden's laws. If the deserters were considered political refugees, they would have greater security and would not risk expulsion.

In the same period, local church courts in Roman Catholic dioceses annulled 369 marriages, all but nine of them in Italy.

Increase Voted On Water Rates

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 20 per cent increase in water rates for the 160 customers of the Coast Springs Water Co. at Dillon Beach was approved yesterday by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The increased rates will be effective March 1.

The commission's staff estimated that the gross revenues of the company would go from $13,250 to $15,900 at the new rates, and net revenues will go from $720 to $3,000 a year.

Fourteen customers objected to the hike, the commission said, generally on the ground that they used their cabins for short periods during the year. The commission, however, said the water system had to be run all year, "whether the customers are there continuously or not."

Outlines Program

WASHINGTON (AP — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says broad legislation to revamp the system of federal aid to the states must be passed to meet a fiscal crisis that is resulting in "annual rounds of tax increases facing state and local governments."

He outlined his proposal yesterday to the District of Columbia chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

Rockefeller proposed a plan to consolidate "categorical" grants into bloc grants for general purposes, create a national contributory health insurance system and establish federal standards and financing for welfare programs.

RICHMOND (UPI) — A strike continues at the Standard Oil Co. refinery, where police had to be called yesterday to allow workers through the plant's gates.

Violence broke out at the refinery when some pickets among a group of 150, began heckling non-striking employees and throwing objects. Police then moved the picket lines away from the entrance as guards guided workers through the gates.

Nixon's OEO Split Draws Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading congressional antipoverty warrior has attacked President Nixon's plan to remove two key agencies from the Office of Economic Opportunity. But despite the harsh words, the administration's program appears in no danger.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., of the House Education and Labor Committee said the administration plan to shift OEO's showcase Head Start to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and Job Corps to the Labor Department was a "tragic mistake" that would leave OEO "to defend less popular programs."

NO 'GOODIES'

Another House source said that by taking away OEO's most dramatic and appealing programs "we simply won't have the goodies to get the votes" if it comes to a showdown next year on whether to wipe out the antipoverty agency altogether.

In the Senate, however, Wisconsin Democrat Gaylord Nelson said that the programs handled by OEO covered only 10 per cent of the government's over-all poverty attack.

"We need some kind of new job creation program, fitted into a comprehensive manpower policy," Nelson said in a favorable reaction to Nixon's plan.

The Wisconsin Senator is the new chairman of the Senate subcommittee on employment, manpower and poverty which handles OEO legislation.

OEO TO SURVIVE

Nixon announced yesterday he would keep OEO alive but would turn Head Start and the Job Corps over to old-line departments.

Both Democrats and Republicans at the Capitol praised the message although there were dissenters besides Perkins.

Some Democrats said they felt it marked a considerable retreat from GOP statements in the 1968 campaign that OEO should be downgraded or abolished.

Both Senate and House Labor committees indicated they hoped to start hearings on OEO legislation in April.

Cong Held Poised For Saigon Drive

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military advisers said today the Viet Cong have more forces now for an attack on Saigon and the provinces around it than they had for the big Tet offensive a year ago.

The American officers conceded they were uncertain when, where or if the Communist command would launch its long anticipated big push. But they said captured documents and prisoners of war still point to an offensive in the Third Corps Area, which is made up of Saigon and 11 provinces around it.

Assessing the current military situation around the capital, the analysts said either the enemy has not been able to get his troops, munitions and food supplies into position because of U.S. and South Vietnamese spoiling actions, or he is awaiting advice from Hanoi's diplomats at the Paris peace talks.

"The enemy's over-all strength in Third Corps has increased about 7,500 over the last 13 months to 65,000," said one source. About 20,000 to 30,000 of these are considered assault troops, the rest support forces. The total includes several thousand operating from bases just across the border in Cambodia who move in and out of South Vietnam at will and are within easy striking distance of Saigon.

The allies have roughtly 50,000 combat infantrymen in the area.

Because of last year's Tet offensive, many observers anticipated some kind of spectacular Viet Cong move during the lunar new year holidays this week.

Meanwhile the U.S. Command said in its weekly casualty report today that 197 Americans were killed in action last week and 1,103 were wounded, pushing the total number of Americans wounded in the war past the 200,000 mark.

The official count shows 31,759 Americans have died in combat since Jan. 1, 1961, and 200,792 have been wounded.

The casualty figures for last week were about the average for recent months. The command said 2,549 enemy soldiers were killed last week, bringing the total for the war to 447,356. The number of enemy dead for the previous week had been reported earlier as 2,264 but was increased today to 2,467 on the basis of later reports.

The Saigon government's weekly casualty count was delayed, apparently due to the Tet lunar new year holidays.

Postmasters Patronage Wiped Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 2,200 acting postmasters—plus 467 Johnson administration nominees who never were confirmed—are out of their jobs with the disclosure that the new administration considers all current Civil Service lists void.

The announcement came yesterday from Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, giving patronage-conscious members of his party something to cheer about. It means Republicans will have at least an equal chance with Democrats to compete for the jobs, which pay from $5,600 to $27,000 annually.

These jobs, Blount explained, will be filled under new nonpolitical procedures based on merit and developed to implement the new administration's program to put the postal system on a sound management basis.

The Post Office, under every postmaster general since Benjamin Franklin, has been the primary governmental agency through which the party in power could reward its faithful.

The policy prevailed during the Johnson administration but President Nixon changed it. He said postmasters would be chosen on merit.

News Blackout Blasts Campus Disturbances

COMBINED AP & UPI

"It is the fashion now to protest. . . .

"For this day we choose to follow the fashion. We protest the attention, concern and indulgence that have been accorded to student protesters on university campuses all over the world. We think they have generated news out of all proportion to their numbers and importance.

"As a demonstration of our protest we are refraining from printing any news about protesting students today. Tomorrow we shall go back to reporting this story. It is our responsibility to print the news whether we find it pleasing or repugnant," it said.

At Oberlin, Ohio, changing demonstrators blocked three Marine Corps recruiters from a placement office at Oberlin College today in the first such confrontation here since October, 1967.

A group of students demanding a black studies program entered the Administration Building at Eastern Michigan University today. Scores were promptly arrested and charged with trespassing.

Students at predominantly Negro Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Ala., successfully boycotted classes yesterday and vowed to enforce the strike until demands were met. About 200 university of Oregon students marched through campus to protest classes being held during a memorial observance of the murder of Malcolm X.

About 1,000 National Guardsmen remained stationed near the University of Wisconsin, and disciplinary moves were taken against militants at the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois and Roosevelt University in Chicago.

Tam High District Split Into Three Parts Proposed

said he didn't think waiting would help, adding that he felt there was a "strong possibility, I'd even say probability" that any unification effort would fail whether voted on this year or next.

The committee's chairman, Rachel P. Conner, emphasized that adopting the tentative proposal did not commit the panel to an October election although the committee views that as a target date for the election. Nor does it mean that the committee cannot reverse itself and come up with another plan, she said.

If the committee does decide on October for the election, it must come up with a final proposal to present to the state Board of Education for its approval no later than June.

The four-hour meeting, ending at midnight, attracted a large and vocal audience, many of them school teachers in the affected areas. The session was prolonged when committee members and several members of the audience became embroiled in a lengthy, repetitive and often bitter argument over whether to include a controversial section on election procedures in the proposal.

The debate centered on whether the election should be held by individual districts or on a districtwide basis. Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino has ruled that there are three options open: a districtwide election requiring majority approval as in the privious unsuccessful tries; a vote by district under which any district voting for unification would be unified, and a district vote requiring approval by each district before any district could be unified.

Williams argued that the section should be included in the tentative proposal so public reaction could be gauged. Ring contended that the question was "far too important" to make any commitments on yet, although Williams and others countered that the tentative proposal still could be changed.

In a wide-ranging debate which occasionally slipped from Mrs. Conner's control, various members of the audience challenged each of the alternate election choices as unfair.

The panel, however, eventually refused to include the section, voting to table, by a 7 to 3 split, a motion by committeeman J. R. B. Ellis to set the eletcion by districts.

One young woman in the audience, an advocate of districtwide voting, said after the tabling action, "I think I'm going to cry." Earlier, she had protested that a district-by-district vote would make it possible for "a minority . . . a very small minority" to defeat unification.

At another point, a male teacher in the audience demanded — and got — the floor to lecture the committee on democracy and the degrees of democracy inherent in each method of voting.

Some of the audience said it would be undemocratic for voters of a single district to be able to defeat the over-all proposal while others argued that it was just as undemocratic to allow a districtwide vote which could impose unification on a district which voted against it.

"You can't let a minority thwart the will of the majority and still sit there and talk about the blessings of democracy," one participant said.

"We can't please everyone," Mrs. Conner replied.

The proposal also included a section on the tax rate for the unified districts which said the maximum permissible tax rate would be that which would produce the same amount of revenue for the unified district that the legal maximum tax rates in the component districts would produce.

Another, relatively non-controversial feature of the tentative proposal, called for at-large elections of seven trustees from each district.

Before approving the proposal, the committee discussed a welter of statistical tables supplied by the county schools office projecting such items for the proposed unified districts as tax rates, assessed valuation, enrollments, teachers' salaries and even the racial makeup of the districts' schools.

One set of figures, admittedly based on "several assumptions," showed a projected tax rate of $5.20 per $100 assessed valuation in the Drake district where rates now range from $4.17 in Bolinas-Stinson to $5.04 in San Anselmo. In the Redwood area, where present rates go from $4.98 in Ross to $5.24 in Larkspur, the projected tax rate was $4.90. In the Tamalpais area, now $4.82 at Mill Valley and $5.22 in Sausalito, the rate was projected at $4.86.

Public hearings on the proposal were set for March 19 at Drake High, March 20 at Tamalpais and March 25 at Redwood.

40 Planes Join Hunt For Lost Airliner

Forty planes, three of them from Hamilton Air Force Base, were reported aloft today and in the search for a DC-3 missing for two days since leaving Hawthorne, Nev., with 35 persons aboard.

The Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton said clearing skies permitted the widening search but that it would be extremely difficult to spot the white plane in the snow-covered Hawthorne-Dyer-Basalt area.

Leon Uris' Young Wife Found Dead

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Author Leon Uris' bride of six months was found dead today near the couple's Red Mountain home overlooking this Rocky Mountain ski resort, Pitkin County Sheriff Carroll Whitmire reported.

Whitmire confirmed the body of Mrs. Uris, who had been reported missing last night, was found, but said no other details would be disclosed until an investigation had progressed further.

The cause of death was not known immediately.

Uris is a former resident of Larkspur.

Mrs. Uris, 25, was born Marjorie Edwards and came to Aspen in 1965 from New York, where she had been modeling. It was here she met Uris, 44, whose first marriage ended in divorce in January 1968.

They were married last Sept. 8. It was her first marriage. Uris and his bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharpless Edwards of Philadelphia, had spent much time recently in Hollywood, where the author was working on the screen play for his novel, "Topaz." Both were in Aspen this week.

Other notable works by Uris include "Exodus," "Battle Cry," "Mila 18" and "The Angry Hills."

Wreckage Of Small Plane Is Located

The wreckage of one plane, missing from Clear Lake since yesterday, was reported located today by the Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton Air Force Base, while a search was launched for two others missing.

The Lake County wreck was believed to be that of a small plane piloted by James Prather of Clear Lake who left nearby Lampson Field at 4:30 p.m. yesterday. Lake County sheriff's deputies were working their way today toward the crash scene in the coastal mountains about seven miles from the field.

A Cesna 310 approaching Reno at 12:24 p.m. yesterday, disappeared from the radar about 35 miles north of Reno. It had four passengers, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Holtz, all of Seattle. Civil Air Patrol units and ground crews were looking for that plane today, base officials reported.

Another plane, piloted by L. Fudge of La Habre, left Troutdale, Ore., headed for Fullerton, Orange County. He was last heard from at 2 p.m. yesterday at Chico, according to the rescue center. The search for the plane is centering around the Lan-

Hitch's main concern was with the construction budget.

Reagan's capital outlay budget for U.C. contains only about one half the money requested by the university. The state college system's construction budget also was cut drastically.

State Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger said earlier this month that failure of Prop. 3, the $250 million education construction bond issue, last November sharply reduced expected money for new buildings.

Thief Smashes Way Into Rod, Gun Club

The Marin Rod and Gun Club at 2675 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, was burglarized Wednesday night of an undetermined amount of cash and possibly some liquor and cigarettes, police reported.

school students invaded Stone's office to demand admission to college. Stone talked to them and said he could not guarantee admission but offered to resign his job. His resignation was rejected by college officials.

San Francisco's mayor Joseph L. Alioto and author Herman Kahn failed to see eye to eye on campus disorders.

The two rapid-fire speakers appeared yesterday before the Western Investment Forum where Alioto said that Gov. Ronald Reagan's "classes at bayonet point" was not the answer to campus problems.

"We've said in this state — erroneously—we're not going to negotiate with you (striking teachers), and I think we're wrong," he told the 350 business specialists.

He said teachers and dissenting students should be given the "right of consultation, the right to be heard, the machinery to be heard, and consideration for their judgment."

He told the women in the audience that once "you had to bomb buildings and wield hatchets before you got the vote."

The portly Kahn, author and director of New York's Hudson Institute, said that there were "new elements" concerning today's militants.

He said that aside from the young people in countries like Israel, those in "every nation affected by unrest" are up against nothing—whether the need to earn a living, concern over national interest or religious injunctions — that forces them "to stay in touch with reality."

Dissidents from affluent backgrounds who did not have to work often feel that destruction of property is not "very important." And coming from "permissive" families where corporal punishment is seldom used, the young activists are on a collision course with working class police who "don't mind fighting" and feel punishment is proper, Kahn said.

About 100 student strikers got involved in a bottle-throwing episode with a soft drink delivery man who tried to break through the students blocking traffic.

Alameda County sheriff's department spokesmen said one deputy required medical treatment and nine of those arrested were chargd with assaulting an officer. Four students were treated at the campus hospital for minor injuries and then released.

Other developments:

It was learned that a group of faculty members has been assigned to act as observers in the basement of Sproul Hall where those arrested are held temporarily by police.

Thirteen persons signed a letter charging "very bloody beatings by plainclothesmen and Alameda County sheriff's deputies" and cited two specific incidents.

News Blackout Blasts Campus Disturbances

"It is the fashion now to protest. . . .

"For this day we choose to follow the fashion. We protest the attention, concern and indulgence that have been accorded to student protesters on university campuses all over the world. We think they have generated news out of all proportion to their numbers and importance.

"As a demonstration of our protest we are refraining from printing any news about protesting students today. Tomorrow we shall go back to reporting this story. It is our responsibility to print the news whether we find it pleasing or repugnant," it said.

A group of students demanding a black studies program entered the Administration Building at Eastern Michigan University today. Scores were promptly arrested and charged with trespassing.

Students at predominantly Negro Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Ala., successfully boycotted classes yesterday and vowed to enforce the strike until demands were met. Tam High District Split Into Three Parts Proposed said he didn't think waiting would help, adding that he felt there was a "strong possibility, I'd even say probability" that any unification effort would fail whether voted on this year or next.

The committee's chairman, Rachel P. Conner, emphasized that adopting the tentative proposal did not commit the panel to an October election although the committee views that as a target date for the election. Nor does it mean that the committee cannot reverse itself and come up with another plan, she said.

If the committee does decide on October for the election, it must come up with a final proposal to present to the state Board of Education for its approval no later than June.

The four-hour meeting, ending at midnight, attracted a large and vocal audience, many of them school teachers in the affected areas. The session was prolonged when committee members and several members of the audience became embroiled in a lengthy, repetitive and often bitter argument over whether to include a controversial section on election procedures in the proposal.

The debate centered on whether the election should be held by individual districts or on a districtwide basis. Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino has ruled that there are three options open: a districtwide election requiring majority approval as in the privious unsuccessful tries; a vote by district under which any district voting for unification would be unified, and a district vote requiring approval by each district before any district could be unified.

Williams argued that the section should be included in the tentative proposal so public reaction could be gauged. Ring contended that the question was "far too important" to make any commitments on yet, although Williams and others countered that the tentative proposal still could be changed.

In a wide-ranging debate which occasionally slipped from Mrs. Conner's control, various members of the audience challenged each of the alternate election choices as unfair.

The panel, however, eventually refused to include the section, voting to table, by a 7 to 3 split, a motion by committeeman J. R. B. Ellis to set the eletcion by districts.

One young woman in the audience, an advocate of districtwide voting, said after the tabling action, "I think I'm going to cry." Earlier, she had protested that a district-by-district vote would make it possible for "a minority . . . a very small minority" to defeat unification.

At another point, a male teacher in the audience demanded — and got — the floor to lecture the committee on democracy and the degrees of democracy inherent in each method of voting.

Some of the audience said it would be undemocratic for voters of a single district to be able to defeat the over-all proposal while others argued that it was just as undemocratic to allow a districtwide vote which could impose unification on a district which voted against it.

"You can't let a minority thwart the will of the majority and still sit there and talk about the blessings of democracy," one participant said.

"We can't please everyone," Mrs. Conner replied.

The proposal also included a section on the tax rate for the unified districts which said the maximum permissible tax rate would be that which would produce the same amount of revenue for the unified district that the legal maximum tax rates in the component districts would produce.

Before approving the proposal, the committee discussed a welter of statistical tables supplied by the county schools office projecting such items for the proposed unified districts as tax rates, assessed valuation, enrollments, teachers' salaries and even the racial makeup of the districts' schools.

One set of figures, admittedly based on "several assumptions," showed a projected tax rate of $5.20 per $100 assessed valuation in the Drake district where rates now range from $4.17 in Bolinas-Stinson to $5.04 in San Anselmo. In the Redwood area, where present rates go from $4.98 in Ross to $5.24 in Larkspur, the projected tax rate was $4.90. In the Tamalpais area, now $4.82 at Mill Valley and $5.22 in Sausalito, the rate was projected at $4.86.

Public hearings on the proposal were set for March 19 at Drake High, March 20 at Tamalpais and March 25 at Redwood.

40 Planes Join Hunt For Lost Airliner

Forty planes, three of them from Hamilton Air Force Base, were reported aloft today and in the search for a DC-3 missing for two days since leaving Hawthorne, Nev., with 35 persons aboard.

The Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton said clearing skies permitted the widening search but that it would be extremely difficult to spot the white plane in the snow-covered Hawthorne-Dyer-Basalt area.

Leon Uris' Young Wife Found Dead

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Author Leon Uris' bride of six months was found dead today near the couple's Red Mountain home overlooking this Rocky Mountain ski resort, Pitkin County Sheriff Carroll Whitmire reported.

Whitmire confirmed the body of Mrs. Uris, who had been reported missing last night, was found, but said no other details would be disclosed until an investigation had progressed further.

The cause of death was not known immediately.

Uris is a former resident of Larkspur.

Mrs. Uris, 25, was born Marjorie Edwards and came to Aspen in 1965 from New York, where she had been modeling. It was here she met Uris, 44, whose first marriage ended in divorce in January 1968.

They were married last Sept. 8. It was her first marriage. Uris and his bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharpless Edwards of Philadelphia, had spent much time recently in Hollywood, where the author was working on the screen play for his novel, "Topaz." Both were in Aspen this week.

Other notable works by Uris include "Exodus," "Battle Cry," "Mila 18" and "The Angry Hills."

Wreckage Of Small Plane Is Located

The wreckage of one plane, missing from Clear Lake since yesterday, was reported located today by the Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton Air Force Base, while a search was launched for two others missing.

The Lake County wreck was believed to be that of a small plane piloted by James Prather of Clear Lake who left nearby Lampson Field at 4:30 p.m. yesterday. Lake County sheriff's deputies were working their way today toward the crash scene in the coastal mountains about seven miles from the field.

A Cesna 310 approaching Reno at 12:24 p.m. yesterday, disappeared from the radar about 35 miles north of Reno. It had four passengers, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Holtz, all of Seattle. Civil Air Patrol units and ground crews were looking for that plane today, base officials reported.

Another plane, piloted by L. Fudge of La Habre, left Troutdale, Ore., headed for Fullerton, Orange County. He was last heard from at 2 p.m. yesterday at Chico, according to the rescue center. The search for the plane is centering around the Lan-

Hitch's main concern was with the construction budget.

Reagan's capital outlay budget for U.C. contains only about one half the money requested by the university. The state college system's construction budget also was cut drastically.

State Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger said earlier this month that failure of Prop. 3, the $250 million education construction bond issue, last November sharply reduced expected money for new buildings.

Thief Smashes Way Into Rod, Gun Club

The Marin Rod and Gun Club at 2675 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, was burglarized Wednesday night of an undetermined amount of cash and possibly some liquor and cigarettes, police reported.

school students invaded Stone's office to demand admission to college. Stone talked to them and said he could not guarantee admission but offered to resign his job. His resignation was rejected by college officials.

San Francisco's mayor Joseph L. Alioto and author Herman Kahn failed to see eye to eye on campus disorders.

The two rapid-fire speakers appeared yesterday before the Western Investment Forum where Alioto said that Gov. Ronald Reagan's "classes at bayonet point" was not the answer to campus problems.

"We've said in this state — erroneously—we're not going to negotiate with you (striking teachers), and I think we're wrong," he told the 350 business specialists.

He said teachers and dissenting students should be given the "right of consultation, the right to be heard, the machinery to be heard, and consideration for their judgment."

He told the women in the audience that once "you had to bomb buildings and wield hatchets before you got the vote."

The portly Kahn, author and director of New York's Hudson Institute, said that there were "new elements" concerning today's militants.

He said that aside from the young people in countries like Israel, those in "every nation affected by unrest" are up against nothing—whether the need to earn a living, concern over national interest or religious injunctions — that forces them "to stay in touch with reality."

Dissidents from affluent backgrounds who did not have to work often feel that destruction of property is not "very important." And coming from "permissive" families where corporal punishment is seldom used, the young activists are on a collision course with working class police who "don't mind fighting" and feel punishment is proper, Kahn said.

About 100 student strikers got involved in a bottle-throwing episode with a soft drink delivery man who tried to break through the students blocking traffic.

Alameda County sheriff's department spokesmen said one deputy required medical treatment and nine of those arrested were chargd with assaulting an officer. Four students were treated at the campus hospital for minor injuries and then released.

Other developments:

It was learned that a group of faculty members has been assigned to act as observers in the basement of Sproul Hall where those arrested are held temporarily by police.

Thirteen persons signed a letter charging "very bloody beatings by plainclothesmen and Alameda County sheriff's deputies" and cited two specific incidents.

Iraquis Execute 7 As Spies; No Jews

BEIRUT (UPI)—Iraq today executed seven men convicted of spying for Israel and put their bodies on public display in Baghdad's Liberation Square, Radio Baghdad reported.

An eighth man convicted on similar charges had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment because he had cooperated with Iraqi authorities in smashing a spy ring, the broadcast said. A ninth man is still at large but faces the same charges.

A tenth, alleged leader of an Israeli spy ring, was reported in custody awaiting trial.

The executions were carried out in the predawn hours today only hours after an edited version of the trial was broadcast over Baghdad Radio and television. The trial by a three-man revolutionary court took place Feb. 11.

A later announcement by Baghdad Radio said four civilians had been hanged in prison and three Iraqi soldiers had been executed by firing squad.

"The bodies of the traitors now hang in Liberation Square," a commentator said.

None of those executed or convicted was a Jew.

It recalled a similar execution Jan. 27 in which the Iraqi regime put the bodies of 14 alleged Israeli spies—nine of them Jews—on display, some of them in the same square.

That display in front of thousands of cheering Iraqis brought worldwide dismay. Iraq's staunchest Arab neighbors either deplored or ignored the act. Iraq snapped at them for non-support.

The prosecution at the Feb. 11 trial presented evidence that the men had been sending reports on Iraqi army posts and installations in Jordan to Israel. It claimed the men were caught "red-handed" on Dec. 1 in Jordan.

Another Iraqi, arrested with the eight tried and convicted Feb. 11, is accused of being the ringleader of the spy network and will be tried separately.

There will not be any increase in flying activity as this is an exercise for ground crews, according to base officials.

Five per cent of the U.S. poultry industry is in Texas.

If you commute-read this.

Five years ago KGO Radio innovated Helicopter Traffic reporting with Lu Hurley and the "Hurleybird". When you hit that freeway every morning and evening you realize how much the Bay Area and its traffic problem has grown.

So do we, and that's why we have added the KGO FLEXIBLE FLYER.

What is the Flexible Flyer? It's a fixed wing aircraft, piloted every weekday during Newsbeat Morning and Evening Editions by Kip Webster of Flight Safety, and it doubles commute traffic coverage on KGO. For example, when Lu is over Marin, Kip can be checking out the Nimitz Freeway. Or while Lu is hovering to get a closer look at a San Francisco accident, Kip will be high above the San Jose freeways.

The map shows that both aircraft have specific flight plans, but either Lu or Kip will deviate instantly when a traffic emergency dictates.

So if you commute, remember the HURLEYBIRD and THE FLEXIBLE FLYER are up there every morning and evening getting you where you're going; a little safer, a little faster.

Lynwood Park To Vote New Board

The names of six new members and four present members will be submitted to the Lynwood Park Improvement Association members for their vote for next year's board of directors, according to secretary Marilyn Haskell.

The names were selected by the board Tuesday night, she said. The list will be mailed to the members about March 1, for approval or addition of other names, she said.

Iraquis Execute 7 As Spies; No Jews

BEIRUT (UPI)—Iraq today executed seven men convicted of spying for Israel and put their bodies on public display in Baghdad's Liberation Square, Radio Baghdad reported.

An eighth man convicted on similar charges had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment because he had cooperated with Iraqi authorities in smashing a spy ring, the broadcast said. A ninth man is still at large but faces the same charges.

A tenth, alleged leader of an Israeli spy ring, was reported in custody awaiting trial.

The executions were carried out in the predawn hours today only hours after an edited version of the trial was broadcast over Baghdad Radio and television. The trial by a three-man revolutionary court took place Feb. 11.

A later announcement by Baghdad Radio said four civilians had been hanged in prison and three Iraqi soldiers had been executed by firing squad.

"The bodies of the traitors now hang in Liberation Square," a commentator said.

None of those executed or convicted was a Jew.

It recalled a similar execution Jan. 27 in which the Iraqi regime put the bodies of 14 alleged Israeli spies—nine of them Jews—on display, some of them in the same square.

That display in front of thousands of cheering Iraqis brought worldwide dismay. Iraq's staunchest Arab neighbors either deplored or ignored the act. Iraq snapped at them for nonsupport.

The prosecution at the Feb. 11 trial presented evidence that the men had been sending reports on Iraqi army posts and installations in Jordan to Israel. It claimed the men were caught "red-handed" on Dec. 1 in Jordan.

Another Iraqi, arrested with the eight tried and convicted Feb. 11, is accused of being the ringleader of the spy network and will be tried separately.

Base To Conduct Defense Exercise

Residents of Southern Novato were warned today that there will be a routine air defense exercise at Hamilton Air Force Base tomorrow and not to be alarmed by base sirens soundings.

There will not be any increase in flying activity as this is an exercise for ground crews, according to base officials.

Five per cent of the U.S. poultry industry is in Texas.

Cities' Leaders To Discuss Dog Control Proposal

Proposed revisions to the animal control ordinance will be presented to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the Marin County Humane Society, 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Ignacio.

Speakers will be Mel L. Morse, executive secretary of the Humane Society, and Thomas A. Campanella, assistant county administrator.

Among items scheduled for discussion are the backyard burning ban imposed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District and a proposed meeting with the board of supervisors on the Bay Area Regional Organization.

Novato is host for the February meeting.

If you commute-read this.

Five years ago KGO Radio innovated Helicopter Traffic reporting with Lu Hurley and the "Hurleybird". When you hit that freeway every morning and evening you realize how much the Bay Area and its traffic problem has grown.

So do we, and that's why we have added the KGO FLEXIBLE FLYER.

What is the Flexible Flyer? It's a fixed wing aircraft, piloted every weekday during Newsbeat Morning and Evening Editions by Kip Webster of Flight Safety, and it doubles commute traffic coverage on KGO. For example, when Lu is over Marin, Kip can be checking out the Nimitz Freeway. Or while Lu is hovering to get a closer look at a San Francisco accident, Kip will be high above the San Jose freeways.

The map shows that both aircraft have specific flight plans, but either Lu or Kip will deviate instantly when a traffic emergency dictates.

So if you commute, remember the HURLEYBIRD and THE FLEXIBLE FLYER are up there every morning and evening getting you where you're going; a little safer, a little faster.

Martyrs' Day Slides Honor Slain Leaders

A Malcolm X Day program this morning at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito concentrated less on the slain black separatist leader than on other American leaders assassinated in recent years.

Speaking to the background of a half-speed march record and then to a conga drum, Mrs. Raye Richardson intoned "a primer for Malcolm" as slides flashed onto the screen showing the slain Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and Medgar Evers.

"M is for Mother," Mrs. Richardson said, and the screen showed Coretta King, Jacqueline Kennedy and Ethel Kennedy.

"M is for madness," and the pupils saw police beating people, a soldier carrying a wasted concentration camp victim, a row of corpses.

"Malnutrition" was a picture of Biafran children; "Mushroom," pictures of atom bomb explosions and the rubble of Hiroshima; "March," the Poor People's march on Washington and the corteges of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. King.

Plans were dropped to wear black armbands in memoriam to Malcolm X, and instead some pupils and teachers wore all-black clothing.

At a Central School assembly, students read poetry, sang spirituals and presented choral reading of poetry written on Malcolm's death. One class went to Bayside School to share its program with first graders there.

Mrs. Richardson, district multiethnic coordinator, will show her slide program at 7:30 p.m. today in a martyrs' day program for parents in the Martin Luther King School library.

Fire Bombs Hit Three Stores In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Four homemade bombs touched off small fires in three San Francisco department stores yesterday, A fifth failed to work.

Two went off in the drapery department on the sixth floor of Macy's Union Square store, one in the yard goods counters at Woolworth's at Market and Powell, and one in the menswear section of the Emporium opposite Woolworth's. Most damage resulting was caused by overhead sprinklers.

Arson inspectors from the fire department found the fifth, unexploded device also in the drapery area of Macy's.

Youths Booked On Curfew Violation

Two 17-year-old youths from Petaluma, hitchhiking along Highway 101 in Novato at 1:20 a.m. today, were booked at Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of being out after curfew in Marin, Novato police reported.

One of the boys had a substance thought to be marijuana in his possessioin, and was also booked on the suspicion of the possession of the weed, police reported.

Law Agencies Lauded For Relations

Marin law enforcement agencies are making great strides toward improving relations with the community, an official of the Marin Human Rights Commission declared this morning.

Bella Aaron, chairman of the commission's police-community relations committee, said she is encouraged by the programs adopted by various police agencies in the county.

These programs were explained last night at a meeting of the police-community relations committee at Civic Center, attended by representatives of all county law enforcement agencies except San Rafael and Corte Madera police departments, Mrs. Aaron reported.

She called Novato's efforts "outstanding."

Sgt. Richard Courier of Novato reported that his department has a system whereby citizens can evaluate their police officers. Youths ride with officers on patrol and visit San Quentin Prison to talk with inmates. Courier said bulletins have been issued to officers on the judicious use of weapons.

Chief James Wright of Sausalito reported that his department has an in-service training program and a policy on use of guns.

Other departments, including the California Highway Patrol, are making similar efforts, said Mrs. Aaron, who heads the Association of Bay Area Governments' task force subcommittee on police-community relations for nine Bay Area counties.

In Good Condition

Paul D. Cassidy, 21, of 523 B Street, San Rafael, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a neck sprain, scalp cuts and shoulder separation suffered when his car spun and went through a fence off Lucas Valley Road near Nicasio at 6:20 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Planners In Cotati Approve Parcel Rezoning

The Cotati Planning Commission last night granted a rezoning request for property on Sierra Avenue, but denied a lot split.

Lester H. Petersen had requested the property at 405 Sierra Avenue be rezoned from single-family residential to multiple-family to permit construction of apartments. He had also requested the lot be split into two.

The commission said his plans for the split did not provide adequate access to the roadway and would cause a traffic problem.

The Cotati Planning Commission Also:

GLASS SHOP — Approved a use permit for a glass shop in a garage owned by Archie Stewart at 200 Valapariso Avenue.

LOT SPLIT — Approved the splitting of one lot into three for construction of duplexes planned by Kenneth Garner on West Cotati Avenue.

RECUPERATING FROM RECREATION

U.S. soldiers catch up on some sleep as they wait in the Sydney, Australia, airport for a flight back to Saigon following rest and recreation leaves. The GIs got an extra day of rest yesterday while their Boeing 707's tail was checked for damage following a storm. (UPI Cablephoto)

Youth Faces Grand Theft, Card Counts

A 21-year-old San Anselmo man was arrested yesterday and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of grand theft and possession of stolen property, police reported today.

Arrested was Gary Robert Saxton of 14 Knoll Road, held in lieu of $1,250 bail.

Corte Madera police, armed with a warrant and accompanied by San Anselmo police, found three reportedly stolen driver's licenses, two Kaiser Health Plan cards and one Bankamericard in Saxton's bedroom.

Police said that two of the driver's licenses, those of Mrs. Patricia H. Katusich of San Leandro and Karen Lynn Tovani of Concord, had been stolen with the women's purses on Nov. 21, 1968 at Zack's-by-the-Bay, Sausalito.

Saxton reportedly told officers he found the cards in the parking lot at the Sausalito restaurant and kept them so that if he went out with a girl who was under age, she could use them for identification.

Corte Madera police officer Clifford Niederer said that Saxton was traced when a witness to a purse snatching Jan. 28 at Montgomery Ward & Co., Corte Madera, identified pictures of Saxton.

It is estimated that a duck will consume food equal to 10 per cent of its body weight daily.

Sirhan Called 'Eye' Of Hurricane Center

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan was "like the eye in the center of a hurricane" moments after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot in a crowded hotel pantry, said author George Plimpton.

"He struck me as enormously composed. The rest of us, given this sudden turmoil, were not composed," Plimpton testified for the prosecution yesterday at Sirhan's trial for murder.

"His reaction in a hurricane of sound and feeling seemed like the eye in the center of a hurricane. He seemed purged."

In a fortress-like courtroom Plimpton, a close Kennedy friend, used those words to describe his impression of Sirhan atfer shooting Kennedy and being pinned down on a steam table in a pantry of the Ambassador Hotel.

Plimpton was one of those who subdued Sirhan. He flew here from the east to testify at the trial and a bit of the Kennedy flavor came back for a moment as he talked in a Bostonian accent and pronounced the word "saw" as "sawr" — the same way JFK and RFK did.

New York attorney Emile Zola Berman cross-examined Plimpton about his previous statement to police that he was impressed by Sirhan's "dark brown and enormously peaceful eyes."

Plimpton agreed that Sirhan seemed the calmest person in a scene of pandemonium even though people were fighting to get at him.

Another witness told the jury yesterday that Sirhan fired more than 300 rounds during five hours at a target range on the day before Kennedy's assassination and told another man his gun was sufficient to "kill a dog."

Michael Saccoman who was also practicing with his pistol, said he talked with Sirhan for 45 minutes and observed he had seven or eight boxes of bullets containing 50 shells apiece.

Saccoman said Sirhan told him he planned to go on a hunting trip.

"I told him that hunting with a pistol was against the law," Saccoman said.

Platinum blonde Claudia Williams, a former waitress at the "Briar Patch" night club, testified that she talked with Sirhan on the range and that he showed her how to fire a revolver her husband had given her as a Christmas present.

Heart, Liver Kidneys Transplant

NEW YORK (AP)—Teams of surgeons removed six organs from a single donor last night and early today. The heart, liver and both kidneys were transplanted to four recipients and two corneas were being held for use.

The four recipients were reported doing well at mid-day by the two hospitals where the series of operations were performed.

The two New York hospitals said the operations involved the largest number of organs ever removed from one person for immediate use. Some of them were carried a city block from one hospital to the other.

One cornea was scheduled for implantation later today, a spokesman said, but it was uncertain when the second would be used. The hospitals had said earlier all six organs were used immediately, but a recheck showed that the corneas were being held for recipients.

Corneas, unlike the other organs, can be frozen and stored indefinitely for later use.

Marinwood Hires New Fire Chief

Capt. Gaylord E. Bonfield, 42, training officer for the San Rafael Fire Department, was hired last night as Marinwood chief at $912 per month. He will start work on March 24.

His salary will go up to $958 after the six-month probationary period and to $1,002 in one year, Marinwood Community Services District directors decided last night.

Captain Bonfield, who has been with the San Rafael department for four years, gets $991 in San Rafael.

The Marinwood fire chief's position had been vacant since last October, when Chief Albert F. Anderson resigned to join the Novato Police Department. Anderson was drawing $750 at the time.

Commissioner Lawrence B. Malkin, chairman of the screening committee which considered more than 30 applications, moved for Bonfield's appointment. The vote was unanimous.

The Marinwood Community Services District directors also:

LUCAS VALLEY — Decided that Upper Lucas Valley's share of the fire protection cost for 1969 would be $25,400. This year's cost to Upper Lucas Valley is $19,318 but another $540 was added for safety gear.

TIRES — Authorized expenditure of $330 to purchase six new tires for a fire pumper, and $200 to repair a truck used by the parks and recreation crew.

ADJOURNED — Set an adjourned meeting for 8 p.m. March 5 at the Marinwood Community Center to discuss parks and recreation activities.

Guilty Plea To Two Burglaries

Richard B. Deem, 20, of 14 Hacienda Way, San Rafael, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of burglarizing the Peacock Gap Country Club and San Rafael High School and having a concealed dagger, all on Feb. 10.

A fourth charge of tampering with a motor vehicle was dismissed.

Top Sailor Will Tell Prison Story

CORONADO (UPI) — A sailor who officers of the USS Pueblo called "the most outstanding enlisted man" during their 11-month captivity in North Korea was called to testify at a Navy court of inquiry today.

He is Quartermaster 1/C Charles B. Law Jr., 27, Chehalis, Wash. The Koreans made Law "leading petty officer" of the 74 enlisted men, who were usually isolated from the Pueblo's officers.

Six of the officers said that Law unflinchingly took beatings from his jailers when the other men broke the strict prison rules.

Law was held responsible by the Koreans for the behavior of all Pueblo enlisted personnel. He was the only man permitted direct access to the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, and often relayed Bucher's wishes to the crew.

The Koreans finally decided Law was subverting them and fired him as petty officer.

Law was the first enlisted man to testify in the third and last phase of a formal inquiry by a board of five admirals into the capture of the Navy spy vessel off Korea Jan. 23, 1968.

The court now is reviewing the conduct of Pueblo officers and men in captivity. Earlier parts of the hearing centered around the vessel's electronic spying mission and its seizure by the communists.

About 20 Pueblo enlisted men will be questioned by the court. Testimony of the officers ended yesterday.

A Navy spokesman said "five or six" of the Pueblo's enlisted men will be allowed to testify in secret —at their own request. He said the men feel it would be "degrading" to tell their stories in public.

The emotional impact on some Pueblo personnel was revealed yesterday when Lt. (j.g.) Timothy Harris, 23, Jacksonville, Fla., broke down weeping at the witness table.

The young supply officer's words choked in his throat when he was asked his feelings after the beating that led to his "confession. E. Miles Harvey, Bucher's attorney, led Harris outside to regain his composure.

"I wanted to take my life," Harris told the court after his return. "I couldn't do it."

The court heard from another Harris yesterday — Lt. Stephen Harris, 31, Melrose, Mass. He ran the Pueblo's "Spook unit" where electronic intelligence was gathered.

The Harvard-educated linguist said the Koreans correctly pegged him as the Pueblo's master spy, but made no effort to extract his special knowledge.

"They were aware of the duties I was performing, but did not appreciate the nature of them," Harris said. "They were not very clever."

A hundred rabbit kills are not unusual for one great horned owl in its lifetime.

Coffee Shop Wins Marin City Lease

Marin County Housing Authority directors last night gave the nod to a coffee shop over a shoeshine parlor-newsstand for lease of vacant space in Building C-64 at Marin City's commercial center.

The store space formerly was occupied by Black Advance, a local self-help organization that folded for lack of funds.

Directors agreed to lease the space for $50 a month to Willie H. Smith Jr. of 35 Park Circle, who once operated a catering truck in Marin City.

Directors also reviewed an application by Otis Gaines to operate a combination shoeshine parlor-newsstand, and a third application for a black art shop.

Directors agreed that a coffee shop would serve a wider public need than the two other proposed uses.

During the discussion directors expressed concern about gambling in the commercial area, and warned applicants that misuse of the premises would bring termination of any lease.

Chairman Phillip S. Ehrlich Jr. said there was "no suspicion of any given applicant, but general concern."

Smith said there is gambling in front of the stores, "and I don't see anybody doing anything . . . why don't you stop gambling on the street." He assured directors he would operate legitimately.

Ehrlich said the authority didn't want "to add to gambling by having it on our premises."

Director James Quiett called the street gambling an outrage and said it's going to take the citizens of the community to eliminate it.

Housing Authority To Help Finance Marin City Road

Marin County Housing Authority directors last night said the authority would contribute $20,000 toward building a connector road between Marin City and Tennessee Valley.

The proposed road, connecting Keys Court with Tennessee Valley Road near Shoreline highway, would provide a second access road for the community.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency, on which some housing directors serve, recommended Tuesday that the county build the road.

Directors also approved contributing up to $50,000 to the Marin City Community Services District during its next budget year, but warned it may be the last year the authority can make such a contribution.

Chairman Phillip S. Ehrlich Jr. suggested a joint meeting with the services district board to review the need for authority funds, and then set the exact amount of the contribution.

The vote on the contributions was 3-0 with Vera L. Schultz abstaining and Arthur Miller absent.

Marin County Housing Authority Also:

NORTHGATE HOUSING — Authorized a contract with Smith and Haley Construction Co. of Oakland to build 40 units of senior citizen housing on a two-acre site at Golden Hinde Boulevard and Los Ranchitos Road, in the Northgate area, at a cost not to exceed $620,500.

OFFICERS ELECTED — Re-elected Ehrlich chairman and elected Arthur Miller vice chairman for 1969.

LEASED HOUSING — Authorized seeking a $35,000 federal loan to cover the deficit in the administrative costs of the leased housing program, a deficit that Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, said was common at the start of such programs.

PERSONNEL — Hired Edward Gibson as maintenance man III at a salary of $3.38 an hour, and promoted Hill Duvall from maintenance man III to maintenance mechanic at $3.97 an hour and Moses Beard from maintenance mechanic to subforeman at $4.22 an hour.

TENANTS MEETING — Heard a report from Melvin Randolph, Marin City housing manager, that tenants will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to discuss proposed improvements in public housing.

Session Canceled

Last night's meeting of the Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board was canceled to enable the County Department of Public Works to get further ideas on Corte Madera Creek encroachments from involved city and county agencies, according to Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer.

Consultant Named For Housing

E. M. Schaffran and Co. of San Francisco last night was selected as housing consultant to the Ecumenical Assoociation for Housing — Marin County, a two-month old interfaith group.

Schaffran, who has been in the housing field for 30 years, including service as deputy director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority from 1957 to 1959, will assist the association in its efforts to sponsor the construction of housing for low and moderate income families and elderly persons.

Schaffran's agreement with the association includes training the executive director, Martin Mackey, so the association will eventually become self-sustaining, Mackey reported.

New members who have paid the $200 entrance fee since the last meeting are the Marin County Real Estate Board and Christ Presbyterian Church of Terra Linda. Membership now stands at 20. In addition, Mackey said, $105 in donations from persons who have read of the aims of the group has come in.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. March 19 at the Civic Center.

PG&E Proposes Gas Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An interim gas rate increase of $6.79 million was proposed by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. today and supported in a stipulation by the state Public Utility Commission staff.

The company had asked that a $13.7 million boost go into effect March 7 to cover increased costs for Texas natural gas and income tax surcharges.

The average homeowner's monthly gas bill would rise 14 cents under the $6.79 million proposal.

David R. Larrouy, commission attorney, said the stipulated compromise would maintain the company's rate of return at 6.25 per cent, authorized by the commission in 1961.

School Open Despite Flu

Tomales Elementary School remained open today despite mounting absenteeism from flu, Supt. Ralph E. Nixon reported.

There were 79 students out of 240 absent today, he said. Yesterday there were 73 absent and the day before, 68.

"I hope that the holiday tomorrow and the weekend will bring an improvement in the flu epidemic," he said.

Bonn Backs France On Pact Feuding

LONDON EXPRESS SERVICE

BONN — The West German government, hiding behind a paper wall of legalities, last night stood firmly behind French President Charles de Gaulle in the Western European Union (WEU) row and accused Britian of duplicity. In response to an urgent message from London, the British ambassador, Sir Roger Jackling, demanded an early meeting with the head of the West German Foreign Ministry.

Bonn was normally asked to explain its attitude to calling meetings of WEU following Tuesday night's sudden and unexpected official statement which supported the French line.

Less than a week after British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's visit to Bonn, at which the Germans promised full support for the Labor government's European policies, relations between the two countries have begun a rapid decline.

It was made doubly clear yesterday by a government spokesman that Germany will not in future attend WEU meetings unless:

There is 100 per cent agreement among all members which means the French veto will be supported whenever necessary.

Thre is a clear and recongnizable threat to peace exists.

Britain called the WEU meeting last week on a routine basis. But the German spokesman yesterday said that when the British learned that the French wuld not attend they hastily invoked the clause referring to a threat to peace.

This was emphatically denied. A British embassy spokesman said: "The meeting was a routine one called by the secretary-general. All other members regarded it as a routine meeting. At no time did we shift our ground or invoke the 'threat to peace' clause."

Humboldt Bay Bridge Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to halt construction of a bridge across Humboldt Bay was introduced today by Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh, who said the structure "could ruin a major Northern California bird and wildlife sanctuary."

The state Public Works Department awarded a $5.04 million contract Feb. 4 to build the bridge from Eureka across the bay to the Samoa Peninsula, site of two major timber pulp mills.

Unruh proposed a resolution asking the department to declare a moratorium on further planning construction of the highway bridge pending a study of "the permanent harm that will be caused to Northern California's only major egret and heron sanctuary" on Gunther Island.

Defense Asks For Shaw's Innocence

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The judge took under advisement today a defense request for an order directing that Clay Shaw be found innocent of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. of Criminal District Court said he would give his decision tomorrow morning. Court was recessed for the rest of today.

"I already had agreed to excuse the jurors for the rest of the day to enable the defense to summon its witnesses," Haggerty said. "This period will enable me to read the full transcript of Perry Russo's testimony."

Russo, 27, a New Orleans book salesman, was the state's key witness on the conspiracy charge. He testified that he overheard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie plotting to kill Kennedy.

In the motion for a directed verdict, attorney F. Irvin Dymond argued that Russo's testimony actually damaged the prosecution when he admitted he heard no agreement between the three men and considered it a "bull session."

Dymond cited the state law which defines the conspiracy as an agreement or combination of two or more persons to commit a criminal act.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock, who made the state's argument while Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison sat listening at the prosecution table, said the case should go to the jury. He said the judge, in various rulings during the course of the five-week-old trial, has held that the state had a prima facie case.

The motion for a directed verdict came after the state lost a state supreme court fight to force Haggerty to admit New Orleans policeman Aloysius Habighorst's testimony which Haggerty had barred from the trial as legally tainted and probably false.

In another development, the defense said it has subpoenaed former Texas Gov. and Mrs. John Connally, who were riding in the car with President Kennedy when he was assassinated. The state had subpoenaed the Connallys but said it dismissed the subpoena because it considered the Connallys hostile witnesses.

Habighorst testified that when he fingerprinted Shaw on March 1, 1967, he asked Shaw if he used any alias and Shaw replied: "Clay Bertrand."

Bertrand is the name Garrison contends Shaw used in plotting with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

The judge's ruling was based on the ground that police Cpat. Louis Curole refused to let Shaw's lawyer accompany him to the Bureau of Identification room where he was fingerprinted.

Curole's action violated Shaw's constitutional rights, Haggerty added, because "no policeman has the right to tell an attorney he cannot be with his client at any time."

Bloomfield Bell Hearing Reset

The court suit over the Bloomfield School bell, scheduled for today in Santa Rosa, has been postponed until the week of March 10, according to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

The bell which formerly belonged to the Bloomfield School District, disappeared when that district merged with the Tomales Elementary District. The Tomales School trustees feel that the bell now belongs to them and have named members of the Bloomfield Community Club in their suit to recover the bell, although now no one admits to knowing where it is.

Laird Calls For ABM Flexibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, citing increased Soviet and Chinese missile threats, said today he wants to be free to order deployment of a U.S. antiballistic missile system even if disarmament talks were going on.

Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the United States might want to go ahead with its suspended $5.5 billion Sentinel system even if the two major nuclear powers agree to begin talks on strategic arms limitations.

He stressed that no decision has been made on whether to go ahead with deployment of the controversial ABM system.

He said he personally tends to approve the system butw ill await the study's results.

But speaking in support of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty under consideration by the committee, Laird was pressed by Chairman J. W. Fulbright as to whether he would engage immediately in disarmament talks once the treaty is ratified.

It was at this point Laird revealed the Soviet Union not only has gone forward with its own ABM system, but "It is testing a sophisticated new ABM system, on the basis of the best information available to me."

And he said, "I believe the Chinese will test fire an ICBM test missile in the next 18 months. It will have a stockpile by 1975 of 20 to 30 ICBMs that could hit the United States."

Pointing to this information, Laird told Fulbright: "I must take into consideration the national security of the United States and the safety of our people."

"I would not want to be precluded, merely because talks had started (under the treaty) from going forward with this particular (ABM) system if the review now under way results in such a decision," he added. "It would not be proper for me to make any other recommendation as secretary of defense."

Laird said earlier the nonproliferation treaty would not affect U.S. ability to meet its mutual-security obligations.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, again testified military leaders support the treaty "as not inimical to the United States security interests."

The accord, Wheeler said, "does not disrupt any existing defense alliances in which the United States is pledged to assist in protecting the political independence and territorial integrity of other nations."

The general also pointed out the treaty would not prohibit U.S. deployment of nuclear weapons within the territory of its non-nuclear allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—so long as this country retained ownership and control of such weapons.

Ordinary Europeans To Talk With Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a dramatic break with tradition, President Nixon plans to meet next week with the ordinary men and women of Britain, Germany, Italy and France as well as royalty, presidents, prime ministers and chancellors.

Disclosing this last night, authoritive sources said that the President "is concerned" that his 40 to 50 hours of discussions with the heads of states and governments by their very nature "might be less than fully dimensional."

He plans, therefore, to meet with writers, commentators, critics, businessmen, trade union leaders, students and others at invitational closed tea and coffee sessions in London, Bonn, Rome and Paris.

The only capital in which Nixon will not have these "citizen chats" is Brussels, apparently because of the crowded nature of his schedule there.

Significantly, the one major public speech planned by the President is in the giant Siemens factory in West Berlin where thousands of Siemens employees are expected to hear him.

Private talks will be a feature of Nixon's get-acquainted visits with Europe's leaders. In the non-English speaking countries, only interpreters will be present. Staff members, and others in the President's official party of some 20 or so, will stand by until called in.

There are about 300 skin diseases listed by the American Medical Association.

Coffee Shop Wins Marin City Lease

Marin County Housing Authority directors last night gave the nod to a coffee shop over a shoeshine parlor-newsstand for lease of vacant space in Building C-64 at Marin City's commercial center.

The store space formerly was occupied by Black Advance, a local self-help organization that folded for lack of funds.

Directors agreed to lease the space for $50 a month to Willie H. Smith Jr. of 35 Park Circle, who once operated a catering truck in Marin City.

Directors also reviewed an application by Otis Gaines to operate a combination shoeshine parlor-newsstand, and a third application for a black art shop.

Directors agreed that a coffee shop would serve a wider public need than the two other proposed uses.

During the discussion directors expressed concern about gambling in the commercial area, and warned applicants that misuse of the premises would bring termination of any lease.

Chairman Phillip S. Ehrlich Jr. said there was "no suspicion of any given applicant, but general concern."

Smith said there is gambling in front of the stores, "and I don't see anybody doing anything . . . why don't you stop gambling on the street." He assured directors he would operate legitimately.

Ehrlich said the authority didn't want "to add to gambling by having it on our premises."

Director James Quiett called the street gambling an outrage and said it's going to take the citizens of the community to eliminate it.

Housing Authority To Help Finance Marin City Road

Marin County Housing Authority directors last night said the authority would contribute $20,000 toward building a connector road between Marin City and Tennessee Valley.

The proposed road, connecting Keys Court with Tennessee Valley Road near Shoreline highway, would provide a second access road for the community.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency, on which some housing directors serve, recommended Tuesday that the county build the road.

Directors also approved contributing up to $50,000 to the Marin City Community Services District during its next budget year, but warned it may be the last year the authority can make such a contribution.

Chairman Phillip S. Ehrlich Jr. suggested a joint meeting with the services district board to review the need for authority funds, and then set the exact amount of the contribution.

The vote on the contributions was 3-0 with Vera L. Schultz abstaining and Arthur Miller absent.

Marin County Housing Authority Also:

OFFICERS ELECTED — Reelected Ehrlich chairman and elected Arthur Miller vice chairman for 1969.

LEASED HOUSING — Authorized seeking a $35,000 federal loan to cover the deficit in the administrative costs of the leased housing program, a deficit that Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, said was common at the start of such programs.

PERSONNEL — Hired Edward Gibson as maintenance man III at a salary of $3.38 an hour, and promoted Hill Duvall from maintenance man III to maintenance mechanic at $3.97 an hour and Moses Beard from maintenance mechanic to subforeman at $4.22 an hour.

Consultant Named For Housing

E. M. Schaffran and Co. of San Francisco last night was selected as housing consultant to the Ecumenical Assoociation for Housing — Marin County, a two-month old interfaith group.

Schaffran, who has been in the housing field for 30 years, including service as deputy director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority from 1957 to 1959, will assist the association in its efforts to sponsor the construction of housing for low and moderate income families and elderly persons.

Schaffran's agreement with the association includes training the executive director, Martin Mackey, so the association will eventually become self-sustaining, Mackey reported.

New members who have paid the $200 entrance fee since the last meeting are the Marin County Real Estate Board and Christ Presbyterian Church of Terra Linda. Membership now stands at 20. In addition, Mackey said, $105 in donations from persons who have read of the aims of the group has come in.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. March 19 at the Civic Center.

PG&E Proposes Gas Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An interim gas rate increase of $6.79 million was proposed by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. today and supported in a stipulation by the state Public Utility Commission staff.

The company had asked that a $13.7 million boost go into effect March 7 to cover increased costs for Texas natural gas and income tax surcharges.

The average homeowner's monthly gas bill would rise 14 cents under the $6.79 million proposal.

David R. Larrouy, commission attorney, said the stipulated compromise would maintain the company's rate of return at 6.25 per cent, authorized by the commission in 1961.

There were 79 students out of 240 absent today, he said. Yesterday there were 73 absent and the day before, 68.

"I hope that the holiday tomorrow and the weekend will bring an improvement in the flu epidemic," he said.

Session Canceled

Last night's meeting of the Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board was canceled to enable the County Department of Public Works to get further ideas on Corte Madera Creek encroachments from involved city and county agencies, according to Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer.

Bonn Backs France On Pact Feuding

LONDON EXPRESS SERVICE

BONN — The West German government, hiding behind a paper wall of legalities, last night stood firmly behind French President Charles de Gaulle in the Western European Union (WEU) row and accused Britian of duplicity. In response to an urgent message from London, the British ambassador, Sir Roger Jackling, demanded an early meeting with the head of the West German Foreign Ministry.

Bonn was normally asked to explain its attitude to calling meetings of WEU following Tuesday night's sudden and unexpected official statement which supported the French line.

Less than a week after British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's visit to Bonn, at which the Germans promised full support for the Labor government's European policies, relations between the two countries have begun a rapid decline.

It was made doubly clear yesterday by a government spokesman that Germany will not in future attend WEU meetings unless:

There is 100 per cent agreement among all members which means the French veto will be supported whenever necessary.

Thre is a clear and recongnizable threat to peace exists.

Britain called the WEU meeting last week on a routine basis. But the German spokesman yesterday said that when the British learned that the French wuld not attend they hastily invoked the clause referring to a threat to peace.

This was emphatically denied. A British embassy spokesman said: "The meeting was a routine one called by the secretary-general. All other members regarded it as a routine meeting. At no time did we shift our ground or invoke the 'threat to peace' clause."

Humboldt Bay Bridge Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to halt construction of a bridge across Humboldt Bay was introduced today by Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh, who said the structure "could ruin a major Northern California bird and wildlife sanctuary."

The state Public Works Department awarded a $5.04 million contract Feb. 4 to build the bridge from Eureka across the bay to the Samoa Peninsula, site of two major timber pulp mills.

Unruh proposed a resolution asking the department to declare a moratorium on further planning construction of the highway bridge pending a study of "the permanent harm that will be caused to Northern California's only major egret and heron sanctuary" on Gunther Island.

Defense Asks For Shaw's Innocence

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The judge took under advisement today a defense request for an order directing that Clay Shaw be found innocent of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. of Criminal District Court said he would give his decision tomorrow morning. Court was recessed for the rest of today.

"I already had agreed to excuse the jurors for the rest of the day to enable the defense to summon its witnesses," Haggerty said. "This period will enable me to read the full transcript of Perry Russo's testimony."

Russo, 27, a New Orleans book salesman, was the state's key witness on the conspiracy charge. He testified that he overheard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie plotting to kill Kennedy.

In the motion for a directed verdict, attorney F. Irvin Dymond argued that Russo's testimony actually damaged the prosecution when he admitted he heard no agreement between the three men and considered it a "bull session."

Dymond cited the state law which defines the conspiracy as an agreement or combination of two or more persons to commit a criminal act.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock, who made the state's argument while Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison sat listening at the prosecution table, said the case should go to the jury. He said the judge, in various rulings during the course of the five-week-old trial, has held that the state had a prima facie case.

The motion for a directed verdict came after the state lost a state supreme court fight to force Haggerty to admit New Orleans policeman Aloysius Habighorst's testimony which Haggerty had barred from the trial as legally tainted and probably false.

In another development, the defense said it has subpoenaed former Texas Gov. and Mrs. John Connally, who were riding in the car with President Kennedy when he was assassinated. The state had subpoenaed the Connallys but said it dismissed the subpoena because it considered the Connallys hostile witnesses.

Habighorst testified that when he fingerprinted Shaw on March 1, 1967, he asked Shaw if he used any alias and Shaw replied: "Clay Bertrand."

Bertrand is the name Garrison contends Shaw used in plotting with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

The judge's ruling was based on the ground that police Cpat. Louis Curole refused to let Shaw's lawyer accompany him to the Bureau of Identification room where he was fingerprinted.

Curole's action violated Shaw's constitutional rights, Haggerty added, because "no policeman has the right to tell an attorney he cannot be with his client at any time."

Bloomfield Bell Hearing Reset

The court suit over the Bloomfield School bell, scheduled for today in Santa Rosa, has been postponed until the week of March 10, according to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

The bell which formerly belonged to the Bloomfield School District, disappeared when that district merged with the Tomales Elementary District. The Tomales School trustees feel that the bell now belongs to them and have named members of the Bloomfield Community Club in their suit to recover the bell, although now no one admits to knowing where it is.

Driver, Passenger Shaken In Wreck

Two men were injured yesterday at 4:20 p.m. when their car struck a guard rail and road signs on Highway 101, north of Kastania Road and south of Petaluma, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Louis Santi, 52, of Lafayette, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with fractured ribs. The driver, Alvin G. Koehlo, 49, of Oakland, was treated for bruises.

Laird Calls For ABM Flexibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, citing increased Soviet and Chinese missile threats, said today he wants to be free to order deployment of a U.S. antiballistic missile system even if disarmament talks were going on.

Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the United States might want to go ahead with its suspended $5.5 billion Sentinel system even if the two major nuclear powers agree to begin talks on strategic arms limitations.

He stressed that no decision has been made on whether to go ahead with deployment of the controversial ABM system.

He said he personally tends to approve the system butw ill await the study's results.

But speaking in support of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty under consideration by the committee, Laird was pressed by Chairman J. W. Fulbright as to whether he would engage immediately in disarmament talks once the treaty is ratified.

It was at this point Laird revealed the Soviet Union not only has gone forward with its own ABM system, but "It is testing a sophisticated new ABM system, on the basis of the best information available to me."

And he said, "I believe the Chinese will test fire an ICBM test missile in the next 18 months. It will have a stockpile by 1975 of 20 to 30 ICBMs that could hit the United States."

Pointing to this information, Laird told Fulbright: "I must take into consideration the national security of the United States and the safety of our people."

"I would not want to be precluded, merely because talks had started (under the treaty) from going forward with this particular (ABM) system if the review now under way results in such a decision," he added. "It would not be proper for me to make any other recommendation as secretary of defense."

Laird said earlier the nonproliferation treaty would not affect U.S. ability to meet its mutual-security obligations.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, again testified military leaders support the treaty "as not inimical to the United States security interests."

The accord, Wheeler said, "does not disrupt any existing defense alliances in which the United States is pledged to assist in protecting the political independence and territorial integrity of other nations."

The general also pointed out the treaty would not prohibit U.S. deployment of nuclear weapons within the territory of its non-nuclear allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—so long as this country retained ownership and control of such weapons.

Ordinary Europeans To Talk With Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a dramatic break with tradition, President Nixon plans to meet next week with the ordinary men and women of Britain, Germany, Italy and France as well as royalty, presidents, prime ministers and chancellors.

Disclosing this last night, authoritive sources said that the President "is concerned" that his 40 to 50 hours of discussions with the heads of states and governments by their very nature "might be less than fully dimensional."

He plans, therefore, to meet with writers, commentators, critics, businessmen, trade union leaders, students and others at invitational closed tea and coffee sessions in London, Bonn, Rome and Paris.

The only capital in which Nixon will not have these "citizen chats" is Brussels, apparently because of the crowded nature of his schedule there.

Significantly, the one major public speech planned by the President is in the giant Siemens factory in West Berlin where thousands of Siemens employees are expected to hear him.

Private talks will be a feature of Nixon's get-acquainted visits with Europe's leaders. In the non-English speaking countries, only interpreters will be present. Staff members, and others in the President's official party of some 20 or so, will stand by until called in.

There are about 300 skin diseases listed by the American Medical Association.

Four Jailed In Marijuana Probe

Four San Francisco men were jailed early today on suspicion of possessing marijuana after their minibus was stopped on Highway 101 near Sausalito, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A patrolman stopped the bus at 1:35 a.m. for speeding on the Golden Gate Bridge and smelled marijuana in the bus, the patrol reported. The officer said Gary D. Linn, 21, had a bag of suspected marijuana and a pipe which smelled of the weed. Others in the bus were James H. Eckstein, 20, the driver, David N. Gefke, 19, and Kenneth Burger, 19.

All were held without bail at Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Purchase of an automatic chlorinator for the Trestle Glen treatment plant was authorized Tuesday by the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board, according to secretary Douglas de la Fontaine.

De la Fontaine said the new system is estimated to cost $3,000. The manual chlorinator presently used at the treatment plant will be moved to the salt works pumping station on Tiburon Boulevard near the Cala market, he said.

Directors discussed but took no action on construction of a fence at the Harbor Point Lift Station No. 2 with Strawberry Recreation District directors to control garbage dumping on the property, de la Fontaine reported.

Young Car Theft Suspect Nabbed

A 17-year-old Corte Madera boy was arrested in Mill Valley Tuesday five minutes after a 1962 white Corvair was reported stolen from the Corte Madera Shopping Center parking lot.

John Charles Batts of 42 Redwood Avenue, a walkaway from the Marin County Juvenile Preplacement Center in Lucas Valley, was returned to juvenile hall for investigation of joy riding and possession of narcotics paraphernelia.

Car owner Walter G. Yasinitsky of South San Francisco reported his vehicle stolen at 8:40 p.m. to police Sgt. Charles Rester on patrol at the scene. Police stopped the boy in the car at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue. Batts had two leather pouches containing needles, syringes and a bottle, police said.

Special Meeting

The Tiburon Fire District board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the main firehouse to discuss a proposed fire prevention code.

Fire Chief Due New Automobile

A yellow sedan, to be used as the fire chief's car, will be delivered to the Terra Linda Firehouse about March 3, Fire Chief George A. Walser reported Tuesday to the Terra Linda Community Services District directors.

"All of our vehicles will be painted yellow hereafter," said Chief Walser. "We find yellow gives greater visability for the people seeing the vehicle, especially at night when red looks almost black."

The new car, purchased through the state General Services Administration procurement division, will be a 1969 Ford Fairlane, costing $1,800.

The CSD directors authorized $300 to purchase an electronic siren and light bar for the new vehicle. The chief had been using a pickup truck.

Crime Lab Proposed For Hall Of Justice

A $50,000 crime laboratory at the Marin County Hall of Justice, to serve all law agencies in Marin and the North Bay, has been recommended by Marin's Centralized Police Services Council.

Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager and chairman of the council, made the recommendation in a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

He said that a crime laboratory, to serve the North Bay region, would probably qualify for 60 per cent federal aid under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Usher urged the supervisors to prepare an application for federal aid by April 1 "because of extremely tight scheduling for the initial funding of action programs under the act."

Usher said the centralized police services council sees the need for a crime lab, particularly for use by the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau. In addition, the lab could provide service on a reimbursable basis to law agencies in other North Bay counties.

Preliminary estimates show that such a crime lab could be set up for $50,000, with additional equipment in future years to meet regional needs. He said the estimated annual operating costs, including the Hall of Justice floor space, should range from about $30,000 initially to about $50,000 later on.

Nearly 550 different types of minerals are found in California.

The average annual rainfall in San Francisco is about 20 inches.

San Jose State Denies Rumors Of Shootings

SAN JOSE (AP) — Campus officials have denied charges by a state senator that 13 shootings on the San Jose State College campus went unreported last year.

Ernest Quinton, campus security chief, said yesterday there was only one known shooting on the campus last year and that was reported promptly to San Jose police.

State Sen. Clark Bradley, San Jose Republican, had said in Sacramento he had reports from faculty sources that the 13 alleged shooting incidents involved broken windows and doors, but no injuries.

A college spokesman said Bradley's version may have stemmed from the Sunday practice of the campus pigeon exterminator in firing shotgun blasts to scare off the birds.

Binoculars Stolen

Walter Stewart of 370 Ebbtide Street, Sausalito, told police that between Sunday and Tuesday someone took a four-band wave radio and binoculars, valued at $85, from his boat berthed in the Sausalito Yacht harbor.

Flood Control Zone Views Tax Rate Cut

Bel Aire Flood Control Zone may be able to drop its current 9.5 cent tax rate by half a cent, zone advisory board chairman Stanley Bennett announced yesterday.

The advisory board met at Bel Aire School Monday night and adopted a preliminary budget projecting $7,000 expenditure for 1969-70 fiscal year. A $2,670 carryover from this year means that $4,330 must be raised by taxes next year.

This year's budget is $8,700. Of this amount, $4,205 was raised by taxes, and $4,495 was carried over from the previous year.

William L. Hess, assistant director of the county department of public works, announced that several other flood control zone advisory boards have scheduled budget meetings.

San Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. today in Room 343 of the Civic Center. The 20-cent tax rate is expected to remain unchanged, although the total budget will rise from this year's $15,553 to about $19,000.

Santa Venetia Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 343 of the Civic Center. The $1 tax rate will probably remain unchanged, said Hess. This year's total budget is $76,140. A $41,000 carryover from the previous year provided the bulk of the funds, with $35,000 raised by taxes.

The budget for 1969-70 is $41,400, but the carryover from this year is only $6,840, which means that $34,560 must be raised by taxes.

The Ross Valley Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. on March 6 at the Ross Town Hall. This year's total budget is $361,050. Budget figures for 1969-70 have not been completed as yet, but the tax rate is expected to remain at 6 cents, Hess reported.

Sausalito Arts Director Named

The Sausalito Arts Association has chosen Maggi Le Seigneur of Fairfax as director of its new Sausalito Art Center in Old Bayside School.

Miss Le Seigneur is now in the East and will return to start work March 1, organizing workshops and starting a membership drive.

She earned a master's degree at Boston University, studied painting in Paris, and taught art at the International American School in Marrakesh, Morocco.

Work is continuing at the center, leased from the Sausalito School District, to bring it up to building codes and safety standards for occupation.

Entire Family Studies Snipping

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Charles Montigny, his wife Audrey and their daughter Sylvia, 17, are all going to barber school together.

Montigny developed the urge to snip from watching the barbers at work in a shop next door to his taxi company office.

Mrs. Montigny decided to go along because she likes to trim her husband's hair at home and thought he would appreciate a more professional job.

Worker-Trainee U.S. Jobs Open

Applications for worker-trainee jobs with the federal government will be accepted until March 3, the San Francisco Interagency Board of Civil Service Examiners reported.

No experience or training is necessary and there will be no written test, examiners said. Jobs include janitorial, laboring, laundry and food services work and entry-level clerical positions.

Flood Control Zone Views Tax Rate Cut

Bel Aire Flood Control Zone may be able to drop its current 9.5 cent tax rate by half a cent, zone advisory board chairman Stanley Bennett announced yesterday.

The advisory board met at Bel Aire School Monday night and adopted a preliminary budget projecting $7,000 expenditure for 1969-70 fiscal year. A $2,670 carryover from this year means that $4,330 must be raised by taxes next year.

This year's budget is $8,700. Of this amount, $4,205 was raised by taxes, and $4,495 was carried over from the previous year.

William L. Hess, assistant director of the county department of public works, announced that several other flood control zone advisory boards have scheduled budget meetings.

San Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. today in Room 343 of the Civic Center. The 20-cent tax rate is expected to remain unchanged, although the total budget will rise from this year's $15,553 to about $19,000.

Was Aquanaut's Death Due To Failure Of Equipment?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy suspects that aquanaut Berry L. Cannon died 610 feet below the surface of the Pacific Ocean when his breathing equipment failed, the Washington Post said today.

The newspaper said the Navy began looking toward an equipment failure after an autopsy showed no evidence Cannon suffered a heart attack or brain damage while swimming in the 47-degree waters 60 miles south of Long Beach.

Cannon, 33, was stricken Monday two minutes after he and a fellow aquanaut swam from a four-man diving capsule that was lowered into the water for the beginning of the Navy's Sealab III experiment.

The aquanauts are provided with a microphone fitted to the face mask and a type of "walkie-talkie" set for diver-to-diver contact. The Navy spokesman would not say whether Cannon's equipment may have been inoperative or missing.

"Right now," the Post quoted a Navy underwater medicine expert as saying, "the first thing that is suspect is his underwater breathing apparatus."

The Navy's first report was that Cannon suffered a heart seizure. A final autopsy report is expected today or Monday after laboratory examination of Cannon's vital organs.

Funeral for Cannon, the first aquanaut to die in a deep ocean probe, was held yesterday in Chula Vista. Burial will be tomorrow at Williston, Fla.

Reaction Is Favorable For Two New Wilderness Areas In State

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposals to create two new wilderness areas in California drew a generally favorable reaction before a Senate committee yesterday but two senators expressed reservations over the inclusion of a dam in one of them.

Forest Service chief Edward P. Cliff appeared before the Public Lands subcommittee to urge approval of bills to create the 63,469-acre Desolation Wilderness in the El Dorado National Forest and the 94,723-acre Ventana Wilderness in the Los Padres National Forest.

The areas were recommended last year by President Johnson, Cliff said, and would make "fine additions" to the national wilderness preservation system created by Congress in 1964.

But Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., questioned the inclusion of a small dam owned by the Sacramento Municipal Utility District in the proposed Desolation Wilderness. They said it could set an undesirable precedent for future wilderness areas.

Allott also questioned Cliff on testimony that the Desolation Wilderness would include an area with "significant amounts" of gold. The Forest Service head said the gold was too low in grade and inaccessible to be "commercially exploitable."

A Geological Survey report on the gold deposits, Allott said, was "double talk...that doesn't tell us anything." The Colorado Republican suggested the gold might be commercially valuable if, for example, its price was raised to $70 an ounce from the current treasury-set price of $35.

"There is always the possibility that there might some day be an increase in the price of gold," Allott said.

Cliff reminded Allott the wilderness act of 1964 permits mineral exploration in wilderness areas for 15 years.

Allott, ranking GOP member of the Senate Interior Committee, did not specifically call for exclusion of the SMUD dam. However, Hatfield said the "weight of evidence" was on the side of taking it out.

A statement presented by Timothy V. A. Dillon in behalf of SMUD asked that language be included in the bill to leave the dam on the Rubicon River under the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission. Dillon said it was one of a series in the high Sierra mountains that control water flow through SMUD's $200 million upper American River hydroelectric project.

Both the Desolation and Ventana wilderness proposals drew support from witnesses for conservation organizations. However, Stewart M. Brandborg, executive director of the Wilderness Society, asked that a 2,934-acre area including Willow Creek be added to the Ventana Wilderness.

The lands to be included in the Desolation Wilderness lie on both sides of the crest of the Sierra Nevadas just west of Lake Tahoe and about 90 miles east of Sacramento.

The Ventana Wilderness would be created in the Santa Lucia Mountains and the Coast Range in Monterey County about 120 miles south of San Francisco and 36 miles south of Monterey.

Neither Sens. George Murphy, R-Calif., nor Alan Cranston, D-Calif., appeared at the hearing conducted by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont. However, Cranston submitted a statement urging passage of the bills.

A statement by Rep. Burt L. Talcott, R-Calif., supported establishment of the Ventana Wilderness.

Juniper Rust Appears Again In Marin Areas

Hawthorne-juniper rust, which attacked large areas in Mill Valley and Corte Madera last year, is cropping up again this year, R. Allan Ballard, agricultural commissioner, reported yesterday.

"Since the state quarantine has been in effect and removal started, we have removed 1,478 Tam junipers from 124 properities in the Mill Valley and Corte Madera areas," said Ballard. Marin County is the only area in the Western Hemisphere where this disease is known to occur.

A preliminary survey this year had produced additional infected properties in Mill Valley, said Ballard.

The disease on Hawthorne trees probably will not begin to show until May or June. The rust causes the leaves of the Hawthorns to turn a redish brown and die.

"We are now trying again to find all remaining infected plants," said Ballard, "because one juniper can be the infected source for an entire area."

Rites Set For 101-Year-Old Magazine Owner

SONORA (AP) — Funeral will be held Saturday for Therese Jose Hamlin, 101, who for the past 27 years published the Pony Express, a monthly historical magazine.

She was born in Carson City, Nev., where her grandfather, George Tufly, had built the St. Charles Hotel and later became Nevada's treasurer.

Mrs. Hamlin was married to Richard Jose, a Cornish blacksmith who became an internationally known ballad singer. Later she married Herbert S. Hamlin, the Pony Express editor.

She died Feb. 14.

Dancer Reports Death Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 20-year-old dancer says Police Officer Michael O'Brien, on trial for manslaughter in the shooting death of a Negro truck driver, retrieved his revolver then walked towards George Baskett saying: "I'm going to kill you. I want to kill a nigger anyway."

Officer O'Brien shot Baskett to death after an alley brawl over a minor traffic accident last Sept. 29.

Jessie Hunt, a witness called yesterday by defense attorney Jake Ehrlich, said O'Brien had his gun taken away from him by three Negroes who were beating him.

Reaction Is Favorable For Two New Wilderness Areas In State

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposals to create two new wilderness areas in California drew a generally favorable reaction before a Senate committee yesterday but two senators expressed reservations over the inclusion of a dam in one of them.

Forest Service chief Edward P. Cliff appeared before the Public Lands subcommittee to urge approval of bills to create the 63,469-acre Desolation Wilderness in the El Dorado National Forest and the 94,723-acre Ventana Wilderness in the Los Padres National Forest.

The areas were recommended last year by President Johnson, Cliff said, and would make "fine additions" to the national wilderness preservation system created by Congress in 1964.

But Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., questioned the inclusion of a small dam owned by the Sacramento Municipal Utility District in the proposed Desolation Wilderness. They said it could set an undesirable precedent for future wilderness areas.

Allott also questioned Cliff on testimony that the Desolation Wilderness would include an area with "significant amounts" of gold. The Forest Service head said the gold was too low in grade and inaccessible to be "commercially exploitable."

A Geological Survey report on the gold deposits, Allott said, was "double talk...that doesn't tell us anything." The Colorado Republican suggested the gold might be commercially valuable if, for example, its price was raised to $70 an ounce from the current treasury-set price of $35.

"There is always the possibility that there might some day be an increase in the price of gold," Allott said.

Cliff reminded Allott the wilderness act of 1964 permits mineral exploration in wilderness areas for 15 years.

Allott, ranking GOP member of the Senate Interior Committee, did not specifically call for exclusion of the SMUD dam. However, Hatfield said the "weight of evidence" was on the side of taking it out.

A statement presented by Timothy V. A. Dillon in behalf of SMUD asked that language be included in the bill to leave the dam on the Rubicon River under the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission. Dillon said it was one of a series in the high Sierra mountains that control water flow through SMUD's $200 million upper American River hydroelectric project.

Both the Desolation and Ventana wilderness proposals drew support from witnesses for conservation organizations. However, Stewart M. Brandborg, executive director of the Wilderness Society, asked that a 2,934-acre area including Willow Creek be added to the Ventana Wilderness.

The lands to be included in the Desolation Wilderness lie on both sides of the crest of the Sierra Nevadas just west of Lake Tahoe and about 90 miles east of Sacramento.

The Ventana Wilderness would be created in the Santa Lucia Mountains and the Coast Range in Monterey County about 120 miles south of San Francisco and 36 miles south of Monterey.

Neither Sens. George Murphy, R-Calif., nor Alan Cranston, D-Calif., appeared at the hearing conducted by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont. However, Cranston submitted a statement urging passage of the bills.

A statement by Rep. Burt L. Talcott, R-Calif., supported establishment of the Ventana Wilderness.

Juniper Rust Appears Again In Marin Areas

Hawthorne-juniper rust, which attacked large areas in Mill Valley and Corte Madera last year, is cropping up again this year, R. Allan Ballard, agricultural commissioner, reported yesterday.

"Since the state quarantine has been in effect and removal started, we have removed 1,478 Tam junipers from 124 properities in the Mill Valley and Corte Madera areas," said Ballard. Marin County is the only area in the Western Hemisphere where this disease is known to occur.

A preliminary survey this year had produced additional infected properties in Mill Valley, said Ballard.

The disease on Hawthorne trees probably will not begin to show until May or June. The rust causes the leaves of the Hawthorns to turn a redish brown and die.

"We are now trying again to find all remaining infected plants," said Ballard, "because one juniper can be the infected source for an entire area."

Rites Set For 101-Year-Old Magazine Owner

SONORA (AP) — Funeral will be held Saturday for Therese Jose Hamlin, 101, who for the past 27 years published the Pony Express, a monthly historical magazine.

She was born in Carson City, Nev., where her grandfather, George Tufly, had built the St. Charles Hotel and later became Nevada's treasurer.

Mrs. Hamlin was married to Richard Jose, a Cornish blacksmith who became an internationally known ballad singer. Later she married Herbert S. Hamlin, the Pony Express editor.

She died Feb. 14.

Dancer Reports Death Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 20-year-old dancer says Police Officer Michael O'Brien, on trial for manslaughter in the shooting death of a Negro truck driver, retrieved his revolver then walked towards George Baskett saying: "I'm going to kill you. I want to kill a nigger anyway."

Officer O'Brien shot Baskett to death after an alley brawl over a minor traffic accident last Sept. 29.

Jessie Hunt, a witness called yesterday by defense attorney Jake Ehrlich, said O'Brien had his gun taken away from him by three Negroes who were beating him.

The Phantom Ship, a mass of lava in Southern Oregon's Crater Lake, looks like a ship full sail by moonlight.

Petris Plans Would Save Bay Watchdogs

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to keep the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission alive indefinitely, and to adopt the commission's master plan for the bay and its shoreline as official state policy, was introduced yesterday by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland.

Petris, who started the 1964 fight in the Legislature to halt wholesale filling of the bay, said his bill would keep BCDC going until a regional government is established in the Bay Area.

The bill was co-authored by six senators and Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, who is chairman of a committee which is to propose legislation to form a regional government. The Knox proposal, however, is expected to put the formation to a public vote in the nine county area in 1970. Thus, if approved, it would not become effective until January, 1971.

BCDC, however, is to go out of business late this year under current law.

"It is essential that we provide continuous protection for the bay and implement the master plan while such a regional agency is being established," Petris said.

Petris and Knox said last month that they also would introduce an alternative bill to extend BCDC's life without granting it the additional powers proposed in its master plan.

"It is now up to the public to fight for it," he declared.

The master plan, if made law as part of the Petris bill, would give BCDC veto power over all bay fill projects, plus control over shoreline development. The commission's jurisdiction over the shoreline would vary from 100 to 1,000 feet inland, and no development could occur within this area without a commission permit.

Petris' bill also provides for a transfer of commission functions to a regional government if one is formed, and makes BCDC the interim repository for plans by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission and the San Francisco Bay-Delta Water Quality Control Program. Both are due to be presented to the current Legislature.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, introduced a bill last month to extend indefinitely powers over bay fill by BCDC, but his skeleton bill has not yet been amended yet to specify what standards the commission would use.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, in his "state of the state" message last month, called for extending the life of the commission. "We cannot permit a lapse to occur with respect to this priceless natural resource," the governor said of the need to save the bay.

Continued filling would destroy the bay as a habitat for fish and wildlife and increase water and air pollution, the commission's master plan warned.

Soldiers Accused On Two Counts

Two young soldiers from the Presidio of San Francisco were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two charges of burglary in the Panoramic Highway area near Mill Valley and one count of car theft.

The arrest of David Ross Taylor, 20, and Ronald Lee Ferrell, 18, on Monday followed an intensive stakeout of the area for several weeks by the sheriff's department. The pair was allegedly driving a car stolen in San Mateo.

Judge Hadden W. Roth set bail at $5,000 each after the district attorney's office said that wallets belonging to San Mateo residents were found in the stolen car.

Members Of Alleged Bank Gang Nabbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced today the arrests of seven members of an alleged professional bank robbing gang that it said netted $227,000 in eight Boston area holdups in late 1967 and early 1968.

The announcement said detainers were placed against four other members of the alleged gang who already are held on other charges. All 11 were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in Boston.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Chris Merchie Calabrese Jr., 37, of Erie, Pa., was arrested in Miami, Fla. The other six were apprehended in the Boston area and include:.

Anthony Chiodi, 28, of East Boston, Mass.; James Richard Kearnes, 31, of Boston; Hobart Tirrill Willis Jr., 32, of Braintree, Mass.; Joseph Francis Curname, 28, of Beverly, Mass.; Paul E. Durant, 32, of Boston, and Salvador Joseph Ruma, 39, of Cambridge, Mass.

Detainers were placed against Caesar David Montevecchio, 34, Erie, Pa., now in the Michigan State Prison at Jackson; Robert Francis Gurarante, 38, East Boston, now in the Hampden County Jail, Springfield, Mass.; John Norman Michaelson, 31, Revere, Mass., now jailed in Boston; and Daniel Michael Pagliarulo, 44, Chelsea, Mass., now in the Norfolk County Jail, Norfolk, Mass.

They are charged in robberies at the State Street Bank Trust Co., East Boston, Nov, 6, 1967; Milton Bank and Trust Co., Quincy, Jan. 23, 1968; City Bank and Trust Co., Dorchester, May 3, 1968; Essex County Bank and Trust Co., West Peabody, June 28, 1968; Coolidge Bank and Trust Co., Cambridge, July 2, 1968 and May 14, 1968, and the First National Bank of Boston, Revere, July 22, 1968.

There are about 500 different soil types found in Texas.

SPOOF ON TRADITION

What do you do with a bridesmaid's gown after you wear it? These models are going to throw it away because it is made of paper. The disposable gown requires them all to walk at the same pace. Back To Dominican For Woman Marine

By GRACE HENDERSON

Sworn in by her proud father, who "almost split every button he had," Lauren McNichol, a 1968 graduate of Dominica College, became the first student from that school to become a member of the Women Marines, U. S. Marine Corps. Now a second lieutenant, Lauren McNichol is the daughter of Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Paul McNichol of Los Altos.

The July 3 swearing-in was special to the McNichol family because, first, it was Lieutenant McNichol's father who performed the oath ceremony and, secondly, because it was 28 years to the day when Colonel McNichol had taken the oath himself.

Did the colonel influence the Marine officer in her decision to volunteer for active duty with the Women's Corps? "He didn't know I was even considering it, until I had made my decision," she said. As to why she signed in, Lieutenant McNichol, who majored in communications theory (speech), said it was probably a mixture of several things. First, people weren't exactly "beating down my door looking for someone with my educational background" and then — it could have been some patriotism too, she explained.

The Women Marine Corps is 26 years old, now with an enlistment of 281 officers and more than 2,700 enlisted personnel, showing an 11 per cent increase over the past year. "There is a tremendous urge to serve our country today," Lieutenant McNichol remarked. This week she returned to Dominican College to describe a Marine Corps career with the undergraduates.

Lieutenant McNichol will report to San Diego, where she will work in the administration field, primarily in personnel. She recently completed Officer's Training School in Quantico, Va., where she was born when her father was sta-

WOMAN HISTORY-MAKERS

A Courageous Shot For Human Rights

American women have made their own challenge in their own way in American society. Some lesser known achievers, challengers and characters are subjects of this series on American "woman history."

By BARBARA HOSMER

Lydia Maria Francis Child was called the smartest woman of her day back in the early part of the 19th Century America. That is, until she broke the rule that caused the doors of Boston society to slam shut and her closest friends to cross the street to avoid seeing her.

Maria Child wrote the first anti-slavery book in the United States. And with its publication in 1833 she took the plunge into the nation's bitterest controversy which cost her, at age 31, a phenomenally successful career.

SLAVERY HAD been outlawed in Massachusetts six years before her birth in 1802, and growing up there in a time of the new humanism gave the child a concern for social problems. After brief schooling and home study with her older brother, Convers, who studied for the ministry at Harvard, Maria Francis became a teacher to earn a meager living. An avid reader and an admirer of Sir Walter Scott's novels, she began to write, and at age 22 she published "Hobomok: A Tale of Early Times," about an Indian chief with a white wife. Although it did not bear her name, Maria Child's authorship leaked out and she was lionized immediately. This she followed with "The Rebels," the first story using New England history as a setting, and she was honored with a card for reading privileges at the exclusive Boston Athenaeum.

Meanwhile she had begun what she was to maintain was the perfect marriage for 48 years, to the idealistic lawyer David Child — perhaps the perfect husband but an imperfect provider. To earn their livelihood she dug in and in 1829 wrote "The Frugal Housewife," from her own experiences. It became so popular that it ran through 40 printings. Maria Child also started the first American children's magazine, "Juvenile Miscellany," issued every two months. She wrote most of its 90 pages of stories, quizzes, legends and digests of articles herself. She also wrote five books on the history of women called "The Ladies Library."

What her husband earned he loaned or gave away, but all of Mrs. Child's enterprises were immediately successful.

THEN SHE HEARD the abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison speak and decided to do what she could for the cause. For two years she perused the periodicals and history books in the Athenaeum getting facts on the slave trade. The culmination was a slim book cataloging mass kidnappings, slave galley conditions and the forced marches to bring slaves from interior Africa. She surveyed state laws and answered rationalizations of slavery, and clearly pointed out that whites brutalized themselves in endorsing the slave-master relationship.

And she didn't duck a key issue:

"In regard to marrying your daughter, I believe the feeling in opposition to such unions is quite as strong among the colored class as it is among white people. While the prejudice exists, such instances must be exceedingly rare because the consequence is degradation in society. Believe me, you may safely trust to anything that depends on the pride and selfishness of unregenerated human nature."

EVEN THE BOOK'S title, "An Appeal in Favor of the Class of Americans Called Africans," angered many who thought that blacks should not properly be called Americans.

But in the preface the author proclaimed that if her book advanced justice by one hour she would prefer it to all the Rothchilds' wealth and Sir Walter Scott's fame.

The upshot was that the Athenaeum revoked her card, friends snubbed her, society dropped her, her own family became nervous, sale of her books trickled off, the children's magazine had to be terminated, and Sarah Josepha Hale, influential editor of Godey's Lady's Book, said publicly that Mrs. Child should have promoted peace and good will rather than poking into "party politics."

BUT THERE were pluses, too. One young plantation owner freed his slaves and became a convert to the abolitionist cause, as did many others. Mrs. Child grew more bold in publishing a series of books on the evils of slavery and its cure, and finally she left home to edit the "Standard," New York's anti-slavery newspaper, to which she brought literary quality and reliability which exceeded William Lloyd Garrison's more fiery "Liberator."

David Child had been the assistant editor of the Standard while his wife held the editor's chair, but when his

Former Marinite Reports On Her Busy Days On The Isle Of Tahiti

By MOLLY MARIN

Thinking of escaping to a tropic isle after Marin's rough winter? Here's a couple who did it. . . .

After a year in Tahiti, Mrs. Nelson L. Shreve, formerly of Tiburon and Sausalito, will be returning for a three-week visit here in April. Nelson and Lucille Shreve are living in Punaauia, a suburb of Papeete, in a native style home made of bamboo with a roof of woven pandanu leaves, located on a white sand beach. The blue lagoon, Lucille tells envious Marin friends, is surrounded by a coral reef, which "keeps the big fish and waves out and makes it ideal for swimming. The temperature is about 87 degrees. French Polynesia is in its midsummer season." Lucille has experimented with coconut, breadfruit and banana recipes. Nelson commutes the 17 miles to his advertising agency in Papeete on a "mobeylette" — a cross between a bicycle and a motorcycle. Lucille drives a small Italian car. Gasoline is 80 cents a gallon in Tahiti, she says.

Mrs. Shreve, active with the Cove Players and the Mountain Play during her Marin residence, is teaching English at a Hotel Training School, where the students, 15 to 18 years old, come from all parts of French Oceania to learn to be chefs, waiters and desk clerks. Some speak only Tahitian, others only Chinese or French. She is also a cruise ship and private tour guide, which, she says, "can mean taking from one to 40 people on island tours, and keeps me in touch ith the outside world."

The Shreves were invited to be godparents of a Tahitian baby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Teuire. Lucille told of the festivities including the tamarra, a Tahitian feast, which celebrated the little boy's christening.

MORE THAN 100 guests from the Bay Area and Marin attended the cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Oller Jr. at their home in Belvedere Sunday. The gathering honored Jean Oller's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welisch of Belvedere, on their 19th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Margaret J. Wilson of Belvedere, sister of Marian Welisch and Jean Oller, and their mother, Mrs. B. G. Johnston assisted, as did the Oller daughters, Carolyn and Betsy.

Back To Dominican For Woman Marine

By GRACE HENDERSON

Sworn in by her proud father, who "almost split every button he had," Lauren McNichol, a 1968 graduate of Dominica College, became the first student from that school to become a member of the Women Marines, U. S. Marine Corps. Now a second lieutenant, Lauren McNichol is the daughter of Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Paul McNichol of Los Altos.

The July 3 swearing-in was special to the McNichol family because, first, it was Lieutenant McNichol's father who performed the oath ceremony and, secondly, because it was 28 years to the day when Colonel McNichol had taken the oath himself.

Did the colonel influence the Marine officer in her decision to volunteer for active duty with the Women's Corps? "He didn't know I was even considering it, until I had made my decision," she said. As to why she signed in, Lieutenant McNichol, who majored in communications theory (speech), said it was probably a mixture of several things. First, people weren't exactly "beating down my door looking for someone with my educational background" and then — it could have been some patriotism too, she explained.

The Women Marine Corps is 26 years old, now with an enlistment of 281 officers and more than 2,700 enlisted personnel, showing an 11 per cent increase over the past year. "There is a tremendous urge to serve our country today," Lieutenant McNichol remarked. This week she returned to Dominican College to describe a Marine Corps career with the undergraduates.

Lieutenant McNichol will report to San Diego, where she will work in the administration field, primarily in personnel. She recently completed Officer's Training School in Quantico, Va., where she was born when her father was sta-

WOMAN HISTORY-MAKERS

A Courageous Shot For Human Rights

American women have made their own challenge in their own way in American society. Some lesser known achievers, challengers and characters are subjects of this series on American "woman history."

By BARBARA HOSMER

Lydia Maria Francis Child was called the smartest woman of her day back in the early part of the 19th Century America. That is, until she broke the rule that caused the doors of Boston society to slam shut and her closest friends to cross the street to avoid seeing her.

Maria Child wrote the first anti-slavery book in the United States. And with its publication in 1833 she took the plunge into the nation's bitterest controversy which cost her, at age 31, a phenomenally successful career.

SLAVERY HAD been outlawed in Massachusetts six years before her birth in 1802, and growing up there in a time of the new humanism gave the child a concern for social problems. After brief schooling and home study with her older brother, Convers, who studied for the ministry at Harvard, Maria Francis became a teacher to earn a meager living. An avid reader and an admirer of Sir Walter Scott's novels, she began to write, and at age 22 she published "Hobomok: A Tale of Early Times," about an Indian chief with a white wife. HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Student Interviews Teen-Agers On Social Life And Dating

DEAR HELEN:

Recently I made a survey of how dating really goes for teen-aged girls where I live, which is a typical town. I interviewed 50 freshmen, 50 sophomores, 50 juniors and 50 seniors at random, from my typical high school of 2500. Here are the findings:

FRESHMEN GIRLS (50)
10 had been on a date
8 belonged to a sorority and social clubs
2 date frequently
40 would like to date if asked
9 had been asked, but parents interfered.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS (50)
19 had been on a date
15 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
7 date frequently
30 would like to date
12 had been asked, but parents interfered.

JUNIOR GIRLS (50)
26 girls had dated
21 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
10 date frequently
24 would date if asked
2 were asked, but parents interfered.

SENIOR GIRLS (50)
30 had dated
29 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
19 date frequently
19 would like to date
3 were asked, but parents interfered.

As you can see, my survey shows that most girls would like to date but even in the senior year about 40 per cent don't. I also found that girls who belong to clubs and sororities date more frequently than the non-joiners. — A STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Thanks for your interesting survey. It checks out with other high school statistics across the nation and proves again that dating isn't the number one pastime for students, even though they wish it were!

Another recent survey indicates over 30 per cent of all college students do not date.

Cheer up, you lonely ones — you've got lots of company. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Could somebody please tell me what "In-a-Gadda-da-Vita" means? It's my favorite record. It's really heavy. But I'd like a translation. — PSYCHED OUT

DEAR PSYCHED:

Only the Iron Butterfly knows for sure. (I'm still in the back row trying to figure out how four guys can be one butterfly.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm the unwed mother of a 15-month-old daughter. The father didn't want to marry me, being a mama's boy. So I've been living at home with my parents who are very understanding. Now, almost two years later, he writes from Vietnam that he wants us to be engaged. Meanwhile, I have met Pete who is younger than me, but seems more mature. Should I marry the father of my child or a boy who is older than his age? — MISS MOTHER

DEAR MISS:

You don't seem overly anxious to marry either fellow. Wait a while. — H.

Buys To Select In Market For The Family's Table

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find excellent supplies of meat and poultry and good supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets this weekend.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the leaders among the meats. Beef features this weekend include roasts, steaks and ground beef. Pork items in abundance are bacon, Boston butts, chops, ham, roasts, and smoked picnics.

Canned salmon, fish sticks and portions and fish fillets are the fish buys to watch for, according the the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions and potatoes are the most abundant fresh vegetables. Good selections of radishes may be available to some areas. Fresh fruit in the abundant class are apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges.

IN THE WEST: With the exception of short plates and briskets which are higher, most beef prices in California markets are steady to slightly lower. In Portland beef rounds are higher, and the other beef prices are steady to slightly higher.

Veal is higher in Portland while calf is higher in San Francisco. Lamb is also higher in Portland. Fresh pork loins and Boston butts are higher in Portland and Los Angeles.

Smoked hams in San Francisco regained their drop of last week.

ALL SIZES of eggs are higher in Portland and San Francisco.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, emperor grapes, oranges, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Women Composers Have Their Night In The Concert Hall—With Kudos

NEW YORK (AP) — The distinguished woman composer smiled thinly.

"They think they're paying me the highest compliment when they tell me, after a performance of one of my works, 'My, it sounds just like it was written by a man'!" said Elinor Remick Warren of Los Angeles.

A pretty, reddish-brown-haired mother of three, Mrs. Warren was one of five composers represented in a concert here Tuesday evening that one of the women called the best concentrated effort ever made in behalf of women composers.

Besides Mrs. Warren's "Sonnets for Soprano and Strings," the program included "Sonata for Viola and Piano," by Elizabeth Gould of Toledo, Ohio; "Three Observations for Three Woodwinds," by Mabel Daniels of Boston; "Six Etudes for Piano," by Louise Talma, professor of music at Hunter College, New York City and "Quartet for Strings," by Julia Smith, a Texas-New York composer.

Of the five composers only Mabel Daniels, now in her 89th year and still composing, didn't make it to New York to hear her work performed.

The capacity audience of about 250 that crowded the auditorium of Donnell Library Center applauded all the compositions enthusiastically.

Said Mrs. Maurice Honigman of Gastonia, N.C., president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, at a reception after the concert: "Women have been considered second-rate composers for too long. If men composers heard this program they'd soon change their minds."

Composers Talma, Smith, Gould and Warren—with international reputations and perhaps more prizes won abroad than at home, denied personal discrimination.

But Miss Smith voiced a general plaint: "Women don't get the opportunities for performances or commissions that men do. Opera houses, for example, don't seem to mind having flops with men composers—so why can't they take a chance with women?"

The first pipe organ in America was installed in King's Chapel, Boston, in 1714.

Student Interviews Teen-Agers On Social Life And Dating

DEAR HELEN:

Recently I made a survey of how dating really goes for teen-aged girls where I live, which is a typical town. I interviewed 50 freshmen, 50 sophomores, 50 juniors and 50 seniors at random, from my typical high school of 2500. Here are the findings:

FRESHMEN GIRLS (50)
10 had been on a date
8 belonged to a sorority and social clubs
2 date frequently
40 would like to date if asked
9 had been asked, but parents interfered.

19 had been on a date
15 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
7 date frequently
30 would like to date
12 had been asked, but parents interfered.

JUNIOR GIRLS (50)
26 girls had dated
21 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
10 date frequently
24 would date if asked
2 were asked, but parents interfered.

SENIOR GIRLS (50)
30 had dated
29 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
19 date frequently
19 would like to date
3 were asked, but parents interfered.

As you can see, my survey shows that most girls would like to date but even in the senior year about 40 per cent don't. I also found that girls who belong to clubs and sororities date more frequently than the non-joiners. — A STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Thanks for your interesting survey. It checks out with other high school statistics across the nation and proves again that dating isn't the number one pastime for students, even though they wish it were!

Another recent survey indicates over 30 per cent of all college students do not date.

Cheer up, you lonely ones — you've got lots of company. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Could somebody please tell me what "In-a-Gadda-da-Vita" means? It's my favorite record. It's really heavy. But I'd like a translation. — PSYCHED OUT

DEAR PSYCHED:

Only the Iron Butterfly knows for sure. (I'm still in the back row trying to figure out how four guys can be one butterfly.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm the unwed mother of a 15-month-old daughter. The father didn't want to marry me, being a mama's boy. So I've been living at home with my parents who are very understanding. Now, almost two years later, he writes from Vietnam that he wants us to be engaged. Meanwhile, I have met Pete who is younger than me, but seems more mature. Should I marry the father of my child or a boy who is older than his age? — MISS MOTHER

DEAR MISS:

You don't seem overly anxious to marry either fellow. Wait a while. — H.

Canned salmon, fish sticks and portions and fish fillets are the fish buys to watch for, according the the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions and potatoes are the most abundant fresh vegetables. Good selections of radishes may be available to some areas. Fresh fruit in the abundant class are apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges.

IN THE WEST: With the exception of short plates and briskets which are higher, most beef prices in California markets are steady to slightly lower. In Portland beef rounds are higher, and the other beef prices are steady to slightly higher.

Veal is higher in Portland while calf is higher in San Francisco. Lamb is also higher in Portland. Fresh pork loins and Boston butts are higher in Portland and Los Angeles.

Smoked hams in San Francisco regained their drop of last week.

Women Composers Have Their Night In The Concert Hall—With Kudos

NEW YORK (AP) — The distinguished woman composer smiled thinly.

"They think they're paying me the highest compliment when they tell me, after a performance of one of my works, 'My, it sounds just like it was written by a man'!" said Elinor Remick Warren of Los Angeles.

A pretty, reddish-brown-haired mother of three, Mrs. Warren was one of five composers represented in a concert here Tuesday evening that one of the women called the best concentrated effort ever made in behalf of women composers.

Besides Mrs. Warren's "Sonnets for Soprano and Strings," the program included "Sonata for Viola and Piano," by Elizabeth Gould of Toledo, Ohio; "Three Observations for Three Woodwinds," by Mabel Daniels of Boston; "Six Etudes for Piano," by Louise Talma, professor of music at Hunter College, New York City and "Quartet for Strings," by Julia Smith, a Texas-New York composer.

Of the five composers only Mabel Daniels, now in her 89th year and still composing, didn't make it to New York to hear her work performed.

The capacity audience of about 250 that crowded the auditorium of Donnell Library Center applauded all the compositions enthusiastically.

Said Mrs. Maurice Honigman of Gastonia, N.C., president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, at a reception after the concert: "Women have been considered second-rate composers for too long. If men composers heard this program they'd soon change their minds."

Composers Talma, Smith, Gould and Warren—with international reputations and perhaps more prizes won abroad than at home, denied personal discrimination.

But Miss Smith voiced a general plaint: "Women don't get the opportunities for performances or commissions that men do. Opera houses, for example, don't seem to mind having flops with men composers—so why can't they take a chance with women?"

The first pipe organ in America was installed in King's Chapel, Boston, in 1714.

AUTHOR MARIA CHILD

law practice dwindled she quickly handed him the top post and took the assistant editorship herself. After the Civil War she contributed continually to the Freedmen's Aid Association and wrote a "Freedmen's Book," advice to the freed slave on health, dress, economy and education.

Through the years Maria Child remained a controversial figure, but she refused interviews and speechmaking, preferring to write. Her husband's health failing, she spent her time at home tending him carefully and keeping the household together. His death in 1874 left her bereft and fumbling. Friends such as Whittier called to assure her that she could be comforted by remembering that she would be reunited with David some day.

At 76 she wrote her final book, attempting to show the universal trend of religious thought throughout the world, but time had truly passed her by. She commented to a friend, "I understand the world only half as well as I did a half century ago."

At her death two years later she was buried next to her beloved David.

LARGELY FORGOTTEN now, Maria Child laid her success on the line and fired one of the earliest shots in the human rights struggle that tears American society today.

law practice dwindled she quickly handed him the top post and took the assistant editorship herself. After the Civil War she contributed continually to the Freedmen's Aid Association and wrote a "Freedmen's Book," advice to the freed slave on health, dress, economy and education.

Through the years Maria Child remained a controversial figure, but she refused interviews and speechmaking, preferring to write. Her husband's health failing, she spent her time at home tending him carefully and keeping the household together. His death in 1874 left her bereft and fumbling. Friends such as Whittier called to assure her that she could be comforted by remembering that she would be reunited with David some day.

At 76 she wrote her final book, attempting to show the universal trend of religious thought throughout the world, but time had truly passed her by. She commented to a friend, "I understand the world only half as well as I did a half century ago."

At her death two years later she was buried next to her beloved David.

LARGELY FORGOTTEN now, Maria Child laid her success on the line and fired one of the earliest shots in the human rights struggle that tears American society today.

'You Know' Is Strictly Soap Opera

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — If "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running", now at the Curran, is an example of "where it's at" in today's theater, it's nowhere.

Playwright Robert Anderson ("Tea And Sympathy") has plunked together four one-act plays which take a look, shall we say, at contemporary man and woman. While his choice of what ails them may be valid, his delineation of the problems is strictly soap opera. He begins correctly by stating a premise, but then becomes unclear as he progresses.

The first, which gives the show its title, is built around a playwright and producer discussing the pivotal scene of the writer's new play in which a man appears on stage facing the audience naked. It is filled with sniggering referenes to man's "equipment" and other such coynesses, with Anderson obviously trying to point out that this is a wrong attitude and may be the reason for the spate of nudity on the stage today. Unfortunately the audiences still laugh at the snigger lines, ignoring the fact that they are what Anderson is telling them they are — prurient.

"The Footsteps of Doves," second of the series, is the best which is not saying much. It puts a man and a woman in a bedding store on the threshold of switching to twin beds after 20 years in a single.

Their reasons for wanting or not wanting to change probably hits 90 per cent of married couples as a known experience, and Anderson's slightly ominous surprises ending may scare hell out of ladies contemplating the twin bed caper.

Number three is a man-and-wife discussion of what they should tell the children about sex, during which he admits to having read what he's talking about in Ladies Home Journal. Before the dreary sexathon is over one is convinced that Anderson also read it — and transcribed it.

The final and funniest skit is just that — a skit based upon semantics and forgetfulness, in which an elderly couple keep refereing to the wrong ex-wives and husbands and have trouble remembering their own names.

Imogene Coca, a lady with immeasurable talent for sad, wistful clowning, is at her best in the last play as a dumpy little old lady. Otherwise she is wasted in a series of roles that any actress could do. She is good but not the genius you remember from Sid Ceasar's "Show of Shows."

King Donovan is the bulwark of the production, switching from a toupeed bad actor to a potential rakehell to a guilt-ridden husband and playing each with power and credibility. Katie Heflin, one-time member of the Actors' Workshop in San Francisco, comes on as a pretty and talented young actress in three varied roles.

Rand Mitchell is delightful as the memory-slipping old man, but totally unbelievable in two young roles. Sherman Lolyd plays the producer as a man plays the producer as a man who teeters about looking like Humpty-Dumpty with tight shoes.

Alan Schneider's direction keeps a tight pace going and Ed Wittstein's sets are good. "You Know, etc." plays nightly except Sunday at 8:30 p.m. and matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m. through March 1.

Easing Of Carpenters' Woes Seen Very Soon

Carpenters in Marin County are suffering an employment slump and their union is facing a financial crisis, but the union's officials say they hope for improvements soon on both fronts.

James Adrain, business agent for Carpenters Local 35, said yesterday that 180 of the union's 1,390 members in Marin are currently out of work. The figure, he said, "is pretty high" although the normal seasonal employment slump during the winter puts from 10 to 15 per cent of the membership out of work.

He blamed continued foul weather, high interest costs for building and equipment loans and other rising costs for the dropoff in construction in the county.

"But there's a lot of work on the books that we hope can take care of everyone," Adrain said, predicting that employment would begin to pick up late next month and through April with a peak employment period coming in May.

Adrain also said he was "optimistic" that the local's pinched financial situation would start looking up. Union members, with only about 200 voting, earlier this month approved a package of changes in bylaws and policies aimed at cutting the union's expenses.

Under the changes, if approved on higher union levels, the local would elect one instead of two business representatives in June, injury benefits paid by the local union to working carpenters would be reduced from $25 to $15 weekly and the local's death benefit would be eliminated.

Members also voted to reduce expense allowances for delegates to affiliated labor groups and to reduce the salary of the local union treasurer and recording secretary.

Adrain said the cost-cutting was necessary because union members rejected a dues increase last August and costs of benefits to members rose.

"We (the union) were living beyond our income," he said, "and we were overspending each month." The local's income was also suffering from the loss of some members by resignation and an unusual number by deaths, he said.

The only solution, he said, was to cut costs, which included cutting benefits. "But if we get our financial health back, there is no reason we can't put some of them (benefits) back on," Adrain said.

He said he was "optimistic" that as soon as employment starts to pick up, the union's financial situation will "start gaining real fast."

Woman Accused Of Grand Theft

A San Anselmo woman accused of attempting to trade her old coat in for a new one, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge of grand theft.

Charlene Louis Bichard, 32, of 10 Ash Avenue, was arrested Dec. 20 after she allegedly walked out of Modern Eve in San Rafael wearing a new leather and fur coat valued at $320, leaving her old coat behind in the store's fitting room.

Miss Bichard was ordered to appear in Superior Court on March 3.

College Offering Five Girls On-Job Study

Five seniors at Rancho Cotate High School in Petaluma are getting practical work experience in offices at Sonoma State College in an experimental program this semester.

The five students, all girls majoring in business, are working in various college offices for two hours a day through the remainder of the school year. To make the project realistic and of value in future work plans, the students filled out job applications and were interviewed by department heads.

The girls are being instructed in specific jobs and are rotated to various positions within their departments. At the high school, seminars are held regularly to discuss their jobs, skills, office conditions and how to prepare for full-time work.

Murderer's Sanity Trial Is Postponed

A trial to determine whether a 30-year-old San Quentin inmate is sane enough to go to the gas chamber was postponed yesterday in Marin Superior Court until 9 a.m. Feb. 28.

The jury trial to determine the sanity of condemned murderer Gerald A. Beivelman had been scheduled to start yesterday, but Judge Joseph G. Wilson said more time should be taken to prepare for a trial "of such magnitude."

He appointed a panel of three psychiatriasts to determine whether Beivelman is legally sane and should be executed as scheduled on April 16.

Under the law, a person must be aware of the fact that he is being executed and why he is being executed. San Quentin prison psychiatrists have questioned Beivelman's sanity.

Beivelman's sanity at the time of the crime for which he was condemned, a first degree murder in Sacramento, is not an issue in the trial.

San Wuentin Associate Warden James W. L. Park said four men facing death sentences currently are in state hospitals after being judged insane, including one who has been in a mental hospital since 1924.

Strep Is Leader On Disease List

Thirty-seven cases of streptococcus infection were reported last week to the county halth department, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, reported.

San Rafael had the highest number of cases, with 12, Dr. Albrecht said.

Other disease reported were two cases of tuberculosis, two cases of infectious hepatitis, one of salmonella and one of serum hepatitis.

Literature Of Blacks Meet Topic

"Black for White: Missing Pages of American Literature" will be the theme of the Central California Council of English Teachers conference at Sonoma State College on March 15.

The workshop is designed to acquaint English teachers with black American poets, playwrights, novelists and essayists, according to Dr. Eugene Soules, chairman of the English department.

The workshop will begin with registration at 9 a.m. followed by a series of section meetings to discuss the areas of interest. Publishers will be present to show their newest offerings and bibliographies will be available for teachers to use in the classroom.

Persons may preregister through Dr. Soules' office.

Legion Plans Scouts Tribute

Mill Valley Post No. 284 of the American Legion will honor the three Scout units sponsored by the post at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Thomas C. Nelson Jr., past member of Troop 1 and holder of the Silver Beaver rating, the highest award given to a nonactive Scout, will speak and Pack 1, Troop 1 and Ship 1 will each present a portion of the program.

A. J. "Al" Schoenfeld, new district scout executive, will be master of ceremonies.

Easing Of Carpenters' Woes Seen Very Soon

Carpenters in Marin County are suffering an employment slump and their union is facing a financial crisis, but the union's officials say they hope for improvements soon on both fronts.

James Adrain, business agent for Carpenters Local 35, said yesterday that 180 of the union's 1,390 members in Marin are currently out of work. The figure, he said, "is pretty high" although the normal seasonal employment slump during the winter puts from 10 to 15 per cent of the membership out of work.

He blamed continued foul weather, high interest costs for building and equipment loans and other rising costs for the dropoff in construction in the county.

"But there's a lot of work on the books that we hope can take care of everyone," Adrain said, predicting that employment would begin to pick up late next month and through April with a peak employment period coming in May.

Adrain also said he was "optimistic" that the local's pinched financial situation would start looking up. Union members, with only about 200 voting, earlier this month approved a package of changes in bylaws and policies aimed at cutting the union's expenses.

Under the changes, if approved on higher union levels, the local would elect one instead of two business representatives in June, injury benefits paid by the local union to working carpenters would be reduced from $25 to $15 weekly and the local's death benefit would be eliminated.

Members also voted to reduce expense allowances for delegates to affiliated labor groups and to reduce the salary of the local union treasurer and recording secretary.

Adrain said the cost-cutting was necessary because union members rejected a dues increase last August and costs of benefits to members rose.

"We (the union) were living beyond our income," he said, "and we were overspending each month." The local's income was also suffering from the loss of some members by resignation and an unusual number by deaths, he said.

The only solution, he said, was to cut costs, which included cutting benefits. "But if we get our financial health back, there is no reason we can't put some of them (benefits) back on,'' Adrain said.

He said he was "optimistic" that as soon as employment starts to pick up, the union's financial situation will "start gaining real fast."

Woman Accused Of Grand Theft

A San Anselmo woman accused of attempting to trade her old coat in for a new one, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge of grand theft.

Charlene Louis Bichard, 32, of 10 Ash Avenue, was arrested Dec. 20 after she allegedly walked out of Modern Eve in San Rafael wearing a new leather and fur coat valued at $320, leaving her old coat behind in the store's fitting room.

Miss Bichard was ordered to appear in Superior Court on March 3.

College Offering Five Girls On-Job Study

Five seniors at Rancho Cotate High School in Petaluma are getting practical work experience in offices at Sonoma State College in an experimental program this semester.

The five students, all girls majoring in business, are working in various college offices for two hours a day through the remainder of the school year. To make the project realistic and of value in future work plans, the students filled out job applications and were interviewed by department heads.

The girls are being instructed in specific jobs and are rotated to various positions within their departments. At the high school, seminars are held regularly to discuss their jobs, skills, office conditions and how to prepare for full-time work.

Murderer's Sanity Trial Is Postponed

A trial to determine whether a 30-year-old San Quentin inmate is sane enough to go to the gas chamber was postponed yesterday in Marin Superior Court until 9 a.m. Feb. 28.

The jury trial to determine the sanity of condemned murderer Gerald A. Beivelman had been scheduled to start yesterday, but Judge Joseph G. Wilson said more time should be taken to prepare for a trial "of such magnitude."

He appointed a panel of three psychiatriasts to determine whether Beivelman is legally sane and should be executed as scheduled on April 16.

Under the law, a person must be aware of the fact that he is being executed and why he is being executed. San Quentin prison psychiatrists have questioned Beivelman's sanity.

Beivelman's sanity at the time of the crime for which he was condemned, a first degree murder in Sacramento, is not an issue in the trial.

San Wuentin Associate Warden James W. L. Park said four men facing death sentences currently are in state hospitals after being judged insane, including one who has been in a mental hospital since 1924.

Strep Is Leader On Disease List

Thirty-seven cases of streptococcus infection were reported last week to the county halth department, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, reported.

San Rafael had the highest number of cases, with 12, Dr. Albrecht said.

Other disease reported were two cases of tuberculosis, two cases of infectious hepatitis, one of salmonella and one of serum hepatitis.

Literature Of Blacks Meet Topic

"Black for White: Missing Pages of American Literature" will be the theme of the Central California Council of English Teachers conference at Sonoma State College on March 15.

The workshop is designed to acquaint English teachers with black American poets, playwrights, novelists and essayists, according to Dr. Eugene Soules, chairman of the English department.

The workshop will begin with registration at 9 a.m. followed by a series of section meetings to discuss the areas of interest. Publishers will be present to show their newest offerings and bibliographies will be available for teachers to use in the classroom.

Persons may preregister through Dr. Soules' office.

Legion Plans Scouts Tribute

Mill Valley Post No. 284 of the American Legion will honor the three Scout units sponsored by the post at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Thomas C. Nelson Jr., past member of Troop 1 and holder of the Silver Beaver rating, the highest award given to a nonactive Scout, will speak and Pack 1, Troop 1 and Ship 1 will each present a portion of the program.

A. J. "Al" Schoenfeld, new district scout executive, will be master of ceremonies.

Another Storm Adds To Home Slide Woes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Houses skidded in renewed earth slides as wind, rain, hail, snow and lightning pounded Southern California in winter's latest storm.

Cautiously, the Weather Bureau forecast clearing conditions through tomorrow. Widespread damage was reported in yesterday's storm.

A dozen homes buckled or slipped further down hillsides in the Laurel Canyon, Encino and Highland Park areas of Los Angeles during rain that raised the season total to more than 20 inches. The homes had been damaged already by earth movement due to last month's rains.

A tornado-like wind uprooted trees in San Diego and snow closed schools in nearby mountain areas. Nearly a foot of snow was recorded in the Laguna Mountains and eight inches fell at Palomar Mountain State Park.

The storm dumped similar amounts of snow on the San Bernardino Mountains and dumped hail on the San Bernardino Valley. Lightning blasted power lines in the Fontana and Rialto area, leaving about 500 homes without electricity for about half an hour.

In Laurel Canyon of Los Angeles, Gould Avenue was closed to protect motorists from seven houses sliding toward the street. Two homes inched down an Encino hillside toward three houses below.

Residents evacuated two houses in Highland Park as they buckled and twisted. A third, previously evacuated, caved in. Nine other homes in the area were badly damaged by earlier earth movement.

Walkaway Pleads To Reduced Charge

Fred Michael Ball, 18, of Petaluma, a trusty at Marin County Jail who walked away from the jail kitchen Feb. 10, has pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a reduced charge of resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty.

Ball, who was arrested in Novato a few hours after he left the jail, had originally been charged with escaping from custody. At the time of his arrest, he said he was returning to jail.

Narcotics Counts Lodged Again

Felony charges of possession of heroin and cocaine and possession of a billy club dropped a few months ago against Terry B. Samuels, 29, of Marin City, were filed again yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Samuels was arraigned on the three charges yesterday, pleaded innocent, and a preliminary hearing was set for March 14.

Samuels was arrested in Sausalito Aug. 3.

The charges were dropped Sept. 12 after a preliminary hearing.

San Francisco Urged To Rescind Policy On Ending Span District

The Tri-Partite Transportation Committee asked the San Francisco Board of Supervisorsy esterday to rescind it policy favoring the dissolution of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District after its bonds are repaid in 1971.

San Francisco Supervisor Jack Morrison, chairman of the committee, conceded his board's policy was "inconsistent" with the bridge district board's vote on Friday to seek legislation to operate all forms of transportation, including ferries. Voting with the majority to seek the broad new power were San Francisco supervisors and five of their appointees on the bridge board.

"We all ought to get into step in this district as to its future," said bridge director Lowell Edington of Napa County.

Morrison, saying his board's opinion of the district appeared to have changed to a more favorable view, said he would ask his board to consider changing the existing policy, which has been in effect for several years.

The committee's request to the San Francisco supervisors was an unofficial one, because only four of its eight members were present.

In its "informal discussion" the committee also agreed to invite the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to join the committee, and to send three representatives to its monthly meetings in bridge district offices at the toll plaza.

The commitee was formed three years ago by Marin and San Francisco supervisors and the bridge board to coordinate improved bus transportation across the bridge. The committee decided to invite Sonoma because the Jenkins plan for the bridge district to go into the commute bus business envisions service to Sonoma as well as between Marin and San Francisco.

Sonoma County Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker, who has been attending committee meetings as an observer, said his county "has got to get into this picture sooner or later — and it had better be sooner."

The committee, which last month agreed to consider its dissolution because Marin and San Francisco supervisors now sit on the bridge board, agreed to continue in operation. The committee, the four members present agreed, is a better forum to exchange ideas than the bridge board.

The committee's next meeting was set for 10 a.m. March 12 in bridge district offices. Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum asked that the March agenda include a discussion on how to coordinate intercounty and intracounty bus service.

Western Europe, England Facing Flood Threats

LONDON (AP) — A thaw in much of Western Europe and Southern England brought flood dangers today after days of blizzards and freezing cold.

An American airman was among five who lost their lives in an overnight blizzard, now working its way northward.

Sgt. Max Sylvester, 43, attached to U.S. Air Force transport office at Harwich Docks, was found in a snow drift near Horsley Cross in Essex last night by a patrolling police car. He was dead on arrival at Essex County Hospital in Colchester. The Air Force said his home is in Indianapolis.

The blizzard and howling winds piled up snow drifts across much of southern England but at dawn the situation changed drastically with a sudden thaw.

Scandinavia and the Soviet Union reported normal cold weather but it was a sunny, spring-like day in Paris with the temperature rising throughout France.

Marijuana Charge Against Girl Dropped

A charge of being in a place where marijuana was being used has been dropped against Jane Carole Schra, 18, of Salem, Ore., in Marin Municipal Court.

Miss Schra was arrested Dec. 3 in San Anselmo.

"We all ought to get into step in this district as to its future," said bridge director Lowell Edington of Napa County.

Morrison, saying his board's opinion of the district appeared to have changed to a more favorable view, said he would ask his board to consider changing the existing policy, which has been in effect for several years.

The committee's request to the San Francisco supervisors was an unofficial one, because only four of its eight members were present.

In its "informal discussion" the committee also agreed to invite the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to join the committee, and to send three representatives to its monthly meetings in bridge district offices at the toll plaza.

The commitee was formed three years ago by Marin and San Francisco supervisors and the bridge board to coordinate improved bus transportation across the bridge. The committee decided to invite Sonoma because the Jenkins plan for the bridge district to go into the commute bus business envisions service to Sonoma as well as between Marin and San Francisco.

Sonoma County Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker, who has been attending committee meetings as an observer, said his county "has got to get into this picture sooner or later — and it had better be sooner."

The committee, which last month agreed to consider its dissolution because Marin and San Francisco supervisors now sit on the bridge board, agreed to continue in operation. The committee, the four members present agreed, is a better forum to exchange ideas than the bridge board.

The committee's next meeting was set for 10 a.m. March 12 in bridge district offices. Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum asked that the March agenda include a discussion on how to coordinate intercounty and intracounty bus service.

Western Europe, England Facing Flood Threats

LONDON (AP) — A thaw in much of Western Europe and Southern England brought flood dangers today after days of blizzards and freezing cold.

An American airman was among five who lost their lives in an overnight blizzard, now working its way northward.

Sgt. Max Sylvester, 43, attached to U.S. Air Force transport office at Harwich Docks, was found in a snow drift near Horsley Cross in Essex last night by a patrolling police car. He was dead on arrival at Essex County Hospital in Colchester. The Air Force said his home is in Indianapolis.

The blizzard and howling winds piled up snow drifts across much of southern England but at dawn the situation changed drastically with a sudden thaw.

Scandinavia and the Soviet Union reported normal cold weather but it was a sunny, spring-like day in Paris with the temperature rising throughout France.

Marijuana Charge Against Girl Dropped

A charge of being in a place where marijuana was being used has been dropped against Jane Carole Schra, 18, of Salem, Ore., in Marin Municipal Court.

Miss Schra was arrested Dec. 3 in San Anselmo.

MISSIISSIPPI BOUND — Linda Hall, Robert Salazar (center) and Gregory Croft, fourth graders at the Laurel Dell School in San Rafael, prepare another box of food, clothing and other items to send to a poverty-stricken Mississippi family. BOXES TO MISSISSIPPI

Marin Pupils Adopt Family Of 13

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

"I feel that we should help these starving people and bring more peace to the world."

". . . We have all the food, clothes, house goods and they don't have anything . . ."

"I feel that more people should help the needing people."

These are representative reactions of a group of San Rafael fourth graders who have stretched a hand of help and friendship from the affluence of Marin County to the backwater poverty of Mississippi by "adopting" a poverty-stricken Negro couple and their 11 children.

The fourth grade class of Thelma Preston at the Laurel Dell School adopted the family of Gideon and Fannie Funches about a month ago under the Mississippi Box Project.

Mr. and Mrs. Funches live with their seven daughters, and four sons — ranging from 1 to 16 years old — in rural Edward, Miss., not too far from the state capital of Jackson.

The 25 nine and 10-year-olds in Mrs. Preston's class are regularly sending boxes of food, clothing, books and other items to the Funches. Some of the children are giving up their allowances to pay for the postage for the boxes, which cost about $4 each to send.

One youngster has given up his allowance every week since the class began the project and Mrs. Preston says he refuses to consider saving some of the money for himself.

The response from parents has been almost overwhelming, according to Mrs. Preston. "I had to ask them at one point to stop bringing stuff in because we didn't have postage money to pay for sending the boxes," she said.

There is enough postage money now, at least temporarily, she said, thanks to a $25 boost from the Parents and Teachers Association and the continued sharing of their allowances by her students. Mrs. Preston herself pays for shipping at least one box a month and also helps out if allowance money doesn't quite cover the postage.

The items going to the Funches range from oatmeal and instant tea to paper napkins and leftover Weekly Readers. The class, in its spare time, is also making a patchwork quilt to send to the family.

The quilt probably will take another 12 weeks to finish "if we work hard," according to a towheaded boy who made the observation as he unstitched a patch he had forgotten to put the stuffing into.

Each of the packages to Mississippi contains a letter to the family which the youngsters take turns writing. The letter in the latest package tells about studying the desert and Japan and about the class's two ducks and a bantam chick that "always knocks over the bowl." Written on Valentine's Day, the letter also has a crayoned heart, and the comment: "On this day, we exchange cards and have fun. Hope you are too."

Mrs. Funches or one of her children faithfully answers each letter from the fourth graders. In one, Mrs. Funches said her husband was out of work and her children were sick with the flu. "I am not able to carry them to the right kind of doctor," she wrote.

In another, she wrote the youngsters: "We are thankful to know that someone (as) far off a you all is caring for us."

"I haven't ever had any one to give my children anything before," Mrs. Funches wrote another time. "And I can't thank you enough."

Two Booked After Auto Rifling Seen

Two Marin men, one of whom was arrested after being chased several blocks by his alleged victim, were jailed on suspicion of varying degrees today in connection with the rifling of a parked car in San Rafael yesterday.

Edward John Bonadeo, 21, 172 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, was booked for investigation of conspiracy to commit theft, and Stephen Carl Ellsworth, whose address was given as the Lincoln Hotel, for investigation of grand theft, receiving stolen property and conspiracy.

Bonadeo was arrested after being chased through the Canal Street area by the owner of the car, Harold Alfred Lipska, of Novato, according to police. Ellsworth was arrested later while driving Bonadeo's car, police said. They said the car contained a coat that had been taken from Lipska's car and an attempt was made to remove the car's radio.

Bonadeo was freed on his own recognizance and Ellswroth released on $625 bail pending a court appearance later today.

Sausalito Waterfront Proposal Gets Informal Commission Nod

Sausalito Planning commissioners last night approved development plans for Madden and Lewis Inc. holdings along the Sausalito waterfront.

The approval was informal wihh three commissioners, Murray Smith, Robert L. Nissen and Virginia Pasquinucci, indicating they favored the plans, general concept, according to secretary Miriam Ansell.

The plan covers the J. H. Madden's holdings from Pine Street on the north to the ferry boat Berkeley on the south and includes the sandspit lease.

It generally calls for expansion of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, commercial development on the block between Johnson and Pine streets, east of Humboldt Avenue and a motel-boatel on Bay Street, east of Humboldt Avenue.

During the two-hour discussion, commissioners agreed the Sausalito Yacht Club should be moved to the north end of the yacht harbor with the Berkeley remaining at its present location, Mrs. Ansell said.

Commissioner Richard L. Whitaker suggested Madden and Lewis pay the city a substantial fee for use of underwater streets in the yacht harbor. The Madden Plan instead suggests a token rental and the return of a portion of the sandspit lease to the city.

Whitaker also questioned a requirement that the area between the Berkeley and the sandspit remain as open space if it is returned to the city, noting that the city someday may want to make use of the property for some kind of development.

Commissioner Violetta Autumn's suggestion that the fill for the commercial development between Johnson and Pine streets be limited to 50 per cent of the area met with little support. Whitaker said 50 per cent limit was desirable but practical only if parking requirements are not enforced.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing Madden, said parking was necessary to the development and noted that he would not accept a modificaiton which called for deletion of parking.

The commission's report will be forwarded to the city council for consideration at its March 4 meeting.

The planners also agreed that a private high school is a compatible use in a commercial industrial zone, thus approving the establishment of the Shasta School at 2320 Bridgeway.

A joint meeting with hte city's parks and recreation commission was set for 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall.

Fairfax Has Shut Session On Hiring

The Fairfax City Council met behind closed doors for five hours last night with discussion focusing on hiring City Clerk Frances R. Lestanguet as city administrator.

Mrs. Lestanguet's ability to perform the duties and the amount and type of assistance she would need were major topics, according to Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson.

The item will be the first on the agenda of an adjourned council meeting at p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council also discussed filling the post of city treasurer, vacated Feb. 15 by the death of Mrs. Dorothy A. McGlothlin who had served since 1956.

No formal applications have been received and the council set 5 p.m. Monday as the deadline for applying.

Mrs. Wilson said the council hopes to make a decision Monday so city employees can be paid Feb. 28 as scheduled.

Leslie Hood To Fair-Marin Job

Leslie I. Hood Jr. of Mill Valley, director of public information for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, will be hired as public relations consultant for Fair-Marin.

Harold Stockstad, president of the Fair-Marin board said four of the seven directors met last night and decided to hire Hood, one of four interviewed for the job.

Hood's salary is still to be negotiated, said Stockstad, but it will not exceed $3,000 for the remaining four months of this fiscal year.

Fair-Marin directors will meet again Wednesday night to discuss revenues expected from the new auditorium and fairgrounds.

Cash For Courthouse Held The Best Deal

The present and former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors said today they still preferred a cash sale of the ccourthouse square over an agreement to exchange it for other property.

John F. McInnis, present board chairman, and his predecessor, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, appeared on radio KTIM's Sounding Board to discuss the latest offer to dispose of the county-owned square. DSI Corp., headed by Beverly Hills developer Sanford Weiss, has offered to trade $800,000 worth of land it owns on the northern rim of the Civic Center property in Santa Venetia for the San Rafael Square.

"I'm still committed to make every effort to get cash," McInnis said, adding he expected the county again would ask for public bids on the square in several weeks. The board of supervisors once before called for bids on the property, in June 1967, but none was received.

Three other cash offers for the property have either been rejected or withdrawn, as well as one to trade it for other land in San Rafael.

"I don't think the offer to trade is the best kind of offer," Kettenhofen said. When he was on the board of supervisors, Kettenhofen said, he urged a sale of the property so that the proceeds could be used for tax relief.

He said his position had not changed and McInnis agreed a sale would be the most beneficial way to dispose of the square.

McInnis, supported by another speaker on the program, San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, said he had attempted several times in the last decade to spur merchants near the square on Fourth Street to organize a redevelopment plan for the property, but these efforts failed.

The speakers feared the downtown area would begin a sharp commercial decline if the square remained idle too long after the county had moved its offices to the Civic Center. Traffic and parking problems were worsening, they said.

McInnis said the city should have control over the block which it does not have now because of the county occupancy.

Andersen said a preliminary study of placing underground parking on the site showed that provision for 510 spaces on two-and-a-half levels could be made for about $2.5 million. A nonprofit corporation to operate parking on the site was described by the speakers as the key to successful development.

Kettenhofen said he had abandoned plans to participate in redevelopment of the site into a Ghirardelli Square-type project because "there would be those who suggested I made the deal before I left office."

He said, however, that the prospective developers were still interested.

McInnis ruled out conversion of the courthouse into a historical museum because the building is "about to fall down."

Roderick P. Martinelli, attorney for DSI Corp., said he was told by county staff that property which his client proposed to swap for the courthouse may be needed for Civic Center expansion.

He said Weiss proposed office and store space for the courthouse square, leaving open about 30 to 40 per cent of the property.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

State Court Refuses Stay For Massie

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California Supreme Court yesterday refused to stay the execution of San Quentin inmate Robert Lee Massie, who says he wants to die.

The court turned down requests for a stay of execution from both the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California and Masters' court-appointed attorney.

The 27-year-old Los Angeles convict, condemned to the gas chamber for the slaying of a woman during a robbery, is scheduled to be executed March 12.

Massie has repeatedly asked the court to allow the execution to go ahead. There were indications, however, that the ACLU would take a plea for a stay of execution on to the U. S. Supreme Court following yesterday's ruling by the state high court.

The state court agreed yesterday to hear pleas for a stay on behalf of another condemned San Quentin prisoner, Nathan Eli, 24, who is scheduled for the gas chamber March 19.

Novato Arrests AWOL Soldiers

Two soldiers who were reported absent without leave from the Presidio of San Francisco, arrested by Novato police at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday have been turned over to the military authorities at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Pvt. Michael E. Duval, 18, reported to be under the influence of narcotics, was taken to Novato General Hospital by his friend, Pvt. John B. Marshall, 20. Novato police arrested the two there and took them to Hamilton Air Force Base.

An ambulance from the Sixth Army at the Presidio picked up Duval and Marshall and took them back to the Presidio, Hamilton officials reported.

Written on Valentine's Day, the letter also has a crayoned heart, and the comment: "On this day, we exchange cards and have fun. Hope you are too."

Mrs. Funches or one of her children faithfully answers each letter from the fourth graders. In one, Mrs. Funches said her husband was out of work and her children were sick with the flu. "I am not able to carry them to the right kind of doctor," she wrote.

In another, she wrote the youngsters: "We are thankful to know that someone (as) far off a you all is caring for us."

"I haven't ever had any one to give my children anything before," Mrs. Funches wrote another time. "And I can't thank you enough."

Two Booked After Auto Rifling Seen

Two Marin men, one of whom was arrested after being chased several blocks by his alleged victim, were jailed on suspicion of varying degrees today in connection with the rifling of a parked car in San Rafael yesterday.

Edward John Bonadeo, 21, 172 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, was booked for investigation of conspiracy to commit theft, and Stephen Carl Ellsworth, whose address was given as the Lincoln Hotel, for investigation of grand theft, receiving stolen property and conspiracy.

Bonadeo was arrested after being chased through the Canal Street area by the owner of the car, Harold Alfred Lipska, of Novato, according to police. Ellsworth was arrested later while driving Bonadeo's car, police said. They said the car contained a coat that had been taken from Lipska's car and an attempt was made to remove the car's radio.

Bonadeo was freed on his own recognizance and Ellswroth released on $625 bail pending a court appearance later today.

Sausalito Waterfront Proposal Gets Informal Commission Nod

Sausalito Planning commissioners last night approved development plans for Madden and Lewis Inc. holdings along the Sausalito waterfront.

The approval was informal wihh three commissioners, Murray Smith, Robert L. Nissen and Virginia Pasquinucci, indicating they favored the plans, general concept, according to secretary Miriam Ansell.

The plan covers the J. H. Madden's holdings from Pine Street on the north to the ferry boat Berkeley on the south and includes the sandspit lease.

It generally calls for expansion of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, commercial development on the block between Johnson and Pine streets, east of Humboldt Avenue and a motel-boatel on Bay Street, east of Humboldt Avenue.

During the two-hour discussion, commissioners agreed the Sausalito Yacht Club should be moved to the north end of the yacht harbor with the Berkeley remaining at its present location, Mrs. Ansell said.

Commissioner Richard L. Whitaker suggested Madden and Lewis pay the city a substantial fee for use of underwater streets in the yacht harbor. The Madden Plan instead suggests a token rental and the return of a portion of the sandspit lease to the city.

Whitaker also questioned a requirement that the area between the Berkeley and the sandspit remain as open space if it is returned to the city, noting that the city someday may want to make use of the property for some kind of development.

Commissioner Violetta Autumn's suggestion that the fill for the commercial development between Johnson and Pine streets be limited to 50 per cent of the area met with little support. Whitaker said 50 per cent limit was desirable but practical only if parking requirements are not enforced.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing Madden, said parking was necessary to the development and noted that he would not accept a modificaiton which called for deletion of parking.

The commission's report will be forwarded to the city council for consideration at its March 4 meeting.

The planners also agreed that a private high school is a compatible use in a commercial industrial zone, thus approving the establishment of the Shasta School at 2320 Bridgeway.

A joint meeting with hte city's parks and recreation commission was set for 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall.

Fairfax Has Shut Session On Hiring

The Fairfax City Council met behind closed doors for five hours last night with discussion focusing on hiring City Clerk Frances R. Lestanguet as city administrator.

Mrs. Lestanguet's ability to perform the duties and the amount and type of assistance she would need were major topics, according to Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson.

The item will be the first on the agenda of an adjourned council meeting at p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council also discussed filling the post of city treasurer, vacated Feb. 15 by the death of Mrs. Dorothy A. McGlothlin who had served since 1956.

No formal applications have been received and the council set 5 p.m. Monday as the deadline for applying.

Mrs. Wilson said the council hopes to make a decision Monday so city employees can be paid Feb. 28 as scheduled.

Leslie Hood To Fair-Marin Job

Leslie I. Hood Jr. of Mill Valley, director of public information for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, will be hired as public relations consultant for Fair-Marin.

Harold Stockstad, president of the Fair-Marin board said four of the seven directors met last night and decided to hire Hood, one of four interviewed for the job.

Hood's salary is still to be negotiated, said Stockstad, but it will not exceed $3,000 for the remaining four months of this fiscal year.

Fair-Marin directors will meet again Wednesday night to discuss revenues expected from the new auditorium and fairgrounds.

Cash For Courthouse Held The Best Deal

The present and former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors said today they still preferred a cash sale of the ccourthouse square over an agreement to exchange it for other property.

John F. McInnis, present board chairman, and his predecessor, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, appeared on radio KTIM's Sounding Board to discuss the latest offer to dispose of the county-owned square. DSI Corp., headed by Beverly Hills developer Sanford Weiss, has offered to trade $800,000 worth of land it owns on the northern rim of the Civic Center property in Santa Venetia for the San Rafael Square.

"I'm still committed to make every effort to get cash," McInnis said, adding he expected the county again would ask for public bids on the square in several weeks. The board of supervisors once before called for bids on the property, in June 1967, but none was received.

Three other cash offers for the property have either been rejected or withdrawn, as well as one to trade it for other land in San Rafael.

"I don't think the offer to trade is the best kind of offer," Kettenhofen said. When he was on the board of supervisors, Kettenhofen said, he urged a sale of the property so that the proceeds could be used for tax relief.

He said his position had not changed and McInnis agreed a sale would be the most beneficial way to dispose of the square.

McInnis, supported by another speaker on the program, San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, said he had attempted several times in the last decade to spur merchants near the square on Fourth Street to organize a redevelopment plan for the property, but these efforts failed.

The speakers feared the downtown area would begin a sharp commercial decline if the square remained idle too long after the county had moved its offices to the Civic Center. Traffic and parking problems were worsening, they said.

McInnis said the city should have control over the block which it does not have now because of the county occupancy.

Andersen said a preliminary study of placing underground parking on the site showed that provision for 510 spaces on two-and-a-half levels could be made for about $2.5 million. A non-profit corporation to operate parking on the site was described by the speakers as the key to successful development.

Kettenhofen said he had abandoned plans to participate in redevelopment of the site into a Ghirardelli Square-type project because "there would be those who suggested I made the deal before I left office."

He said, however, that the prospective developers were still interested.

McInnis ruled out conversion of the courthouse into a historical museum because the building is "about to fall down."

Roderick P. Martinelli, attorney for DSI Corp., said he was told by county staff that property which his client proposed to swap for the courthouse may be needed for Civic Center expansion.

He said Weiss proposed office and store space for the courthouse square, leaving open about 30 to 40 per cent of the property.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

State Court Refuses Stay For Massie

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California Supreme Court yesterday refused to stay the execution of San Quentin inmate Robert Lee Massie, who says he wants to die.

The court turned down requests for a stay of execution from both the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California and Masters' court-appointed attorney.

The 27-year-old Los Angeles convict, condemned to the gas chamber for the slaying of a woman during a robbery, is scheduled to be executed March 12.

Massie has repeatedly asked the court to allow the execution to go ahead. There were indications, however, that the ACLU would take a plea for a stay of execution on to the U. S. Supreme Court following yesterday's ruling by the state high court.

The state court agreed yesterday to hear pleas for a stay on behalf of another condemned San Quentin prisoner, Nathan Eli, 24, who is scheduled for the gas chamber March 19.

Novato Arrests AWOL Soldiers

Two soldiers who were reported absent without leave from the Presidio of San Francisco, arrested by Novato police at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday have been turned over to the military authorities at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Pvt. Michael E. Duval, 18, reported to be under the influence of narcotics, was taken to Novato General Hospital by his friend, Pvt. John B. Marshall, 20. Novato police arrested the two there and took them to Hamilton Air Force Base.

An ambulance from the Sixth Army at the Presidio picked up Duval and Marshall and took them back to the Presidio, Hamilton officials reported.

STUDENTS ON REVOLT

San Francisco Unrest Held Just The Start

By CHARLES YOAKUM

Five supporters of "student revolution" analyzed that topic from different angles last night before an overflow crowd at the monthly Mill Valley Forum.

In general, the five speakers said that:

The United States is a "Johnny-come-lately" in terms of student revolt.

The sophistication of mass media and communications has made students aware of what needs changing.

There is "no Communist conspiracy" behind the student unrest.

Speaking at the forum were Nesbit Crutchfield, an officer in the Black Student Union, Tony Miranda, member of the central committee of the Third World Federation at San Francisco State College; Sharon Gold, San Francisco State graduate student; Juan Pifarre, native of Argentine and a member of the student movement at the University of Buenos Aires, and John Leonard, a senior at Tamalpais High School.

Mill Valley's city council-chambers were filled to capacity, with many standing in the aisles for the entire three-hour session.

The speakers did not debate, but merely took turns outlining student unrest as they saw it.

Miranda told the forum that "the unrest at San Francisco State is directly connected with the college's failure to meet the needs of Third World students."

"Less than 10 per cent of the student population at State is made up of Third World students," Miranda said. "Yet the city's elementary schools have about 70 per cent Third World students."

He identified Third World students as those of Japanese, Chinese, Afro-American, Mexican-American and Philippine descent.

Miranda charged not only the exclusion of Third World students, but also that "today's educational system teaches minority students how to desert their brothers."

"There are more Mexicans in penal institutions in California than there are in institutions for higher education," Miranda said.

Miranda traced the problem to the elementary schools.

"In the second grade, the Mexican student is told not to speak Spanish, his native tongue," Miranda said.

Miranda also said that at the high school level, minority students were routed into programs aimed at getting them "into some trade."

"But even to get into a trade union it now requires two years of college," Miranda added. "The white teacher forgets that."

Miss Gold told the forum that the student revolt at San Francisco State "didn't happen overnight, it came about over a six-year period" of student repression by the administration.

She also said that the "school grounds will become the battleground for power" in the country. "For he who controls the educational system controls the future generation," she said.

Crutchfield said that the day has come "when the Third World students have decided that since they pay taxes, too, it's about time they reaped some of the benefits."

He cited self-determination of the educational system as one of the benefits the World students want.

He also said that "racism runs rampant" in our society," and also affects Third World peopie too, even worse than it does the white man."

"We minority groups spend a lot of time fighting among each other," he said. "Every time the white man gave us something, we'd fight over it. It's a nice trick the white man learned, I believe its called 'divide and conquer'."

Pifarre noted that student revolt had been occurring in other parts of the world long before it appeared in the United States.

"In Latin America, students are often instrumental in overthrowing governments," he said. "We've been doing it for years."

Pifarre denied that there was a Communits conspiracy behind student revolts.

"The students revolt in Czechoslovakia and Poland, and they are Communist-controlled."

He also denied that student unrest was the product of a "permissive society."

"General Franco of Spain is anything but permissive, and the students revolt there, too," he added.

Leonard, the Tamalpais High senior, said he felt that students today were better informed because of the improved communications and therefore were in a better position to see things happening in society that needed changing.

Charge Left Out

Through an error in the composing room, a story in yesterdays's Independent-Journal did not state the charge to which Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael had pleaded guilty. He had admitted burglarizing a San Rafael apartment house May 24.

Teener Accused Of Thefts, Pot

A 16-year-old Sausalito youth has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of recent burglaries in the Mill Valley area and possession of marijuana, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Edward Norman Marshall of 105 Buchanan Street has been linked to two burglaries on Summit Avenue as well others on Panoramic Highway and in Mill Valley, deputies said.

Juvenile officers who arrested him Monday, said he had a lid of marijuana in his shirt pocket.

Two other youths may also have been involved in the same burglaries, officers said.

Speed Limits Cut On Delta

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers restricted boat speed limits to five miles per hour in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta today because of the threat of levee erosion.

In a statement, the engineers said, "The combination of saturated levees and high tides has created a critical situation and the cooperation of all boaters is requested."

Officials in the state-federal flood control center explained that the wash from boats traveling at higher speeds erodes the levees, already weakened by constant high water and high tides.

Policeman Tells Of Violations

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A University of California campus policeman testified yesterday he witnessed only two violations of campus rules — use of a bullhorn and the distribution of leaflets — in a Berkeley rally preceding a march on the Oakland Induction Center in October 1967.

Sgt. James Sicheneider also identified five of the "Oakland Seven," on trial in Alameda County Superior Court for felony conspiracy to have others commit misdemeanors during the weeklong antidraft demonstrations.

Under cross-examination, Sicheneider conceded he had heard no statements advocating violence against police during the rally.

Sicheneider admitted he had taken no notes during speeches at the rally, but the jury was scheduled to hear taped portions of the speeches today.

Life expectancy in India has risen from 32 to 50 years in less than 20 years.

Officers Sworn In For Desert Trial

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The mutiny trial of Private John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, opened yesterday at remote Fort Irwin in the Mojave Desert, with Colip declining to have enlisted men on the court-martial panel.

Ten Fort Irwin officers were sworn in, in proceedings which lasted 30 minutes. Then Colip was flown back to San Francisco because Fort Irwin has no stockade.

The trial will continue on Monday at Fort Irwin. Before that, several legal motions will be heard at the Presidio as they involve witnesses who won't take part in the trial.

Colip is one of 27 soldiers accused of mutiny following a sit-down strike last October to protest the killing of a fellow prisoner by a guard and conditions at the stockade.

Among 23 soldiers still to be tried is Pvt. Keith C. Mather of San Bruno, one of the Marin City Nine who staged an anti-war protest last summer at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church. Mather and eight other servicemen chained themselves to clergymen for the peaceful demonstration.

Three men have already been convicted of mutiny and sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor.

Panel Looks At Needs In Park

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission yesterday toured Wickersham Park to determine what improvements might be made.

Richard W. Shollenberger, director of parks and recreation, said the commission is considering additional landscaping and play equipment such as shuffle boards and childrens' equipment.

After the tour, the commission held the study session at dinner at the Old Adobe Room.

Planners Wrestling Sign Control Policy

With the present sign ordinance in a "state of utter confusion," the San Rafael Planning Commission last night held the first in what may be a long series of study sessions aimed at developing a reasonable and understandable ordinance.

But for most of the first session, the commission argued about how it should proceed while Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner pleaded for guidance so he could begin writing an ordinance.

Hotchner reminded commissioners they had first called for a new sign ordinance in January 1968 and since then had been acting on every sign application individually, with the result a "state of utter confusion."

He recounted meetings with the sign industry and with sign users, such as service stations, car dealers and supermarkets. Most of them are willing to accept stricter rules, he said, provided the requirements are reasonable and the ordinance is enforced equally.

Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding asked for a summary of factual data Hotchner had gathered at the meetings, but the planning director told him it was irrelevant for their task — the making of policy.

When Lunding insisted, Hotchner accused him of "trying to have someone else make up his mind" and pointed out that all of the persons he met with had special interests and these interests would have to be understood to make proper judgements.

Finally, Hotchner got the commissioners to start on a list of every conceivable type of sign, with each member giving his opinion on each type of sign.

Commissioners were flatly against roof signs as a general practice and indicated such signs should be severly limited and require commission consent.

Commissioners agreed that freestanding signs wer generally better than roof signs, but they too should have strict rules.

Then, with 17 more types of signs to consider, Commissioners John J. Adams and Lunding asked for a different approach. Both wanted to take Hotchner's list, think it over, and then write in their opinions.

Lunding suggested that as Hotchner developed the ordinance using an analysis of opinions, he could send out any questions for further opinions.

Hotchner, frustrated, agreed and commissioners promised to bring in their homework at the next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at city hall.

No members of the sign industry attended the meeting and the only sign users, Standard and Union Oil companies, were pressent.

Commissioner T. R. O'Toole was absent.

The first book printed in America was the "Bay Psalm Book" at Cambridge, Mass., in 1640.

Tape Recorders Reported Stolen

Two tape recorders were stolen from classrooms at Tamalpais Valley School on Monday, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Betty Harvey of 276 Richardson Drive, Strawberry, reported to the sheriff's office that someone broke into her home on Monday and took a battery pack.

Also reported was the theft Monday of a chain saw from a storage shed at the home of George J. Capella of 921 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

Community Colleges Split On Tax Ballots

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The board of governors of California community colleges was split today over a proposal to oppose legislation that continues tax override elections.

The legislative committee of the board yesterday could not agree on the pending legislation. Present law will eliminate after July 1, 1971, limits now applied to tax rates for school districts —35 cents for community college districts. By eliminating the maximums, tax override elections are made unnecessary.

The committee also recommended the board ask the legislature for a $35.5 million increase in state aid to local college districts on the basis of average daily attendance. The recommendation was to be taken up by the entire board late today before it closes its two-day meeting.

Districts now receive $628 for each regular student in average daily attendance and $510 for adult students. The committee favors increases to $727 and $560 respectively.

The governors received a staff report saying that while the two-year colleges, as part of the state's higher education system, should receive "a substantial share of the total current support" from the state, "the share provided by the state is still less than 35 per cent of the total financial support required."

Eliminating tax override elections was opposed by board Chairman Harold F. Wolters and Charles R. Smoot.

"This is a conservative board," Smoot said. "But there are some boards that if they have a buck, they'll spend a buck."

Victim Recovering After Hitting Train

A Petaluma man was reported in good condition today at Petaluma General Hospital with injuries suffered when his car struck a slowly moving train Tuesday at 6:35 a.m. on the crossing at Washington Street and Copeland Avenue.

Julio Stefani, 75, of 146 Wilson Street, suffered head cuts, according to hospital officials. Police said he failed to observe the train.

Rematch Is Forecast For Attorney General

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A long, complicated road ahead may find a 1970 rematch of the 1966 race between Democrat Thomas C. Lynch and Republican Spencer Williams for state attorney general.

Lynch, 64, confirmed yesterday that he expects to be a candidate for a second full four-year term in next year's election—about a year before the regular announcement season.

Williams, 46, who lost to Lynch despite the statewide GOP sweep in 1966, is expected to take the first step along the comeback trail soon with the help of President Nixon.

Political sources say Williams is going to be picked as U.S. attorney for Northern California shortly as a replacement for Cecil Poole, a Democrat first appointed by President Kennedy.

Williams presently is serving as Gov. Ronald Reagan's human resources secretary, which makes him one of the Republican governor's four top agency heads.

Both Reagan and Williams have acknowledged that negotiations are underway with the Nixon administration. But Williams says no decision has been reached.

Militant Hired For New Course

SAN JOSE (AP) — San Jose State College's student council voted last night to hire as instructors Tom Hayden, a founder of Students for a Democratic Society, and William M. Mandel, a scholar on Soviet affairs.

Mandel said it would be the first time he had taught an accredited college course since he was fired at Stanford University in a dispute involving the cold war.

Hayden is to receive $1,500 for a course called "The New American Revolution" and Mandel $2,000 for a course on "Contemporary Soviet Civilization."

Both courses will be part of the campus' experimental college and the philosophy department is to award three hours of academic credit for those taking them.

The wild rose is the state flower of Iowa.

Associates Named To GOP Committee

Marin County Republican Chairman Charles Michals of Greenbrae has appointed nine persons associate members of the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

They are Capt. Ernest Bergman of Mill Valley, John F. Fiorito Jr. of Tiburon, Mrs. Betty Gardiner of Woodacre, Mrs. Mildred Graham, James Rowen and Suzanne Miotti, all of San Rafael, Mrs. Lorraine Lipska and Mrs. Ruth Smith of Novato, and Paul Haerle of Sacramento.

Abandon The Old Rule: 'Never Finesse Against Your Partner'

"Never finesse against your partner," says an old rule, dating back to the days of whist. It's a good rule to follow if you're playing whist, but a good rule to abandon if the game is bridge.

LOW DIAMOND

West opens the three of diamonds, and declarer plays low from the dummy. The fate of the contract depends on East's play at the first trick.

If East follows the old rule, he puts up the jack of diamonds. "Third hand high" is another way of saying "Never finesse against your partner." Both sayings would lead East astray in this case.

South captures the jack of diamonds with the queen and loses a trump finesse to East's king. East returns a club, enabling West to take two club tricks. Then South ruffs the third round of clubs, draws trumps and leads a diamond to take a finesse with dummy's ten. This finesse works, and South takes the rest of the tricks, making his contract.

DEEP FINESSE

East defeats the contract if he plays the eight of diamonds at the first trick, taking a deep finesse. This play enables South to win a cheap trick with the nine of diamonds, but does not give him all three diamond tricks.

South loses a spade finesse at the second trick, and the defenders make the normal switch to clubs, taking two club tricks. West gets out safely with a third club, and South ruffs. South must eventually lose a diamond trick to the king or to the jack, and this is the setting trick.

BEWARE OF JACK

Beware of playing the jack in third position when dummy shows the ace-ten or even the ace-nine. It is usually better to play some such card as the seven or eight or even to play low altogether.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton, but the hand isn't even close to an opening bid. You need at least two of the eight aces and kings for a sound opening bid.

Commuter's Woes

CROWLAND, England (UPI) —Construction worker Arthur Strickland complained to newspapers that the two-lane road he takes to work has shrunk from 22 feet wide to 16 feet—and is still shrinking because of heavy rains and traffic. "It's time something was done, or there'll be no road left at all," Strickland said.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Feb. 20, the 51st day of 1969 with 314 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1809 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the power of the federal government was no greater than that of any individual state in the union.

In 1872 the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City was opened to the public for the first time.

In 1938 Anthony Eden resigned as British foreign secretary to protest the "appeasement" policy of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain toward Nazi Germany.

In 1962 American Astronaut John Glenn landed safely after three orbits of the earth.

A thought for the day: American novelist Hermann Hagedorn said, "Down with the fair-chambered corridors of years, the quiet shutting, one by one, of doors."

Thief Prepares For A Big Job

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A thief who took a cement mixer didn't let the size of the job deter him.

Police said tire marks at a constructionsite indicated the heavy mixer was pulled away with a truck.

Also taken were 30 bags of cement mix and nine bags of lime.

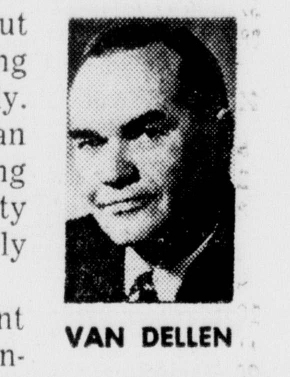
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

It's Little Wonder The Older Person Suffers Emotionally



VAN DELLEN

Emotional and neurotic disturbances are common at any age, but when seen in the elderly, softening of the brain is blamed needlessly. This is unfair because with more than their share of worries, it is surprising that oldsters maintain any tranquility at all. A longer life is not necessarily a happier one.

Depression is the most frequent psychic disturbance after 60. The senior citizen need not be insane or suffering from an organic disease of brain, such as a stroke or deterioration. In other words, his health is perfect, except that he is sad.

IN SOME, depression masquerades as fatigue, loss of interest, and poor appetite. Still others are unable to sleep during the early morning hours.

Now and then the oldster is agitated by his depression. Headache or dyspepsia may mask the blues or be blamed for the person's cheerless state.

More serious emotional problems occur when the individual broods over supposed misdeeds and unforgivable sins. Others develop paranoid tendencies and distrust everyone. It hurts most when they believe that family and old friends are plotting against them.

COMPROMISE IS NOT easy at the twilight of life and various problems arise to upset the emotional balance. For example a new environment, money problems, feeling unwanted, and death of the spouse.

Added to this are failing physical strength, heart disorders, arthritis, and impaired vision and hearing.

EXCELLENT REMEDIES are available for these discouraging disturbances. Tranquilizers make life more bearable; these drugs soothe the agitated, and encourage relaxation.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J)

Mr. J. writes: I am 35 and have been trying to build up my muscles through exercise. I've always been the flabby type and wonder if I'm wasting my time, as I can't see any improvement.

REPLY

Why not utilize exercise as a means of staying physically fit, rather than trying to obtain bulging muscles? The advantage of exercise is to maintain good muscular tone and to minimize wear and tear on the body when exertion is required.

LUNG MAY RE-EXPAND

Mrs. I. writes: A child was in an accident and broke three ribs and punctured one lung. Will this lung fill up in time or will she have to go through life with only one useful lung?

REPLY

There's a good chance that the lung will reinflate. If not, surgery may be needed to remove adhesions that are preventing the organ from refilling.

FEVER FROM INFECTION

V. V. writes: Are there any fevers for which we have no cure?

REPLY

Yes, if by fevers you mean infections. Viral diseases such as the common cold, influenza, or measles fall into this category. Rabies can be prevented with a vaccine but there is no cure once it develops. And what about the fever associated with cancer, heart attack and stroke?

BOOKKEEPERS'S EYES

Miss B. writes: I am a bookkeeper and have trouble with my eyes while staring at the ceiling. Is this due to eyestrain?

REPLY

Have your eyes checked for refractive errors. Staring at the ceiling or into the distance once in a while gives the eyes a rest. But you need not complain so long as your vision is adequate when you run your trial balance.

Hickel Cancels Oil Lease Bids Pending Rules Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, in his third action of the week aimed at preventing another "Santa Barbara tragedy," today called off the sale of offshore oil and gas leases.

The sale of 27 Gulf Coast tracts that could have brought the government millions of dollars, was scheduled for next Tuesday and was the only such sale of federal offshore leases imminent.

Hickel said the sale would be postponed "until we are positive we have regulations which will prevent pollution such as the Santa Barbara tragedy."

Earlier this week, Hickel issued regulations holding oil companies responsible for cleanup and damage costs from any offshore-well pollution and proposed new and tighter regulations for drilling in the Santa Barbara channel.

Oil and gas leases along the Gulf of Mexico coastline already have brought the Interior Department close to $200 million in bonus bids.

Sixteen tracts were leased Nov. 19, 1968 for a total of $150 million in bonuses, followed by another 20 tracts for $44 million Jan. 14.

Preliminary steps have been taken toward the possible leasing late this year of areas off Alaska, but that sale has not yet been definitely scheduled.

Announcing the latest move, Hickel said, "We have postponed the Gulf Coast sale as another step in the exhaustive review being conducted into all aspects of federal offshore drilling and production.

"Consequently, any bids received for the Louisiana tracts will be returned to the sender unopened."

"In announcing this postponement," he added, "I again declare that monetary considerations must not be allowed to obstruct consideration of what is best to protect the environment in which we live."

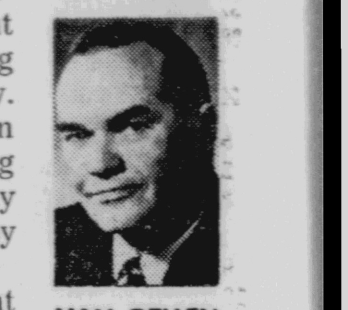
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

It's Little Wonder The Older Person Suffers Emotionally



VAN DELLEN

Emotional and neurotic disturbances are common at any age, but when seen in the elderly, softening of the brain is blamed needlessly. This is unfair because with more than their share of worries, it is surprising that oldsters maintain any tranquility at all. A longer life is not necessarily a happier one.

Depression is the most frequent psychic disturbance after 60. The senior citizen need not be insane or suffering from an organic disease of brain, such as a stroke or deterioration. In other words, his health is perfect, except that he is sad.

IN SOME, depression masquerades as fatigue, loss of interest, and poor appetite. Still others are unable to sleep during the early morning hours.

Now and then the oldster is agitated by his depression. Headache or dyspepsia may mask the blues or be blamed for the person's cheerless state.

More serious emotional problems occur when the individual broods over supposed misdeeds and unforgivable sins. Others develop paranoid tendencies and distrust everyone. It hurts most when they believe that family and old friends are plotting against them.

COMPROMISE IS NOT easy at the twilight of life and various problems arise to upset the emotional balance. For example a new environment, money problems, feeling unwanted, and death of the spouse.

Added to this are failing physical strength, heart disorders, arthritis, and impaired vision and hearing.

EXCELLENT REMEDIES are available for these discouraging disturbances. Tranquilizers make life more bearable; these drugs soothe the agitated, and encourage relaxation.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J)

Mr. J. writes: I am 35 and have been trying to build up my muscles through exercise. I've always been the flabby type and wonder if I'm wasting my time, as I can't see any improvement.

REPLY

Why not utilize exercise as a means of staying physically fit, rather than trying to obtain bulging muscles? The advantage of exercise is to maintain good muscular tone and to minimize wear and tear on the body when exertion is required.

LUNG MAY RE-EXPAND

Mrs. I. writes: A child was in an accident and broke three ribs and punctured one lung. Will this lung fill up in time or will she have to go through life with only one useful lung?

REPLY

There's a good chance that the lung will reinflate. If not, surgery may be needed to remove adhesions that are preventing the organ from refilling.

FEVER FROM INFECTION

V. V. writes: Are there any fevers for which we have no cure?

REPLY

Yes, if by fevers you mean infections. Viral diseases such as the common cold, influenza, or measles fall into this category. Rabies can be prevented with a vaccine but there is no cure once it develops. And what about the fever associated with cancer, heart attack and stroke?

BOOKKEEPERS'S EYES

Miss B. writes: I am a bookkeeper and have trouble with my eyes while staring at the ceiling. Is this due to eyestrain?

REPLY

Have your eyes checked for refractive errors. Staring at the ceiling or into the distance once in a while gives the eyes a rest. But you need not complain so long as your vision is adequate when you run your trial balance.

Hickel Cancels Oil Lease Bids Pending Rules Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, in his third action of the week aimed at preventing another "Santa Barbara tragedy," today called off the sale of offshore oil and gas leases.

The sale of 27 Gulf Coast tracts that could have brought the government millions of dollars, was scheduled for next Tuesday and was the only such sale of federal offshore leases imminent.

Hickel said the sale would be postponed "until we are positive we have regulations which will prevent pollution such as the Santa Barbara tragedy."

Earlier this week, Hickel issued regulations holding oil companies responsible for cleanup and damage costs from any offshore-well pollution and proposed new and tighter regulations for drilling in the Santa Barbara channel.

Oil and gas leases along the Gulf of Mexico coastline already have brought the Interior Department close to $200 million in bonus bids.

Sixteen tracts were leased Nov. 19, 1968 for a total of $150 million in bonuses, followed by another 20 tracts for $44 million Jan. 14.

Preliminary steps have been taken toward the possible leasing late this year of areas off Alaska, but that sale has not yet been definitely scheduled.

Announcing the latest move, Hickel said, "We have postponed the Gulf Coast sale as another step in the exhaustive review being conducted into all aspects of federal offshore drilling and production.

"Consequently, any bids received for the Louisiana tracts will be returned to the sender unopened."

"In announcing this postponement," he added, "I again declare that monetary considerations must not be allowed to obstruct consideration of what is best to protect the environment in which we live."

Injuries Minor In Auto Wreck

Two men received minor injuries yesterday when a car and truck collided at Highway 37 and Lakeville Road in Southern Sonoma, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Treated at Novato General Hospital were Andre J. P. Fournier, 31, of 142 Filbert Street, Apt. 3, Sausalito, for scrapes and Jean-Marie Vatinelle, 32, of Sonoma, for back and neck pains.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred at 2:45 p.m. when Fournier's car pulled out in front of an oncoming truck driven by Dave F. Bjerke, 35, of Pico Rivera, Los Angeles County. Vatinelle was a passenger in Bjerke's truck.

San Franciscan To Napa Hospital

John J. Houghton, 29, of San Francisco, was committed to Napa State Hospital yeserday by Larkspur police after he reportedly refused to leave Safeway store at 2 Bon Air Road, saying first "I am the manager," and then "I am the devil."

Police were called at 8:40 p.m. by employee Eugene Worthley, who said the man refused to leave. Houghton told officers he had taken some LSD capsules earlier in the day.

Seven Aides Named To Commerce Duties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven top officials of the Commerce Department—all Republicans—were named today by President Nixon and announced by Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans.

Robert A. Podesta, 56, a Chicago investment executive who had been a leading candidate to head the Small Business Administration, was named instead as assistant secretary of commerce for economic development.

Chosen to be maritime administrator was Andrew E. Gibson, 46, of Summit, N.J., vice president of an international management consultant firm in New York City.

Kenneth N. Davis Jr., 42, a 20-year career veteran and executive with the IBM Corp. in New York, was named assistant secretary of commerce for domestic and international business.

James T. Lynn, 42, a cleveland, Ohio, corporation lawyer, was named general counsel for the department.

Named director of the U.S. Travel Service was C. Langhorne Washburn, 50, a Washington, D.C., marketing research and public relations specialist.

Named to head two regional commissions were:

G. Fred Steele Jr., 39, Durham, N.C., insurance executive, who will be federal cochairman of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission that includes parts of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

W. D. Brewer, 56, a rubber company executive from Littleton, Colo., named federal cochairman of the Four Corners Regional Commission, involved in economic development in distressed areas of Colorado, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

Informal Talks By Drug Panel

Gilbert R. Guerin, director of pupil personnel services for the Novato Unified School District, has been named chairman of the district's drug policy committee.

The drug committee, composed of school administrators and parents, held an informal discussion and get acquainted meeting Tuesday, night, but took no action, according to Stanley V. Onderdonk, principal of Novato High School.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. each Tuesday at the administration building for three or four weeks until it formulates a policy on drug control on schools grounds to submit the board of trustees, Onderdonk said.

Sergeants Win Officer Training

Off-duty hours spent earning college degrees have won a chance to attend the Air Force's officers training school for two sergeants stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Both were graduated from the Golden Gate College in San Francisco last month with their Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration and will leave soon for Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. for officer's training school.

They are T/Sgt. Spencer M. Rhodes, 29, now assigned to the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron and T/Sgt. James H. Scot, 26 now assigned to the 78th Combat Support Group.

When they finish the officers training school in three months, they will be commissioned second lieutenants.

Treated at Novato General Hospital were Andre J. P. Fournier, 31, of 142 Filbert Street, Apt. 3, Sausalito, for scrapes and Jean-Marie Vatinelle, 32, of Sonoma, for back and neck pains.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred at 2:45 p.m. when Fournier's car pulled out in front of an oncoming truck driven by Dave F. Bjerke, 35, of Pico Rivera, Los Angeles County. Vatinelle was a passenger in Bjerke's truck.

John J. Houghton, 29, of San Francisco, was committed to Napa State Hospital yeserday by Larkspur police after he reportedly refused to leave Safeway store at 2 Bon Air Road, saying first "I am the manager," and then "I am the devil."

Police were called at 8:40 p.m. by employee Eugene Worthley, who said the man refused to leave. Houghton told officers he had taken some LSD capsules earlier in the day.

Seven Aides Named To Commerce Duties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven top officials of the Commerce Department—all Republicans—were named today by President Nixon and announced by Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans.

Robert A. Podesta, 56, a Chicago investment executive who had been a leading candidate to head the Small Business Administration, was named instead as assistant secretary of commerce for economic development.

Chosen to be maritime administrator was Andrew E. Gibson, 46, of Summit, N.J., vice president of an international management consultant firm in New York City.

Kenneth N. Davis Jr., 42, a 20-year career veteran and executive with the IBM Corp. in New York, was named assistant secretary of commerce for domestic and international business.

James T. Lynn, 42, a cleveland, Ohio, corporation lawyer, was named general counsel for the department.

Named director of the U.S. Travel Service was C. Langhorne Washburn, 50, a Washington, D.C., marketing research and public relations specialist.

Named to head two regional commissions were:

G. Fred Steele Jr., 39, Durham, N.C., insurance executive, who will be federal cochairman of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission that includes parts of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

W. D. Brewer, 56, a rubber company executive from Littleton, Colo., named federal cochairman of the Four Corners Regional Commission, involved in economic development in distressed areas of Colorado, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

Informal Talks By Drug Panel

Gilbert R. Guerin, director of pupil personnel services for the Novato Unified School District, has been named chairman of the district's drug policy committee.

The drug committee, composed of school administrators and parents, held an informal discussion and get acquainted meeting Tuesday, night, but took no action, according to Stanley V. Onderdonk, principal of Novato High School.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. each Tuesday at the administration building for three or four weeks until it formulates a policy on drug control on schools grounds to submit the board of trustees, Onderdonk said.

Runoff Vote Victor

Jon Broderick was elected sophomore class president at Redwood High School in runoff elections held Monday and Tuesday.

Sergeants Win Officer Training

Off-duty hours spent earning college degrees have won a chance to attend the Air Force's officers training school for two sergeants stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Both were graduated from the Golden Gate College in San Francisco last month with their Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration and will leave soon for Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. for officer's training school.

They are T/Sgt. Spencer M. Rhodes, 29, now assigned to the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron and T/Sgt. James H. Scot, 26 now assigned to the 78th Combat Support Group.

When they finish the officers training school in three months, they will be commissioned second lieutenants.

Player Boycott Shows Signs Of Cracking

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league players' boycott shows some signs of cracking, but not enough to keep their representatives from rejecting another pension offer from the club owners.

A number of name players, such as Pat Jarvis, Tom Seaver, Jerry Grote and George Scott, said yesterday they would report to spring training.

And owner Francis Dale of the Cincinnati Reds says that's just the beginning.

"The real test of the players hasn't come yet," Dale said in Cincinnati. "I can tell you there are a lot of players signed and lot more ready to. We really haven't tested (Marvin) Miller's control of his men."

That brought a response from Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players Association. "This proves it is all a stalling tactic to try to break the Association wide open," Miller said in New York.

Earlier in the day the player representatives had overwhelmingly turned down the latest proposal by the owners to hike the pension $1.2 million to $5.3 million.

The players had rejected a previous $1 million increase by a big margin and Dick Moss, counsel for the Association, said player representatives did not think the new offer significant enough to submit to the membership.

The Association is asking a $6.5 million pension package.

Moss also said a few players were expected to report to spring training, but reaffirmed the Association belief that the great majority of players, including the big stars, would not sign contracts or report until the dispute is settled.

But among those who were signed up today was Jarvis, Atlanta's top pitcher last season with a 16-12 record. Knuckleballer Phil Niekro, another Braves' starter, indicated he might report within the next few days.

"I suppose the other players will be clipping this story, putting it on the walls and throwing darts at it," Jarvis said at Atlanta's camp in West Palm Beach, Fla. "But I am ready to go."

Niekro said he came to West Palm Beach to get a head start "and that's what I am going to do. I probably won't sign for a day or two because I want to see how it goes. But I am not going to wait long."

However, Braves' slugger Hank Aaron stuck with the boycott.

"It's the principle of the thing," he said. "I can't sign until it is settled. These are the people I play with."

Seaver, an All-Star with the New York Mets last year, said he had not signed and would not report today at St. Petersburg, Fla., but added "I will play this season whether the dispute is settled or not.

"I believe baseball remains one of the few things that reward individual effort in our country and I want it to remain that way. I don't want it to become unionized. I will go so far. I have a date set in my mind (to report) and I'm the only one who knows it."

Grote, the Mets' All-Star catcher, and teammates Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella, both pitchers, also said they would report.

Scott, Boston's veteran infielder, was quoted in a copyrighted story in the Boston Traveler that he planned to report on scheduled next Wednesday.

John Bateman and Ron Brand, two former Houston catchers now with the expansion Montreal Expos, and teammate Bob Bailey, former Los Angeles infielder, reported Wednesday.

"If a Mickey Mantle or an Ernie Banks would lead the way, things would get stirred up," said Vice President Ed Short of the White Sox concerning those players reporting.

Watch Out, You Guys: Place May Be Bugged

SPOOKY SCOOP — Maybe they're trying to keep it a secret because I haven't seen or heard anything about it in the news media.

But, did you know that the Dynamo Kieve championship soccer team of Russia, which plays the California Clippers at Kezar Stadium Sunday, is sponsored by the KGB, the Soviet Union's equivalent to our Central Intelligence Agency? (Reference: "The Espionage Establishment" by David Wise and Thomas B. Ross.)

I alert you to this fact so that if you have to use Kezar's antiquated anny-cays during Sunday's game, be careful what you say. Even the biffies may be bugged.

Footnote: Spies are nothing new to Kezar. Commander Lloyd Bucher of the spook ship Pueble played football there for the Boys Town, Nebr. team about 25 years ago. And now it's Russia's Revenge, or, Soccer To 'Em, Boris!

Time For Black Sea Brant

FISH'N' GAME — If you've a hankering to bag a limit of Black Sea Brant you'd better hurry because the season ends Sunday.

This is the word from Warden Al Giddings of the California Department of Fish and Game who noted about 500 of the small geese moved into the Tomales area last week. Giddings identified Enos Foster, George Goertz and Dick Clarke among the locals who got their limits of four birds.

What else is new? "Well," Giddings offered, "steelhead fishing usually is pretty good during the last two weeks of the season, so the boys should get some fresh roe and give it a go. The season ends the last day of February.

Brave Steelhead Fishermen

"I checked White House Pool (near Pt. Reyes Station) the other day and saw about 10 hardy fishermen standing in the rain, some sitting in their cars alongside the pool, but all dunking bait. Nobody had any fish, but the water was in good shape, a little muddy, but fishable."

Giddings continued: "Joe Mello of San Rafael and some of his friends worked Walker Creek (Tomales) for steelhead last week. Joe caught two fresh run females, about eight and six pounds. I believe the fish are there; it just takes a little letup in the weather to make the place fishable."

Speaking of the weather, Giddings looks forward to a banner year for striped bass fishermen on an San Pablo Bay, explaining: "Usually it's a good year in the bay after a big rain season, so this year should be a pip. The striped bass are surely there, but won't hit with the water as cold as it is. So it would be great to see the sun come out for a week or so."

Picked as the top professionals by their fellow athletes in other categories were:

Oaks To Host Chaparrals

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Oaks open a brief two-game home stand tonight at 8 o'clock when they host the Dallas Chaparrals in an American Basketball Association game in the Oakland Coliseum.

The Oaks, beaten by Dallas in the teams' most recent encounter, welcome forward Gary Bradds back to the lineup. Bradds missed the Oaks' latest road trip with a stomach ailment. Tests proved the trouble was not ulcers, which had been feared.

The Oaks have a 3-2 margin over the Chaparrals this season. On Saturday, they host the Los Angeles Stars.

10,009 Fans Watch Seals Triumph Over Black Hawks

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — Thanks to the hot shooting of a crew-cut rookie, the largest crowd at a Seals' home game this season — 10,009 — left the Coliseum Arena in bright spirits last night.

The hero was 24-year-old Brian Perry, whose three-goal hat trick in his first year in the National Hockey League paced the Oakland Seals to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

ROOKIE NIGHT

Norm Ferguson, another rookie, scored the other Seals' goals.

The win strengthened Oakland's grip on second place in the NHL's Western Division and kept alive the Seals' streak against the established teams in the Eastern Division. Oakland has won five and tied two of its last seven games with Eastern clubs.

Nothing would make the Seals' current, six-game home stand more sweeter, however, than a win tomorrow night against the St. Louis Blues in the Cow Palace. The Blues, in first place in the West, have not lost to Oakland since the teams entered the NHL a year ago.

FOUR IN FIVE

It was an incredible shot, but Perry's three goals — bringing his total to seven for the season — were the talk of the town. The English-born left wing now has five goals and 15 assists in his last 15 games.

"He'd had a lot of tough luck putting the puck in the net," Oakland coach Fred Glover said. "But none of the goals were flukes tonight. He should be proud of what he did."

Said Brian, "Mike (Laughton) and Earl (Ingarfield) set me up and I owe it to them. I guess I was in the right spot, though." Behind Perry on the dressing room bench — where no one could reach it — was the souvenir puck which he deflected past Chicago goalie Denis DeJordy to complete his hat trick.

Warriors Continue Mastery Over 76ers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It's too bad the San Francisco Warriors can't play the Philadelphia 76ers every night.

The Warriors led all the way before 3,279 at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium last night in downing the 76ers 134-117 in a National Basketball Association game.

It was San Francisco's sixth victory in their last seven games and the Warriors' fourth triumph in five games with Philadelphia this season.

The Warriors play at San Diego tonight.

The Warriors hit 51 per cent from the floor to take an 18-point lead at the half and retained that margin throughout the second half.

San Francisco held the 76ers' leading scorer, Billy Cunningham, to only one basket in 11 tries in the first half and to 17 points for the game.

Jeff Mullins, falling under 30 points for the first time in five games, led San Francisco with 28. Rudy La Russo hit 24 and Nate Thurmond 22.

Chet Walker scored 32 for the 76ers.

Flu-Ridden Tars Stage Late Rally To Edge Solano

By KIMO CAMPBELL

Playing with more guts than finesse, a flu-ridden band of College of Marin Tars scrambled from behind to overhaul Solano College of Vallejo 87-82 in last night's Camino Norte Conference basketball clash in Kentfield before 200 fans.

Ches Bornia hit both ends of a one-and-one with one minute and two seconds left in the overtime period to give Marin a five-point bulge at 83-78, and the Falcons could never catch up.

With Pat Schafer out and Andre Horn ailing due to the flu, Marin was outplayed by Solano much of the way, trailing 33-30 at halftime and 52-47 with seven minutes left. But Gary Hanson's bucket at 6:29 gave the Mariners a 55-all tie, and it was tight the rest of the way, as Solano blew four one-and-one opportunities.

KEY SHOTS

Paul Leete twice tied the score for Marin, sinking both shots on a one-and-one situation with two minutes left, then scoring a driving hook and converting the foul at 1:03. Solano then came down court, missed its shot, and Daryl Ravani got the rebound for the Tars. A couple of misses later Ravani was fouled with four seconds left, but missed the shot and the game went to overtime.

Marin was in command from the beginning of the extra period, as Vince Washington, Solano's one and only rebounder, fouled out on the last infraction of regulation time. Tom Seidenberg hit a jumper on the first Marin shot, and the Tars led all the way, despite the outside shots of Falcon bombardier Rich McKee, whose 29 points matched Seidenberg for game honors. Horn added 13, two of the baskets clutch efforts in the late going, while Hanson had 12 points, three of them key buckets to put Marin ahead or tied in the second half. Washington had 20 points for Solano.

HIGH NIGHT

While the loss of Schafer hurt on the boards, Bornia had 15 rebounds and Seidenberg 12 to more than compensate. Seidenberg scored well on a variety of shots inside and out in recording his high as a Tar.

Now 6-3 in the CNC and 10-13 overall, the Mariners trek to Canada College in San Mateo Saturday, then face unbeaten Contra Costa next Wednesday night in Kentfield. Since the Tars have been the only Camino Norte team to look really capable of playing with the Comets, it could be a good rematch.

Player Boycott Shows Signs Of Cracking

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league players' boycott shows some signs of cracking, but not enough to keep their representatives from rejecting another pension offer from the club owners.

A number of name players, such as Pat Jarvis, Tom Seaver, Jerry Grote and George Scott, said yesterday they would report to spring training.

And owner Francis Dale of the Cincinnati Reds says that's just the beginning.

"The real test of the players hasn't come yet," Dale said in Cincinnati. "I can tell you there are a lot of players signed and lot more ready to. We really haven't tested (Marvin) Miller's control of his men."

That brought a response from Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players Association. "This proves it is all a stalling tactic to try to break the Association wide open," Miller said in New York.

Earlier in the day the player representatives had overwhelmingly turned down the latest proposal by the owners to hike the pension $1.2 million to $5.3 million.

The players had rejected a previous $1 million increase by a big margin and Dick Moss, counsel for the Association, said player representatives did not think the new offer significant enough to submit to the membership.

The Association is asking a $6,5 million pension package.

Moss also said a few players were expected to report to spring training, but reaffirmed the Association belief that the great majority of players, including the big stars, would not sign contracts or report until the dispute is settled.

But among those who were signed up today was Jarvis, Atlanta's top pitcher last season with a 16-12 record. Knuckleballer Phil Niekro, another Braves' starter, indicated he might report within the next few days.

"I suppose the other players will be clipping this story, putting it on the walls and throwing darts at it," Jarvis said at Atlanta's camp in West Palm Beach, Fla. "But I am ready to go."

Niekro said he came to West Palm Beach to get a head start "and that's what I am going to do. I probably won't sign for a day or two because I want to see how it goes. But I am not going to wait long."

However, Braves' slugger Hank Aaron stuck with the boycott.

"It's the principle of the thing," he said. "I can't sign until it is settled. These are the people I play with."

Seaver, an All-Star with the New York Mets last year, said he had not signed and would not report today at St. Petersburg, Fla., but added "I will play this season whether the dispute is settled or not.

"I believe baseball remains one of the few things that reward individual effort in our country and I want it to remain that way. I don't want it to become unionized. I will go so far. I have a date set in my mind (to report) and I'm the only one who knows it."

Grote, the Mets' All-Star catcher, and teammates Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella, both pitchers, also said they would report.

Scott, Boston's veteran infielder, was quoted in a copyrighted story in the Boston Traveler that he planned to report on scheduled next Wednesday.

John Bateman and Ron Brand, two former Houston catchers now with the expansion Montreal Expos, and teammate Bob Bailey, former Los Angeles infielder, reported Wednesday.

"If a Mickey Mantle or an Ernie Banks would lead the way, things would get stirred up," said Vice President Ed Short of the White Sox concerning those players reporting.

Flu-Ridden Tars Stage Late Rally To Edge Solano

By KIMO CAMPBELL

Playing with more guts than finesse, a flu-ridden band of College of Marin Tars scrambled from behind to overhaul Solano College of Vallejo 87-82 in last night's Camino Norte Conference basketball clash in Kentfield before 200 fans.

Ches Bornia hit both ends of a one-and-one with one minute and two seconds left in the overtime period to give Marin a five-point bulge at 83-78, and the Falcons could never catch up.

With Pat Schafer out and Andre Horn ailing due to the flu, Marin was outplayed by Solano much of the way, trailing 33-30 at halftime and 52-47 with seven minutes left. But Gary Hanson's bucket at 6:29 gave the Mariners a 55-all tie, and it was tight the rest of the way, as Solano blew four one-and-one opportunities.

KEY SHOTS

Paul Leete twice tied the score for Marin, sinking both shots on a one-and-one situation with two minutes left, then scoring a driving hook and converting the foul at 1:03. Solano then came down court, missed its shot, and Daryl Ravani got the rebound for the Tars. A couple of misses later Ravani was fouled with four seconds left, but missed the shot and the game went to overtime.

Marin was in command from the beginning of the extra period, as Vince Washington, Solano's one and only rebounder, fouled out on the last infraction of regulation time. Tom Seidenberg hit a jumper on the first Marin shot, and the Tars led all the way, despite the outside shots of Falcon bombardier Rich McKee, whose 29 points matched Seidenberg for game honors. Horn added 13, two of the baskets clutch efforts in the late going, while Hanson had 12 points, three of them key buckets to put Marin ahead or tied in the second half. Washington had 20 points for Solano.

HIGH NIGHT

While the loss of Schafer hurt on the boards, Bornia had 15 rebounds and Seidenberg 12 to more than compensate. Seidenberg scored well on a variety of shots inside and out in recording his high as a Tar.

Now 6-3 in the CNC and 10-13 overall, the Mariners trek to Canada College in San Mateo Saturday, then face unbeaten Contra Costa next Wednesday night in Kentfield. Since the Tars have been the only Camino Norte team to look really capable of playing with the Comets, it could be a good rematch.

Columbia Hits The Jackpot

NEW YORK (AP) — A good football captain might be one who, following graduation, gets a younger brother to attend the same university.

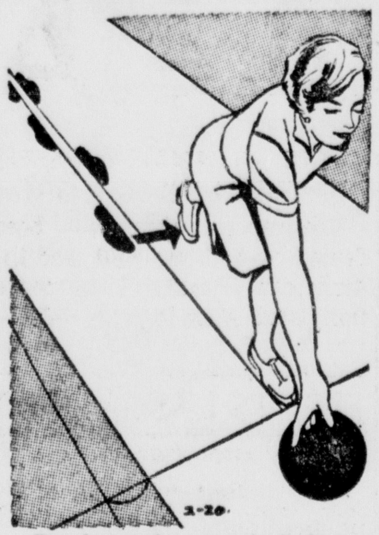
In this respect Columbia has hit the jackpot three times this fall.

Tailback Jim O'Connor's brother Tom captained the 1962 Lion team; tackle Bob Brookshire's brother Ron was captain of the 1965 team and tackle Bill Reed's brother Tom was a Columbia co-captain last fall.

The New York Yankees will have two new coaches in 1969. They are Elston Howard and Dick Howser. They replace Frank Crosetti and Whitey Ford.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Bowlers who stay in balance are high scorers. Most need not take long steps during the approach — in fact, it is preferable to take shorter steps, as in today's illustration. The assists in balance, as does a move of the right foot (see arrow) to the left at the release to counteract the weight of the ball to the right.

Raider Back Retires To Become A Coach

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Raider defensive back Warren Powers has retired to become an assistant football coach at the University of Nebraska, the Raiders said Wednesday.

Powers, 28, is a graduate of Nebraska and has been with the Raiders since signing as a free agent in 1963. He led the club in interceptions in 1966 and in interception yardage the following year.

Littler Tries For Arizona Golf Double

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Golf's younger brigade took another swing at the big money with the opening today of the $100,000 Tucson Golf Tournament.

Jack Ewing, Larry Ziegler, Jerry Abbott and Jim Wiechers were among those figuring prominently in the Phoenix Open last week and there are a host of others in the 144 player field to challenge the stars.

They play over the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club course, a par 36-36—72 layout where yesterday's pro-amateur ran into foul weather problems.

It rained much of the time. Little was among those who called it a day after nine holes.

"I was about one-over-par," Littler said, "but it was just too cold and wet."

Rain hit hard about 2 p.m. and then abated, but winds harried the players most of the day.

Bill Ogden of Tucson and Bobby Mitchell of Danville, Va., set the pace among the individual pros with five-under-par 67s. Dave Stockton carded 68 while both Rod Funseth and Paul Harney were at 69.

The pro-am team competition proved unusual. Terry Dill started with Tucson amateurs Chuch and Frank Osterman and Jim Watson. At the end of nine holes, Dill was forced to withdraw because of the weather and because he is recovering from a recent illness.

Terry Wilcox agreed to accompany the amateurs as a substitute pro but his score would not count. Dill had even par but the trio of amateurs finished 17 under at 55.

At Phoenix, Ewing, 24, of Bakersfield, carded rounds of 67-66-66-68—267, one stroke below the previous tournament record, but had to be content with a tie for fifth place and $3,633. Ziegler, 29, of Bonne Terry, Mo., was at 269. Abbott, 27, Boca Raton, Fla., and Wiechers, 24, of Atherton, each finished 270.

Veteran Billy Maxwell, who deadlocked for second place with Don January and Miller Barber, said of the new crop, "They're bigger, taller and can really hit the long ball."

New Zealand's Bob Charles holds the tournament record for the National course at 71 in 1965. Knudson carded a 273 a year ago.

Columbia Hits The Jackpot

NEW YORK (AP) — A good football captain might be one who, following graduation, gets a younger brother to attend the same university.

In this respect Columbia has hit the jackpot three times this fall.

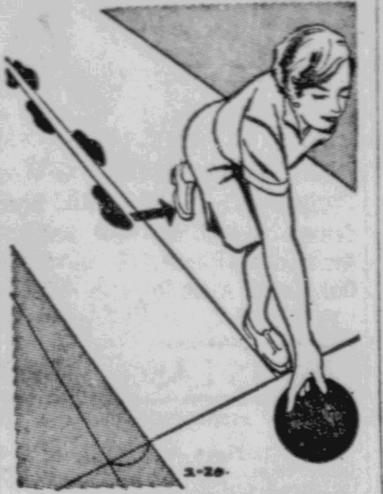
The New York Yankees will have two new coaches in 1969. They are Elston Howard and Dick Howser. They replace Frank Crosetti and Whitey Ford.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Bowlers who stay in balance are high scorers. Most need not take long steps during the approach — in fact, it is preferable to take shorter steps, as in today's illustration. The assists in balance, as does a move of the right foot (see arrow) to the left at the release to counteract the weight of the ball to the right.

Raider Back Retires To Become A Coach

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Raider defensive back Warren Powers has retired to become an assistant football coach at the University of Nebraska, the Raiders said Wednesday.

Powers, 28, is a graduate of Nebraska and has been with the Raiders since signing as a free agent in 1963. He led the club in interceptions in 1966 and in interception yardage the following year.

Littler Tries For Arizona Golf Double

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Golf's younger brigade took another swing at the big money with the opening today of the $100,000 Tucson Golf Tournament.

Jack Ewing, Larry Ziegler, Jerry Abbott and Jim Wiechers were among those figuring prominently in the Phoenix Open last week and there are a host of others in the 144 player field to challenge the stars.

They play over the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club course, a par 36-36—72 layout where yesterday's pro-amateur ran into foul weather problems.

It rained much of the time. Little was among those who called it a day after nine holes.

"I was about one-over-par," Littler said, "but it was just too cold and wet."

Rain hit hard about 2 p.m. and then abated, but winds harried the players most of the day.

Bill Ogden of Tucson and Bobby Mitchell of Danville, Va., set the pace among the individual pros with five-under-par 67s. Dave Stockton carded 68 while both Rod Funseth and Paul Harney were at 69.

The pro-am team competition proved unusual. Terry Dill started with Tucson amateurs Chuch and Frank Osterman and Jim Watson. At the end of nine holes, Dill was forced to withdraw because of the weather and because he is recovering from a recent illness.

Terry Wilcox agreed to accompany the amateurs as a substitute pro but his score would not count. Dill had even par but the trio of amateurs finished 17 under at 55.

At Phoenix, Ewing, 24, of Bakersfield, carded rounds of 67-66-66-68—267, one stroke below the previous tournament record, but had to be content with a tie for fifth place and $3,633. Ziegler, 29, of Bonne Terry, Mo., was at 269. Abbott, 27, Boca Raton, Fla., and Wiechers, 24, of Atherton, each finished 270.

Veteran Billy Maxwell, who deadlocked for second place with Don January and Miller Barber, said of the new crop, "They're bigger, taller and can really hit the long ball."

New Zealand's Bob Charles holds the tournament record for the National course at 71 in 1965. Knudson carded a 273 a year ago.

Could Honor System Work In Basketball?

OAKLAND — Alex Hannum, coach of all the Oaks, was breaking bread with the scriveners and suggesting, as us crumbs fell, that "basketball's only imperfection is the officiating."

To those of us who see other imperfections in that once interesting, now overly offensive game, Hannum's statement was not what you'd call exhilarating.

Still, he carried on bravely.

"BASKETBALL IS the most difficult game in the world to officiate. I wonder sometimes if we'd be better off without officials. The best kind of basketball I remember playing was three against three in a playground — no referees, just the good old honor system."

To show the sophistication of today's American sportswriter, nobody asked Alex: "Why not try the honor system in pro ball today?"

THIS IS NOT to suggest that pro cagers are men without honor. But there is bread at stake, or steak at bread, and in the heat of the tiff there's a tendency to let the scruples fall where they may. (Letting a scruple fall is a two-shot foul in the ABA if it occurs in the last two minutes, and a one-and-one in the NBA if a team already has six fouls, none of which came in the backcourt.)

Hannum was wrong, though, in suggesting that his game is the most difficult to officiate. The playing surface is smaller than, for instance, soccer. The three officials in that grueling sport must run hundreds and hundreds of yards without stopping for times out.

WHAT ALEX may have been saying is that with so many huge men cavorting on so miniscule a surface as a basketball court, it's nigh impossible for an official to detect a no-no. Which is fine with yours truly, because there are already too many game-delaying foul calls in the sport.

At least the existence of "homer" referees has dwindled. The apocryphal tale concerning home town refs involves an old Big Ten contest being played at the University of Wisconsin. The bogs of Lake Mendota where particularly boggy this one night, and the foggy vapors wafted into the Wisconsin fieldhouse — obscuring much of the scoreboard and clock.

AS THE STORY goes, old Inidana University coach Branch McCracken, who endured homer refs with silent screams, asked the official for a time out. "I can't see a durned thing," said country boy McCracken. "What's the score and what's the time situation?" he requested of one of the friendly Badger officials.

"There are two minutes left to play," said the ref. "And we're winning by three points."

Which brings us to another matter involving the Oaks; the question: Will they succeed now that Rick Barry is immobile for the rest of the season?

TO ANSWER THAT, we again call on our storyteller (and a referee), to wit: When Tom Heinsohn was playing with the Boston Celtics one night he was fouled on the way up with the ball. The ref awarded Tom only one shot. Heinsohn howled about not getting two free throws.

"You weren't shooting, you were just passing off," said the ref.

"You're crazy," said Tom. "Everybody in the league knows I never pass off."

Will the Oaks miss Rick Barry?

Bucks Deny Premature Alcindor Draft

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks won't pass up Lew Alcindor, but they hope they won't be in the running for the UCLA star.

"Obviously, we would be interested in Alcindor," Wes Pavalon, chairman of the board of the Milwaukee Bucks, said last night.

"But the way the Bucks have been playing of late, we may not even be in a position to draft him."

Milwaukee is last in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association race with a 19-45 record. Phoenix, at 14-49, is the bottom club in the West.

In the draft, "the last place teams in each division of the NBA participate in a flip of a coin to determine which has first selection in the 1969 college draft," said Walter Kennedy, NBA commissioner.

But Kennedy emphasized that the last-place teams have not been determined.

Milwaukee has defeated the top two Western clubs in a row —Los Angeles and Atlanta. And, the Bucks have won four of their last eight games.

Pacalon said he was a little upset over a report Tuesday that Milwaukee and Phoenix already had tossed the coin and the Bucks had chosen Alcindor.

"That certainly would be very premature," he said. "I would be the last person to feel that we are going to finish last in our division. We have a good shot at moving up, especially the way we have been playing lately."

The report, which has been denied by both the NBA and the American Basketball Association, said Alcindor, the 7-foot-2 All-American, has been drafted by the New York Nets of the ABA and the Bucks.

"I don't know what the ABA has done," Pavalon said, "but the NBA has done nothing.

"Maybe everybody else has decided that we're going to finish in last place and have a shot at Alcindor," he said. "But I think we have a chance to move out of last."

"Right now," said Ray Patterson, Buck president, "we are out to beat Detroit (one rung ahead of the Bucks in sixth place). And if we pass the Pistons, we pass them—that's all."

Patterson said the ABA "is placing its integrity on the line" if it has staged a secret draft for Alcindor.

"The NBA cannot make that mistake and the Milwaukee Bucks will not be involved in such shenanigans," Patterson said.

"When the two clubs toss, the flip will be open to the public—and the press will be invited," Patterson promised.

Pacalon said he was a little upset over a report Tuesday that Milwaukee and Phoenix already had tossed the coin and the Bucks had chosen Alcindor.

"That certainly would be very premature," he said. "I would be the last person to feel that we are going to finish last in our division. We have a good shot at moving up, especially the way we have been playing lately."

The report, which has been denied by both the NBA and the American Basketball Association, said Alcindor, the 7-foot-2 All-American, has been drafted by the New York Nets of the ABA and the Bucks.

"I don't know what the ABA has done," Pavalon said, "but the NBA has done nothing.

"Maybe everybody else has decided that we're going to finish in last place and have a shot at Alcindor," he said. "But I think we have a chance to move out of last."

"Right now," said Ray Patterson, Buck president, "we are out to beat Detroit (one rung ahead of the Bucks in sixth place). And if we pass the Pistons, we pass them—that's all."

Patterson said the ABA "is placing its integrity on the line" if it has staged a secret draft for Alcindor.

"The NBA cannot make that mistake and the Milwaukee Bucks will not be involved in such shenanigans," Patterson said.

"When the two clubs toss, the flip will be open to the public—and the press will be invited," Patterson promised.

Bagley Seeks To Correct Inequities In Sales Tax

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to eliminate several inequities in the sales tax on foods, plants and some homes has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The legislation grew out of an interim study by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, now chaired by Bagley. The committee's report found "ambiguities in both legal phrasing and in the (State Board of Equalization's) interpretation of the law."

Inconsistencies in taxing foods make it "virtually impossible for the public or the industry to be sure whether an item is taxable or not," the committee reported. It found five areas of particular confusion — beverages, candy, dietary supplements, products used in food preparation, and items which may be taxable depending on the use to which they are put.

For example, juice drinks with more than 30 per cent fruit juice are tax exempt, except that orangeade, lemonade and limeade are taxable no matter what. Bagley's bill would exempt all noncarbonated, nonalcoholic beverages.

In another example, the committee report noted that a can of tuna fish is exempt if for human consumption but taxable when for the family cat.

The report cited a host of similar "mysterious classifications" and urged the board to come up with a comprehensive, uniform plan to levy sales taxes. "The board should refrain from the temptation to squeeze the last penny from the food products consumer by putting all the borderline cases in the taxable column," the report said.

Bagley's bill, however, goes after only the most glaring inconsistencies.

It also would eliminate the sales tax exemption on food products sold to take out and instead tax all hot food and sandwiches, regardless of whether they are to take out. For example, roasted chickens in markets, now exempt, would become subject to the sales tax, a Bagley aide explained.

The bill also would extend to perennial plants the sales tax exemption now available only to annual plants, and eliminate the 10-cent-a-pack sales tax on small cigars, which has proved unenforceable, according to the committee report.

Finally, the bill would exempt from the sales tax single family homes which are moved upon being sold. Under present board policies, a sales tax is levied on homes sold and then moved.

The new exemptions would deprive the state about 62 million in revenue a year, according to Bagley's staff, but extending the sales tax to all hot food and sandwiches will pick up about the same amount, they estimated.

Lawyers May Inspect Campus Violence Bills

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Republican leadership is considering creating a special subcommittee to allow lawyer-legislators to take a close look at the tide of punitive bills on campus disorders.

That was the report today of Chairman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

"We've got to make sure that whatever policy the Education Commttee is considering will be okay from the constitutional standpoint," Murphy said.

He said Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, will probably assign members of Criminal Procedure and the Education Committee to the new group.

Some 65 bills cracking down on militant dissenters on the University of California and state college campuses are now before the legislature, and more are on the way.

While the measures deal with educational problems, Murphy said, they also will affect the constitutional rights of students, faculty and others subject to them.

There are only three attorneys on the Education Committee, headed by Assemblyman Victor C. Veysey, R-Brawley. Eight of the nine Criminal Procedure Committee members are lawyers.

Murphy told of the subcommittee in an interview after his Criminal Procedure Committee held its first meeting of the session.

Even though the committee is in Republican hands for the first time in a decade, one Republican assemblyman complained it hadn't changed from the Democratic days, when it had a reputation for killing bills imposing harsh penalties.

After watching the defeat of his measure spelling out felony penalties for possessing mercury without a title, Assemblyman William Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, said "Thank you, Mr. Chairman. The committee hasn't changed a bit."

GOP Caucus Eyes Ouster Of Burns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republicans are anxious to give Gov. Ronald Reagan a special bonus—GOP control of both legislative houses.

The GOP senators closeted themselves in a strategy session yesterday to discuss a way to overthrow Senate leader Hugh M. Burns and to choose a challenger to replace him.

Republican floor leader Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville considered the most likely challenger to Burns, said the caucus made "no decision."

TO SEEK SWITCH

"Our intended purpose when we have enough votes is to elect a Republican pro tem," he said.

The GOP ostensibly has the necessary votes to unseat Burns under a temporary rules change that permits 20 votes to elect a new leader. However, Republicans seem unable to be united behind one man.

The reduction from 21 to 20 was adopted Monday and will remain in effect until a successor is elected to succeed Sen. George Miller Jr., who died New Year's Day of a heart attack.

SPECIAL ELECTION

There are 20 Republican and 19 Democratic Senators, all apparently waiting anxiously for the outcome of Tuesday's Contra Costa County special election to choose Miller's successor. A March 25 runoff may be needed.

Republicans will probably wait to see if a GOP candidate wins the seat in the heavily Democratic area before moving against Burns.

In addition to Grunsky at least two other GOP senators are mentioned as potential candidates for the job. They are Sens. Howard Way, Exeter, and John F. McCarthy, San Rafael.

Grunsky replaced McCarthy in 1967 as Republican leader. McCarthy is considered a member of the "establishment" headed by Burns that has traditionally guided the Senate on a bipartisan basis.

Way earlier this year was stripped fo his Agriculture Committee chairmanship by the Senate Rules Committee, which Burns chairs and of which McCarthy is a member.

BART Sales Tax Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Initial legislative approval has been won for a special tax on residents of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District to save the state's pioneer effort at mass transit from disaster.

The Senate Transportation Committee, on a nearly unanimous voice vote, Monday sent the legislation to the Finance Committee. It was a major victory for the latest, perhaps final, attempt at wiping out the $147 million BART deficit that has brought new work on the project to a halt.

Republican Sen. Lewis Sherman of Berkeley, sponsor of the bill which also has Gov. Ronald Reagan's support, told his colleagues the BART matter "becomes critical with each week that passes. Costs are mounting with each moment we delay."

The method endorsed by the commttee would impose a one-half cent additional sales tax on the 2.3 million residents of the three BART counties — San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa — for about four years.

The measure was amended by Sherman, however, to let the voters select another approach to handling the problem, but by a difficult process.

The amendments provide that a majority of the boards of supervisors of the three counties can call an election to offer various alternatives to the sales tax. All would be on the same ballot, and one would have to get a majority of the total vote cast to replace the sales tax hike.

The life span of the average house cat is about 14 years.

INVESTING

Balance Can Be Added To Portfolio

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our first investing in 1960 was primarily for income. Now I see we should have bought for growth. I enclose our portfolio and would appreciate your comments. — M. H.

A. Your portfolio contains mainly sound and growing issues. Four issues do not fit your goals and they should be sold. Capital from the sale of Adams Express, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Iron Ore and National Aviation could be used to purchase two new stocks plus additions to three of your holdings.

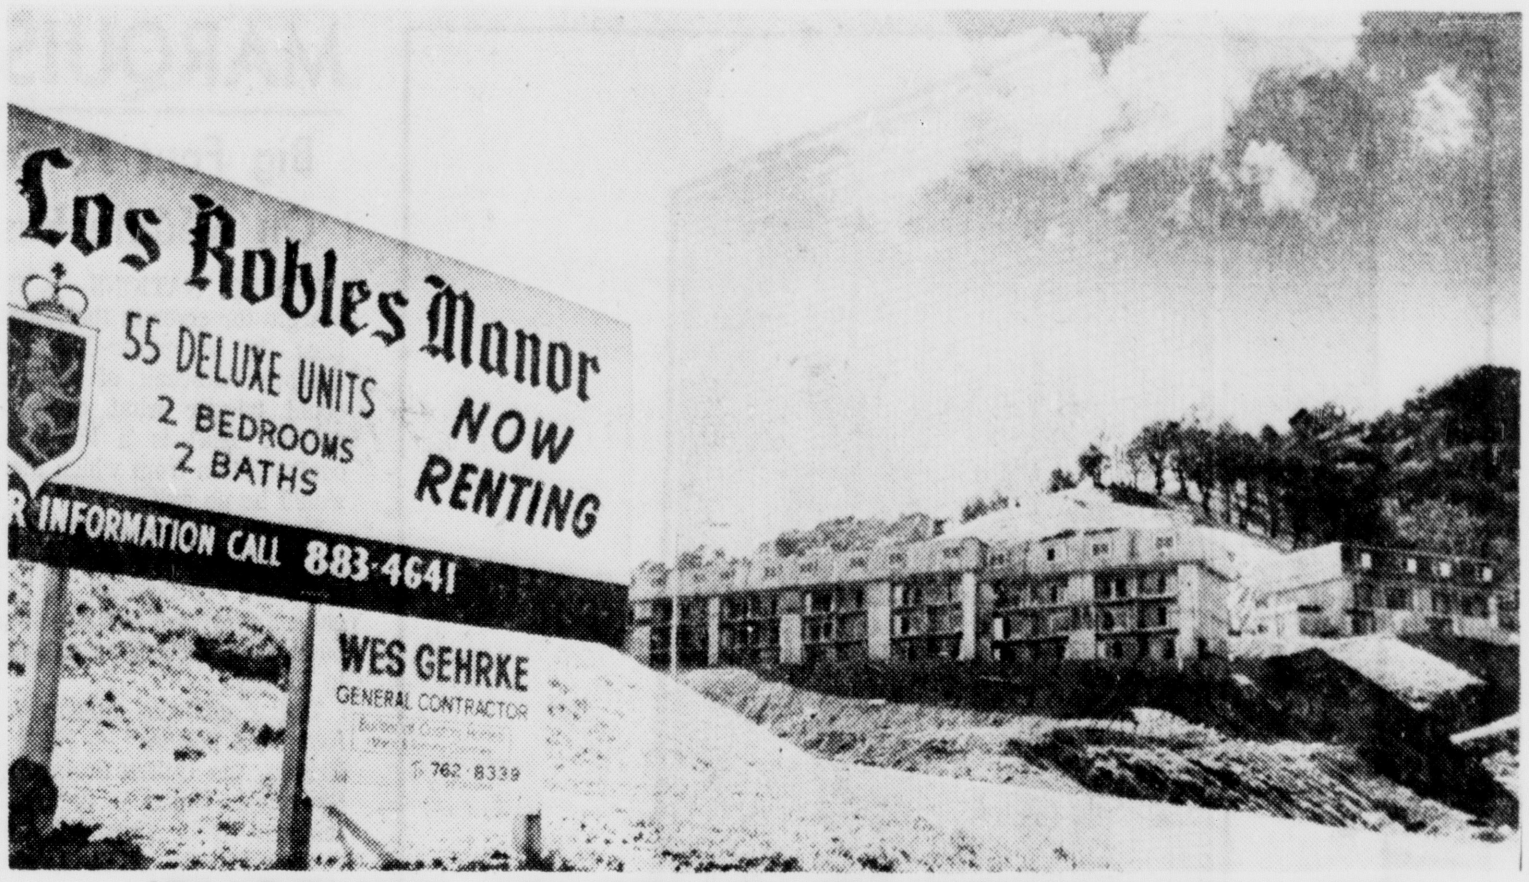
By increasing your commitments in Baxter Laboratories, Holiday Inns and Textron to around $2,000 each you will bring your portfolio into better balance.

Two issues which could work out well long-term are Kellwood Company and Emery Industries. Earnings for the former, a soft goods supplier to Sears, Roebuck, were $4.15 a share on a 16 per cent jump in sales to $218 million for fiscal 1968. A two-for-one split is scheduled for the end of this month. Emery, a specialty chemical producer, has begun 90 per cent plant-expansion program. Sales and earnings are up sharply in the current fiscal year.

Q. My 11-year-old son who is retarded received $400 from an auto accident. Since he will require vocational training later, I invested this in Equity Growth Fund, hoping to add to it. Did I do the right thing? — J. M.

A. Your fund, new in 1966, has since been an above-average performer among growth funds. Total assets at last report were under $50 million — not large enough to make transactions cumbersome. As yet it has no performance record in a prolonged downside market so its stability cannot be compared with other growth funds. About 90 per cent of assets are in common stock — the remainder in cash and governments.

You must remember that any investment carries the possibility of a loss of capital, and mutual funds are no exception. If you have no immediate need for the money, you will probably see a good increase in your fund.



'PHOENIX' APARTMENTS RISE IN NOVATO

Rebuilt on the ashes of a $300,000 fire last September which destroyed 43 apartments in Los Robles Manor across Highway 101 from Hamilton Field, these new units under construction by Wes Gehrke soon will be ready for occupancy. Apartments in two buildings not destroyed by fire have already been completed and some are occupied. (Independent-Journal photo)

Wall Street Sags Fourth Day In Row

Selling prevailed for the fourth straight session, with declines outnumbering advances by more than 3-to-1 just before the close.

Volume was slightly ahead of yesterday's but still was light.

Analysts said the market was supercautious today because it was the last session before the three-day break at Washington's birthday.

Analysts said speculation about possible higher interest rates was a depressing factor.

Steels were off fractionally, motors were mixed with fractional gains and losses, utilities were fractionally mixed, and rails were down slightly.

Oils were off, with Royal Dutch Petroleum off 1½ and Standard Oil New Jersey off 1g.

Twentieth Century Fox was the most-active issue, off ¾ at 40¾. It has been riding the waves of merger speculation.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Professional Hearing Aid Center Under New Ownership

Taking over the Professional Hearing Aid Center at 412 D Street, San Rafael is Foy F. (Frank) Hunt of San Anselmo, who has had several years' experience as a hearing aid consultant.

He is purchasing the business from Richard Corcoran, who is retiring. For the time being Mrs. Corcoran continues to assist in the office. The center handles Dahlberg hearing aids exclusively.

GLEN'S TV has moved from 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael to 1111 Second Street.

Owner Glen Jones has acquired more space for both his television sets and service department and about 20 offstreet parking spaces. The new location formerly was location occupied by Imperial Auto Glass. Parking was a particularly difficult problem for his customers at the old address.

A CONTRACT FOR $372,380 has been awarded Service Technicians, Inc., of Northgate Industrial Park, for janitorial services at the Oakland Army Base and Fort Mason. This is the second consecutive year the company has been low bidder. The contract was one of four awarded in January by Westery Area Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service to small business contractors.

DR. K. H. ALTGELT of Lucas Valley has been appointed a senior research associate at the Richmond laboratory of Chevron Research Co. He joined the company's fundamental research group in 1961 and has been continuously engaged in the study of heavy petroleum fractions and additives.

Altgelt

Wood

C. G. WOOD of Tiburon, general manager of retail sales for Standard Oil Co. western operations, has been named a vice president. He joined the company at Honolulu in 1938 and has also served in Portland and in Fresno. He became assistant general manager of retail sales in 1962 and general manager of wholesale sales in 1965.

GORDON TOVANI of San Rafael, who opened Marin Medical Supply last July, has designed and is now having manufactured two orthopedic appliances which are being used in a number of hospitals: a post-operative binder and a pelvic traction belt. As a former professional football player who has had his share of injuries he is probably particularly conscious of the efficiency of such devices.

THE BROTHERS Girot — Alfred Jr. and George of Greenbrae, are reopening their Schneider Bros. furrier business at a temporary location on the fifth floor of 251 Post Street, San Francisco. The previous location at 240 Post Street was seriously damaged by fire just before Christmas.

ALAN DOUGLAS SHATTUCK of San Rafael has been elected a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is associated with the San Francisco accounting firm of Wolf and Co.

G. S. FETTERLY of Sausalito, a staff accountant with Alexander Grant and Co., San Francisco, has been accepted into membership of the San Franciso chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

INSURANCE: Fred Temps, district manager for Farmers Insurance Group in Marin County, has opened an office at 506 Third Street, San Rafael. . . . Paul L. Thurston of San Rafael has been appointed district manager for Equitable Life Assurance. He is associated with the William Tolson Agency at Northgate Industrial Park, but will have his district office in San Francisco.

INVESTING

Balance Can Be Added To Portfolio

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our first investing in 1960 was primarily for income. Now I see we should have bought for growth. I enclose our portfolio and would appreciate your comments. — M. H.

A. Your portfolio contains mainly sound and growing issues. Four issues do not fit your goals and they should be sold. Capital from the sale of Adams Express, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Iron Ore and National Aviation could be used to purchase two new stocks plus additions to three of your holdings.

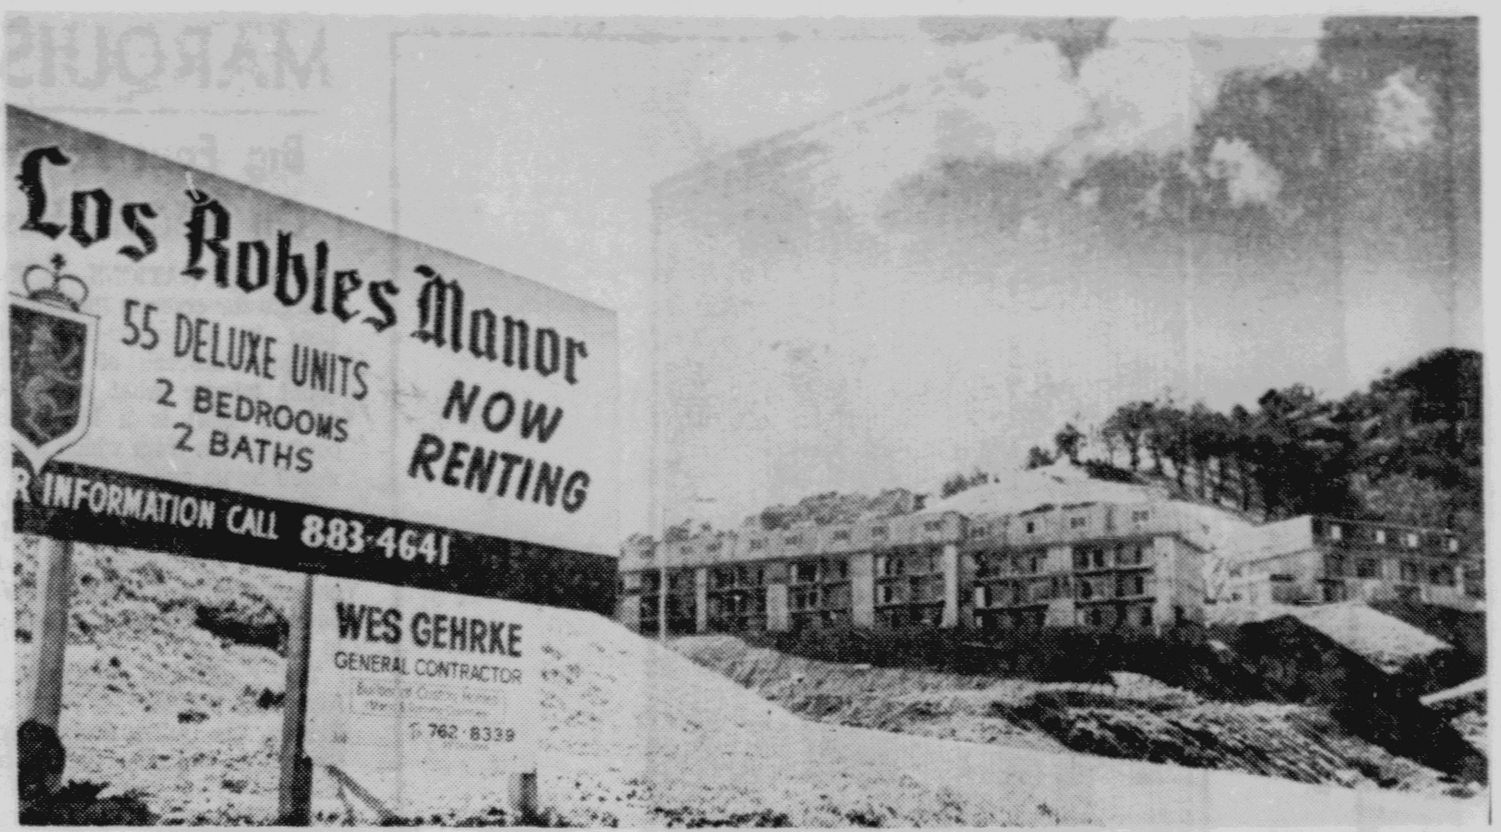
By increasing your commitments in Baxter Laboratories, Holiday Inns and Textron to around $2,000 each you will bring your portfolio into better balance.

Two issues which could work out well long-term are Kellwood Company and Emery Industries. Earnings for the former, a soft goods supplier to Sears, Roebuck, were $4.15 a share on a 16 per cent jump in sales to $213 million for fiscal 1968. A two-for-one split is scheduled for the end of this month. Emery, a specialty chemical producer, has begun 90 per cent plant-expansion program. Sales and earnings are up sharply in the current fiscal year.

Q. My 11-year-old son who is retarded received $400 from an auto accident. Since he will require vocational training later, I invested this in Equity Growth Fund, hoping to add to it. Did I do the right thing? — J. M.

A. Your fund, new in 1966, has since been an above-average performer among growth funds. Total assets at last report were under $50 million — not large enough to make transactions cumbersome. As yet it has no performance record in a prolonged downside market so its stability cannot be compared with other growth funds. About 90 per cent of assets are in common stock — the remainder in cash and governments.

You must remember that any investment carries the possibility of a loss of capital, and mutual funds are no exception. If you have no immediate need for the money, you will probably see a good increase in your fund.



'PHOENIX' APARTMENTS RISE IN NOVATO

Rebuilt on the ashes of a $300,000 fire last September which destroyed 43 apartments in Los Robles Manor across Highway 101 from Hamilton Field, these new units under construction by Wes Gehrke soon will be ready for occupancy. Apartments in two buildings not destroyed by fire have already been completed and some are occupied. (Independent-Journal photo)

Wall Street Sags Fourth Day In Row

Selling prevailed for the fourth straight session, with declines outnumbering advances by more than 3-to-1 just before the close.

Volume was slightly ahead of yesterday's but still was light.

Analysts said the market was supercautious today because it was the last session before the three-day break at Washington's birthday.

Analysts said speculation about possible higher interest rates was a depressing factor.

Steels were off fractionally, motors were mixed with fractional gains and losses, utilities were fractionally mixed, and rails were down slightly.

Oils were off, with Royal Dutch Petroleum off 1½ and Standard Oil New Jersey off 1g.

Twentieth Century Fox was the most-active issue, off ¾ at 40¾. It has been riding the waves of merger speculation.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Professional Hearing Aid Center Under New Ownership

Taking over the Professional Hearing Aid Center at 412 D Street, San Rafael is Foy F. (Frank) Hunt of San Anselmo, who has had several years' experience as a hearing aid consultant.

He is purchasing the business from Richard Corcoran, who is retiring. For the time being Mrs. Corcoran continues to assist in the office. The center handles Dahlberg hearing aids exclusively.

GLEN'S TV has moved from 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael to 1111 Second Street.

Owner Glen Jones has acquired more space for both his television sets and service department and about 20 offstreet parking spaces. The new location formerly was location occupied by Imperial Auto Glass. Parking was a particularly difficult problem for his customers at the old address.

A CONTRACT FOR $372,380 has been awarded Service Technicians, Inc., of Northgate Industrial Park, for janitorial services at the Oakland Army Base and Fort Mason. This is the second consecutive year the company has been low bidder. The contract was one of four awarded in January by Westery Area Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service to small business contractors.

DR. K. H. ALTGELT of Lucas Valley has been appointed a senior research associate at the Richmond laboratory of Chevron Research Co. He joined the company's fundamental research group in 1961 and has been continuously engaged in the study of heavy petroleum fractions and additives.

Altgelt

Wood

C. G. WOOD of Tiburon, general manager of retail sales for Standard Oil Co. western operations, has been named a vice president. He joined the company at Honolulu in 1938 and has also served in Portland and in Fresno. He became assistant general manager of retail sales in 1962 and general manager of wholesale sales in 1965.

GORDON TOVANI of San Rafael, who opened Marin Medical Supply last July, has designed and is now having manufactured two orthopedic appliances which are being used in a number of hospitals: a post-operative binder and a pelvic traction belt. As a former professional football player who has had his share of injuries he is probably particularly conscious of the efficiency of such devices.

THE BROTHERS Girot — Alfred Jr. and George of Greenbrae, are reopening their Schneider Bros. furrier business at a temporary location on the fifth floor of 251 Post Street, San Francisco. The previous location at 240 Post Street was seriously damaged by fire just before Christmas.

ALAN DOUGLAS SHATTUCK of San Rafael has been elected a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is associated with the San Francisco accounting firm of Wolf and Co.

G. S. FETTERLY of Sausalito, a staff accountant with Alexander Grant and Co., San Francisco, has been accepted into membership of the San Franciso chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

INSURANCE: Fred Temps, district manager for Farmers Insurance Group in Marin County, has opened an office at 506 Third Street, San Rafael. . . . Paul L. Thurston of San Rafael has been appointed district manager for Equitable Life Assurance. He is associated with the William Tolson Agency at Northgate Industrial Park, but will have his district office in San Francisco.

'Black Studies' Grants Merely Bring Violence

Any college administrator who finds life dull these days has only to announce that his school will institute a black studies department. Things will immediately become exciting.

The rush to include Afro-American history and other "black studies" in college curricula began in 1967. Leaders of academia fancied that by recognizing these long-overlooked subjects, they would prevent any major complaint by the increasing number of Negro students being enrolled under special scholarship arrangements.

QUITE THE OPPOSITE has proved true. Wherever black studies have been promised, this has been but the prelude to violence. The courses have promptly been labeled insufficient. Agitators have demanded separate black studies departments. Then they have demanded control over those departments. As each demand was granted, new, more extreme demands have been made.

The record has been repeated at institution after instutition.

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY at Waltham, Mass., went the full route last fall with a complete, separate black studies department. Sixty-five black students then occupied the administration building until they were granted veto power over selection of a chairman for the new department.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA set up a faculty committee to prepare a black studies curriculum. The Black Students Union demanded the classes "right now" and went on strike — and the two Negro professors on the faculty committee resigned in sympathy, thus blocking the whole procedure and setting the stage for a new protest now under way.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN acceded to demands — backed by two marches on the state capitol — for a separate black studies department. Two weeks later, black students staged a new demonstration, demanding full control of the new department.

SAN FRANCISCO STATE COLLEGE hired Dr. Nathan Hare to head a new black studies department. Hare promptly went out on strike with the Black Students Union to enforce its 10 demands — which included enrollment of all black students, whether qualified or not, and complete black student control over the new department, including hiring of instructors.

THE LIST goes on and on. The pattern is repeated over and over: a special effort to meet the needs of black students is followed by demonstrations, violence, arson, seizure of buildings, holding of faculty members as hostages, etc.

The 10 demands at San Francisco State College parallel closely the 10 demands last year by the Black Student Association at Roosevelt University, Chicago (another school that is a scene of current disturbances) and those at other colleges across the nation.

A similar pattern is now being carried down into the high schools.

LEADING NEGRO educators take a rather dim view of the whole affair. The new courses are set up too quickly, the instructors often are unqualified, and the value of some of the courses is extremely doubtful, they contend.

This, however, means nothing to the protestors. Their goal is separate black universities. The quality — or lack of it — in such institutions does not seem to concern them.

Twelve years ago, the U. S. Supreme Court decreed that there must not be separate schools for blacks. Since then, the Justice Department has moved on school district after school district to halt segregation by school or by classroom.

All that would be overturned if the Black Students Union and its separatist allies had their way. They do not seem to understand, or care, that overturned with it would be just about every other advance made by black Americans in recent years.

Growing Problem

The noise around us continues to grow. And there is no method by which to measure how much the stress of noise affects our mental an physical health.

The din of traffic, the crashing and banging of tearing down and building up, the bellow of the bulldozer, the roar of gasoline-motored saws, the thunder of jet aircraft—all are an increasingly invasive part of life in Marin, as the population grows and the world moves on.

The Federal Council for Science and Technology recently reported that "the over-all loudness of environmental noise is doubling every 10 years. If noise is allowed to go unchecked, the cost of alleviating it in future years will be insurmountable."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Local Option Proposed To Add To Topless Bar-Girls' Troubles

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Apparently, the troubles of young ladies who are required to serve drinks in liquor establishments only half attired, (that is, with nothing on above the waist) are never to cease.

For several years, the state Beverage Control has sought to control wearing apparel in liquor establishments by requiring adornment above the waist on female dispensers. The department has had a little luck, here and there, but is involved with court decisions.

The court decisions hold the department must cite a law which the employer or employee has violated. So in certain instances, the waitresses may continue serving unadorned, while in others, a law may have been violated and the operator of the establishment loses his license if he continues this attraction.

HOWEVER, Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, has come up with what he thinks may be the answer. Quimby has introduced legislation giving cities and counties the right to regulate the dress worn by employees of a restaurant or tavern.

He says it should be up to the governing body of each city and county to determine whether it approves of topless attire, and not up to the state.

"Law enforcement agencies in my district," he said, "have been unable to control what they consider to be 'improper costumes', and at times, no costumes at all."

THE SUM effect of Quimby's proposed legislation would be for the state to eschew preemption in this field, and leave it up to the local communities as to whether they want atire or no atire.

All of which could result in several scores of different ordinances, and in a migrant waitress being required to carry a truck-load of costumes with her, ranging from half a bikini to a Mother Hubbard, with a Bali-Bali dress or two thrown in for good luck.

And then, there is the possibility that some cities and counties might not give a hoot what type of costumes is bar-girls wore, resuling in no ordinance at all, which would result in putting regulations right where they are at the present time.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tax Rate Freeze Lacks Meaning

Doubtless with the best of intentions, the board of supervisors is again solemnly resolving to maintain or even reduce last year's tax rate. Perhaps this notion deserves some closer examination before it becomes a sacred annual ritual.

Certainly last year's experience showed that a tax freeze is no guaranteed road to voters' approval. Nor is it any indication of what happens to our property taxes. In most areas of the county went up last year (in one instance $23.12 for an average home) despite the supervisors' agonizing efforts which saved $2.07 on the same home. The county budget accounts for little more than a fifth of our property tax dollar. Schools, special districts, cities, etc. demand the major portion, and the supervisors can do nothing about it.

Thus the question facing the supervisors as well as the taxpayer is clear: "Who is going to benefit and how much, vs. who is going to suffer and how much?" This question must be answered for every budget item; it cannot be evaded by the simple device of a frozen tax rate.

Cautious budgeting, economical management, tight administration, these are not only laudable; they are imperative. So is due regard for the citizens' needs and the wholesome future growth of Marin. If the tax rate remains the same or can be lowered when all needs are considered — fine. If it must be raised by a few cents, so be it. We only get what we pay for, and what matters is not the dollar spent but the value received.

Questions About Mutiny Sentence

Is something upside-down? Today's (Feb. 13) Independent-Journal brings the story of the man, Pvt. Nesrey Sood, who has just been sentenced by the Army for "mutiny."

As the data come to me this man was himself originally AWOL because he was trying to get to his children who were being mistreated in Oakland and was not permitted to visit them legally by the military. Does the Army ever ask questions about its system which pits a man's humanitarian and fatherly instincts against his enthusiasm for protocol?

Again, the charge of mutiny is apparently based on the fact that this man was one of 27 others who sat down on a work detail and sang "We Shall Over-come". The reason? He propably knew as did several others that the young soldier (20-) who was shot in the back of the head at 20 yards by the guard placed over them was suicidally depressive . . . sick . . .

Now a man who in two instances has registered his horror at the inhumanity of the Army has been sentenced for 15 years of hard labor on account of "mutiny."

I have some ordinary citizen-questions to ask. Has the Army investigated the officer that refused to allow a father to go on leave to correct injustices against his children? Is the Army investigating the superior officer who failed to get the sick prisoner under psychiatric care? Is the Army considering charges of brutality against the guard who would rather murder a man from behind than use other means to contain him? . . .

Communist Line Negro Rebellion

Congratulations on your courageous coverage of the Black Panthers' attempts to organize the black high school student. The members of our Truth About Civil Turmoil (TACT) committees have been trying to distribute, within our limited means, copies of the document your quoted from, along with some supplementary commentary . . .

But let's look a little deeper. In 1928, in direct response to the Sixth Communist International held in Moscow that year, Soviet agent Joseph Pogany, under the alias John Pepper, set forth the Communist Party line in "American Negro Problems," a 16-page pamphlet. That line said that Negroes constitute an oppressed colony within the body of the USA. It further declared the Communist Party must recognize that the Negro national liberation movement has tremendous revolutionary potentialities. To bring about this so-called liberation the comrades were told to put forth the slogan of "self-determination." Finally the Negro Communist, in a second booklet "Negroes in a Soviet America" were urged to emphasize in their propaganda the establishment of a Negro Soviet Republic in the territory of the United States . . .

$10 Fishing Fee Called Outrageous

According to an I-J news item recently, it will now cost me $10 to fish.

We are already paying $3 for the privilege of fishing in the water district lakes — the proposed hike in cost will mean a total of $10 for each man.

This is outrageous — and many retired men will now be unable to fish there. There should be some way to help them.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IT TAKES A LOT to shock residents in the neighborhood of the U. of California campus in Berkeley these days. A prof emerged from the campus swimming pool recently to discover that some miscreant had hooked his shoes and socks from his locker. The weather was balmy, so he decided he could walk barefoot to the nearest shoe store, attired in his regular suit, shirt, and tie. Nobody, including the shoe store clerk, gave him a second glance. The clerk, in fact, after fitting him with shoes and socks, inquired casually, "Care to wear them, sir, or shall I wrap them up?"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Big Four Powers Dance Quadrille On Middle East Powder Barrel

UNITED NATIONS — The margin for error in the Middle East is so paper-thin that another outbreak of violence could trigger what everyone dreads. That is a big-power confrontation from which there would be no exit.

Yet, the diplomatic quadrille going on here is so slow-paced, a stately roundabout with one step forward and two steps back, that it seem an exercise in futility.

The exchanges among the four "big powers" — France, Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union — are on a bilateral basis. They talk with each other in pairs, passing back and forth memoranda of who said what and why. This is an acknowledgement, from the United States side certainly, of the insistence by Israel that a settlement can come only through direct negotiation with the Arabs and never by a compromise imposed by outside powers.

THE RUSSIANS and the French are hot for an imposed settlement. In theory, the U.S. delegation is also for a compromise arrived at by the Big Four. But Ambassador Charles Yost, head of the American delegation, is so cautious in his approach that progress can come only by indirection and then with a gradualism hardly discernible.

Blessed are the peacemakers, in the words of Matthew, for they shall be called the children of God. But, if the experience in the Middle East is a criterion, they will have to collect their blessings in the hereafter. For one year and four months Ambassador Gunnar Jarring has with extraordinary courage and persistence labored to bring the two sides together.

He has come under fire from both Arabs and Israelis as the violence and hatred have steadily escalated. They have berated the peacemaker as he has striven to damp down the fires threatening at any moment to flare out of control. By his persistence and his patience moving from armed camp to armed camp Jarring has contributed more than anyone else to keeping at least a semblance of peace.

But Jarring has been in New York for nearly a month waiting for new directives to come out of the four-power conversations. And sitting by and waiting as the flames flare up is frustrating to the point of despair.

THOSE immediately concerned with the threat of a new war in the Middle East are aware of a half-dozen ways in which a larger conflict could be triggered. The most obvious flashpoint is Jordan. In Amman King Hussein has, since the six-day war of June, 1967, performed an amazing tightrope act. It hardly seemed possible he could survive close to a second year as he teetered over the abyss.

How much longer the act can continue is the unknown factor as Hussein balances off Bedouins against Palestinians. With each day that passes the terrorist Fedayeen become more powerful. On the day they depose or destroy the king, Israel may feel compelled to move against a base dedicated to wiping out the Israeli nation and the Jewish people.

WITH FEW exceptions the Asian-African states support the Arabs. As with the black militants in the United States, the angry epithets — "colonialism," "imperialism" — are fitted onto the problem in the Middle East. Brown and black peoples identify with the Arabs in their encounter with the West.

The door to compromise is narrow, the language of the Nov. 22, 1967, U.N. resolution that Israel shall restore territory taken in the June war— not "the" territories. Does this leave room for the return of some but not all of the conquered territory? With each exchange of gunfire, each blast of violent words, the answer is more uncertain.

Pakistan's Revolt Marks Failure Of Compromise

By PHIL NEWSOM

The man standing before the West Pakistan high court was Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, once a protege of Pakistani President Mohammad Ayub Khan and now his bitterest political foe.

"During the last three months," he told the court, "Pakistan has been engulfed in crisis. The people have risen fearlessly. . . What is taking place is a revolution."

On all three counts, there seemed no doubt.

IN THOSE three months more than 50 persons had died in the improbable nation split into east and west by 1,000 miles of India and united only by religion, in demonstrations against Ayub's 10-year rule.

Bhutto, a former foreign minister, had been jailed on charges of inciting West Pakistanis, particularly students, to violence.

Another Ayub opponent, Air Marshal Asghar Khan, had been sprayed by police with colored water and given a summons to answer a charge that he had violated a government order prohibiting assembly of more than five persons in a public place.

Police had invaded a mosque and flailed about among the worshipers with their steeltipped bamboo rods, a special sacrilege in Pakistan whose state religion is Moslem.

In Dacca, East Pakistan, political prisoners testified of tortures.

THIS WAS Pakistan, a nation held up as an Asia model of stability and progress.

Ayub's "Decade of Progress" had indeed made great economic strides, especially in West Pakistan. But the poor still were there and there were more of them.

Bengali East Pakistan, speaking a different language than the west, never really had been integrated. It was ruled from the west almost as a vassal state.

Literacy in the nation as a whole stood at an appalling 16 per cent.

Educated youngsters seeking a life better than the village existence of their forebears could not find jobs.

For Ayub distrusted the city masses, the intellectuals and the politicians he had overthrown in october, 1958.

HE SAW the constitution he had devised as his monument.

He caled it "basic democracy" but it really was not a constitution at all. Actually, it was a bargain struck between Ayub and the village chieftans.

An indirect system of voting for president placed electoral powers in the hands of 120,000 elite.

His opposition demands restoration of parliamentary rule, universal suffrage and decentralization of power to recognize regional diversities. For Ayub it would be the end of Pakistan.

Grudgingly Ayub, 10 years older now and weakend by a lung ailment, has been giving ground. For years he depended upon the army for his chief support. Today, he may not even have that.

'Black Studies' Grants Merely Bring Violence

Any college administrator who finds life dull these days has only to announce that his school will institute a black studies department. Things will immediately become exciting.

The rush to include Afro-American history and other "black studies" in college curricula began in 1967. Leaders of academia fancied that by recognizing these long-overlooked subjects, they would prevent any major complaint by the increasing number of Negro students being enrolled under special scholarship arrangements.

QUITE THE OPPOSITE has proved true. Wherever black studies have been promised, this has been but the prelude to violence. The courses have promptly been labeled insufficient. Agitators have demanded separate black studies departments. Then they have demanded control over those departments. As each demand was granted, new, more extreme demands have been made.

The record has been repeated at institution after instutition.

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY at Waltham, Mass., went the full route last fall with a complete, separate black studies department. Sixty-five black students then occupied the administration building until they were granted veto power over selection of a chairman for the new department.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA set up a faculty committee to prepare a black studies curriculum. The Black Students Union demanded the classes "right now" and went on strike — and the two Negro professors on the faculty committee resigned in sympathy, thus blocking the whole procedure and setting the stage for a new protest now under way.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN acceded to demands — backed by two marches on the state capitol — for a separate black studies department. Two weeks later, black students staged a new demonstration, demanding full control of the new department.

SAN FRANCISCO STATE COLLEGE hired Dr. Nathan Hare to head a new black studies department. Hare promptly went out on strike with the Black Students Union to enforce its 10 demands — which included enrollment of all black students, whether qualified or not, and complete black student control over the new department, including hiring of instructors.

THE LIST goes on and on. The pattern is repeated over and over: a special effort to meet the needs of black students is followed by demonstrations, violence, arson, seizure of buildings, holding of faculty members as hostages, etc.

The 10 demands at San Francisco State College parallel closely the 10 demands last year by the Black Student Association at Roosevelt University, Chicago (another school that is a scene of current disturbances) and those at other colleges across the nation.

A similar pattern is now being carried down into the high schools.

LEADING NEGRO educators take a rather dim view of the whole affair. The new courses are set up too quickly, the instructors often are unqualified, and the value of some of the courses is extremely doubtful, they contend.

This, however, means nothing to the protestors. Their goal is separate black universities. The quality — or lack of it — in such institutions does not seem to concern them.

Twelve years ago, the U. S. Supreme Court decreed that there must not be separate schools for blacks. Since then, the Justice Department has moved on school district after school district to halt segregation by school or by classroom.

All that would be overturned if the Black Students Union and its separatist allies had their way. They do not seem to understand, or care, that overturned with it would be just about every other advance made by black Americans in recent years.

Growing Problem

The noise around us continues to grow. And there is no method by which to measure how much the stress of noise affects our mental an physical health.

The din of traffic, the crashing and banging of tearing down and building up, the bellow of the bulldozer, the roar of gasoline-motored saws, the thunder of jet aircraft—all are an increasingly invasive part of life in Marin, as the population grows and the world moves on.

The Federal Council for Science and Technology recently reported that "the over-all loudness of environmental noise is doubling every 10 years. If noise is allowed to go unchecked, the cost of alleviating it in future years will be insurmountable."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Local Option Proposed To Add To Topless Bar-Girls' Troubles

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Apparently, the troubles of young ladies who are required to serve drinks in liquor establishments only half attired, (that is, with nothing on above the waist) are never to cease.

For several years, the state Beverage Control has sought to control wearing apparel in liquor establishments by requiring adornment above the waist on female dispensers. The department has had a little luck, here and there, but is involved with court decisions.

The court decisions hold the department must cite a law which the employer or employee has violated. So in certain instances, the waitresses may continue serving unadorned, while in others, a law may have been violated and the operator of the establishment loses his license if he continues this attraction.

HOWEVER, Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, has come up with what he thinks may be the answer. Quimby has introduced legislation giving cities and counties the right to regulate the dress worn by employees of a restaurant or tavern.

He says it should be up to the governing body of each city and county to determine whether it approves of topless attire, and not up to the state.

"Law enforcement agencies in my district," he said, "have been unable to control what they consider to be 'improper costumes', and at times, no costumes at all."

THE SUM effect of Quimby's proposed legislation would be for the state to eschew preemption in this field, and leave it up to the local communities as to whether they want atire or no atire.

All of which could result in several scores of different ordinances, and in a migrant waitress being required to carry a truck-load of costumes with her, ranging from half a bikini to a Mother Hubbard, with a Bali-Bali dress or two thrown in for good luck.

And then, there is the possibility that some cities and counties might not give a hoot what type of costumes is bar-girls wore, resuling in no ordinance at all, which would result in putting regulations right where they are at the present time.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tax Rate Freeze Lacks Meaning

Doubtless with the best of intentions, the board of supervisors is again solemnly resolving to maintain or even reduce last year's tax rate. Perhaps this notion deserves some closer examination before it becomes a sacred annual ritual.

Certainly last year's experience showed that a tax freeze is no guaranteed road to voters' approval. Nor is it any indication of what happens to our property taxes. In most areas of the county went up last year (in one instance $23.12 for an average home) despite the supervisors' agonizing efforts which saved $2.07 on the same home. The county budget accounts for little more than a fifth of our property tax dollar. Schools, special districts, cities, etc. demand the major portion, and the supervisors can do nothing about it.

Thus the question facing the supervisors as well as the taxpayer is clear: "Who is going to benefit and how much, vs. who is going to suffer and how much?" This question must be answered for every budget item; it cannot be evaded by the simple device of a frozen tax rate.

Cautious budgeting, economical management, tight administration, these are not only laudable; they are imperative. So is due regard for the citizens' needs and the wholesome future growth of Marin. If the tax rate remains the same or can be lowered when all needs are considered — fine. If it must be raised by a few cents, so be it. We only get what we pay for, and what matters is not the dollar spent but the value received.

Questions About Mutiny Sentence

Is something upside-down? Today's (Feb. 13) Independent-Journal brings the story of the man, Pvt. Nesrey Sood, who has just been sentenced by the Army for "mutiny."

As the data come to me this man was himself originally AWOL because he was trying to get to his children who were being mistreated in Oakland and was not permitted to visit them legally by the military. Does the Army ever ask questions about its system which pits a man's humanitarian and fatherly instincts against his enthusiasm for protocol?

Again, the charge of mutiny is apparently based on the fact that this man was one of 27 others who sat down on a work detail and sang "We Shall Over-come". The reason? He propably knew as did several others that the young soldier (20-) who was shot in the back of the head at 20 yards by the guard placed over them was suicidally depressive . . . sick . . .

Now a man who in two instances has registered his horror at the inhumanity of the Army has been sentenced for 15 years of hard labor on account of "mutiny."

I have some ordinary citizen-questions to ask. Has the Army investigated the officer that refused to allow a father to go on leave to correct injustices against his children? Is the Army investigating the superior officer who failed to get the sick prisoner under psychiatric care? Is the Army considering charges of brutality against the guard who would rather murder a man from behind than use other means to contain him? . . .

Communist Line Negro Rebellion

Congratulations on your courageous coverage of the Black Panthers' attempts to organize the black high school student. The members of our Truth About Civil Turmoil (TACT) committees have been trying to distribute, within our limited means, copies of the document your quoted from, along with some supplementary commentary . . .

But let's look a little deeper. In 1928, in direct response to the Sixth Communist International held in Moscow that year, Soviet agent Joseph Pogany, under the alias John Pepper, set forth the Communist Party line in "American Negro Problems," a 16-page pamphlet. That line said that Negroes constitute an oppressed colony within the body of the USA. It further declared the Communist Party must recognize that the Negro national liberation movement has tremendous revolutionary potentialities. To bring about this so-called liberation the comrades were told to put forth the slogan of "self-determination." Finally the Negro Communist, in a second booklet "Negroes in a Soviet America" were urged to emphasize in their propaganda the establishment of a Negro Soviet Republic in the territory of the United States . . .

$10 Fishing Fee Called Outrageous

According to an I-J news item recently, it will now cost me $10 to fish.

We are already paying $3 for the privilege of fishing in the water district lakes — the proposed hike in cost will mean a total of $10 for each man.

This is outrageous — and many retired men will now be unable to fish there. There should be some way to help them.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IT TAKES A LOT to shock residents in the neighborhood of the U. of California campus in Berkeley these days. A prof emerged from the campus swimming pool recently to discover that some miscreant had hooked his shoes and socks from his locker. The weather was balmy, so he decided he could walk barefoot to the nearest shoe store, attired in his regular suit, shirt, and tie. Nobody, including the shoe store clerk, gave him a second glance. The clerk, in fact, after fitting him with shoes and socks, inquired casually, "Care to wear them, sir, or shall I wrap them up?"

Big Four Powers Dance Quadrille On Middle East Powder Barrel

UNITED NATIONS — The margin for error in the Middle East is so paper-thin that another outbreak of violence could trigger what everyone dreads. That is a big-power confrontation from which there would be no exit.

Yet, the diplomatic quadrille going on here is so slow-paced, a stately roundabout with one step forward and two steps back, that it seem an exercise in futility.

The exchanges among the four "big powers" — France, Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union — are on a bilateral basis. They talk with each other in pairs, passing back and forth memoranda of who said what and why. This is an acknowledgement, from the United States side certainly, of the insistence by Israel that a settlement can come only through direct negotiation with the Arabs and never by a compromise imposed by outside powers.

THE RUSSIANS and the French are hot for an imposed settlement. In theory, the U.S. delegation is also for a compromise arrived at by the Big Four. But Ambassador Charles Yost, head of the American delegation, is so cautious in his approach that progress can come only by indirection and then with a gradualism hardly discernible.

Blessed are the peacemakers, in the words of Matthew, for they shall be called the children of God. But, if the experience in the Middle East is a criterion, they will have to collect their blessings in the hereafter. For one year and four months Ambassador Gunnar Jarring has with extraordinary courage and persistence labored to bring the two sides together.

He has come under fire from both Arabs and Israelis as the violence and hatred have steadily escalated. They have berated the peacemaker as he has striven to damp down the fires threatening at any moment to flare out of control. By his persistence and his patience moving from armed camp to armed camp Jarring has contributed more than anyone else to keeping at least a semblance of peace.

But Jarring has been in New York for nearly a month waiting for new directives to come out of the four-power conversations. And sitting by and waiting as the flames flare up is frustrating to the point of despair.

THOSE immediately concerned with the threat of a new war in the Middle East are aware of a half-dozen ways in which a larger conflict could be triggered. The most obvious flashpoint is Jordan. In Amman King Hussein has, since the six-day war of June, 1967, performed an amazing tightrope act. It hardly seemed possible he could survive close to a second year as he teetered over the abyss.

Trees May Grow On Village Square If Only Boat Can Get You There

Daffodils are $1.50 a dozen. "It's due to the rain."

Romaine lettuce has brown spots. Again, it's the rain. The lichen is heavy on the apple and Spanish moss hangs long on the oak. My shoes are green on their bottoms. Greenshoes, they call me.

Part of the land near Overlook Drive in Bolinas is slipping, Mrs. Alice Silva advised the other day. Can it be that Curt Gentry is right that this is the year parts of our state will be eaten by the sea?

WATER ISN'T funny to a Marina Village man who sat in the back row at Corte Madera Town Hall Monday night and told about retired Col. John Conkle's water worries following Saturday's deluge.

"Yesterday," said the man, who identified himself only as a mariner of Yolo Drive, "I took a rowboat and rowed down there. There was water in that man's back yard. If I were he, I would be pretty damned mad.

"If I were he, I would be up here stomping," added the man. "It hasn't hit me yet but I care in principle. These houses are sinking further and further."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst placated the man, saying he should have attended a meeting three weeks ago when an offer of town aid was made to the villagers. It's up to the residents to look into an assessment district or a dike, said he.

The council also looked at colored slides showing a portion of Paradise Drive which has slipped, apparently due to subterranean waters.

ON HIGHER ground, the council discussed types of trees for proposed relandscaping of the Village Square.

Colored photographs of trees were passed around and a splendid, stalwart gray-haired woman handed sprigs of two trees to councilmen to view.

Mrs. Juliette Kraeger acted the heroine's role for half an hour in the play as follows:

"We have to have a tree that will hold up to our winds," said Mrs. Kraeger. She recommends New Zealand Christmas and mayten and named the genus of the first tree.

"Is it full? Does it block the view?" asked Councilman Robert P. Simmons. "The perennial favorite is the flowering plum," said Councilman Byron White. He also named genus. "It's so scraggly-looking in winter," responded Mrs. Kraeger.

Councilman H. S. Norville: "We have an approved list of trees for the town." Mrs. Kraeger sallied back: "It's at least 100 years old." Councilman Harold Wagstaff siad he would "go for" the mayten but also likes liquidambar and silver birch.

"They get very high and need watering," piped Mrs. K. "Why is the Town Council being the deciding factor on this?" queried Norville. "I think it's great!" retorted Mrs. Kraeger. "You're all getting to know what a tree looks like."

The subject was referred to the Village Square Association and the parks and recreation commission, of which Mrs. Kraeger is a member. The heroine went up to the dais, collected her sprigs and, a bit later, exited like a queen into the rainy night.

And speaking of rain, there's a great Valentine message with painted hearts on the base of a stop standard at Corte Madera and Redwood avenues. Funny, it wasn't noticeable on Feb. 14. It must have been the r - -n.

ABM System Looks Pretty Thin, But Explanation Plenty Thick

WASHINGTON — I had lunch with General Blunderbuss at the Army-Navy Club the other day, and I decided it would be a good time to ask him about the controversial antiballistic missile system.

"General, do we really need an ABM system?"

"Of course, we do. The military wouldn't push for it unless it was absolutely necessary," the general replied. "Would we?"

"Probably not. But there seems so much confusion about it. For one thing, you call it a 'thin' shield. That in itself doesn't give you much confidence in it."

"OF COURSE it doesn't," Blunderbuss said. "And that's the idea. If we call it a 'thin' shield, then Americans will demand a 'thick' shield, and that's what we wanted in the first place."

"Why didn't you propose a thick shield to start with?" I asked.

"Because it cost too much money. We've discovered from experience that if you ask for $5 billion, you can always get $20 billion more. But if you ask for $20 billion to start with, they might cut you down to $5 billion."

"But the critics say that the thin shield would have no efest as far as the Russians are concerned."

"The thin shield is not aied at the Russians. It's aimed at the Chinese. When the Chinese have their ICBMs, we're going to need something to stop them."

"THEN THE THICK shield you'll build after the thin shield will take care of the Soviet missiles?"

"Not necessarily. We're not sure that by the time we build a thick shield it will work."

"Why build it then?"

"My dear fellow, the object of the antiballistic missile system is not to knock down missiles; it's to give us something to negotiate with. If we announce we're building an ABM system, it will force the Soviets to build one and we're not sure they want to spend that kind of money. So the announcement would make the Soviets come to some arms-control agreement."

"But if we agree with the Soviets not to build an ABM system, how will that protect us from the Chinese?"

"WE WILL STILL build our thin shield, but the Soviets will know that it has nothing to do with their missiles. They obviously would have to build a thin shield of their own against the Chinese ICBMs, but we would know the Soviets would not wish our missiles any harm."

"Then we would have to come to some agreement as to how thin our shield could be?"

"Exactly."

"How could we do this if we don't know if your antiballistic system will work?"

"The Chinese don't know if it will work either. That's the beauty of the ABM system. If they were certain it worked, they could figure out ways to evade it. But if they don't know if it will work at all, it will act as a deterrent."

"THAT MAKES sense, but what worries people is that if you build a thin shield and the other side knows where the antiballistic missiles are located, then those places will be the first ones attacked. I must say I sympathize with the people in Boston for not wanting to be part of a 'thin' ABM shield."

"You've got to forget about Boston in the overall defense capability picture. We didn't select Boston because it's Boston. Heaven knows, if anything happened to Boston we'd all be terribly upset. But if we didn't build it in Boston, we'd have to build it somewhere else. Would you prefer we put it in Washington, D.C.?"

"Heck no. If that's the choice, by all means put it in Boston. I don't even have any relative there."

Resident Reports $1,500 Burglary

Nearly $1,500 in jewelry and clothing has been reported stolen from a San Rafael home.

Margaret P. Bunn of 71 West Seaview Avenue listed a $750 mink cape, a $100 ring, a $150 gold watch and a $150 cameo on a gold chain among the stolen items. Police said the burglar entered the home through a breakfast nook window.

Demos Oppose Campus Violence

A resolution opposing the threat or use of violence by anyone at San Francisco State College was adopted unanimously Tuesday by the Marin County Democratic Central Committee.

The resolutin, which took almost two hours to work out, also urged all parties to the conflicts at the campus to begin immediate negotations without any conditions, and called on Gov. Ronald Reagan to help lessen tensions there and to seek more money for educational programs, espcecially for minority groups.

Another resolution adopted last night opposed placement of the proposed antiballistic missile system anywhere in the Bay Area. The Army is considering putting one on Wolfback Ridge above Sausalito, and Angel Island is an alternative site.

Trees May Grow On Village Square If Only Boat Can Get You There

Daffodils are $1.50 a dozen. "It's due to the rain."

Romaine lettuce has brown spots. Again, it's the rain. The lichen is heavy on the apple and Spanish moss hangs long on the oak. My shoes are green on their bottoms. Greenshoes, they call me.

Part of the land near Overlook Drive in Bolinas is slipping, Mrs. Alice Silva advised the other day. Can it be that Curt Gentry is right that this is the year parts of our state will be eaten by the sea?

WATER ISN'T funny to a Marina Village man who sat in the back row at Corte Madera Town Hall Monday night and told about retired Col. John Conkle's water worries following Saturday's deluge.

"Yesterday," said the man, who identified himself only as a mariner of Yolo Drive, "I took a rowboat and rowed down there. There was water in that man's back yard. If I were he, I would be pretty damned mad.

"If I were he, I would be up here stomping," added the man. "It hasn't hit me yet but I care in principle. These houses are sinking further and further."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst placated the man, saying he should have attended a meeting three weeks ago when an offer of town aid was made to the villagers. It's up to the residents to look into an assessment district or a dike, said he.

The council also looked at colored slides showing a portion of Paradise Drive which has slipped, apparently due to subterranean waters.

ON HIGHER ground, the council discussed types of trees for proposed relandscaping of the Village Square.

Colored photographs of trees were passed around and a splendid, stalwart gray-haired woman handed sprigs of two trees to councilmen to view.

Mrs. Juliette Kraeger acted the heroine's role for half an hour in the play as follows:

"We have to have a tree that will hold up to our winds," said Mrs. Kraeger. She recommends New Zealand Christmas and mayten and named the genus of the first tree.

"Is it full? Does it block the view?" asked Councilman Robert P. Simmons. "The perennial favorite is the flowering plum," said Councilman Byron White. He also named genus. "It's so scraggly-looking in winter," responded Mrs. Kraeger.

Councilman H. S. Norville: "We have an approved list of trees for the town." Mrs. Kraeger sallied back: "It's at least 100 years old." Councilman Harold Wagstaff siad he would "go for" the mayten but also likes liquidambar and silver birch.

"They get very high and need watering," piped Mrs. K. "Why is the Town Council being the deciding factor on this?" queried Norville. "I think it's great!" retorted Mrs. Kraeger. "You're all getting to know what a tree looks like."

The subject was referred to the Village Square Association and the parks and recreation commission, of which Mrs. Kraeger is a member. The heroine went up to the dais, collected her sprigs and, a bit later, exited like a queen into the rainy night.

And speaking of rain, there's a great Valentine message with painted hearts on the base of a stop standard at Corte Madera and Redwood avenues. Funny, it wasn't noticeable on Feb. 14. It must have been the r--n.

ABM System Looks Pretty Thin, But Explanation Plenty Thick

WASHINGTON — I had lunch with General Blunderbuss at the Army-Navy Club the other day, and I decided it would be a good time to ask him about the controversial antiballistic missile system.

"General, do we really need an ABM system?"

"Of course, we do. The military wouldn't push for it unless it was absolutely necessary," the general replied. "Would we?"

"Probably not. But there seems so much confusion about it. For one thing, you call it a 'thin' shield. That in itself doesn't give you much confidence in it."

"OF COURSE it doesn't," Blunderbuss said. "And that's the idea. If we call it a 'thin' shield, then Americans will demand a 'thick' shield, and that's what we wanted in the first place."

"Why didn't you propose a thick shield to start with?" I asked.

"Because it cost too much money. We've discovered from experience that if you ask for $5 billion, you can always get $20 billion more. But if you ask for $20 billion to start with, they might cut you down to $5 billion."

"But the critics say that the thin shield would have no effest as far as the Russians are concerned."

"The thin shield is not aied at the Russians. It's aimed at the Chinese. When the Chinese have their ICBMs, we're going to need something to stop them."

"THEN THE THICK shield you'll build after the thin shield will take care of the Soviet missiles?"

"Not necessarily. We're not sure that by the time we build a thick shield it will work."

"Why build it then?"

"My dear fellow, the object of the antiballistic missile system is not to knock down missiles; it's to give us something to negotiate with. If we announce we're building an ABM system, it will force the Soviets to build one and we're not sure they want to spend that kind of money. So the announcement would make the Soviets come to some arms-control agreement."

"But if we agree with the Soviets not to build an ABM system, how will that protect us from the Chinese?"

"WE WILL STILL build our thin shield, but the Soviets will know that it has nothing to do with their missiles. They obviously would have to build a thin shield of their own against the Chinese ICBMs, but we would know the Soviets would not wish our missiles any harm."

"Then we would have to come to some agreement as to how thin our shield could be?"

"Exactly."

"How could we do this if we don't know if your antiballistic system will work?"

"The Chinese don't know if it will work either. That's the beauty of the ABM system. If they were certain it worked, they could figure out ways to evade it. But if they don't know if it will work at all, it will act as a deterrent."

"THAT MAKES sense, but what worries people is that if you build a thin shield and the other side knows where the antiballistic missiles are located, then those places will be the first ones attacked. I must say I sympathize with the people in Boston for not wanting to be part of a 'thin' ABM shield."

"You've got to forget about Boston in the overall defense capability picture. We didn't select Boston because it's Boston. Heaven knows, if anything happened to Boston we'd all be terribly upset. But if we didn't build it in Boston, we'd have to build it somewhere else. Would you prefer we put it in Washington, D.C.?"

"Heck no. If that's the choice, by all means put it in Boston. I don't even have any relative there."

Resident Reports $1,500 Burglary

Nearly $1,500 in jewelry and clothing has been reported stolen from a San Rafael home.

Margaret P. Bunn of 71 West Seaview Avenue listed a $750 mink cape, a $100 ring, a $150 gold watch and a $150 cameo on a gold chain among the stolen items. Police said the burglar entered the home through a breakfast nook window.

Demos Oppose Campus Violence

A resolution opposing the threat or use of violence by anyone at San Francisco State College was adopted unanimously Tuesday by the Marin County Democratic Central Committee.

The resolutin, which took almost two hours to work out, also urged all parties to the conflicts at the campus to begin immediate negotations without any conditions, and called on Gov. Ronald Reagan to help lessen tensions there and to seek more money for educational programs, espcecially for minority groups.

Voting Hours

Voting hours for the election of 11 new members to the Marin City Target Area Board will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 27. The hours were given incorrectly to the Independent-Journal Tuesday. Voting will be in front of Hayden's market in Marin City.

MARIJUANA HAUL — As officers booked five young men arrested last night after a narcotics raid in Muir Beach, some didn't want their pictures taken, some didn't care. An unidentified youth (left) pulls his coat over his head while an officer removes handcuffs from William A. Graham and Charles B. Benedetto. Graham (center), acused of having marijuana for sale and Jeffrey J. Morse (right) are booked into the county jail. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean.)

Muir Beach Home Raided As Pot Market

Narcotics agents swooped down on a pleasant two-bedroom house overlooking Muir Beach last night and arrested its two long-haired occupants, charging that the youths had been conducting a thriving marijuana business.

Booked into Marin County jail were Jeffrey James Morse, 22, and William Mansfield Graham, 19, who both live at the Sunset Way house.

Also arrested were two other young men and a 17-year-old boy, who arrived together while agents were arresting Morse and Graham.

William Edward Pola, 20, and Charles Bede Benedetto, 19, both of Alameda, were booked on suspicion of marijuana possession after agents said they found marijuana in their car and a marijuana cigarette in Pola's possession.

The 17-year-old was cited to juvenile hall. Agents did not arrest a fourth youth who accompanied the three arrested.

Officers arrived at the house about 9 p.m. armed with a search warrant which they had abtained after numerous reports that the traffic of visitors to Morse and Graham's home seemed extremely large.

In the home, where a marijuana plant grew in a pot beside a television set, the six agents found six kilos of marijuana, hashish, suspected LSD and "a great deal of paraphernalia," according to Lt. James Schwedhelm, head of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

About $1,000 was also found in the house, Schwedhelm said, and one of the visitors, Pola, had $300 with him.

Agents said they believed Morse and Graham were volume marijuana dealers, who specialized in selling the weed in kilo quantities.

Morse and Graham were booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale, possession of dangerous drugs and cultivation of marijuana.

They were held without bail today.

One U.C. Student Expelled; Wild Fracas Leads To Use Of Mace

COMBINED AP & UPI

BERKELEY — University of California officials announced today disciplinary action against 89 students and former students for their strike activities.

The action came as some 100 striking teaching assistants paraded at five campus entrances. Tight security was enforced at violence-rocked Sproul Hall and at off-campus University Hall, where U.C. Regents were meeting.

Richard Hafner Jr., public information officer, said the first student has been dismissed for actions taken during the current chaotic student strike. He declined to give his name.

Hafner said 11 other students have been suspended, 49 face a disciplinary hearing which could lead to suspensions and 28 former students have been barred from readmission.

The wildest confrontation yet between militants and police during the one-month strike by a minority of the school's 28,000 students yesterday produced two dozen arrests and five injuries. Sixteen windows were broken and countless other incidents of vandalism occurred, after law school students defied a rally ban.

For the first time since the strike by the Third World Liberation Front began on behalf of the autonomous Third World College, police frequently used Mace in their efforts to disperse hundreds of protesters and onlookers.

Officers were pelted with rocks, bottles, eggs, stink and smoke bombs, apples, oranges and even one fire bomb as they tried to keep the Sather Gate clear.

Strike leaders, alarmed at the stick-swinging violence, exhorted their supporters to disperse and go home, but were ignored.

Another new development found 200 members of the American Federation of Teachers joining the picket line. The AFT voted an official walkout Tuesday after police arrested 15 teaching assistants picketing

Regents Get Hiring Blast, Budget Squeeze Complaints

BERKELEY (AP) — University of California regents met today across the street from the troubled Berkeley campus and prepared for protests from legislators as well as students. U.C. officials also voiced concern over budget cuts.

Three Republican legislators announced their opposition yesterday to the one-year rehiring of philosophy Prof. Herbert Marcuse on the San Diego campus.

Marcuse, 71, is the author of books popular among some student activists.

"Dr. Marcuse has been issuing a call to arms to students . . ." Assemblyman John Stull of Leucadia said in Sacramento.

Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes of San Diego and Sen. James Whetmore of La Habra sad they sent telegrams to regents' Chairman Dewitt A. Higgs of San Diego asking the board to veto San Diego Chancellor William McGill's decision to rehire Marcuse for one year.

Marcuse has said, "The Russians consider me an agent of Wall Street. There must be something good about me if I'm equally condemned by both sides."

The university faces "a grave financial problem" of turning away qualified students in the next 10 years unless more construction money is provided, U.C. President Charles J. Hitch warned today.

Hitch reported to the regents on Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed 1969-70 state budget, which provides $331.6 million for operations and pay raises and $82.3 million for new buildings.

The proposed operations budget will allow U.C. "to meet its critical workload needs, as well as fund a few improvements and new programs," Hitch said. However, he also reported that the governor's budget provides

Bomb Raid On Clinic Kills 45

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — A welfare clinic was bombed in Umuahia today and 45 people were killed, the Biafran Information Ministry reported.

Several other buildings were destroyed in the raid, which officials said was carried out by a federal Nigerian plane.

A Biafran Health Ministry official said that about 200 women and their babies attend the clinic daily. Some had just left the building when the plane attacked.

State Campus Quiet But Words Fly Over Issues

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's been quiet on the San Francisco State campus since spring semester opened Monday — off campus, words continue to fly over a number of issues.

There were few pickets on campus and only one minor disruption in a classroom reported yesterday.

However, the reason for the quiet may be that radical students want to attend class to make sure they are officially enrolled for the spring semester. And striking professors want to register those taking a class.

The some 200 faculty members involved in the strike also wish to make sure the administration doesn't drop their courses from the schedule.

In other developments:

George Yamamoto, manager of student finances at the school, flatly denied there has been any mismanagement of student funds. He was the first witness at a Superior Court hearing to determine whether the freeze on student funds should be made permanent. College Acting President S. I. Hayakawa asserted earlier this week that as much as $100,000 had been misspent by the pro-strike student government.

Gov. Ronald Reagan and former President Robert Smith of San Francisco State College were in disagreement today over who gave the governor a report students had been enrolled at knifepoint.

The governor told a UPI newsman yesterday Smith disclosed the incident to him at a closed-door session of the trustees. An aide to the governor said it was during the trustees' November meeting. It was at this meet Smith resigned and Hayakawa was selected as acting president.

"He must be mistaken," Smith said. "I did not even know of such an incident and, therefore, how could I have reported it?"

The college issued a statement saying Reagan's report was "absolutely, categorically, positively untrue."

State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke confirmed the incident occurred but said the student involved denied any threats were made at knifepoint.

Charles Stone, dean of admissions at San Francisco State, denied he enrolled any students under threats of force.

"I have been pressured in various ways but never threatened with bodily harm or with weapons," he said.

Other city and county offices, banks and businesses will be open tomorrow, but it will be a holiday for all but necessary personnel at Hamilton Air Force Base.

On Saturday, all union barber shops throughout Marin will be closed, according to Manuel Martin, secretary of the Barber's Union.

Post offices will close Saturday and there will be no mail deliveries.

Also scheduled for closing Saturday are most Mill Valley stores, 47 of 75 San Anselmo businesses surveyed and real estate offices in Sausalito, according to chambers of commerce in those cities. Most supermarkets will be closed.

Most businesses in other cities will remain open, with many holding special Washington Birthday sales.

Parking will be free Saturday in all Marin cities except Sausalito, whose meters will be working.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

33,000 Draft Call For April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, maintaining high induction levels this year, called today for the drafting of 33,000 men in April.

The Selective Service System was asked to draft 30,500 for the Army and 2,500 for the Marines.

Draft calls have been relatively high this year as the Pentagon prepares to release thousands of reservists and National Guard who were ordered up in 1968 after the Pueblo crisis in Korea and the Tet offensive in Vietnam.

A total of 26,800 men were sought in January. Other draft calls this year included February's 33,700 and March's 33,100.

U.S. Asks Geneva Viet Plan

PARIS (UPI) — The United States called today for a return to the 1954 Geneva agreements which ended the French Indo-China War and said there must be a mutual de-escalation of the Vietnam War if there is to be peace.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said the de-escalation was "an absolutely essential first step." And he impatiently rejected once again the Communist demand the Americans pull out of Vietnam, unconditionally, as a first step at another peace conference noons.

Backed by South Vietnamese chief delegate Pham Dang Lam, Lodge accused the Communists of hampering the progress of the month-old conference by failing to make concrete proposals while insisting on demands they knew were unacceptable.

SUPPORTED PACTS

The Geneva agreements were a set of documents which ended the French colonial war in Indochina. The United States, which did not sign them, nevertheless supported their provisions.

Lodge urged the Communist delegates to discuss with the allies such key provisions of the accords as the establishment of a Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) along the 17th parallel, the disengagement of opposing military forces, the cessation of hostilities, the non-intervention by the South and the North in one another's internal affairs and the impartial international policing of the agreements.

HANOI'S POLICY

On the Communist insistence on a U.S. military pullout Lodge said the Hanoi and Viet Cong negotiators "obviously recognize that the solution of military issues is an absolutely essential first step for the creation of conditions in which the political problems can be resolved."

Turning a deaf ear to the Allied appeals, Viet Cong delegation chief Tran Buu Kiem and North Vietnamese chief negotiator Xuan Thuy repeated all over again that the Americans must pull out of Vietnam without any condition.

Today's session lasted 5½ hours, the shortest since the expanded talks began Jan. 18. The delegates agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Outgoing American deputy negotiator Cyrus R. Vance predicted yesterday that peace eventually would emerge from the talks, but he cautioned that the search would be long and arduous.

Splitting Tam High District Is Proposed

Three-Way Slicing Asked, October Ballot Requested

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A school district unification plan breaking Tamalpais High School District up into three unified districts was tentatively proposed last night by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The action could mean that the districts' voters, who twice before have rejected unification plans, will be asked again in October for their approval.

The tentative proposal would form one unified district in the present Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area plus the Bolinas-Stinson School District, one in the Redwood High School attendance area and one in the Tamalpais High School attendance area except for Bolinas-Stinson.

The proposal, to be put before the taxpayers at a series of public meetings next month, was opposed only by committeeman Galen Williams, who said to put it before the public now would almost insure its defeat.

Although Williams, of Mill Valley, said he favored the three-district unification proposal, he insisted an election on it should be put off.

If an election is not held in October, one could not be held until next June.

Pointing to recent defeats of school bond issues, Williams told the committee, "I am as anxious as anyone to proceed . . . but I question whether right now is a good time for a unification election."

Committeeman David D. Ring agreed that most taxpayers "have reached the point that they feel they are not going to spend a penny more than they have to on education." But he

Aby To Run Again For Mayor's Position

Dr. Charles W. Aby, former San Rafael councilman who lost a bid for mayor four years ago, filed yesterday for an April 15 rematch with the man who defeated him, Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

Meanwhile, an 11th hour rush of candidates has expanded the contest for two city council seats into an eight-man race. Only the incumbents, Harry A. Barbier and Frederick C. Robbins, had submitted official papers to City Clerk W. C. Cornwell as of noon yesterday.

The filing deadline for the mayor's post, council seats and two seats on the San Rafael Board of Education was noon today.

Aby, who resigned from the council in 1967 after 16 years, took out his nomination papers yesterday and filed them shortly afterward.

Bettini, who defeated Aby in 1965 and was unopposed in 1967, previously had filed to seek reelection.

The third candidate in the race for mayor is Arthur F. Dieters, proprietor of Marin Upholstery.

Atty. Joseph D. Dahlman and George S. Burton, a commercial truck dealer, who were unsuccessful candidates two years ago, have again entered the council race.

Newcomers are John J. Adams, a planning commissioner and San Francisco auto sales executive, Thomas H. Litz, a systems analyst, of 1350 Lincoln Avenue; Ray White of 169 Greenwood Avenue, executive manager of the Redwood Empire Sheet Metal and Air Conditioners Association, and Benjamin F. Walton of 165 Park Street, who has led a drive to turn the San Rafael courthouse into a museum.

Burton, 40, of 19 Hacienda Court, is general manager of San Rafael Sales and has attended all council sessions for the past two years.

Dahlman was one of the applicants for the seat vacated when Louis H. Baar became a county supervisor last month, but the appointment went to Robbins, a former planning commissioner.

Alone in the race for two seats on the board of education are the incumbents, Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Paul L. Jones.

FAST CHANGE ARTIST USES NEW MATH?

A San Rafael department store cashier was bilked of $10 yesterday by a fast shuffling con man who confused her with some tricky money changing.

Betty Marie Nevi, a cashier at F. W. Woolworths, told police the man came up to her cashier cage and asked her for a $10 bill in exchange for 10 $1 bills. She handed him the $10 bill before discovering he had only given her eight $1 bills.

When she told him this, the con man was willing to take the eight ones back, then asked her to change a $20 bill. She did and he had left the store before she realized she had not taken the original $10 bill back.

Muskie Hints Presidential Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the Democrats' unsuccessful candidate for vice president last year, says he is more and more interested in his party's presidential nomination in 1972.

Muskie

But, Muskie told a news conference yesterday, "whatever enthusisasm I am able to generate may cool off."

He said a presidential race is "quite an undertaking for a man without means. It becomes more awesome the more I contemplate it." And he said he is not surprised at recents polls showing that Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts is the leading prospect.

To Grant Asylum?

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish government is considering a demand by left-wing groups that it grant political asylum to deserters from the U. S. armed forces.

Some 175 American servicemen have been given "humanitarian" asylum in Sweden. But Interior Minister Erik Holmqvist pointed out Tuesday their status is reviewed every three months, and they can be expelled if they violate Sweden's laws. If the deserters were considered political refugees, they would have greater security and would not risk expulsion.

Outlines Program

WASHINGTON (AP — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says broad legislation to revamp the system of federal aid to the states must be passed to meet a fiscal crisis that is resulting in "annual rounds of tax increases facing state and local governments."

He outlined his proposal yesterday to the District of Columbia chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

Rockefeller proposed a plan to consolidate "categorical" grants into bloc grants for general purposes, create a national contributory health insurance system and establish federal standards and financing for welfare programs.

Increase Voted On Water Rates

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 20 per cent increase in water rates for the 160 customers of the Coast Springs Water Co. at Dillon Beach was approved yesterday by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The increased rates will be effective March 1.

The commission's staff estimated that the gross revenues of the company would go from $13,250 to $15,900 at the new rates, and net revenues will go from $720 to $3,000 a year.

Fourteen customers objected to the hike, the commission said, generally on the ground that they used their cabins for short periods during the year. The commission, however, said the water system had to be run all year, "whether the customers are there continuously or not."

Police Used At Refinery Strike

RICHMOND (UPI) — A strike continues at the Standard Oil Co. refinery, where police had to be called yesterday to allow workers through the plant's gates.

Violence broke out at the refinery when some pickets among a group of 150, began heckling non-striking employees and throwing objects. Police then moved the picket lines away from the entrance as guards guided workers through the gates.

The picket line was composed of striking members of the oil workers union and students.

Nixon's OEO Split Draws Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading congressional antipoverty warrior has attacked President Nixon's plan to remove two key agencies from the Office of Economic Opportunity. But despite the harsh words, the administration's program appears in no danger.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., of the House Education and Labor Committee said the administration plan to shift OEO's showcase Head Start to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and Job Corps to the Labor Department was a "tragic mistake" that would leave OEO "to defend less popular programs."

NO 'GOODIES'

Another House source said that by taking away OEO's most dramatic and appealing programs "we simply won't have the goodies to get the votes" if it comes to a showdown next year on whether to wipe out the antipoverty agency altogether.

In the Senate, however, Wisconsin Democrat Gaylord Nelson said that the programs handled by OEO covered only 10 per cent of the government's over-all poverty attack.

"We need some kind of new job creation program, fitted into a comprehensive manpower policy," Nelson said in a favorable reaction to Nixon's plan.

The Wisconsin Senator is the new chairman of the Senate subcommittee on employment, manpower and poverty which handles OEO legislation.

OEO TO SURVIVE

Nixon announced yesterday he would keep OEO alive but would turn Head Start and the Job Corps over to old-line departments.

Both Democrats and Republicans at the Capitol praised the message although there were dissenters besides Perkins.

Some Democrats said they felt it marked a considerable retreat from GOP statements in the 1968 campaign that OEO should be downgraded or abolished.

Both Senate and House Labor committees indicated they hoped to start hearings on OEO legislation in April.

Cong Held Poised For Saigon Drive

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military advisers said today the Viet Cong have more forces now for an attack on Saigon and the provinces around it than they had for the big Tet offensive a year ago.

The American officers conceded they were uncertain when, where or if the Communist command would launch its long anticipated big push. But they said captured documents and prisoners of war still point to an offensive in the Third Corps Area, which is made up of Saigon and 11 provinces around it.

Assessing the current military situation around the capital, the analysts said either the enemy has not been able to get his troops, munitions and food supplies into position because of U.S. and South Vietnamese spoiling actions, or he is awaiting advice from Hanoi's diplomats at the Paris peace talks.

"The enemy's over-all strength in Third Corps has increased about 7,500 over the last 13 months to 65,000," said one source. About 20,000 to 30,000 of these are considered assault troops, the rest support forces. The total includes several thousand operating from bases just across the border in Cambodia who move in and out of South Vietnam at will and are within easy striking distance of Saigon.

The allies have roughtly 50,000 combat infantrymen in the area.

Because of last year's Tet offensive, many observers anticipated some kind of spectacular Viet Cong move during the lunar new year holidays this week.

Meanwhile the U.S. Command said in its weekly casualty report today that 197 Americans were killed in action last week and 1,103 were wounded, pushing the total number of Americans wounded in the war past the 200,000 mark.

The official count shows 31,759 Americans have died in combat since Jan. 1, 1961, and 200,792 have been wounded.

The casualty figures for last week were about the average for recent months. The command said 2,549 enemy soldiers were killed last week, bringing the total for the war to 447,356. The number of enemy dead for the previous week had been reported earlier as 2,264 but was increased today to 2,467 on the basis of later reports.

The Saigon government's weekly casualty count was delayed, apparently due to the Tet lunar new year holidays.

Postmasters Patronage Wiped Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 2,200 acting postmasters—plus 467 Johnson administration nominees who never were confirmed—are out of their jobs with the disclosure that the new administration considers all current Civil Service lists void.

The announcement came yesterday from Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, giving patronage-conscious members of his party something to cheer about. It means Republicans will have at least an equal chance with Democrats to compete for the jobs, which pay from $5,600 to $27,000 annually.

These jobs, Blount explained, will be filled under new nonpolitical procedures based on merit and developed to implement the new administration's program to put the postal system on a sound management basis.

The Post Office, under every postmaster general since Benjamin Franklin, has been the primary governmental agency through which the party in power could reward its faithful.

The policy prevailed during the Johnson administration but President Nixon changed it. He said postmasters would be chosen on merit.

News Blackout Blasts Campus Disturbances

COMBINED AP & UPI

"It is the fashion now to protest. . . .

"For this day we choose to follow the fashion. We protest the attention, concern and indulgence that have been accorded to student protesters on university campuses all over the world. We think they have generated news out of all proportion to their numbers and importance.

"As a demonstration of our protest we are refraining from printing any news about protesting students today. Tomorrow we shall go back to reporting this story. It is our responsibility to print the news whether we find it pleasing or repugnant," it said.

At Oberlin, Ohio, changing demonstrators blocked three Marine Corps recruiters from a placement office at Oberlin College today in the first such confrontation here since October, 1967.

A group of students demanding a black studies program entered the Administration Building at Eastern Michigan University today. Scores were promptly arrested and charged with trespassing.

Students at predominantly Negro Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Ala., successfully boycotted classes yesterday and vowed to enforce the strike until demands were met. About 200 university of Oregon students marched through campus to protest classes being held during a memorial observance of the murder of Malcolm X.

About 1,000 National Guardsmen remained stationed near the University of Wisconsin, and disciplinary moves were taken against militants at the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois and Roosevelt University in Chicago.

Tam High District Split Into Three Parts Proposed

said he didn't think waiting would help, adding that he felt there was a "strong possibility, I'd even say probability" that any unification effort would fail whether voted on this year or next.

The committee's chairman, Rachel P. Conner, emphasized that adopting the tentative proposal did not commit the panel to an October election although the committee views that as a target date for the election. Nor does it mean that the committee cannot reverse itself and come up with another plan, she said.

If the committee does decide on October for the election, it must come up with a final proposal to present to the state Board of Education for its approval no later than June.

The four-hour meeting, ending at midnight, attracted a large and vocal audience, many of them school teachers in the affected areas. The session was prolonged when committee members and several members of the audience became embroiled in a lengthy, repetitive and often bitter argument over whether to include a controversial section on election procedures in the proposal.

The debate centered on whether the election should be held by individual districts or on a districtwide basis. Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino has ruled that there are three options open: a districtwide election requiring majority approval as in the privious unsuccessful tries; a vote by district under which any district voting for unification would be unified, and a district vote requiring approval by each district before any district could be unified.

Williams argued that the section should be included in the tentative proposal so public reaction could be gauged. Ring contended that the question was "far too important" to make any commitments on yet, although Williams and others countered that the tentative proposal still could be changed.

In a wide-ranging debate which occasionally slipped from Mrs. Conner's control, various members of the audience challenged each of the alternate election choices as unfair.

The panel, however, eventually refused to include the section, voting to table, by a 7 to 3 split, a motion by committeeman J. R. B. Ellis to set the eletcion by districts.

One young woman in the audience, an advocate of districtwide voting, said after the tabling action, "I think I'm going to cry." Earlier, she had protested that a district-by-district vote would make it possible for "a minority . . . a very small minority" to defeat unification.

At another point, a male teacher in the audience demanded — and got — the floor to lecture the committee on democracy and the degrees of democracy inherent in each method of voting.

Some of the audience said it would be undemocratic for voters of a single district to be able to defeat the over-all proposal while others argued that it was just as undemocratic to allow a districtwide vote which could impose unification on a district which voted against it.

"You can't let a minority thwart the will of the majority and still sit there and talk about the blessings of democracy," one participant said.

"We can't please everyone," Mrs. Conner replied.

The proposal also included a section on the tax rate for the unified districts which said the maximum permissible tax rate would be that which would produce the same amount of revenue for the unified district that the legal maximum tax rates in the component districts would produce.

Another, relatively non-controversial feature of the tentative proposal, called for at-large elections of seven trustees from each district.

Before approving the proposal, the committee discussed a welter of statistical tables supplied by the county schools office projecting such items for the proposed unified districts as tax rates, assessed valuation, enrollments, teachers' salaries and even the racial makeup of the districts' schools.

One set of figures, admittedly based on "several assumptions," showed a projected tax rate of $5.20 per $100 assessed valuation in the Drake district where rates now range from $4.17 in Bolinas-Stinson to $5.04 in San Anselmo. In the Redwood area, where present rates go from $4.98 in Ross to $5.24 in Larkspur, the projected tax rate was $4.90. In the Tamalpais area, now $4.82 at Mill Valley and $5.22 in Sausalito, the rate was projected at $4.86.

Public hearings on the proposal were set for March 19 at Drake High, March 20 at Tamalpais and March 25 at Redwood.

40 Planes Join Hunt For Lost Airliner

Forty planes, three of them from Hamilton Air Force Base, were reported aloft today and in the search for a DC-3 missing for two days since leaving Hawthorne, Nev., with 35 persons aboard.

The Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton said clearing skies permitted the widening search but that it would be extremely difficult to spot the white plane in the snow-covered Hawthorne-Dyer-Basalt area.

Leon Uris' Young Wife Found Dead

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Author Leon Uris' bride of six months was found dead today near the couple's Red Mountain home overlooking this Rocky Mountain ski resort, Pitkin County Sheriff Carroll Whitmire reported.

Whitmire confirmed the body of Mrs. Uris, who had been reported missing last night, was found, but said no other details would be disclosed until an investigation had progressed further.

The cause of death was not known immediately.

Uris is a former resident of Larkspur.

Mrs. Uris, 25, was born Marjorie Edwards and came to Aspen in 1965 from New York, where she had been modeling. It was here she met Uris, 44, whose first marriage ended in divorce in January 1968.

They were married last Sept. 8. It was her first marriage. Uris and his bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharpless Edwards of Philadelphia, had spent much time recently in Hollywood, where the author was working on the screen play for his novel, "Topaz." Both were in Aspen this week.

Other notable works by Uris include "Exodus," "Battle Cry," "Mila 18" and "The Angry Hills."

Wreckage Of Small Plane Is Located

The wreckage of one plane, missing from Clear Lake since yesterday, was reported located today by the Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton Air Force Base, while a search was launched for two others missing.

The Lake County wreck was believed to be that of a small plane piloted by James Prather of Clear Lake who left nearby Lampson Field at 4:30 p.m. yesterday. Lake County sheriff's deputies were working their way today toward the crash scene in the coastal mountains about seven miles from the field.

A Cesna 310 approaching Reno at 12:24 p.m. yesterday, disappeared from the radar about 35 miles north of Reno. It had four passengers, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Holtz, all of Seattle. Civil Air Patrol units and ground crews were looking for that plane today, base officials reported.

Another plane, piloted by L. Fudge of La Habre, left Troutdale, Ore., headed for Fullerton, Orange County. He was last heard from at 2 p.m. yesterday at Chico, according to the rescue center. The search for the plane is centering around the Lan-

Hitch's main concern was with the construction budget.

Reagan's capital outlay budget for U.C. contains only about one half the money requested by the university. The state college system's construction budget also was cut drastically.

State Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger said earlier this month that failure of Prop. 3, the $250 million education construction bond issue, last November sharply reduced expected money for new buildings.

Thief Smashes Way Into Rod, Gun Club

The Marin Rod and Gun Club at 2675 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, was burglarized Wednesday night of an undetermined amount of cash and possibly some liquor and cigarettes, police reported.

Entry was gained by smashing a door with a metal pipe, police said.

school students invaded Stone's office to demand admission to college. Stone talked to them and said he could not guarantee admission but offered to resign his job. His resignation was rejected by college officials.

San Francisco's mayor Joseph L. Alioto and author Herman Kahn failed to see eye to eye on campus disorders.

The two rapid-fire speakers appeared yesterday before the Western Investment Forum where Alioto said that Gov. Ronald Reagan's "classes at bayonet point" was not the answer to campus problems.

"We've said in this state — erroneously—we're not going to negotiate with you (striking teachers), and I think we're wrong," he told the 350 business specialists.

He said teachers and dissenting students should be given the "right of consultation, the right to be heard, the machinery to be heard, and consideration for their judgment."

He told the women in the audience that once "you had to bomb buildings and wield hatchets before you got the vote."

The portly Kahn, author and director of New York's Hudson Institute, said that there were "new elements" concerning today's militants.

He said that aside from the young people in countries like Israel, those in "every nation affected by unrest" are up against nothing—whether the need to earn a living, concern over national interest or religious injunctions — that forces them "to stay in touch with reality."

Dissidents from affluent backgrounds who did not have to work often feel that destruction of property is not "very important." And coming from "permissive" families where corporal punishment is seldom used, the young activists are on a collision course with working class police who "don't mind fighting" and feel punishment is proper, Kahn said.

About 100 student strikers got involved in a bottle-throwing episode with a soft drink delivery man who tried to break through the students blocking traffic.

Alameda County sheriff's department spokesmen said one deputy required medical treatment and nine of those arrested were chargd with assaulting an officer. Four students were treated at the campus hospital for minor injuries and then released.

Other developments:

It was learned that a group of faculty members has been assigned to act as observers in the basement of Sproul Hall where those arrested are held temporarily by police.

Thirteen persons signed a letter charging "very bloody beatings by plainclothesmen and Alameda County sheriff's deputies" and cited two specific incidents.

Iraquis Execute 7 As Spies; No Jews

BEIRUT (UPI)—Iraq today executed seven men convicted of spying for Israel and put their bodies on public display in Baghdad's Liberation Square, Radio Baghdad reported.

An eighth man convicted on similar charges had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment because he had cooperated with Iraqi authorities in smashing a spy ring, the broadcast said. A ninth man is still at large but faces the same charges.

A tenth, alleged leader of an Israeli spy ring, was reported in custody awaiting trial.

The executions were carried out in the predawn hours today only hours after an edited version of the trial was broadcast over Baghdad Radio and television. The trial by a three-man revolutionary court took place Feb. 11.

A later announcement by Baghdad Radio said four civilians had been hanged in prison and three Iraqi soldiers had been executed by firing squad.

"The bodies of the traitors now hang in Liberation Square," a commentator said.

None of those executed or convicted was a Jew.

It recalled a similar execution Jan. 27 in which the Iraqi regime put the bodies of 14 alleged Israeli spies—nine of them Jews—on display, some of them in the same square.

That display in front of thousands of cheering Iraqis brought worldwide dismay. Iraq's staunchest Arab neighbors either deplored or ignored the act. Iraq snapped at them for non-support.

The prosecution at the Feb. 11 trial presented evidence that the men had been sending reports on Iraqi army posts and installations in Jordan to Israel. It claimed the men were caught "red-handed" on Dec. 1 in Jordan.

Another Iraqi, arrested with the eight tried and convicted Feb. 11, is accused of being the ringleader of the spy network and will be tried separately.

If you commute-read this.

Five years ago KGO Radio innovated Helicopter Traffic reporting with Lu Hurley and the "Hurleybird". When you hit that freeway every morning and evening you realize how much the Bay Area and its traffic problem has grown.

So do we, and that's why we have added the KGO FLEXIBLE FLYER.

What is the Flexible Flyer? It's a fixed wing aircraft, piloted every weekday during Newsbeat Morning and Evening Editions by Kip Webster of Flight Safety, and it doubles commute traffic coverage on KGO. For example, when Lu is over Marin, Kip can be checking out the Nimitz Freeway. Or while Lu is hovering to get a closer look at a San Francisco accident, Kip will be high above the San Jose freeways.

The map shows that both aircraft have specific flight plans, but either Lu or Kip will deviate instantly when a traffic emergency dictates.

So if you commute, remember the HURLEYBIRD and THE FLEXIBLE FLYER are up there every morning and evening getting you where you're going; a little safer, a little faster.

Martyrs' Day Slides Honor Slain Leaders

A Malcolm X Day program this morning at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito concentrated less on the slain black separatist leader than on other American leaders assassinated in recent years.

Speaking to the background of a half-speed march record and then to a conga drum, Mrs. Raye Richardson intoned "a primer for Malcolm" as slides flashed onto the screen showing the slain Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and Medgar Evers.

"M is for Mother," Mrs. Richardson said, and the screen showed Coretta King, Jacqueline Kennedy and Ethel Kennedy.

"M is for madness," and the pupils saw police beating people, a soldier carrying a wasted concentration camp victim, a row of corpses.

"Malnutrition" was a picture of Biafran children; "Mushroom," pictures of atom bomb explosions and the rubble of Hiroshima; "March," the Poor People's march on Washington and the corteges of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. King.

Plans were dropped to wear black armbands in memoriam to Malcolm X, and instead some pupils and teachers wore all-black clothing.

At a Central School assembly, students read poetry, sang spirituals and presented choral reading of poetry written on Malcolm's death. One class went to Bayside School to share its program with first graders there.

Mrs. Richardson, district multiethnic coordinator, will show her slide program at 7:30 p.m. today in a martyrs' day program for parents in the Martin Luther King School library.

Fire Bombs Hit Three Stores In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Four homemade bombs touched off small fires in three San Francisco department stores yesterday, A fifth failed to work.

Two went off in the drapery department on the sixth floor of Macy's Union Square store, one in the yard goods counters at Woolworth's at Market and Powell, and one in the menswear section of the Emporium opposite Woolworth's. Most damage resulting was caused by overhead sprinklers.

Arson inspectors from the fire department found the fifth, unexploded device also in the drapery area of Macy's.

Youths Booked On Curfew Violation

Two 17-year-old youths from Petaluma, hitchhiking along Highway 101 in Novato at 1:20 a.m. today, were booked at Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of being out after curfew in Marin, Novato police reported.

One of the boys had a substance thought to be marijuana in his possessioin, and was also booked on the suspicion of the possession of the weed, police reported.

Law Agencies Lauded For Relations

Marin law enforcement agencies are making great strides toward improving relations with the community, an official of the Marin Human Rights Commission declared this morning.

Bella Aaron, chairman of the commission's police-community relations committee, said she is encouraged by the programs adopted by various police agencies in the county.

These programs were explained last night at a meeting of the police-community relations committee at Civic Center, attended by representatives of all county law enforcement agencies except San Rafael and Corte Madera police departments, Mrs. Aaron reported.

She called Novato's efforts "outstanding."

Sgt. Richard Courier of Novato reported that his department has a system whereby citizens can evaluate their police officers. Youths ride with officers on patrol and visit San Quentin Prison to talk with inmates. Courier said bulletins have been issued to officers on the judicious use of weapons.

Chief James Wright of Sausalito reported that his department has an in-service training program and a policy on use of guns.

Other departments, including the California Highway Patrol, are making similar efforts, said Mrs. Aaron, who heads the Association of Bay Area Governments' task force subcommittee on police-community relations for nine Bay Area counties.

Paul D. Cassidy, 21, of 523 B Street, San Rafael, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a neck sprain, scalp cuts and shoulder separation suffered when his car spun and went through a fence off Lucas Valley Road near Nicasio at 6:20 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Planners In Cotati Approve Parcel Rezoning

The Cotati Planning Commission last night granted a rezoning request for property on Sierra Avenue, but denied a lot split.

Lester H. Petersen had requested the property at 405 Sierra Avenue be rezoned from single-family residential to multiple-family to permit construction of apartments. He had also requested the lot be split into two.

The commission said his plans for the split did not provide adequate access to the roadway and would cause a traffic problem.

The Cotati Planning Commission Also:

LOT SPLIT — Approved the splitting of one lot into three for construction of duplexes planned by Kenneth Garner on West Cotati Avenue.

Sirhan Called 'Eye' Of Hurricane Center

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan was "like the eye in the center of a hurricane" moments after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot in a crowded hotel pantry, said author George Plimpton.

"He struck me as enormously composed. The rest of us, given this sudden turmoil, were not composed," Plimpton testified for the prosecution yesterday at Sirhan's trial for murder.

"His reaction in a hurricane of sound and feeling seemed like the eye in the center of a hurricane. He seemed purged."

In a fortress-like courtroom Plimpton, a close Kennedy friend, used those words to describe his impression of Sirhan atfer shooting Kennedy and being pinned down on a steam table in a pantry of the Ambassador Hotel.

Plimpton was one of those who subdued Sirhan. He flew here from the east to testify at the trial and a bit of the Kennedy flavor came back for a moment as he talked in a Bostonian accent and pronouced the word "saw" as "sawr" — the same way JFK and RFK did.

New York attorney Emile Zola Berman cross-examined Plimpton about his previous statement to police that he was impressed by Sirhan's "dark brown and enormously peaceful eyes."

Plimpton agreed that Sirhan seemed the calmest person in a scene of pandemonium even though people were fighting to get at him.

Another witness told the jury yesterday that Sirhan fired more than 300 rounds during five hours at a target range on the day before Kennedy's assassination and told another man his gun was sufficient to "kill a dog."

Michael Saccoman who was also practicing with his pistol, said he talked with Sirhan for 45 minutes and observed he had seven or eight boxes of bullets containing 50 shells apiece.

Saccoman said Sirhan told him he planned to go on a hunting trip.

"I told him that hunting with a pistol was against the law," Saccoman said.

Platinum blonde Claudia Williams, a former waitress at the "Briar Patch" night club, testified that she talked with Sirhan on the range and that he showed her how to fire a revolver her husband had given her as a Christmas present.

Heart, Liver Kidneys Transplant

NEW YORK (AP)—Teams of surgeons removed six organs from a single donor last night and early today. The heart, liver and both kidneys were transplanted to four recipients and two corneas were being held for use.

The four recipients were reported doing well at mid-day by the two hospitals where the series of operations were performed.

The two New York hospitals said the operations involved the largest number of organs ever removed from one person for immediate use. Some of them were carried a city block from one hospital to the other.

One cornea was scheduled for implantation later today, a spokesman said, but it was uncertain when the second would be used. The hospitals had said earlier all six organs were used immediately, but a recheck showed that the corneas were being held for recipients.

Corneas, unlike the other organs, can be frozen and stored indefinitely for later use.

Marinwood Hires New Fire Chief

Capt. Gaylord E. Bonfield, 42, training officer for the San Rafael Fire Department, was hired last night as Marinwood chief at $912 per month. He will start work on March 24.

His salary will go up to $958 after the six-month probationary period and to $1,002 in one year, Marinwood Community Services District directors decided last night.

Captain Bonfield, who has been with the San Rafael department for four years, gets $991 in San Rafael.

The Marinwood fire chief's position had been vacant since last October, when Chief Albert F. Anderson resigned to join the Novato Police Department. Anderson was drawing $750 at the time.

Commissioner Lawrence B. Malkin, chairman of the screening committee which considered more than 30 applications, moved for Bonfield's appointment. The vote was unanimous.

The Marinwood Community Services District directors also:

LUCAS VALLEY — Decided that Upper Lucas Valley's share of the fire protection cost for 1969 would be $25,400. This year's cost to Upper Lucas Valley is $19,318 but another $540 was added for safety gear.

TIRES — Authorized expenditure of $330 to purchase six new tires for a fire pumper, and $200 to repair a truck used by the parks and recreation crew.

ADJOURNED — Set an adjourned meeting for 8 p.m. March 5 at the Marinwood Community Center to discuss parks and recreation activities.

Guilty Plea To Two Burglaries

Richard B. Deem, 20, of 14 Hacienda Way, San Rafael, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of burglarizing the Peacock Gap Country Club and San Rafael High School and having a concealed dagger, all on Feb. 10.

A fourth charge of tampering with a motor vehicle was dismissed.

Top Sailor Will Tell Prison Story

CORONADO (UPI) — A sailor who officers of the USS Pueblo called "the most outstanding enlisted man" during their 11-month captivity in North Korea was called to testify at a Navy court of inquiry today.

He is Quartermaster 1/C Charles B. Law Jr., 27, Chehalis, Wash. The Koreans made Law "leading petty officer" of the 74 enlisted men, who were usually isolated from the Pueblo's officers.

Six of the officers said that Law unflinchingly took beatings from his jailers when the other men broke the strict prison rules.

Law was held responsible by the Koreans for the behavior of all Pueblo enlisted personnel. He was the only man permitted direct access to the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, and often relayed Bucher's wishes to the crew.

The Koreans finally decided Law was subverting them and fired him as petty officer.

Law was the first enlisted man to testify in the third and last phase of a formal inquiry by a board of five admirals into the capture of the Navy spy vessel off Korea Jan. 23, 1968.

The court now is reviewing the conduct of Pueblo officers and men in captivity. Earlier parts of the hearing centered around the vessel's electronic spying mission and its seizure by the communists.

About 20 Pueblo enlisted men will be questioned by the court. Testimony of the officers ended yesterday.

A Navy spokesman said "five or six" of the Pueblo's enlisted men will be allowed to testify in secret —at their own request. He said the men feel it would be "degrading" to tell their stories in public.

The emotional impact on some Pueblo personnel was revealed yesterday when Lt. (j.g.) Timothy Harris, 23, Jacksonville, Fla., broke down weeping at the witness table.

The young supply officer's words choked in his throat when he was asked his feelings after the beating that led to his "confession. E. Miles Harvey, Bucher's attorney, led Harris outside to regain his composure.

"I wanted to take my life," Harris told the court after his return. "I couldn't do it."

The court heard from another Harris yesterday — Lt. Stephen Harris, 31, Melrose, Mass. He ran the Pueblo's "Spook unit" where electronic intelligence was gathered.

The Harvard-educated linguist said the Koreans correctly pegged him as the Pueblo's master spy, but made no effort to extract his special knowledge.

"They were aware of the duties I was performing, but did not appreciate the nature of them," Harris said. "They were not very clever."

A hundred rabbit kills are not unusual for one great horned owl in its lifetime.

Coffee Shop Wins Marin City Lease

Marin County Housing Authority directors last night gave the nod to a coffee shop over a shoeshine parlor-newsstand for lease of vacant space in Building C-64 at Marin City's commercial center.

The store space formerly was occupied by Black Advance, a local self-help organization that folded for lack of funds.

Directors agreed to lease the space for $50 a month to Willie H. Smith Jr. of 35 Park Circle, who once operated a catering truck in Marin City.

Directors also reviewed an application by Otis Gaines to operate a combination shoeshine parlor-newsstand, and a third application for a black art shop.

Directors agreed that a coffee shop would serve a wider public need than the two other proposed uses.

During the discussion directors expressed concern about gambling in the commercial area, and warned applicants that misuse of the premises would bring termination of any lease.

Chairman Phillip S. Ehrlich Jr. said there was "no suspicion of any given applicant, but general concern."

Smith said there is gambling in front of the stores, "and I don't see anybody doing anything . . . why don't you stop gambling on the street." He assured directors he would operate legitimately.

Ehrlich said the authority didn't want "to add to gambling by having it on our premises."

Director James Quiett called the street gambling an outrage and said it's going to take the citizens of the community to eliminate it.

Housing Authority To Help Finance Marin City Road

Marin County Housing Authority directors last night said the authority would contribute $20,000 toward building a connector road between Marin City and Tennessee Valley.

The proposed road, connecting Keys Court with Tennessee Valley Road near Shoreline highway, would provide a second access road for the community.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency, on which some housing directors serve, recommended Tuesday that the county build the road.

Directors also approved contributing up to $50,000 to the Marin City Community Services District during its next budget year, but warned it may be the last year the authority can make such a contribution.

Chairman Phillip S. Ehrlich Jr. suggested a joint meeting with the services district board to review the need for authority funds, and then set the exact amount of the contribution.

The vote on the contributions was 3-0 with Vera L. Schultz abstaining and Arthur Miller absent.

Marin County Housing Authority Also:

NORTHGATE HOUSING — Authorized a contract with Smith and Haley Construction Co. of Oakland to build 40 units of senior citizen housing on a two-acre site at Golden Hinde Boulevard and Los Ranchitos Road, in the Northgate area, at a cost not to exceed $620,500.

OFFICERS ELECTED — Re-elected Ehrlich chairman and elected Arthur Miller vice chairman for 1969.

LEASED HOUSING — Authorized seeking a $35,000 federal loan to cover the deficit in the administrative costs of the leased housing program, a deficit that Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, said was common at the start of such programs.

PERSONNEL — Hired Edward Gibson as maintenance man III at a salary of $3.38 an hour, and promoted Hill Duvall from maintenance man III to maintenance mechanic at $3.97 an hour and Moses Beard from maintenance mechanic to sub-foreman at $4.22 an hour.

TENANTS MEETING — Heard a report from Melvin Randolph, Marin City housing manager, that tenants will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to discuss proposed improvements in public housing.

Session Canceled

Last night's meeting of the Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board was canceled to enable the County Department of Public Works to get further ideas on Corte Madera Creek encroachments from involved city and county agencies, according to Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer.

Consultant Named For Housing

E. M. Schaffran and Co. of San Francisco last night was selected as housing consultant to the Ecumenical Assoociation for Housing — Marin County, a two-month old interfaith group.

Schaffran, who has been in the housing field for 30 years, including service as deputy director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority from 1957 to 1959, will assist the association in its efforts to sponsor the construction of housing for low and moderate income families and elderly persons.

Schaffran's agreement with the association includes training the executive director, Martin Mackey, so the association will eventually become self-sustaining, Mackey reported.

New members who have paid the $200 entrance fee since the last meeting are the Marin County Real Estate Board and Christ Presbyterian Church of Terra Linda. Membership now stands at 20. In addition, Mackey said, $105 in donations from persons who have read of the aims of the group has come in.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. March 19 at the Civic Center.

PG&E Proposes Gas Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An interim gas rate increase of $6.79 million was proposed by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. today and supported in a stipulation by the state Public Utility Commission staff.

The company had asked that a $13.7 million boost go into effect March 7 to cover increased costs for Texas natural gas and income tax surcharges.

The average homeowner's monthly gas bill would rise 14 cents under the $6.79 million proposal.

David R. Larrouy, commission attorney, said the stipulated compromise would maintain the company's rate of return at 6.25 per cent, authorized by the commission in 1961.

School Open Despite Flu

There were 79 students out of 240 absent today, he said. Yesterday there were 73 absent and the day before, 68.

"I hope that the holiday tomorrow and the weekend will bring an improvement in the flu epidemic," he said.

Bonn Backs France On Pact Feuding

LONDON EXPRESS SERVICE

BONN — The West German government, hiding behind a paper wall of legalities, last night stood firmly behind French President Charles de Gaulle in the Western European Union (WEU) row and accused Britian of duplicity. In response to an urgent message from London, the British ambassador, Sir Roger Jackling, demanded an early meeting with the head of the West German Foreign Ministry.

Bonn was normally asked to explain its attitude to calling meetings of WEU following Tuesday night's sudden and unexpected official statement which supported the French line.

Less than a week after British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's visit to Bonn, at which the Germans promised full support for the Labor government's European policies, relations between the two countries have begun a rapid decline.

It was made doubly clear yesterday by a government spokesman that Germany will not in future attend WEU meetings unless:

There is 100 per cent agreement among all members which means the French veto will be supported whenever necessary.

Thre is a clear and recongnizable threat to peace exists.

Britain called the WEU meeting last week on a routine basis. But the German spokesman yesterday said that when the British learned that the French wuld not attend they hastily invoked the clause referring to a threat to peace.

This was emphatically denied. A British embassy spokesman said: "The meeting was a routine one called by the secretary-general. All other members regarded it as a routine meeting. At no time did we shift our ground or invoke the 'threat to peace' clause."

Humboldt Bay Bridge Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to halt construction of a bridge across Humboldt Bay was introduced today by Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh, who said the structure "could ruin a major Northern California bird and wildlife sanctuary."

The state Public Works Department awarded a $5.04 million contract Feb. 4 to build the bridge from Eureka across the bay to the Samoa Peninsula, site of two major timber pulp mills.

Unruh proposed a resolution asking the department to declare a moratorium on further planning construction of the highway bridge pending a study of "the permanent harm that will be caused to Northern California's only major egret and heron sanctuary" on Gunther Island.

Defense Asks For Shaw's Innocence

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The judge took under advisement today a defense request for an order directing that Clay Shaw be found innocent of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. of Criminal District Court said he would give his decision tomorrow morning. Court was recessed for the rest of today.

"I already had agreed to excuse the jurors for the rest of the day to enable the defense to summon its witnesses," Haggerty said. "This period will enable me to read the full transcript of Perry Russo's testimony."

Russo, 27, a New Orleans book salesman, was the state's key witness on the conspiracy charge. He testified that he overheard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie plotting to kill Kennedy.

In the motion for a directed verdict, attorney F. Irvin Dymond argued that Russo's testimony actually damaged the prosecution when he admitted he heard no agreement between the three men and considered it a "bull session."

Dymond cited the state law which defines the conspiracy as an agreement or combination of two or more persons to commit a criminal act.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock, who made the state's argument while Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison sat listening at the prosecution table, said the case should go to the jury. He said the judge, in various rulings during the course of the five-week-old trial, has held that the state had a prima facie case.

The motion for a directed verdict came after the state lost a state supreme court fight to force Haggerty to admit New Orleans policeman Aloysius Habighorst's testimony which Haggerty had barred from the trial as legally tainted and probably false.

In another development, the defense said it has subpoenaed former Texas Gov. and Mrs. John Connally, who were riding in the car with President Kennedy when he was assassinated. The state had subpoenaed the Connallys but said it dismissed the subpoena because it considered the Connallys hostile witnesses.

Habighorst testified that when he fingerprinted Shaw on March 1, 1967, he asked Shaw if he used any alias and Shaw replied: "Clay Bertrand."

Bertrand is the name Garrison contends Shaw used in plotting with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

The judge's ruling was based on the ground that police Cpat. Louis Curole refused to let Shaw's lawyer accompany him to the Bureau of Identification room where he was fingerprinted.

Curole's action violated Shaw's constitutional rights, Haggerty added, because "no policeman has the right to tell an attorney he cannot be with his client at any time."

Bloomfield Bell Hearing Reset

The court suit over the Bloomfield School bell, scheduled for today in Santa Rosa, has been postponed until the week of March 10, according to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

The bell which formerly belonged to the Bloomfield School District, disappeared when that district merged with the Tomales Elementary District. The Tomales School trustees feel that the bell now belongs to them and have named members of the Bloomfield Community Club in their suit to recover the bell, although now no one admits to knowing where it is.

Driver, Passenger Shaken In Wreck

Two men were injured yesterday at 4:20 p.m. when their car struck a guard rail and road signs on Highway 101, north of Kastania Road and south of Petaluma, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Louis Santi, 52, of Lafayette, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with fractured ribs. The driver, Alvin G. Koehlo, 49, of Oakland, was treated for bruises.

Laird Calls For ABM Flexibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, citing increased Soviet and Chinese missile threats, said today he wants to be free to order deployment of a U.S. anti-ballistic missile system even if disarmament talks were going on.

Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the United States might want to go ahead with its suspended $5.5 billion Sentinel system even if the two major nuclear powers agree to begin talks on strategic arms limitations.

He stressed that no decision has been made on whether to go ahead with deployment of the controversial ABM system.

He said he personally tends to approve the system butw ill await the study's results.

But speaking in support of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty under consideration by the committee, Laird was pressed by Chairman J. W. Fulbright as to whether he would engage immediately in disarmament talks once the treaty is ratified.

It was at this point Laird revealed the Soviet Union not only has gone forward with its own ABM system, but "It is testing a sophisticated new ABM system, on the basis of the best information available to me."

And he said, "I believe the Chinese will test fire an ICBM test missile in the next 18 months. It will have a stockpile by 1975 of 20 to 30 ICBMs that could hit the United States."

Pointing to this information, Laird told Fulbright: "I must take into consideration the national security of the United States and the safety of our people."

"I would not want to be precluded, merely because talks had started (under the treaty) from going forward with this particular (ABM) system if the review now under way results in such a decision," he added. "It would not be proper for me to make any other recommendation as secretary of defense."

Laird said earlier the nonproliferation treaty would not affect U.S. ability to meet its mutual-security obligations.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, again testified military leaders support the treaty "as not inimical to the United States security interests."

The accord, Wheeler said, "does not disrupt any existing defense alliances in which the United States is pledged to assist in protecting the political independence and territorial integrity of other nations."

The general also pointed out the treaty would not prohibit U.S. deployment of nuclear weapons within the territory of its non-nuclear allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—so long as this country retained ownership and control of such weapons.

Ordinary Europeans To Talk With Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a dramatic break with tradition, President Nixon plans to meet next week with the ordinary men and women of Britain, Germany, Italy and France as well as royalty, presidents, prime ministers and chancellors.

Disclosing this last night, authoritive sources said that the President "is concerned" that his 40 to 50 hours of discussions with the heads of states and governments by their very nature "might be less than fully dimensional."

He plans, therefore, to meet with writers, commentators, critics, businessmen, trade union leaders, students and others at invitational closed tea and coffee sessions in London, Bonn, Rome and Paris.

The only capital in which Nixon will not have these "citizen chats" is Brussels, apparently because of the crowded nature of his schedule there.

Significantly, the one major public speech planned by the President is in the giant Siemens factory in West Berlin where thousands of Siemens employees are expected to hear him.

Private talks will be a feature of Nixon's get-acquainted visits with Europe's leaders. In the non-English speaking countries, only interpreters will be present. Staff members, and others in the President's official party of some 20 or so, will stand by until called in.

There are about 300 skin diseases listed by the American Medical Association.

A patrolman stopped the bus at 1:35 a.m. for speeding on the Golden Gate Bridge and smelled marijuana in the bus, the patrol reported. The officer said Gary D. Linn, 21, had a bag of suspected marijuana and a pipe which smelled of the weed. Others in the bus were James H. Eckstein, 20, the driver, David N. Gefke, 19, and Kenneth Burger, 19.

All were held without bail at Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Young Car Theft Suspect Nabbed

A 17-year-old Corte Madera boy was arrested in Mill Valley Tuesday five minutes after a 1962 white Corvair was reported stolen from the Corte Madera Shopping Center parking lot.

John Charles Batts of 42 Redwood Avenue, a walkaway from the Marin County Juvenile Preplacement Center in Lucas Valley, was returned to juvenile hall for investigation of joy riding and possession of narcotics paraphernelia.

Car owner Walter G. Yasinitsky of South San Francisco reported his vehicle stolen at 8:40 p.m. to police Sgt. Charles Rester on patrol at the scene. Police stopped the boy in the car at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue. Batts had two leather pouches containing needles, syringes and a bottle, police said.

Special Meeting

The Tiburon Fire District board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the main firehouse to discuss a proposed fire prevention code.

Fire Chief Due New Automobile

A yellow sedan, to be used as the fire chief's car, will be delivered to the Terra Linda Firehouse about March 3, Fire Chief George A. Walser reported Tuesday to the Terra Linda Community Services District directors.

"All of our vehicles will be painted yellow hereafter," said Chief Walser. "We find yellow gives greater visability for the people seeing the vehicle, especially at night when red looks almost black."

The new car, purchased through the state General Services Administration procurement division, will be a 1969 Ford Fairlane, costing $1,800.

The CSD directors authorized $300 to purchase an electronic siren and light bar for the new vehicle. The chief had been using a pickup truck.

Crime Lab Proposed For Hall Of Justice

A $50,000 crime laboratory at the Marin County Hall of Justice, to serve all law agencies in Marin and the North Bay, has been recommended by Marin's Centralized Police Services Council.

Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager and chairman of the council, made the recommendation in a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

He said that a crime laboratory, to serve the North Bay region, would probably qualify for 60 per cent federal aid under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Usher urged the supervisors to prepare an application for federal aid by April 1 "because of extremely tight scheduling for the initial funding of action programs under the act."

Usher said the centralized police services council sees the need for a crime lab, particularly for use by the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau. In addition, the lab could provide service on a reimbursable basis to law agencies in other North Bay counties.

Preliminary estimates show that such a crime lab could be set up for $50,000, with additional equipment in future years to meet regional needs. He said the estimated annual operating costs, including the Hall of Justice floor space, should range from about $30,000 initially to about $50,000 later on.

Nearly 550 different types of minerals are found in California.

The average annual rainfall in San Francisco is about 20 inches.

San Jose State Denies Rumors Of Shootings

SAN JOSE (AP) — Campus officials have denied charges by a state senator that 13 shootings on the San Jose State College campus went unreported last year.

Ernest Quinton, campus security chief, said yesterday there was only one known shooting on the campus last year and that was reported promptly to San Jose police.

State Sen. Clark Bradley, San Jose Republican, had said in Sacramento he had reports from faculty sources that the 13 alleged shooting incidents involved broken windows and doors, but no injuries.

A college spokesman said Bradley's version may have stemmed from the Sunday practice of the campus pigeon exterminator in firing shotgun blasts to scare off the birds.

Binoculars Stolen

Walter Stewart of 370 Ebbtide Street, Sausalito, told police that between Sunday and Tuesday someone took a four-band wave radio and binoculars, valued at $85, from his boat berthed in the Sausalito Yacht harbor.

Flood Control Zone Views Tax Rate Cut

Bel Aire Flood Control Zone may be able to drop its current 9.5 cent tax rate by half a cent, zone advisory board chairman Stanley Bennett announced yesterday.

The advisory board met at Bel Aire School Monday night and adopted a preliminary budget projecting $7,000 expenditure for 1969-70 fiscal year. A $2,670 carryover from this year means that $4,330 must be raised by taxes next year.

This year's budget is $8,700. Of this amount, $4,205 was raised by taxes, and $4,495 was carried over from the previous year.

William L. Hess, assistant director of the county department of public works, announced that several other flood control zone advisory boards have scheduled budget meetings.

San Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. today in Room 343 of the Civic Center. The 20-cent tax rate is expected to remain unchanged, although the total budget will rise from this year's $15,553 to about $19,000.

Santa Venetia Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 343 of the Civic Center. The $1 tax rate will probably remain unchanged, said Hess. This year's total budget is $76,140. A $41,000 carryover from the previous year provided the bulk of the funds, with $35,000 raised by taxes.

The budget for 1969-70 is $41,400, but the carryover from this year is only $6,840, which means that $34,560 must be raised by taxes.

The Ross Valley Flood Control Zone board will meet at 8 p.m. on March 6 at the Ross Town Hall. This year's total budget is $361,050. Budget figures for 1969-70 have not been completed as yet, but the tax rate is expected to remain at 6 cents, Hess reported.

Sausalito Arts Director Named

The Sausalito Arts Association has chosen Maggi Le Seigneur of Fairfax as director of its new Sausalito Art Center in Old Bayside School.

Miss Le Seigneur is now in the East and will return to start work March 1, organizing workshops and starting a membership drive.

She earned a master's degree at Boston University, studied painting in Paris, and taught art at the International American School in Marrakesh, Morocco.

Work is continuing at the center, leased from the Sausalito School District, to bring it up to building codes and safety standards for occupation.

Entire Family Studies Snipping

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Charles Montigny, his wife Audrey and their daughter Sylvia, 17, are all going to barber school together.

Montigny developed the urge to snip from watching the barbers at work in a shop next door to his taxi company office.

Mrs. Montigny decided to go along because she likes to trim her husband's hair at home and thought he would appreciate a more professional job.

Sylvia joined her parents because, she said, "It sounds like fun."

Was Aquanaut's Death Due To Failure Of Equipment?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy suspects that aquanaut Berry L. Cannon died 610 feet below the surface of the Pacific Ocean when his breathing equipment failed, the Washington Post said today.

The newspaper said the Navy began looking toward an equipment failure after an autopsy showed no evidence Cannon suffered a heart attack or brain damage while swimming in the 47-degree waters 60 miles south of Long Beach.

Cannon, 33, was stricken Monday two minutes after he and a fellow aquanaut swam from a four-man diving capsule that was lowered into the water for the beginning of the Navy's Sealab III experiment.

The aquanauts are provided with a microphone fitted to the face mask and a type of "walkie-talkie" set for diver-to-diver contact. The Navy spokesman would not say whether Cannon's equipment may have been inoperative or missing.

"Right now," the Post quoted a Navy underwater medicine expert as saying, "the first thing that is suspect is his underwater breathing apparatus."

The Navy's first report was that Cannon suffered a heart seizure. A final autopsy report is expected today or Monday after laboratory examination of Cannon's vital organs.

Funeral for Cannon, the first aquanaut to die in a deep ocean probe, was held yesterday in Chula Vista. Burial will be tomorrow at Williston, Fla.

Reaction Is Favorable For Two New Wilderness Areas In State

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposals to create two new wilderness areas in California drew a generally favorable reaction before a Senate committee yesterday but two senators expressed reservations over the inclusion of a dam in one of them.

Forest Service chief Edward P. Cliff appeared before the Public Lands subcommittee to urge approval of bills to create the 63,469-acre Desolation Wilderness in the El Dorado National Forest and the 94,723-acre Ventana Wilderness in the Los Padres National Forest.

The areas were recommended last year by President Johnson, Cliff said, and would make "fine additions" to the national wilderness preservation system created by Congress in 1964.

But Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., questioned the inclusion of a small dam owned by the Sacramento Municipal Utility District in the proposed Desolation Wilderness. They said it could set an undesirable precedent for future wilderness areas.

Allott also questioned Cliff on testimony that the Desolation Wilderness would include an area with "significant amounts" of gold. The Forest Service head said the gold was too low in grade and inaccessible to be "commercially exploitable."

A Geological Survey report on the gold deposits, Allott said, was "double talk...that doesn't tell us anything." The Colorado Republican suggested the gold might be commercially valuable if, for example, its price was raised to $70 an ounce from the current treasury-set price of $35.

"There is always the possibility that there might some day be an increase in the price of gold," Allott said.

Cliff reminded Allott the wilderness act of 1964 permits mineral exploration in wilderness areas for 15 years.

Allott, ranking GOP member of the Senate Interior Committee, did not specifically call for exclusion of the SMUD dam. However, Hatfield said the "weight of evidence" was on the side of taking it out.

A statement presented by Timothy V. A. Dillon in behalf of SMUD asked that language be included in the bill to leave the dam on the Rubicon River under the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission. Dillon said it was one of a series in the high Sierra mountains that control water flow through SMUD's $200 million upper American River hydroelectric project.

Both the Desolation and Ventana wilderness proposals drew support from witnesses for conservation organizations. However, Stewart M. Brandborg, executive director of the Wilderness Society, asked that a 2,934-acre area including Willow Creek be added to the Ventana Wilderness.

The lands to be included in the Desolation Wilderness lie on both sides of the crest of the Sierra Nevadas just west of Lake Tahoe and about 90 miles east of Sacramento.

The Ventana Wilderness would be created in the Santa Lucia Mountains and the Coast Range in Monterey County about 120 miles south of San Francisco and 36 miles south of Monterey.

Neither Sens. George Murphy, R-Calif., nor Alan Cranston, D-Calif., appeared at the hearing conducted by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont. However, Cranston submitted a statement urging passage of the bills.

A statement by Rep. Burt L. Talcott, R-Calif., supported establishment of the Ventana Wilderness.

Juniper Rust Appears Again In Marin Areas

Hawthorne-juniper rust, which attacked large areas in Mill Valley and Corte Madera last year, is cropping up again this year, R. Allan Ballard, agricultural commissioner, reported yesterday.

"Since the state quarantine has been in effect and removal started, we have removed 1,478 Tam junipers from 124 properities in the Mill Valley and Corte Madera areas," said Ballard. Marin County is the only area in the Western Hemisphere where this disease is known to occur.

A preliminary survey this year had produced additional infected properties in Mill Valley, said Ballard.

The disease on Hawthorne trees probably will not begin to show until May or June. The rust causes the leaves of the Hawthorns to turn a redish brown and die.

"We are now trying again to find all remaining infected plants," said Ballard, "because one juniper can be the infected source for an entire area."

Rites Set For 101-Year-Old Magazine Owner

SONORA (AP) — Funeral will be held Saturday for Therese Jose Hamlin, 101, who for the past 27 years published the Pony Express, a monthly historical magazine.

She was born in Carson City, Nev., where her grandfather, George Tufly, had built the St. Charles Hotel and later became Nevada's treasurer.

Mrs. Hamlin was married to Richard Jose, a Cornish blacksmith who became an internationally known ballad singer. Later she married Herbert S. Hamlin, the Pony Express editor.

She died Feb. 14.

Dancer Reports Death Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 20-year-old dancer says Police Officer Michael O'Brien, on trial for manslaughter in the shooting death of a Negro truck driver, retrieved his revolver then walked towards George Baskett saying: "I'm going to kill you. I want to kill a nigger anyway."

Officer O'Brien shot Baskett to death after an alley brawl over a minor traffic accident last Sept. 29.

Jessie Hunt, a witness called yesterday by defense attorney Jake Ehrlich, said O'Brien had his gun taken away from him by three Negroes who were beating him.

Petris Plans Would Save Bay Watchdogs

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to keep the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission alive indefinitely, and to adopt the commission's master plan for the bay and its shoreline as official state policy, was introduced yesterday by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland.

Petris, who started the 1964 fight in the Legislature to halt wholesale filling of the bay, said his bill would keep BCDC going until a regional government is established in the Bay Area.

The bill was co-authored by six senators and Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, who is chairman of a committee which is to propose legislation to form a regional government. The Knox proposal, however, is expected to put the formation to a public vote in the nine county area in 1970. Thus, if approved, it would not become effective until January, 1971.

BCDC, however, is to go out of business late this year under current law.

"It is essential that we provide continuous protection for the bay and implement the master plan while such a regional agency is being established," Petris said.

Petris and Knox said last month that they also would introduce an alternative bill to extend BCDC's life without granting it the additional powers proposed in its master plan.

"It is now up to the public to fight for it," he declared.

The master plan, if made law as part of the Petris bill, would give BCDC veto power over all bay fill projects, plus control over shoreline development. The commission's jurisdiction over the shoreline would vary from 100 to 1,000 feet inland, and no development could occur within this area without a commission permit.

Petris' bill also provides for a transfer of commission functions to a regional government if one is formed, and makes BCDC the interim repository for plans by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission and the San Francisco Bay-Delta Water Quality Control Program. Both are due to be presented to the current Legislature.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, introduced a bill last month to extend indefinitely powers over bay fill by BCDC, but his skeleton bill has not yet been amended yet to specify what standards the commission would use.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, in his "state of the state" message last month, called for extending the life of the commission. "We cannot permit a lapse to occur with respect to this priceless natural resource," the governor said of the need to save the bay.

Continued filling would destroy the bay as a habitat for fish and wildlife and increase water and air pollution, the commission's master plan warned.

Soldiers Accused On Two Counts

Two young soldiers from the Presidio of San Francisco were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two charges of burglary in the Panoramic Highway area near Mill Valley and one count of car theft.

The arrest of David Ross Taylor, 20, and Ronald Lee Ferrell, 18, on Monday followed an intensive stakeout of the area for several weeks by the sheriff's department. The pair was allegedly driving a car stolen in San Mateo.

Judge Hadden W. Roth set bail at $5,000 each after the district attorney's office said that wallets belonging to San Mateo residents were found in the stolen car.

Judge Roth appointed the public defender to defend the youths and continued the case until tomorrow.

Tiger sharks may grow, use, and shed upwards of 2,400 teeth during their lifetime.

Members Of Alleged Bank Gang Nabbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced today the arrests of seven members of an alleged professional bank robbing gang that it said netted $227,000 in eight Boston area holdups in late 1967 and early 1968.

The announcement said detainers were placed against four other members of the alleged gang who already are held on other charges. All 11 were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in Boston.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Chris Merchie Calabrese Jr., 37, of Erie, Pa., was arrested in Miami, Fla. The other six were apprehended in the Boston area and include:.

Anthony Chiodi, 28, of East Boston, Mass.; James Richard Kearnes, 31, of Boston; Hobart Tirrill Willis Jr., 32, of Braintree, Mass.; Joseph Francis Curname, 28, of Beverly, Mass.; Paul E. Durant, 32, of Boston, and Salvador Joseph Ruma, 39, of Cambridge, Mass.

Detainers were placed against Caesar David Montevecchio, 34, Erie, Pa., now in the Michigan State Prison at Jackson; Robert Francis Gurarante, 38, East Boston, now in the Hampden County Jail, Springfield, Mass.; John Norman Michaelson, 31, Revere, Mass., now jailed in Boston; and Daniel Michael Pagliarulo, 44, Chelsea, Mass., now in the Norfolk County Jail, Norfolk, Mass.

They are charged in robberies at the State Street Bank Trust Co., East Boston, Nov, 6, 1967; Milton Bank and Trust Co., Quincy, Jan. 23, 1968; City Bank and Trust Co., Dorchester, May 3, 1968; Essex County Bank and Trust Co., West Peabody, June 28, 1968; Coolidge Bank and Trust Co., Cambridge, July 2, 1968 and May 14, 1968, and the First National Bank of Boston, Revere, July 22, 1968.

Radios Stolen

Two radios were reported stolen from cement trucks parked during the night at Shamrock Materials at 665 Irwin Street, the firm reported to San Rafael police yesterday. The two-way transmitter and receiver sets were worth $200.

Back To Dominican For Woman Marine

By GRACE HENDERSON

Sworn in by her proud father, who "almost split every button he had," Lauren McNichol, a 1968 graduate of Dominica College, became the first student from that school to become a member of the Women Marines, U. S. Marine Corps. Now a second lieutenant, Lauren McNichol is the daughter of Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Paul McNichol of Los Altos.

The July 3 swearing-in was special to the McNichol family because, first, it was Lieutenant McNichol's father who performed the oath ceremony and, secondly, because it was 28 years to the day when Colonel McNichol had taken the oath himself.

Did the colonel influence the Marine officer in her decision to volunteer for active duty with the Women's Corps? "He didn't know I was even considering it, until I had made my decision," she said. As to why she signed in, Lieutenant McNichol, who majored in communications theory (speech), said it was probably a mixture of several things. First, people weren't exactly "beating down my door looking for someone with my educational background" and then — it could have been some patriotism too, she explained.

The Women Marine Corps is 26 years old, now with an enlistment of 281 officers and more than 2,700 enlisted personnel, showing an 11 per cent increase over the past year. "There is a tremendous urge to serve our country today," Lieutenant McNichol remarked. This week she returned to Dominican College to describe a Marine Corps career with the undergraduates.

Lieutenant McNichol will report to San Diego, where she will work in the administration field, primarily in personnel. She recently completed Officer's Training School in Quantico, Va., where she was born when her father was sta-

WOMAN HISTORY-MAKERS

A Courageous Shot For Human Rights

American women have made their own challenge in their own way in American society. Some lesser known achievers, challengers and characters are subjects of this series on American "woman history."

By BARBARA HOSMER

Lydia Maria Francis Child was called the smartest woman of her day back in the early part of the 19th Century America. That is, until she broke the rule that caused the doors of Boston society to slam shut and her closest friends to cross the street to avoid seeing her.

Maria Child wrote the first anti-slavery book in the United States. And with its publication in 1833 she took the plunge into the nation's bitterest controversy which cost her, at age 31, a phenomenally successful career.

SLAVERY HAD been outlawed in Massachusetts six years before her birth in 1802, and growing up there in a time of the new humanism gave the child a concern for social problems. After brief schooling and home study with her older brother, Convers, who studied for the ministry at Harvard, Maria Francis became a teacher to earn a meager living. An avid reader and an admirer of Sir Walter Scott's novels, she began to write, and at age 22 she published "Hobomok: A Tale of Early Times," about an Indian chief with a white wife. Although it did not bear her name, Maria Child's authorship leaked out and she was lionized immediately. This she followed with "The Rebels," the first story using New England history as a setting, and she was honored with a card for reading privileges at the exclusive Boston Athenaeum.

Meanwhile she had begun what she was to maintain was the perfect marriage for 48 years, to the idealistic lawyer David Child — perhaps the perfect husband but an imperfect provider. To earn their livelihood she dug in and in 1829 wrote "The Frugal Housewife," from her own experiences. It became so popular that it ran through 40 printings. Maria Child also started the first American children's magazine, "Juvenile Miscellany," issued every two months. She wrote most of its 90 pages of stories, quizzes, legends and digests of articles herself. She also wrote five books on the history of women called "The Ladies Library."

What her husband earned he loaned or gave away, but all of Mrs. Child's enterprises were immediately successful.

THEN SHE HEARD the abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison speak and decided to do what she could for the cause. For two years she perused the periodicals and history books in the Athenaeum getting facts on the slave trade. The culmination was a slim book cataloging mass kidnappings, slave galley conditions and the forced marches to bring slaves from interior Africa. She surveyed state laws and answered rationalizations of slavery, and clearly pointed out that whites brutalized themselves in endorsing the slave-master relationship.

And she didn't duck a key issue:

"In regard to marrying your daughter, I believe the feeling in opposition to such unions is quite as strong among the colored class as it is among white people. While the prejudice exists, such instances must be exceedingly rare because the consequence is degradation in society. Believe me, you may safely trust to anything that depends on the pride and selfishness of unregenerated human nature."

EVEN THE BOOK'S title, "An Appeal in Favor of the Class of Americans Called Africans," angered many who thought that blacks should not properly be called Americans.

But in the preface the author proclaimed that if her book advanced justice by one hour she would prefer it to all the Rothchilds' wealth and Sir Walter Scott's fame.

The upshot was that the Athenaeum revoked her card, friends snubbed her, society dropped her, her own family became nervous, sale of her books trickled off, the children's magazine had to be terminated, and Sarah Josepha Hale, influential editor of Godey's Lady's Book, said publicly that Mrs. Child should have promoted peace and good will rather than poking into "party politics."

BUT THERE were pluses, too. One young plantation owner freed his slaves and became a convert to the abolitionist cause, as did many others. Mrs. Child grew more bold in publishing a series of books on the evils of slavery and its cure, and finally she left home to edit the "Standard," New York's anti-slavery newspaper, to which she brought literary quality and reliability which exceeded William Lloyd Garrison's more fiery "Liberator."

David Child had been the assistant editor of the Standard while his wife held the editor's chair, but when his

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Former Marinite Reports On Her Busy Days On The Isle Of Tahiti

By MOLLY MARIN

Thinking of escaping to a tropic isle after Marin's rough winter? Here's a couple who did it. . . .

After a year in Tahiti, Mrs. Nelson L. Shreve, formerly of Tiburon and Sausalito, will be returning for a three-week visit here in April. Nelson and Lucille Shreve are living in Punaauia, a suburb of Papeete, in a native style home made of bamboo with a roof of woven pandanu leaves, located on a white sand beach. The blue lagoon, Lucille tells envious Marin friends, is surrounded by a coral reef, which "keeps the big fish and waves out and makes it ideal for swimming. The temperature is about 87 degrees. French Polynesia is in its midsummer season." Lucille has experimented with coconut, breadfruit and banana recipes. Nelson commutes the 17 miles to his advertising agency in Papeete on a "mobeylette" — a cross between a bicycle and a motorcycle. Lucille drives a small Italian car. Gasoline is 80 cents a gallon in Tahiti, she says.

Mrs. Shreve, active with the Cove Players and the Mountain Play during her Marin residence, is teaching English at a Hotel Training School, where the students, 15 to 18 years old, come from all parts of French Oceania to learn to be chefs, waiters and desk clerks. Some speak only Tahitian, others only Chinese or French. She is also a cruise ship and private tour guide, which, she says, "can mean taking from one to 40 people on island tours, and keeps me in touch ith the outside world."

The Shreves were invited to be godparents of a Tahitian baby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Teuire. Lucille told of the festivities including the tamarra, a Tahitian feast, which celebrated the little boy's christening.

MORE THAN 100 guests from the Bay Area and Marin attended the cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Oller Jr. at their home in Belvedere Sunday. The gathering honored Jean Oller's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welisch of Belvedere, on their 19th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Margaret J. Wilson of Belvedere, sister of Marian Welisch and Jean Oller, and their mother, Mrs. B. G. Johnston assisted, as did the Oller daughters, Carolyn and Betsy.

HELEN HELP US!

Student Interviews Teen-Agers On Social Life And Dating

DEAR HELEN:

Recently I made a survey of how dating really goes for teen-aged girls where I live, which is a typical town. I interviewed 50 freshmen, 50 sophomores, 50 juniors and 50 seniors at random, from my typical high school of 2500. Here are the findings:

FRESHMEN GIRLS (50)
10 had been on a date
8 belonged to a sorority and social clubs
2 date frequently
40 would like to date if asked
9 had been asked, but parents interfered.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS (50)
19 had been on a date
15 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
7 date frequently
30 would like to date
12 had been asked, but parents interfered.

JUNIOR GIRLS (50)
26 girls had dated
21 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
10 date frequently
24 would date if asked
2 were asked, but parents interfered.

SENIOR GIRLS (50)
30 had dated
29 belonged to sororities or social clubs or both
19 date frequently
19 would like to date
3 were asked, but parents interfered.

As you can see, my survey shows that most girls would like to date but even in the senior year about 40 per cent don't. I also found that girls who belong to clubs and sororities date more frequently than the non-joiners. — A STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Thanks for your interesting survey. It checks out with other high school statistics across the nation and proves again that dating isn't the number one pastime for students, even though they wish it were!

Another recent survey indicates over 30 per cent of all college students do not date.

Cheer up, you lonely ones — you've got lots of company. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Could somebody please tell me what "In-a-Gadda-da-Vita" means? It's my favorite record. It's really heavy. But I'd like a translation. — PSYCHED OUT

DEAR PSYCHED:

Only the Iron Butterfly knows for sure. (I'm still in the back row trying to figure out how four guys can be one butterfly.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm the unwed mother of a 15-month-old daughter. The father didn't want to marry me, being a mama's boy. So I've been living at home with my parents who are very understanding. Now, almost two years later, he writes from Vietnam that he wants us to be engaged. Meanwhile, I have met Pete who is younger than me, but seems more mature. Should I marry the father of my child or a boy who is older than his age? — MISS MOTHER

DEAR MISS:

You don't seem overly anxious to marry either fellow. Wait a while. — H.

Buys To Select In Market For The Family's Table

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find excellent supplies of meat and poultry and good supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets this weekend.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the leaders among the meats. Beef features this weekend include roasts, steaks and ground beef. Pork items in abundance are bacon, Boston butts, chops, ham, roasts, and smoked picnics.

Canned salmon, fish sticks and portions and fish fillets are the fish buys to watch for, according the the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions and potatoes are the most abundant fresh vegetables. Good selections of radishes may be available to some areas. Fresh fruit in the abundant class are apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges.

IN THE WEST: With the exception of short plates and briskets which are higher, most beef prices in California markets are steady to slightly lower. In Portland beef rounds are higher, and the other beef prices are steady to slightly higher.

Veal is higher in Portland while calf is higher in San Francisco. Lamb is also higher in Portland. Fresh pork loins and Boston butts are higher in Portland and Los Angeles.

Smoked hams in San Francisco regained their drop of last week.

Ready-to-cook chicken fryers are higher in Seattle and San Francisco.

ALL SIZES of eggs are higher in Portland and San Francisco.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, emperor grapes, oranges, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Fish buys to watch for in the West are canned Pacific shrimp, canned pink and chum salmon, Pacific oysters, dungeness crab, canned tuna and frozen fish fillets.

Women Composers Have Their Night In The Concert Hall—With Kudos

NEW YORK (AP) — The distinguished woman composer smiled thinly.

"They think they're paying me the highest compliment when they tell me, after a performance of one of my works, 'My, it sounds just like it was written by a man'!" said Elinor Remick Warren of Los Angeles.

A pretty, reddish-brown-haired mother of three, Mrs. Warren was one of five composers represented in a concert here Tuesday evening that one of the women called the best concentrated effort ever made in behalf of women composers.

Besides Mrs. Warren's "Sonnets for Soprano and Strings," the program included "Sonata for Viola and Piano," by Elizabeth Gould of Toledo, Ohio; "Three Observations for Three Woodwinds," by Mabel Daniels of Boston; "Six Etudes for Piano," by Louise Talma, professor of music at Hunter College, New York City and "Quartet for Strings," by Julia Smith, a Texas-New York composer.

Of the five composers only Mabel Daniels, now in her 89th year and still composing, didn't make it to New York to hear her work performed.

The capacity audience of about 250 that crowded the auditorium of Donnell Library Center applauded all the compositions enthusiastically.

Said Mrs. Maurice Honigman of Gastonia, N.C., president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, at a reception after the concert: "Women have been considered second-rate composers for too long. If men composers heard this program they'd soon change their minds."

Composers Talma, Smith, Gould and Warren—with international reputations and perhaps more prizes won abroad than at home, denied personal discrimination.

But Miss Smith voiced a general plaint: "Women don't get the opportunities for performances or commissions that men do. Opera houses, for example, don't seem to mind having flops with men composers—so why can't they take a chance with women?"

John Hiram Dustman Will Wed Renee Cameto In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. L. Robert Cameto of Oakland are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Renee Lee to John Hiram Dustman of Novato.

She was graduated from Oakland-Skyline High School and will be graduated from Chico State College in June. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Dustman of Novato and the brother of Mrs. Paul M. Raisanen of Mendocino. He is the grandson of Mrs. John Moller of San Leandro. He was graduated from Novato High School and is a senior at Chico State College where he is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

'Child Welfare: Not A Spectator Sport' Is Theme Of Conference

Check today's paper, and you will read something about a youngster in trouble. The use of drugs — the loss of part or all of a family — a juvenile court case — a run-away — a migrant family —

What is happening?

According to the theme of the Child Welfare League of America South Pacific Regional Conference, the problems for children . . . make child welfare anything but a "spectator sport."

Beginning Sunday the South Pacific Reginal CWLA Conference will be held at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco. Those participating in the conference from Marin County are Mmes. Anna Marie Long, executive director, Marin Foundation Group Homes, Larkspur; Alexander McAndrew, member of the board of directors, Child Welfare League of America, Ross; Chester Noyes, board of directors of Sunny Hills, Tiburon; and Sue Clark, coordinator of volunteer services, Sunny Hills, San Rafael.

Others participating are the conference general chairman Richard O. Pancost, executive director of Sunny Hills, Woodacre, Morris Kilgore, assistant director, Sunny Hills, San Anselmo; Curt Sugiyama, unit supervisor, Sunny Hills, Novato.

"Child Welfare: Not a Spectator Sport!" will be a conference of interest to legislators, businessmen, leading citizens and the interested public, as well as the professionals in this area and the nation.

The Child Welfare League of America, through its program and services, seeks to protect and promote the welfare of children by helping child welfare agencies and the communities of the nation provide essential social services for children and their families.

MRS. STEPHEN Worsley, new librarian at the Sausalito Public Library, will be guest of honor when Friends of the Sausalito Library entertain at a reception Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Members and guests of the friends and residents of Sausalito are invited, including families and the children.

law practice dwindled she quickly handed him the top post and took the assistant editorship herself. After the Civil War she contributed continually to the Freedmen's Aid Association and wrote a "Freedmen's Book," advice to the freed slave on health, dress, economy and education.

Through the years Maria Child remained a controversial figure, but she refused interviews and speechmaking, preferring to write. Her husband's health failing, she spent her time at home tending him carefully and keeping the household together. His death in 1874 left her bereft and fumbling. Friends such as Whittier called to assure her that she could be comforted by remembering that she would be reunited with David some day.

At 76 she wrote her final book, attempting to show the universal trend of religious thought throughout the world, but time had truly passed her by. She commented to a friend, "I understand the world only half as well as I did a half century ago."

At her death two years later she was buried next to her beloved David.

LARGELY FORGOTTEN now, Maria Child laid her success on the line and fired one of the earliest shots in the human rights struggle that tears American society today.

DRAMA REVIEW

'You Know' Is Strictly Soap Opera

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — If "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running", now at the Curran, is an example of "where it's at" in today's theater, it's nowhere.

Playwright Robert Anderson ("Tea And Sympathy") has plunked together four one-act plays which take a look, shall we say, at contemporary man and woman. While his choice of what ails them may be valid, his delineation of the problems is strictly soap opera. He begins correctly by stating a premise, but then becomes unclear as he progresses.

The first, which gives the show its title, is built around a playwright and producer discussing the pivotal scene of the writer's new play in which a man appears on stage facing the audience naked. It is filled with sniggering referenes to man's "equipment" and other such coynesses, with Anderson obviously trying to point out that this is a wrong attitude and may be the reason for the spate of nudity on the stage today. Unfortunately the audiences still laugh at the snigger lines, ignoring the fact that they are what Anderson is telling them they are — prurient.

"The Footsteps of Doves," second of the series, is the best which is not saying much. It puts a man and a woman in a bedding store on the threshold of switching to twin beds after 20 years in a single.

Their reasons for wanting or not wanting to change probably hits 90 per cent of married couples as a known experience, and Anderson's slightly ominous surprises ending may scare hell out of ladies contemplating the twin bed caper.

Number three is a man-and-wife discussion of what they should tell the children about sex, during which he admits to having read what he's talking about in Ladies Home Journal. Before the dreary sexathon is over one is convinced that Anderson also read it — and transcribed it.

The final and funniest skit is just that — a skit based upon semantics and forgetfulness, in which an elderly couple keep refereing to the wrong ex-wives and husbands and have trouble remembering their own names.

Imogene Coca, a lady with immeasurable talent for sad, wistful clowning, is at her best in the last play as a dumpy little old lady. Otherwise she is wasted in a series of roles that any actress could do. She is good but not the genius you remember from Sid Ceasar's "Show of Shows."

King Donovan is the bulwark of the production, switching from a toupeed bad actor to a potential rakehell to a guilt-ridden husband and playing each with power and credibility. Katie Heflin, one-time member of the Actors' Workshop in San Francisco, comes on as a pretty and talented young actress in three varied roles.

Rand Mitchell is delightful as the memory-slipping old man, but totally unbelievable in two young roles. Sherman Lolyd plays the producer as a man plays the producer as a man who teeters about looking like Humpty-Dumpty with tight shoes.

Alan Schneider's direction keeps a tight pace going and Ed Wittstein's sets are good. "You Know, etc." plays nightly except Sunday at 8:30 p.m. and matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m. through March 1.

Easing Of Carpenters' Woes Seen Very Soon

Carpenters in Marin County are suffering an employment slump and their union is facing a financial crisis, but the union's officials say they hope for improvements soon on both fronts.

James Adrain, business agent for Carpenters Local 35, said yesterday that 180 of the union's 1.390 members in Marin are currently out of work. The figure, he said, "is pretty high" although the normal seasonal employment slump during the winter puts from 10 to 15 per cent of the membership out of work.

He blamed continued foul weather, high interest costs for building and equipment loans and other rising costs for the dropoff in construction in the county.

"But there's a lot of work on the books that we hope can take care of everyone," Adrain said, predicting that employment would begin to pick up late next month and through April with a peak employment period coming in May.

Adrain also said he was "optimistic" that the local's pinched financial situation would start looking up. Union members, with only about 200 voting, earlier this month approved a package of changes in bylaws and policies aimed at cutting the union's expenses.

Under the changes, if approved on higher union levels, the local would elect one instead of two business representatives in June, injury benefits paid by the local union to working carpenters would be reduced from $25 to $15 weekly and the local's death benefit would be eliminated.

Members also voted to reduce expense allowances for delegates to affiliated labor groups and to reduce the salary of the local union treasurer and recording secretary.

Adrain said the cost-cutting was necessary because union members rejected a dues increase last August and costs of benefits to members rose.

"We (the union) were living beyond our income," he said, "and we were overspending each month." The local's income was also suffering from the loss of some members by resignation and an unusual number by deaths, he said.

The only solution, he said, was to cut costs, which included cutting benefits. "But if we get our financial health back, there is no reason we can't put some of them (benefits) back on,'' Adrain said.

He said he was "optimistic" that as soon as employment starts to pick up, the union's financial situation will "start gaining real fast."

Woman Accused Of Grand Theft

A San Anselmo woman accused of attempting to trade her old coat in for a new one, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge of grand theft.

Charlene Louis Bichard, 32, of 10 Ash Avenue, was arrested Dec. 20 after she allegedly walked out of Modern Eve in San Rafael wearing a new leather and fur coat valued at $320, leaving her old coat behind in the store's fitting room.

Miss Bichard was ordered to appear in Superior Court on March 3.

College Offering Five Girls On-Job Study

Five seniors at Rancho Cotate High School in Petaluma are getting practical work experience in offices at Sonoma State College in an experimental program this semester.

The five students, all girls majoring in business, are working in various college offices for two hours a day through the remainder of the school year. To make the project realistic and of value in future work plans, the students filled out job applications and were interviewed by department heads.

The girls are being instructed in specific jobs and are rotated to various positions within their departments. At the high school, seminars are held regularly to discuss their jobs, skills, office conditions and how to prepare for full-time work.

The students participating are Sharon Cincera, Kim Bricker, Sharon Richtek, Nicki Smith and Cynthia Giacomelli.

Murderer's Sanity Trial Is Postponed

A trial to determine whether a 30-year-old San Quentin inmate is sane enough to go to the gas chamber was postponed yesterday in Marin Superior Court until 9 a.m. Feb. 28.

The jury trial to determine the sanity of condemned murderer Gerald A. Beivelman had been scheduled to start yesterday, but Judge Joseph G. Wilson said more time should be taken to prepare for a trial "of such magnitude."

He appointed a panel of three psychiatriasts to determine whether Beivelman is legally sane and should be executed as scheduled on April 16.

Under the law, a person must be aware of the fact that he is being executed and why he is being executed. San Quentin prison psychiatrists have questioned Beivelman's sanity.

Beivelman's sanity at the time of the crime for which he was condemned, a first degree murder in Sacramento, is not an issue in the trial.

San Wuentin Associate Warden James W. L. Park said four men facing death sentences currently are in state hospitals after being judged insane, including one who has been in a mental hospital since 1924.

Strep Is Leader On Disease List

Thirty-seven cases of streptococcus infection were reported last week to the county halth department, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, reported.

San Rafael had the highest number of cases, with 12, Dr. Albrecht said.

Other disease reported were two cases of tuberculosis, two cases of infectious hepatitis, one of salmonella and one of serum hepatitis.

Literature Of Blacks Meet Topic

"Black for White: Missing Pages of American Literature" will be the theme of the Central California Council of English Teachers conference at Sonoma State College on March 15.

The workshop is designed to acquaint English teachers with black American poets, playwrights, novelists and essayists, according to Dr. Eugene Soules, chairman of the English department.

The workshop will begin with registration at 9 a.m. followed by a series of section meetings to discuss the areas of interest. Publishers will be present to show their newest offerings and bibliographies will be available for teachers to use in the classroom.

Persons may preregister through Dr. Soules' office.

Legion Plans Scouts Tribute

Mill Valley Post No. 284 of the American Legion will honor the three Scout units sponsored by the post at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Thomas C. Nelson Jr., past member of Troop 1 and holder of the Silver Beaver rating, the highest award given to a nonactive Scout, will speak and Pack 1, Troop 1 and Ship 1 will each present a portion of the program.

A. J. "Al" Schoenfeld, new district scout executive, will be master of ceremonies.

Another Storm Adds To Home Slide Woes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Houses skidded in renewed earth slides as wind, rain, hail, snow and lightning pounded Southern California in winter's latest storm.

Cautiously, the Weather Bureau forecast clearing conditions through tomorrow. Widespread damage was reported in yesterday's storm.

A dozen homes buckled or slipped further down hillsides in the Laurel Canyon, Encino and Highland Park areas of Los Angeles during rain that raised the season total to more than 20 inches. The homes had been damaged already by earth movement due to last month's rains.

A tornado-like wind uprooted trees in San Diego and snow closed schools in nearby mountain areas. Nearly a foot of snow was recorded in the Laguna Mountains and eight inches fell at Palomar Mountain State Park.

The storm dumped similar amounts of snow on the San Bernardino Mountains and dumped hail on the San Bernardino Valley. Lightning blasted power lines in the Fontana and Rialto area, leaving about 500 homes without electricity for about half an hour.

In Laurel Canyon of Los Angeles, Gould Avenue was closed to protect motorists from seven houses sliding toward the street. Two homes inched down an Encino hillside toward three houses below.

Residents evacuated two houses in Highland Park as they buckled and twisted. A third, previously evacuated, caved in. Nine other homes in the area were badly damaged by earlier earth movement.

Walkaway Pleads To Reduced Charge

Fred Michael Ball, 18, of Petaluma, a trusty at Marin County Jail who walked away from the jail kitchen Feb. 10, has pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a reduced charge of resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty.

Ball, who was arrested in Novato a few hours after he left the jail, had originally been charged with escaping from custody. At the time of his arrest, he said he was returning to jail.

Narcotics Counts Lodged Again

Felony charges of possession of heroin and cocaine and possession of a billy club dropped a few months ago against Terry B. Samuels, 29, of Marin City, were filed again yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Samuels was arraigned on the three charges yesterday, pleaded innocent, and a preliminary hearing was set for March 14.

Samuels was arrested in Sausalito Aug. 3.

The charges were dropped Sept. 12 after a preliminary hearing.

San Francisco Urged To Rescind Policy On Ending Span District

The Tri-Partite Transportation Committee asked the San Francisco Board of Supervisorsy esterday to rescind it policy favoring the dissolution of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District after its bonds are repaid in 1971.

San Francisco Supervisor Jack Morrison, chairman of the committee, conceded his board's policy was "inconsistent" with the bridge district board's vote on Friday to seek legislation to operate all forms of transportation, including ferries. Voting with the majority to seek the broad new power were San Francisco supervisors and five of their appointees on the bridge board.

"We all ought to get into step in this district as to its future," said bridge director Lowell Edington of Napa County.

Morrison, saying his board's opinion of the district appeared to have changed to a more favorable view, said he would ask his board to consider changing the existing policy, which has been in effect for several years.

The committee's request to the San Francisco supervisors was an unofficial one, because only four of its eight members were present.

In its "informal discussion" the committee also agreed to invite the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to join the committee, and to send three representatives to its monthly meetings in bridge district offices at the toll plaza.

The commitee was formed three years ago by Marin and San Francisco supervisors and the bridge board to coordinate improved bus transportation across the bridge. The committee decided to invite Sonoma because the Jenkins plan for the bridge district to go into the commute bus business envisions service to Sonoma as well as between Marin and San Francisco.

Sonoma County Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker, who has been attending committee meetings as an observer, said his county "has got to get into this picture sooner or later — and it had better be sooner."

The committee, which last month agreed to consider its dissolution because Marin and San Francisco supervisors now sit on the bridge board, agreed to continue in operation. The committee, the four members present agreed, is a better forum to exchange ideas than the bridge board.

The committee's next meeting was set for 10 a.m. March 12 in bridge district offices. Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum asked that the March agenda include a discussion on how to coordinate intercounty and intracounty bus service.

Western Europe, England Facing Flood Threats

LONDON (AP) — A thaw in much of Western Europe and Southern England brought flood dangers today after days of blizzards and freezing cold.

An American airman was among five who lost their lives in an overnight blizzard, now working its way northward.

Sgt. Max Sylvester, 43, attached to U.S. Air Force transport office at Harwich Docks, was found in a snow drift near Horsley Cross in Essex last night by a patrolling police car. He was dead on arrival at Essex County Hospital in Colchester. The Air Force said his home is in Indianapolis.

The blizzard and howling winds piled up snow drifts across much of southern England but at dawn the situation changed drastically with a sudden thaw.

Scandinavia and the Soviet Union reported normal cold weather but it was a sunny, spring-like day in Paris with the temperature rising throughout France.

Marijuana Charge Against Girl Dropped

A charge of being in a place where marijuana was being used has been dropped against Jane Carole Schra, 18, of Salem, Ore., in Marin Municipal Court.

Miss Schra was arrested Dec. 3 in San Anselmo.

BOXES TO MISSISSIPPI

Marin Pupils Adopt Family Of 13

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

"I feel that we should help these starving people and bring more peace to the world."

". . . We have all the food, clothes, house goods and they don't have anything . . ."

"I feel that more people should help the needing people."

These are representative reactions of a group of San Rafael fourth graders who have stretched a hand of help and friendship from the affluence of Marin County to the backwater poverty of Mississippi by "adopting" a poverty-stricken Negro couple and their 11 children.

The fourth grade class of Thelma Preston at the Laurel Dell School adopted the family of Gideon and Fannie Funches about a month ago under the Mississippi Box Project.

Mr. and Mrs. Funches live with their seven daughters, and four sons — ranging from 1 to 16 years old — in rural Edward, Miss., not too far from the state capital of Jackson.

The 25 nine and 10-year-olds in Mrs. Preston's class are regularly sending boxes of food, clothing, books and other items to the Funches. Some of the children are giving up their allowances to pay for the postage for the boxes, which cost about $4 each to send.

One youngster has given up his allowance every week since the class began the project and Mrs. Preston says he refuses to consider saving some of the money for himself.

The response from parents has been almost overwhelming, according to Mrs. Preston. "I had to ask them at one point to stop bringing stuff in because we didn't have postage money to pay for sending the boxes," she said.

There is enough postage money now, at least temporarily, she said, thanks to a $25 boost from the Parents and Teachers Association and the continued sharing of their allowances by her students. Mrs. Preston herself pays for shipping at least one box a month and also helps out if allowance money doesn't quite cover the postage.

The items going to the Funches range from oatmeal and instant tea to paper napkins and leftover Weekly Readers. The class, in its spare time, is also making a patchwork quilt to send to the family.

The quilt probably will take another 12 weeks to finish "if we work hard," according to a towheaded boy who made the observation as he unstitched a patch he had forgotten to put the stuffing into.

Each of the packages to Mississippi contains a letter to the family which the youngsters take turns writing. The letter in the latest package tells about studying the desert and Japan and about the class's two ducks and a bantam chick that "always knocks over the bowl." Written on Valentine's Day, the letter also has a crayoned heart, and the comment: "On this day, we exchange cards and have fun. Hope you are too."

Mrs. Funches or one of her children faithfully answers each letter from the fourth graders. In one, Mrs. Funches said her husband was out of work and her children were sick with the flu. "I am not able to carry them to the right kind of doctor," she wrote.

In another, she wrote the youngsters: "We are thankful to know that someone (as) far off a you all is caring for us."

"I haven't ever had any one to give my children anything before," Mrs. Funches wrote another time. "And I can't thank you enough."

Two Booked After Auto Rifling Seen

Two Marin men, one of whom was arrested after being chased several blocks by his alleged victim, were jailed on suspicion of varying degrees today in connection with the rifling of a parked car in San Rafael yesterday.

Edward John Bonadeo, 21, 172 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, was booked for investigation of conspiracy to commit theft, and Stephen Carl Ellsworth, whose address was given as the Lincoln Hotel, for investigation of grand theft, receiving stolen property and conspiracy.

Bonadeo was arrested after being chased through the Canal Street area by the owner of the car, Harold Alfred Lipska, of Novato, according to police. Ellsworth was arrested later while driving Bonadeo's car, police said. They said the car contained a coat that had been taken from Lipska's car and an attempt was made to remove the car's radio.

Bonadeo was freed on his own recognizance and Ellswroth released on $625 bail pending a court appearance later today.

Sausalito Waterfront Proposal Gets Informal Commission Nod

Sausalito Planning commissioners last night approved development plans for Madden and Lewis Inc. holdings along the Sausalito waterfront.

The approval was informal wihh three commissioners, Murray Smith, Robert L. Nissen and Virginia Pasquinucci, indicating they favored the plans, general concept, according to secretary Miriam Ansell.

The plan covers the J. H. Madden's holdings from Pine Street on the north to the ferry boat Berkeley on the south and includes the sandspit lease.

It generally calls for expansion of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, commercial development on the block between Johnson and Pine streets, east of Humboldt Avenue and a motel-boatel on Bay Street, east of Humboldt Avenue.

During the two-hour discussion, commissioners agreed the Sausalito Yacht Club should be moved to the north end of the yacht harbor with the Berkeley remaining at its present location, Mrs. Ansell said.

Commissioner Richard L. Whitaker suggested Madden and Lewis pay the city a substantial fee for use of underwater streets in the yacht harbor. The Madden Plan instead suggests a token rental and the return of a portion of the sandspit lease to the city.

Whitaker also questioned a requirement that the area between the Berkeley and the sandspit remain as open space if it is returned to the city, noting that the city someday may want to make use of the property for some kind of development.

Commissioner Violetta Autumn's suggestion that the fill for the commercial development between Johnson and Pine streets be limited to 50 per cent of the area met with little support. Whitaker said 50 per cent limit was desirable but practical only if parking requirements are not enforced.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing Madden, said parking was necessary to the development and noted that he would not accept a modificaiton which called for deletion of parking.

The commission's report will be forwarded to the city council for consideration at its March 4 meeting.

The planners also agreed that a private high school is a compatible use in a commercial industrial zone, thus approving the establishment of the Shasta School at 2320 Bridgeway.

A joint meeting with hte city's parks and recreation commission was set for 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall.

Fairfax Has Shut Session On Hiring

The Fairfax City Council met behind closed doors for five hours last night with discussion focusing on hiring City Clerk Frances R. Lestanguet as city administrator.

Mrs. Lestanguet's ability to perform the duties and the amount and type of assistance she would need were major topics, according to Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson.

The item will be the first on the agenda of an adjourned council meeting at p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council also discussed filling the post of city treasurer, vacated Feb. 15 by the death of Mrs. Dorothy A. McGlothlin who had served since 1956.

No formal applications have been received and the council set 5 p.m. Monday as the deadline for applying.

Mrs. Wilson said the council hopes to make a decision Monday so city employees can be paid Feb. 28 as scheduled.

Leslie Hood To Fair-Marin Job

Leslie I. Hood Jr. of Mill Valley, director of public information for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, will be hired as public relations consultant for Fair-Marin.

Harold Stockstad, president of the Fair-Marin board said four of the seven directors met last night and decided to hire Hood, one of four interviewed for the job.

Hood's salary is still to be negotiated, said Stockstad, but it will not exceed $3,000 for the remaining four months of this fiscal year.

Fair-Marin directors will meet again Wednesday night to discuss revenues expected from the new auditorium and fairgrounds.

Cash For Courthouse Held The Best Deal

The present and former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors said today they still preferred a cash sale of the ccourthouse square over an agreement to exchange it for other property.

John F. McInnis, present board chairman, and his predecessor, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, appeared on radio KTIM's Sounding Board to discuss the latest offer to dispose of the county-owned square. DSI Corp., headed by Beverly Hills developer Sanford Weiss, has offered to trade $800,000 worth of land it owns on the northern rim of the Civic Center property in Santa Venetia for the San Rafael Square.

"I'm still committed to make every effort to get cash," McInnis said, adding he expected the county again would ask for public bids on the square in several weeks. The board of supervisors once before called for bids on the property, in June 1967, but none was received.

Three other cash offers for the property have either been rejected or withdrawn, as well as one to trade it for other land in San Rafael.

"I don't think the offer to trade is the best kind of offer," Kettenhofen said. When he was on the board of supervisors, Kettenhofen said, he urged a sale of the property so that the proceeds could be used for tax relief.

He said his position had not changed and McInnis agreed a sale would be the most beneficial way to dispose of the square.

McInnis, supported by another speaker on the program, San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, said he had attempted several times in the last decade to spur merchants near the square on Fourth Street to organize a redevelopment plan for the property, but these efforts failed.

The speakers feared the downtown area would begin a sharp commercial decline if the square remained idle too long after the county had moved its offices to the Civic Center. Traffic and parking problems were worsening, they said.

McInnis said the city should have control over the block which it does not have now because of the county occupancy.

Andersen said a preliminary study of placing underground parking on the site showed that provision for 510 spaces on two-and-a-half levels could be made for about $2.5 million. A non-profit corporation to operate parking on the site was described by the speakers as the key to successful development.

Kettenhofen said he had abandoned plans to participate in redevelopment of the site into a Ghirardelli Square-type project because "there would be those who suggested I made the deal before I left office."

He said, however, that the prospective developers were still interested.

McInnis ruled out conversion of the courthouse into a historical museum because the building is "about to fall down."

Roderick P. Martinelli, attorney for DSI Corp., said he was told by county staff that property which his client proposed to swap for the courthouse may be needed for Civic Center expansion.

He said Weiss proposed office and store space for the courthouse square, leaving open about 30 to 40 per cent of the property.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

State Court Refuses Stay For Massie

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California Supreme Court yesterday refused to stay the execution of San Quentin inmate Robert Lee Massie, who says he wants to die.

The court turned down requests for a stay of execution from both the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California and Masters' court-appointed attorney.

The 27-year-old Los Angeles convict, condemned to the gas chamber for the slaying of a woman during a robbery, is scheduled to be executed March 12.

Massie has repeatedly asked the court to allow the execution to go ahead. There were indications, however, that the ACLU would take a plea for a stay of execution on to the U. S. Supreme Court following yesterday's ruling by the state high court.

The state court agreed yesterday to hear pleas for a stay on behalf of another condemned San Quentin prisoner, Nathan Eli, 24, who is scheduled for the gas chamber March 19.

Novato Arrests AWOL Soldiers

Two soldiers who were reported absent without leave from the Presidio of San Francisco, arrested by Novato police at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday have been turned over to the military authorities at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Pvt. Michael E. Duval, 18, reported to be under the influence of narcotics, was taken to Novato General Hospital by his friend, Pvt. John B. Marshall, 20. Novato police arrested the two there and took them to Hamilton Air Force Base.

An ambulance from the Sixth Army at the Presidio picked up Duval and Marshall and took them back to the Presidio, Hamilton officials reported.

STUDENTS ON REVOLT

San Francisco Unrest Held Just The Start

By CHARLES YOAKUM

Five supporters of "student revolution" analyzed that topic from different angles last night before an overflow crowd at the monthly Mill Valley Forum.

In general, the five speakers said that:

The United States is a "Johnny-come-lately" in terms of student revolt.

The upheaval at San Francisco State is "just the beginning of this country's student revolution."

The sophistication of mass media and communications has made students aware of what needs changing.

There is "no Communist conspiracy" behind the student unrest.

Speaking at the forum were Nesbit Crutchfield, an officer in the Black Student Union, Tony Miranda, member of the central committee of the Third World Federation at San Francisco State College; Sharon Gold, San Francisco State graduate student; Juan Pifarre, native of Argentine and a member of the student movement at the University of Buenos Aires, and John Leonard, a senior at Tamalpais High School.

Mill Valley's city council-chambers were filled to capacity, with many standing in the aisles for the entire three-hour session.

The speakers did not debate, but merely took turns outlining student unrest as they saw it.

Miranda told the forum that "the unrest at San Francisco State is directly connected with the college's failure to meet the needs of Third World students."

"Less than 10 per cent of the student population at State is made up of Third World students," Miranda said. "Yet the city's elementary schools have about 70 per cent Third World students."

He identified Third World students as those of Japanese, Chinese, Afro-American, Mexican-American and Philippine descent.

Miranda charged not only the exclusion of Third World students, but also that "today's educational system teaches minority students how to desert their brothers."

"There are more Mexicans in penal institutions in California than there are in institutions for higher education," Miranda said.

Miranda traced the problem to the elementary schools.

"In the second grade, the Mexican student is told not to speak Spanish, his native tongue," Miranda said.

Miranda also said that at the high school level, minority students were routed into programs aimed at getting them "into some trade."

"But even to get into a trade union it now requires two years of college," Miranda added. "The white teacher forgets that."

Miss Gold told the forum that the student revolt at San Francisco State "didn't happen overnight, it came about over a six-year period" of student repression by the administration.

She also said that the "school grounds will become the battleground for power" in the country. "For he who controls the educational system controls the future generation," she said.

Crutchfield said that the day has come "when the Third World students have decided that since they pay taxes, too, it's about time they reaped some of the benefits."

He cited self-determination of the educational system as one of the benefits the World students want.

He also said that "racism runs rampant" in our society," and also affects Third World peopie too, even worse than it does the white man."

"We minority groups spend a lot of time fighting among each other," he said. "Every time the white man gave us something, we'd fight over it. It's a nice trick the white man learned, I believe its called 'divide and conquer'."

Pifarre noted that student revolt had been occurring in other parts of the world long before it appeared in the United States.

"In Latin America, students are often instrumental in overthrowing governments," he said. "We've been doing it for years."

Pifarre denied that there was a Communits conspiracy behind student revolts.

"The students revolt in Czechoslovakia and Poland, and they are Communist-controlled."

He also denied that student unrest was the product of a "permissive society."

"General Franco of Spain is anything but permissive, and the students revolt there, too," he added.

Leonard, the Tamalpais High senior, said he felt that students today were better informed because of the improved communications and therefore were in a better position to see things happening in society that needed changing.

Charge Left Out

Through an error in the composing room, a story in yesterdays's Independent-Journal did not state the charge to which Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael had pleaded guilty. He had admitted burglarizing a San Rafael apartment house May 24.

Teener Accused Of Thefts, Pot

A 16-year-old Sausalito youth has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of recent burglaries in the Mill Valley area and possession of marijuana, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Edward Norman Marshall of 105 Buchanan Street has been linked to two burglaries on Summit Avenue as well others on Panoramic Highway and in Mill Valley, deputies said.

Juvenile officers who arrested him Monday, said he had a lid of marijuana in his shirt pocket.

Two other youths may also have been involved in the same burglaries, officers said.

Speed Limits Cut On Delta

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers restricted boat speed limits to five miles per hour in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta today because of the threat of levee erosion.

In a statement, the engineers said, "The combination of saturated levees and high tides has created a critical situation and the cooperation of all boaters is requested."

Officials in the state-federal flood control center explained that the wash from boats traveling at higher speeds erodes the levees, already weakened by constant high water and high tides.

Policeman Tells Of Violations

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A University of California campus policeman testified yesterday he witnessed only two violations of campus rules — use of a bullhorn and the distribution of leaflets — in a Berkeley rally preceding a march on the Oakland Induction Center in October 1967.

Sgt. James Sicheneider also identified five of the "Oakland Seven," on trial in Alameda County Superior Court for felony conspiracy to have others commit misdemeanors during the weeklong antidraft demonstrations.

Under cross-examination, Sicheneider conceded he had heard no statements advocating violence against police during the rally.

Sicheneider admitted he had taken no notes during speeches at the rally, but the jury was scheduled to hear taped portions of the speeches today.

Life expectancy in India has risen from 32 to 50 years in less than 20 years.

Officers Sworn In For Desert Trial

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The mutiny trial of Private John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, opened yesterday at remote Fort Irwin in the Mojave Desert, with Colip declining to have enlisted men on the court-martial panel.

Ten Fort Irwin officers were sworn in, in proceedings which lasted 30 minutes. Then Colip was flown back to San Francisco because Fort Irwin has no stockade.

The trial will continue on Monday at Fort Irwin. Before that, several legal motions will be heard at the Presidio as they involve witnesses who won't take part in the trial.

Colip is one of 27 soldiers accused of mutiny following a sitdown strike last October to protest the killing of a fellow prisoner by a guard and conditions at the stockade.

Among 23 soldiers still to be tried is Pvt. Keith C. Mather of San Bruno, one of the Marin City Nine who staged an antiwar protest last summer at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church. Mather and eight other servicemen chained themselves to clergymen for the peaceful demonstration.

Three men have already been convicted of mutiny and sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor.

Panel Looks At Needs In Park

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission yesterday toured Wickersham Park to determine what improvements might be made.

Richard W. Shollenberger, director of parks and recreation, said the commission is considering additional landscaping and play equipment such as shuffle boards and childrens' equipment.

After the tour, the commission held the study session at dinner at the Old Adobe Room.

Planners Wrestling Sign Control Policy

With the present sign ordinance in a "state of utter confusion," the San Rafael Planning Commission last night held the first in what may be a long series of study sessions aimed at developing a reasonable and understandable ordinance.

But for most of the first session, the commission argued about how it should proceed while Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner pleaded for guidance so he could begin writing an ordinance.

Hotchner reminded commissioners they had first called for a new sign ordinance in January 1968 and since then had been acting on every sign application individually, with the result a "state of utter confusion."

He recounted meetings with the sign industry and with sign users, such as service stations, car dealers and supermarkets. Most of them are willing to accept stricter rules, he said, provided the requirements are reasonable and the ordinance is enforced equally.

Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding asked for a summary of factual data Hotchner had gathered at the meetings, but the planning director told him it was irrelevant for their task — the making of policy.

When Lunding insisted, Hotchner accused him of "trying to have someone else make up his mind" and pointed out that all of the persons he met with had special interests and these interests would have to be understood to make proper judgements.

Finally, Hotchner got the commissioners to start on a list of every conceivable type of sign, with each member giving his opinion on each type of sign.

Commissioners were flatly against roof signs as a general practice and indicated such signs should be severly limited and require commission consent.

Commissioners agreed that freestanding signs wer generally better than roof signs, but they too should have strict rules.

Then, with 17 more types of signs to consider, Commissioners John J. Adams and Lunding asked for a different approach. Both wanted to take Hotchner's list, think it over, and then write in their opinions.

Lunding suggested that as Hotchner developed the ordinance using an analysis of opinions, he could send out any questions for further opinions.

Hotchner, frustrated, agreed and commissioners promised to bring in their homework at the next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at city hall.

No members of the sign industry attended the meeting and the only sign users, Standard and Union Oil companies, were pressent.

Commissioner T. R. O'Toole was absent.

The first book printed in America was the "Bay Psalm Book" at Cambridge, Mass., in 1640.

Tape Recorders Reported Stolen

Two tape recorders were stolen from classrooms at Tamalpais Valley School on Monday, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Betty Harvey of 276 Richardson Drive, Strawberry, reported to the sheriff's office that someone broke into her home on Monday and took a battery pack.

Also reported was the theft Monday of a chain saw from a storage shed at the home of George J. Capella of 921 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

Community Colleges Split On Tax Ballots

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The board of governors of California community colleges was split today over a proposal to oppose legislation that continues tax override elections.

The legislative committee of the board yesterday could not agree on the pending legislation. Present law will eliminate after July 1, 1971, limits now applied to tax rates for school districts —35 cents for community college districts. By eliminating the maximums, tax override elections are made unnecessary.

The committee also recommended the board ask the legislature for a $35.5 million increase in state aid to local college districts on the basis of average daily attendance. The recommendation was to be taken up by the entire board late today before it closes its two-day meeting.

Districts now receive $628 for each regular student in average daily attendance and $510 for adult students. The committee favors increases to $727 and $560 respectively.

The governors received a staff report saying that while the two-year colleges, as part of the state's higher education system, should receive "a substantial share of the total current support" from the state, "the share provided by the state is still less than 35 per cent of the total financial support required."

Eliminating tax override elections was opposed by board Chairman Harold F. Wolters and Charles R. Smoot.

"This is a conservative board," Smoot said. "But there are some boards that if they have a buck, they'll spend a buck."

Victim Recovering After Hitting Train

A Petaluma man was reported in good condition today at Petaluma General Hospital with injuries suffered when his car struck a slowly moving train Tuesday at 6:35 a.m. on the crossing at Washington Street and Copeland Avenue.

Julio Stefani, 75, of 146 Wilson Street, suffered head cuts, according to hospital officials. Police said he failed to observe the train.

Peking Claims Production Up

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claims production gains in 1968 despite the turmoil caused by Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution, or power struggle.

An article in the Peking's People's Daily today called on the nation "to grasp revolution, promote production and win new victories on the industrial front."

The article distributed by the Hsinhua (New China) news agency claimed Mao's revolution, which enters its third year in 1969, is "pushing China's Socialist construction forward at a great speed and with tremendous mighty force."

Rematch Is Forecast For Attorney General

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A long, complicated road ahead may find a 1970 rematch of the 1966 race between Democrat Thomas C. Lynch and Republican Spencer Williams for state attorney general.

Lynch, 64, confirmed yesterday that he expects to be a candidate for a second full four-year term in next year's election—about a year before the regular announcement season.

Williams, 46, who lost to Lynch despite the statewide GOP sweep in 1966, is expected to take the first step along the comeback trail soon with the help of President Nixon.

Political sources say Williams is going to be picked as U.S. attorney for Northern California shortly as a replacement for Cecil Poole, a Democrat first appointed by President Kennedy.

Williams presently is serving as Gov. Ronald Reagan's human resources secretary, which makes him one of the Republican governor's four top agency heads.

Both Reagan and Williams have acknowledged that negotiations are underway with the Nixon administration. But Williams says no decision has been reached.

Militant Hired For New Course

SAN JOSE (AP) — San Jose State College's student council voted last night to hire as instructors Tom Hayden, a founder of Students for a Democratic Society, and William M. Mandel, a scholar on Soviet affairs.

Mandel said it would be the first time he had taught an accredited college course since he was fired at Stanford University in a dispute involving the cold war.

Hayden is to receive $1,500 for a course called "The New American Revolution" and Mandel $2,000 for a course on "Contemporary Soviet Civilization."

Both courses will be part of the campus' experimental college and the philosophy department is to award three hours of academic credit for those taking them.

The wild rose is the state flower of Iowa.

Associates Named To GOP Committee

Marin County Republican Chairman Charles Michals of Greenbrae has appointed nine persons associate members of the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

They are Capt. Ernest Bergman of Mill Valley, John F. Fiorito Jr. of Tiburon, Mrs. Betty Gardiner of Woodacre, Mrs. Mildred Graham, James Rowen and Suzanne Miotti, all of San Rafael, Mrs. Lorraine Lipska and Mrs. Ruth Smith of Novato, and Paul Haerle of Sacramento.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Abandon The Old Rule: 'Never Finesse Against Your Partner'

"Never finesse against your partner," says an old rule, dating back to the days of whist. It's a good rule to follow if you're playing whist, but a good rule to abandon if the game is bridge.

LOW DIAMOND

West opens the three of diamonds, and declarer plays low from the dummy. The fate of the contract depends on East's play at the first trick.

If East follows the old rule, he puts up the jack of diamonds. "Third hand high" is another way of saying "Never finesse against your partner." Both sayings would lead East astray in this case.

South captures the jack of diamonds with the queen and loses a trump finesse to East's king. East returns a club, enabling West to take two club tricks. Then South ruffs the third round of clubs, draws trumps and leads a diamond to take a finesse with dummy's ten. This finesse works, and South takes the rest of the tricks, making his contract.

DEEP FINESSE

East defeats the contract if he plays the eight of diamonds at the first trick, taking a deep finesse. This play enables South to win a cheap trick with the nine of diamonds, but does not give him all three diamond tricks.

South loses a spade finesse at the second trick, and the defenders make the normal switch to clubs, taking two club tricks. West gets out safely with a third club, and South ruffs. South must eventually lose a diamond trick to the king or to the jack, and this is the setting trick.

BEWARE OF JACK

Beware of playing the jack in third position when dummy shows the ace-ten or even the ace-nine. It is usually better to play some such card as the seven or eight or even to play low altogether.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ Q J 10 9 8
♥ Q 10 6
♦ Q 9 5
♣ K J.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton, but the hand isn't even close to an opening bid. You need at least two of the eight aces and kings for a sound opening bid.

Commuter's Woes

CROWLAND, England (UPI) —Construction worker Arthur Strickland complained to newspapers that the two-lane road he takes to work has shrunk from 22 feet wide to 16 feet—and is still shrinking because of heavy rains and traffic. "It's time something was done, or there'll be no road left at all," Strickland said.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Feb. 20, the 51st day of 1969 with 314 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1809 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the power of the federal government was no greater than that of any individual state in the union.

In 1872 the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City was opened to the public for the first time.

In 1938 Anthony Eden resigned as British foreign secretary to protest the "appeasement" policy of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain toward Nazi Germany.

In 1962 American Astronaut John Glenn landed safely after three orbits of the earth.

A thought for the day: American novelist Hermann Hagedorn said, "Down with the fair-chambered corridors of years, the quiet shutting, one by one, of doors."

Thief Prepares For A Big Job

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A thief who took a cement mixer didn't let the size of the job deter him.

Police said tire marks at a constructionsite indicated the heavy mixer was pulled away with a truck.

Also taken were 30 bags of cement mix and nine bags of lime.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

It's Little Wonder The Older Person Suffers Emotionally

VAN DELLEN

Emotional and neurotic disturbances are common at any age, but when seen in the elderly, softening of the brain is blamed needlessly. This is unfair because with more than their share of worries, it is surprising that oldsters maintain any tranquility at all. A longer life is not necessarily a happier one.

Depression is the most frequent psychic disturbance after 60. The senior citizen need not be insane or suffering from an organic disease of brain, such as a stroke or deterioration. In other words, his health is perfect, except that he is sad.

IN SOME, depression masquerades as fatigue, loss of interest, and poor appetite. Still others are unable to sleep during the early morning hours.

Now and then the oldster is agitated by his depression. Headache or dyspepsia may mask the blues or be blamed for the person's cheerless state.

More serious emotional problems occur when the individual broods over supposed misdeeds and unforgivable sins. Others develop paranoid tendencies and distrust everyone. It hurts most when they believe that family and old friends are plotting against them.

COMPROMISE IS NOT easy at the twilight of life and various problems arise to upset the emotional balance. For example a new environment, money problems, feeling unwanted, and death of the spouse.

Added to this are failing physical strength, heart disorders, arthritis, and impaired vision and hearing.

EXCELLENT REMEDIES are available for these discouraging disturbances. Tranquilizers make life more bearable; these drugs soothe the agitated, and encourage relaxation.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J)

Mr. J. writes: I am 35 and have been trying to build up my muscles through exercise. I've always been the flabby type and wonder if I'm wasting my time, as I can't see any improvement.

REPLY

Why not utilize exercise as a means of staying physically fit, rather than trying to obtain bulging muscles? The advantage of exercise is to maintain good muscular tone and to minimize wear and tear on the body when exertion is required.

LUNG MAY RE-EXPAND

Mrs. I. writes: A child was in an accident and broke three ribs and punctured one lung. Will this lung fill up in time or will she have to go through life with only one useful lung?

REPLY

There's a good chance that the lung will reinflate. If not, surgery may be needed to remove adhesions that are preventing the organ from refilling.

FEVER FROM INFECTION

V. V. writes: Are there any fevers for which we have no cure?

REPLY

Yes, if by fevers you mean infections. Viral diseases such as the common cold, influenza, or measles fall into this category. Rabies can be prevented with a vaccine but there is no cure once it develops. And what about the fever associated with cancer, heart attack and stroke?

BOOKKEEPERS'S EYES

Miss B. writes: I am a bookkeeper and have trouble with my eyes while staring at the ceiling. Is this due to eyestrain?

REPLY

Have your eyes checked for refractive errors. Staring at the ceiling or into the distance once in a while gives the eyes a rest. But you need not complain so long as your vision is adequate when you run your trial balance.

Hickel Cancels Oil Lease Bids Pending Rules Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, in his third action of the week aimed at preventing another "Santa Barbara tragedy," today called off the sale of offshore oil and gas leases.

The sale of 27 Gulf Coast tracts that could have brought the government millions of dollars, was scheduled for next Tuesday and was the only such sale of federal offshore leases imminent.

Hickel said the sale would be postponed "until we are positive we have regulations which will prevent pollution such as the Santa Barbara tragedy."

Earlier this week, Hickel issued regulations holding oil companies responsible for cleanup and damage costs from any offshore-well pollution and proposed new and tighter regulations for drilling in the Santa Barbara channel.

Oil and gas leases along the Gulf of Mexico coastline already have brought the Interior Department close to $200 million in bonus bids.

Sixteen tracts were leased Nov. 19, 1968 for a total of $150 million in bonuses, followed by another 20 tracts for $44 million Jan. 14.

Preliminary steps have been taken toward the possible leasing late this year of areas off Alaska, but that sale has not yet been definitely scheduled.

Announcing the latest move, Hickel said, "We have postponed the Gulf Coast sale as another step in the exhaustive review being conducted into all aspects of federal offshore drilling and production.

"Consequently, any bids received for the Louisiana tracts will be returned to the sender unopened."

"In announcing this postponement," he added, "I again declare that monetary considerations must not be allowed to obstruct consideration of what is best to protect the environment in which we live."

Player Boycott Shows Signs Of Cracking

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league players' boycott shows some signs of cracking, but not enough to keep their representatives from rejecting another pension offer from the club owners.

A number of name players, such as Pat Jarvis, Tom Seaver, Jerry Grote and George Scott, said yesterday they would report to spring training.

"The real test of the players hasn't come yet," Dale said in Cincinnati. "I can tell you there are a lot of players signed and lot more ready to. We really haven't tested (Marvin) Miller's control of his men."

That brought a response from Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players Association. "This proves it is all a stalling tactic to try to break the Association wide open," Miller said in New York.

Earlier in the day the player representatives had overwhelmingly turned down the latest proposal by the owners to hike the pension $1.2 million to $5.3 million.

The players had rejected a previous $1 million increase by a big margin and Dick Moss, counsel for the Association, said player representatives did not think the new offer significant enough to submit to the membership.

The Association is asking a $6.5 million pension package.

Moss also said a few players were expected to report to spring training, but reaffirmed the Association belief that the great majority of players, including the big stars, would not sign contracts or report until the dispute is settled.

But among those who were signed up today was Jarvis, Atlanta's top pitcher last season with a 16-12 record. Knuckleballer Phil Niekro, another Braves' starter, indicated he might report within the next few days.

"I suppose the other players will be clipping this story, putting it on the walls and throwing darts at it," Jarvis said at Atlanta's camp in West Palm Beach, Fla. "But I am ready to go."

Niekro said he came to West Palm Beach to get a head start "and that's what I am going to do. I probably won't sign for a day or two because I want to see how it goes. But I am not going to wait long."

However, Braves' slugger Hank Aaron stuck with the boycott.

"It's the principle of the thing," he said. "I can't sign until it is settled. These are the people I play with."

Seaver, an All-Star with the New York Mets last year, said he had not signed and would not report today at St. Petersburg, Fla., but added "I will play this season whether the dispute is settled or not.

"I believe baseball remains one of the few things that reward individual effort in our country and I want it to remain that way. I don't want it to become unionized. I will go so far. I have a date set in my mind (to report) and I'm the only one who knows it."

Grote, the Mets' All-Star catcher, and teammates Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella, both pitchers, also said they would report.

Scott, Boston's veteran infielder, was quoted in a copyrighted story in the Boston Traveler that he planned to report on scheduled next Wednesday.

John Bateman and Ron Brand, two former Houston catchers now with the expansion Montreal Expos, and teammate Bob Bailey, former Los Angeles infielder, reported Wednesday.

"If a Mickey Mantle or an Ernie Banks would lead the way, things would get stirred up," said Vice President Ed Short of the White Sox concerning those players reporting.

Watch Out, You Guys: Place May Be Bugged

SPOOKY SCOOP — Maybe they're trying to keep it a secret because I haven't seen or heard anything about it in the news media.

But, did you know that the Dynamo Kieve championship soccer team of Russia, which plays the California Clippers at Kezar Stadium Sunday, is sponsored by the KGB, the Soviet Union's equivalent to our Central Intelligence Agency? (Reference: "The Espionage Establishment" by David Wise and Thomas B. Ross.)

I alert you to this fact so that if you have to use Kezar's antiquated anny-cays during Sunday's game, be careful what you say. Even the biffies may be bugged.

Footnote: Spies are nothing new to Kezar. Commander Lloyd Bucher of the spook ship Pueble played football there for the Boys Town, Nebr. team about 25 years ago. And now it's Russia's Revenge, or, Soccer To 'Em, Boris!

Time For Black Sea Brant

FISH'N' GAME — If you've a hankering to bag a limit of Black Sea Brant you'd better hurry because the season ends Sunday.

This is the word from Warden Al Giddings of the California Department of Fish and Game who noted about 500 of the small geese moved into the Tomales area last week. Giddings identified Enos Foster, George Goertz and Dick Clarke among the locals who got their limits of four birds.

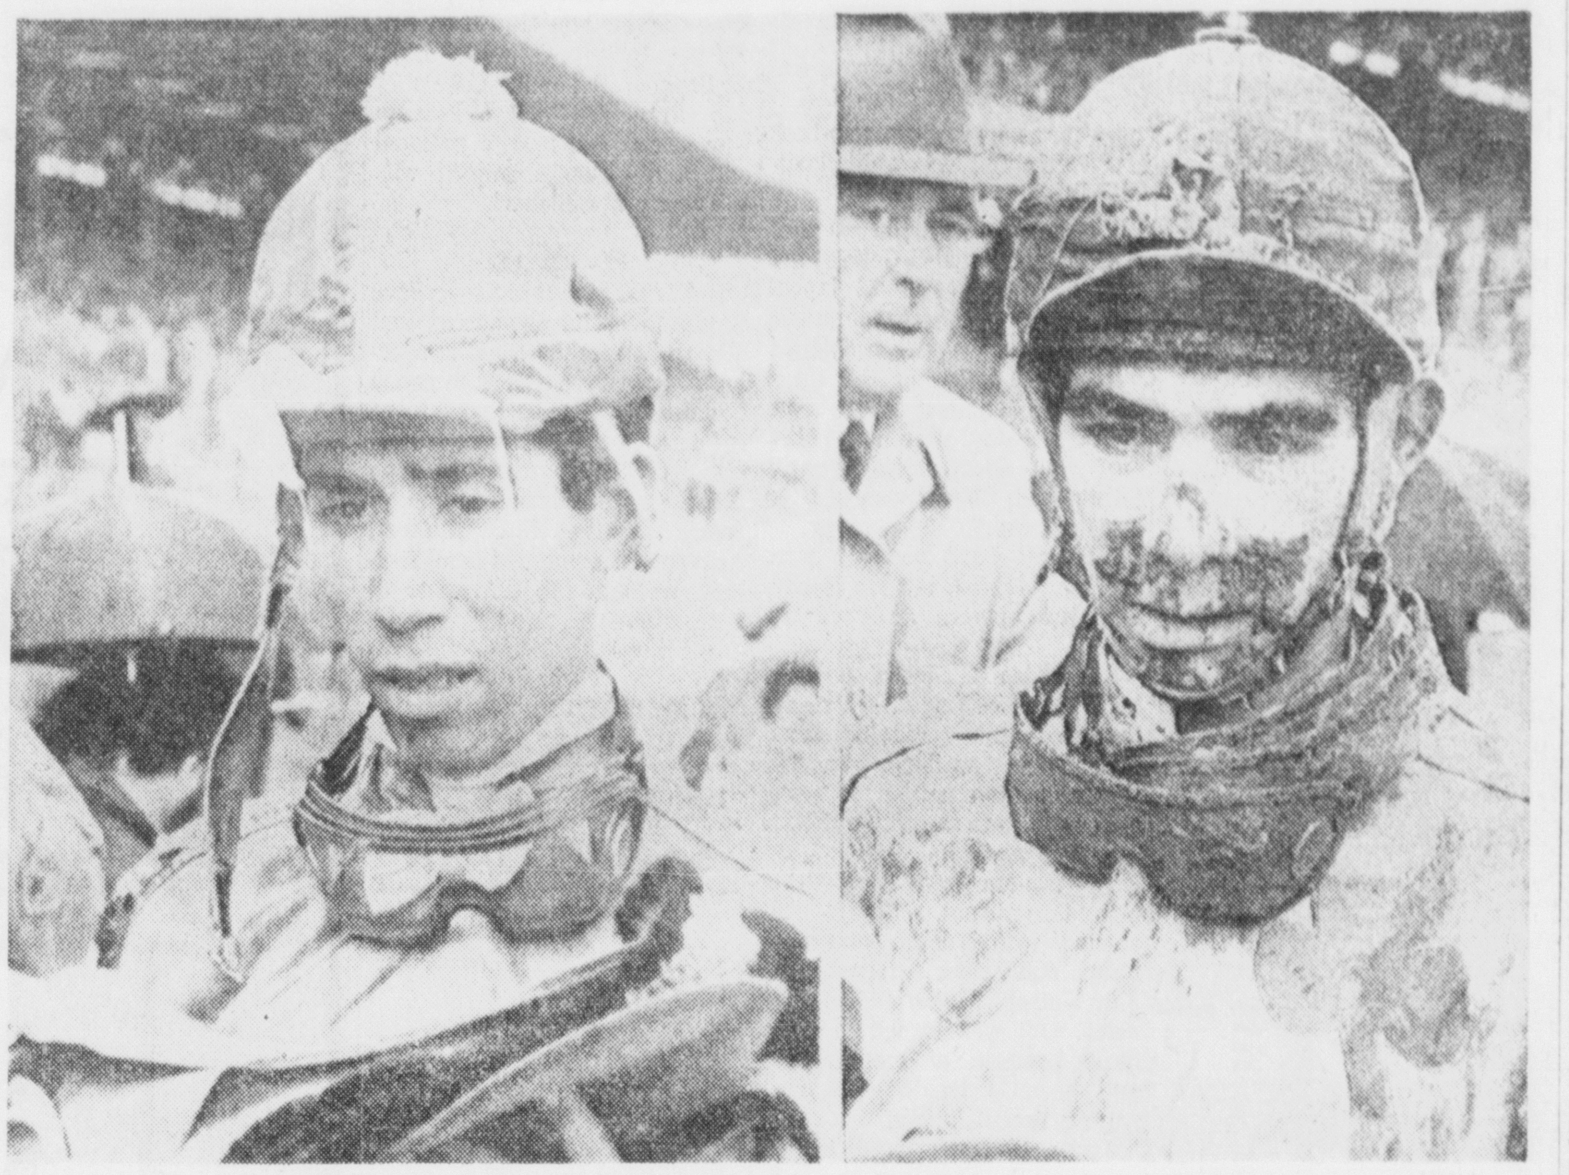
What else is new? "Well," Giddings offered, "steelhead fishing usually is pretty good during the last two weeks of the season, so the boys should get some fresh roe and give it a go. The season ends the last day of February.

Brave Steelhead Fishermen

"I checked White House Pool (near Pt. Reyes Station) the other day and saw about 10 hardy fishermen standing in the rain, some sitting in their cars alongside the pool, but all dunking bait. Nobody had any fish, but the water was in good shape, a little muddy, but fishable."

Giddings continued: "Joe Mello of San Rafael and some of his friends worked Walker Creek (Tomales) for steelhead last week. Joe caught two fresh run females, about eight and six pounds. I believe the fish are there; it just takes a little letup in the weather to make the place fishable."

Speaking of the weather, Giddings looks forward to a banner year for striped bass fishermen on an San Pablo Bay, explaining: "Usually it's a good year in the bay after a big rain season, so this year should be a pip. The striped bass are surely there, but won't hit with the water as cold as it is. So it would be great to see the sun come out for a week or so."



ONE'S A WINNER, ONE'S A LOSER

It's not hard to tell the winner from the loser after yesterday's action at Santa Anita track in Arcadia. On the left is apprentice jockey Rudy Rosales, who won the first race aboard Bargain Counter, a 30-1 shot. Tony Diaz (right) picked up all the mud, coming in last atop Clique. Rosales went on to win the second race, riding I've Been Spotted for a track record daily double pay off of $2,440. (UPI Telephotos)

By KIMO CAMPBELL

Playing with more guts than finesse, a flu-ridden band of College of Marin Tars scrambled from behind to overhaul Solano College of Vallejo 87-82 in last night's Camino Norte Conference basketball clash in Kentfield before 200 fans.

Ches Bornia hit both ends of a one-and-one with one minute and two seconds left in the overtime period to give Marin a five-point bulge at 83-78, and the Falcons could never catch up.

With Pat Schafer out and Andre Horn ailing due to the flu, Marin was outplayed by Solano much of the way, trailing 33-30 at halftime and 52-47 with seven minutes left. But Gary Hanson's bucket at 6:29 gave the Mariners a 55-all tie, and it was tight the rest of the way, as Solano blew four one-and-one opportunities.

KEY SHOTS

Paul Leete twice tied the score for Marin, sinking both shots on a one-and-one situation with two minutes left, then scoring a driving hook and converting the foul at 1:03. Solano then came down court, missed its shot, and Daryl Ravani got the rebound for the Tars. A couple of misses later Ravani was fouled with four seconds left, but missed the shot and the game went to overtime.

Marin was in command from the beginning of the extra period, as Vince Washington, Solano's one and only rebounder, fouled out on the last infraction of regulation time. Tom Seidenberg hit a jumper on the first Marin shot, and the Tars led all the way, despite the outside shots of Falcon bombardier Rich McKee, whose 29 points matched Seidenberg for game honors. Horn added 13, two of the baskets clutch efforts in the late going, while Hanson had 12 points, three of them key buckets to put Marin ahead or tied in the second half. Washington had 20 points for Solano.

HIGH NIGHT

While the loss of Schafer hurt on the boards, Bornia had 15 rebounds and Seidenberg 12 to more than compensate. Seidenberg scored well on a variety of shots inside and out in recording his high as a Tar.

Now 6-3 in the CNC and 10-13 overall, the Mariners trek to Canada College in San Mateo Saturday, then face unbeaten Contra Costa next Wednesday night in Kentfield. Since the Tars have been the only Camino Norte team to look really capable of playing with the Comets, it could be a good rematch.

10,009 Fans Watch Seals Triumph Over Black Hawks

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — Thanks to the hot shooting of a crew-cut rookie, the largest crowd at a Seals' home game this season — 10,009 — left the Coliseum Arena in bright spirits last night.

The hero was 24-year-old Brian Perry, whose three-goal hat trick in his first year in the National Hockey League paced the Oakland Seals to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

ROOKIE NIGHT

Norm Ferguson, another rookie, scored the other Seals' goals.

The win strengthened Oakland's grip on second place in the NHL's Western Division and kept alive the Seals' streak against the established teams in the Eastern Division. Oakland has won five and tied two of its last seven games with Eastern clubs.

Nothing would make the Seals' current, six-game home stand more sweeter, however, than a win tomorrow night against the St. Louis Blues in the Cow Palace. The Blues, in first place in the West, have not lost to Oakland since the teams entered the NHL a year ago.

FOUR IN FIVE

It was an incredible shot, but Perry's three goals — bringing his total to seven for the season — were the talk of the town. The English-born left wing now has five goals and 15 assists in his last 15 games.

"He'd had a lot of tough luck putting the puck in the net," Oakland coach Fred Glover said. "But none of the goals were flukes tonight. He should be proud of what he did."

Said Brian, "Mike (Laughton) and Earl (Ingarfield) set me up and I owe it to them. I guess I was in the right spot, though." Behind Perry on the dressing room bench — where no one could reach it — was the souvenir puck which he deflected past Chicago goalie Denis DeJordy to complete his hat trick.

Tigers' Ace McLain Wins Sports Oscar

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Detroit pitcher Denny McLain, a 31-game winner, has been named professional athlete of 1968 by the Academy of Professional Sports Awards.

McLain was presented the award last night at the second annual awards program of the academy.

The award was determined in a poll of the nation's leading sports writers and sportscasters conducted by an accounting firm which supervises the awards program.

Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox was last year's winner.

McLain, the first pitcher to win 30 games in a season since Dizzy Dean, also was voted the American League's top player in balloting by other athletes.

Picked as the top professionals by their fellow athletes in other categories were:

The awards program was televised by the National Broadcasting Company.

49er-Ram Game Set For Anaheim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams announced today they will wind up the 1969 preseason football schedule against the San Francisco 49ers Saturday night Sept. 13 in nearby Anaheim Stadium.

This marks the third year the National Football League Rams have played in Anaheim. In previous years the New Orleans Saints were the opponents.

Oaks To Host Chaparrals

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Oaks open a brief two-game home stand tonight at 8 o'clock when they host the Dallas Chaparrals in an American Basketball Association game in the Oakland Coliseum.

The Oaks, beaten by Dallas in the teams' most recent encounter, welcome forward Gary Bradds back to the lineup. Bradds missed the Oaks' latest road trip with a stomach ailment. Tests proved the trouble was not ulcers, which had been feared.

The Oaks have a 3-2 margin over the Chaparrals this season. On Saturday, they host the Los Angeles Stars.

Warriors Continue Mastery Over 76ers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It's too bad the San Francisco Warriors can't play the Philadelphia 76ers every night.

The Warriors led all the way before 3,279 at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium last night in downing the 76ers 134-117 in a National Basketball Association game.

It was San Francisco's sixth victory in their last seven games and the Warriors' fourth triumph in five games with Philadelphia this season.

The Warriors play at San Diego tonight.

The Warriors hit 51 per cent from the floor to take an 18-point lead at the half and retained that margin throughout the second half.

San Francisco held the 76ers' leading scorer, Billy Cunningham, to only one basket in 11 tries in the first half and to 17 points for the game.

Jeff Mullins, falling under 30 points for the first time in five games, led San Francisco with 28. Rudy La Russo hit 24 and Nate Thurmond 22.

Chet Walker scored 32 for the 76ers.

Engan Leads Pro Bowlers

PARAMUS, N.J. (AP) — Ralph Engan, Monsey, N.Y., took a 20-pin lead after two rounds yesterday of the Professional Bowlers Association $75,000 Cougar Open.

Engan had six-game blocks of 1,257 and 1,363 for a 2,620 total. Teata Semiz, Riger Edge, N.J., was next at 2,600.

Dick Weber of St. Louis was one pin behind Semiz at 2,599 while Don McCune of Munster, Ind., shot his third career 300-game in the evening sessions and also recorded the highest six-game block with a 1,408 series. His over-all total of 2,514 was good for a ninth place tie with afternoon leader Mike McGratp of El Cerrito.

The 168 man field will be cut to the top 84 after today's opening session of six games. The top 16 after the night action will move into tomorrow's finals.

PREP BASKETBALL

Leaders Playing On Enemy Court

It looks like easy living tonight for the front-runners in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race. But there may be a hitch.

Both Redwood High (10-1) and Novato (9-2) are playing in enemy territory, Redwood visiting Drake (4-7) in San Anselmo and Novato meeting Tamalpais (4-7) in Mill Valley.

That could be cause for concern because both Drake and the Indians have been unpredictable all season and have the potential to produce a shocker.

In other games, Terra Linda (7-4) hosts Marin Catholic (3-8) and San Rafael (6-5) visits San Marin (1-10) in Novato.

Junior varsity games start at 7 o'clock, followed by the varsity games. The games were moved up one day from Friday because of Washington's birthday.

Novato had a difficult time beating Tamalpais in Novato during the first half of the season, and there are no indications that it will be easy this time. But Herrnberger and McNally, with help from Bob Ament and Larry Ferguson, should produce a "must" win.

San Rafael will be without center Bill Sleezer, but that shouldn't matter against San Marin. The Bulldogs are out of the race now and can breathe easily.

Terra Linda will hope for a miracle in San Anselmo while trying to douse the ambitious Wildcats. The Trojans won earlier in the year, but by only two points and the Wildcats will be out to salvage some pride from a trying season.

Columbia Hits The Jackpot

NEW YORK (AP) — A good football captain might be one who, following graduation, gets a younger brother to attend the same university.

In this respect Columbia has hit the jackpot three times this fall.

Tailback Jim O'Connor's brother Tom captained the 1962 Lion team; tackle Bob Brookshire's brother Ron was captain of the 1965 team and tackle Bill Reed's brother Tom was a Columbia co-captain last fall.

The New York Yankees will have two new coaches in 1969. They are Elston Howard and Dick Howser. They replace Frank Crosetti and Whitey Ford.

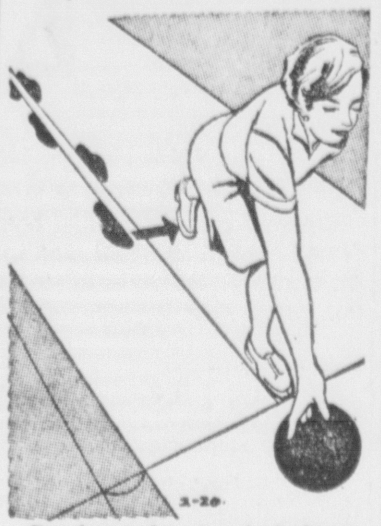
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Bowlers who stay in balance are high scorers. Most need not take long steps during the approach — in fact, it is preferable to take shorter steps, as in today's illustration. The assists in balance, as does a move of the right foot (see arrow) to the left at the release to counteract the weight of the ball to the right.

Raider Back Retires To Become A Coach

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Raider defensive back Warren Powers has retired to become an assistant football coach at the University of Nebraska, the Raiders said Wednesday.

Powers, 28, is a graduate of Nebraska and has been with the Raiders since signing as a free agent in 1963. He led the club in interceptions in 1966 and in interception yardage the following year.

Littler Tries For Arizona Golf Double

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Golf's younger brigade took another swing at the big money with the opening today of the $100,000 Tucson Golf Tournament.

Jack Ewing, Larry Ziegler, Jerry Abbott and Jim Wiechers were among those figuring prominently in the Phoenix Open last week and there are a host of others in the 144 player field to challenge the stars.

Still most of the interest here centers on Gene Littler, the tournament winner at Phoenix with 263 and leading money winner on the tour this year at $48,028 and defending champion George Knudson of Canada.

A year ago, Knudson won both at Phoenix and Tucson duplicating Littler's feat of 1959.

They play over the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club course, a par 36-36—72 layout where yesterday's pro-amateur ran into foul weather problems.

It rained much of the time. Little was among those who called it a day after nine holes.

"I was about one-over-par," Littler said, "but it was just too cold and wet."

Rain hit hard about 2 p.m. and then abated, but winds harried the players most of the day.

Bill Ogden of Tucson and Bobby Mitchell of Danville, Va., set the pace among the individual pros with five-under-par 67s. Dave Stockton carded 68 while both Rod Funseth and Paul Harney were at 69.

The pro-am team competition proved unusual. Terry Dill started with Tucson amateurs Chuch and Frank Osterman and Jim Watson. At the end of nine holes, Dill was forced to withdraw because of the weather and because he is recovering from a recent illness.

Terry Wilcox agreed to accompany the amateurs as a substitute pro but his score would not count. Dill had even par but the trio of amateurs finished 17 under at 55.

At Phoenix, Ewing, 24, of Bakersfield, carded rounds of 67-66-66-68—267, one stroke below the previous tournament record, but had to be content with a tie for fifth place and $3,633. Ziegler, 29, of Bonne Terry, Mo., was at 269. Abbott, 27, Boca Raton, Fla., and Wiechers, 24, of Atherton, each finished 270.

Veteran Billy Maxwell, who deadlocked for second place with Don January and Miller Barber, said of the new crop, "They're bigger, taller and can really hit the long ball."

New Zealand's Bob Charles holds the tournament record for the National course at 71 in 1965. Knudson carded a 273 a year ago.

Could Honor System Work In Basketball?

OAKLAND — Alex Hannum, coach of all the Oaks, was breaking bread with the scriveners and suggesting, as us crumbs fell, that "basketball's only imperfection is the officiating."

To those of us who see other imperfections in that once interesting, now overly offensive game, Hannum's statement was not what you'd call exhilarating.

Still, he carried on bravely.

"BASKETBALL IS the most difficult game in the world to officiate. I wonder sometimes if we'd be better off without officials. The best kind of basketball I remember playing was three against three in a playground — no referees, just the good old honor system."

To show the sophistication of today's American sportswriter, nobody asked Alex: "Why not try the honor system in pro ball today?"

THIS IS NOT to suggest that pro cagers are men without honor. But there is bread at stake, or steak at bread, and in the heat of the tiff there's a tendency to let the scruples fall where they may. (Letting a scruple fall is a two-shot foul in the ABA if it occurs in the last two minutes, and a one-and-one in the NBA if a team already has six fouls, none of which came in the backcourt.)

Hannum was wrong, though, in suggesting that his game is the most difficult to officiate. The playing surface is smaller than, for instance, soccer. The three officials in that grueling sport must run hundreds and hundreds of yards without stopping for times out.

WHAT ALEX may have been saying is that with so many huge men cavorting on so miniscule a surface as a basketball court, it's nigh impossible for an official to detect a no-no. Which is fine with yours truly, because there are already too many game-delaying foul calls in the sport.

At least the existence of "homer" referees has dwindled. The apocryphal tale concerning home town refs involves an old Big Ten contest being played at the University of Wisconsin. The bogs of Lake Mendota where particularly boggy this one night, and the foggy vapors wafted into the Wisconsin fieldhouse — obscuring much of the scoreboard and clock.

AS THE STORY goes, old Inidana University coach Branch McCracken, who endured homer refs with silent screams, asked the official for a time out. "I can't see a durned thing," said country boy McCracken. "What's the score and what's the time situation?" he requested of one of the friendly Badger officials.

"There are two minutes left to play," said the ref. "And we're winning by three points."

Which brings us to another matter involving the Oaks; the question: Will they succeed now that Rick Barry is immobile for the rest of the season?

TO ANSWER THAT, we again call on our storyteller (and a referee), to wit: When Tom Heinsohn was playing with the Boston Celtics one night he was fouled on the way up with the ball. The ref awarded Tom only one shot. Heinsohn howled about not getting two free throws.

"You weren't shooting, you were just passing off," said the ref.

"You're crazy," said Tom. "Everybody in the league knows I never pass off."

Will the Oaks miss Rick Barry?

Bucks Deny Premature Alcindor Draft

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks won't pass up Lew Alcindor, but they hope they won't be in the running for the UCLA star.

"Obviously, we would be interested in Alcindor," Wes Pavalon, chairman of the board of the Milwaukee Bucks, said last night.

"But the way the Bucks have been playing of late, we may not even be in a position to draft him."

Milwaukee is last in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association race with a 19-45 record. Phoenix, at 14-49, is the bottom club in the West.

In the draft, "the last place teams in each division of the NBA participate in a flip of a coin to determine which has first selection in the 1969 college draft," said Walter Kennedy, NBA commissioner.

But Kennedy emphasized that the last-place teams have not been determined.

Milwaukee has defeated the top two Western clubs in a row —Los Angeles and Atlanta. And, the Bucks have won four of their last eight games.

Pacalon said he was a little upset over a report Tuesday that Milwaukee and Phoenix already had tossed the coin and the Bucks had chosen Alcindor.

"That certainly would be very premature," he said. "I would be the last person to feel that we are going to finish last in our division. We have a good shot at moving up, especially the way we have been playing lately."

The report, which has been denied by both the NBA and the American Basketball Association, said Alcindor, the 7-foot-2 All-American, has been drafted by the New York Nets of the ABA and the Bucks.

"I don't know what the ABA has done," Pavalon said, "but the NBA has done nothing.

"Maybe everybody else has decided that we're going to finish in last place and have a shot at Alcindor," he said. "But I think we have a chance to move out of last."

"Right now," said Ray Patterson, Buck president, "we are out to beat Detroit (one rung ahead of the Bucks in sixth place). And if we pass the Pistons, we pass them—that's all."

Patterson said the ABA "is placing its integrity on the line" if it has staged a secret draft for Alcindor.

"The NBA cannot make that mistake and the Milwaukee Bucks will not be involved in such shenanigans," Patterson said.

"When the two clubs toss, the flip will be open to the public—and the press will be invited," Patterson promised.

Bagley Seeks To Correct Inequities In Sales Tax

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to eliminate several inequities in the sales tax on foods, plants and some homes has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The legislation grew out of an interim study by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, now chaired by Bagley. The committee's report found "ambiguities in both legal phrasing and in the (State Board of Equalization's) interpretation of the law."

Inconsistencies in taxing foods make it "virtually impossible for the public or the industry to be sure whether an item is taxable or not," the committee reported. It found five areas of particular confusion — beverages, candy, dietary supplements, products used in food preparation, and items which may be taxable depending on the use to which they are put.

For example, juice drinks with more than 30 per cent fruit juice are tax exempt, except that orangeade, lemonade and limeade are taxable no matter what. Bagley's bill would exempt all noncarbonated, nonalcoholic beverages.

In another example, the committee report noted that a can of tuna fish is exempt if for human consumption but taxable when for the family cat.

The report cited a host of similar "mysterious classifications" and urged the board to come up with a comprehensive, uniform plan to levy sales taxes. "The board should refrain from the temptation to squeeze the last penny from the food products consumer by putting all the borderline cases in the taxable column," the report said.

Bagley's bill, however, goes after only the most glaring inconsistencies.

It also would eliminate the sales tax exemption on food products sold to take out and instead tax all hot food and sandwiches, regardless of whether they are to take out. For example, roasted chickens in markets, now exempt, would become subject to the sales tax, a Bagley aide explained.

The bill also would extend to perennial plants the sales tax exemption now available only to annual plants, and eliminate the 10-cent-a-pack sales tax on small cigars, which has proved unenforceable, according to the committee report.

Finally, the bill would exempt from the sales tax single family homes which are moved upon being sold. Under present board policies, a sales tax is levied on homes sold and then moved.

The new exemptions would deprive the state about 62 million in revenue a year, according to Bagley's staff, but extending the sales tax to all hot food and sandwiches will pick up about the same amount, they estimated.

BART Sales Tax Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Initial legislative approval has been won for a special tax on residents of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District to save the state's pioneer effort at mass transit from disaster.

The Senate Transportation Committee, on a nearly unanimous voice vote, Monday sent the legislation to the Finance Committee. It was a major victory for the latest, perhaps final, attempt at wiping out the $147 million BART deficit that has brought new work on the project to a halt.

Republican Sen. Lewis Sherman of Berkeley, sponsor of the bill which also has Gov. Ronald Reagan's support, told his colleagues the BART matter "becomes critical with each week that passes. Costs are mounting with each moment we delay."

The method endorsed by the commttee would impose a one-half cent additional sales tax on the 2.3 million residents of the three BART counties — San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa — for about four years.

The measure was amended by Sherman, however, to let the voters select another approach to handling the problem, but by a difficult process.

The amendments provide that a majority of the boards of supervisors of the three counties can call an election to offer various alternatives to the sales tax. All would be on the same ballot, and one would have to get a majority of the total vote cast to replace the sales tax hike.

Lawyers May Inspect Campus Violence Bills

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Republican leadership is considering creating a special subcommittee to allow lawyer-legislators to take a close look at the tide of punitive bills on campus disorders.

That was the report today of Chairman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

"We've got to make sure that whatever policy the Education Commttee is considering will be okay from the constitutional standpoint," Murphy said.

He said Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, will probably assign members of Criminal Procedure and the Education Committee to the new group.

Some 65 bills cracking down on militant dissenters on the University of California and state college campuses are now before the legislature, and more are on the way.

While the measures deal with educational problems, Murphy said, they also will affect the constitutional rights of students, faculty and others subject to them.

There are only three attorneys on the Education Committee, headed by Assemblyman Victor C. Veysey, R-Brawley. Eight of the nine Criminal Procedure Committee members are lawyers.

Murphy told of the subcommittee in an interview after his Criminal Procedure Committee held its first meeting of the session.

Even though the committee is in Republican hands for the first time in a decade, one Republican assemblyman complained it hadn't changed from the Democratic days, when it had a reputation for killing bills imposing harsh penalties.

After watching the defeat of his measure spelling out felony penalties for possessing mercury without a title, Assemblyman William Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, said "Thank you, Mr. Chairman. The committee hasn't changed a bit."

GOP Caucus Eyes Ouster Of Burns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republicans are anxious to give Gov. Ronald Reagan a special bonus—GOP control of both legislative houses.

The GOP senators closeted themselves in a strategy session yesterday to discuss a way to overthrow Senate leader Hugh M. Burns and to choose a challenger to replace him.

Republican floor leader Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville considered the most likely challenger to Burns, said the caucus made "no decision."

TO SEEK SWITCH

"Our intended purpose when we have enough votes is to elect a Republican pro tem," he said.

The GOP ostensibly has the necessary votes to unseat Burns under a temporary rules change that permits 20 votes to elect a new leader. However, Republicans seem unable to be united behind one man.

The reduction from 21 to 20 was adopted Monday and will remain in effect until a successor is elected to succeed Sen. George Miller Jr., who died New Year's Day of a heart attack.

SPECIAL ELECTION

There are 20 Republican and 19 Democratic Senators, all apparently waiting anxiously for the outcome of Tuesday's Contra Costa County special election to choose Miller's successor. A March 25 runoff may be needed.

Republicans will probably wait to see if a GOP candidate wins the seat in the heavily Democratic area before moving against Burns.

In addition to Grunsky at least two other GOP senators are mentioned as potential candidates for the job. They are Sens. Howard Way, Exeter, and John F. McCarthy, San Rafael.

Grunsky replaced McCarthy in 1967 as Republican leader. McCarthy is considered a member of the "establishment" headed by Burns that has traditionally guided the Senate on a bipartisan basis.

Way earlier this year was stripped fo his Agriculture Committee chairmanship by the Senate Rules Committee, which Burns chairs and of which McCarthy is a member.

Revolver Club Leases Range

San Rafael Sanitation District directors yesterday approved leasing the pistol range adjacent to the main treatment plant to the Tamalpais Revolver Club for five years at $1 a year.

Norris M. Rawles said the club has liability coverage and the lease has a 90-day cancellation clause in the event the land is needed by the district.

The San Rafael police department and Marin County sheriff's office use the range for pistol practice and competition.

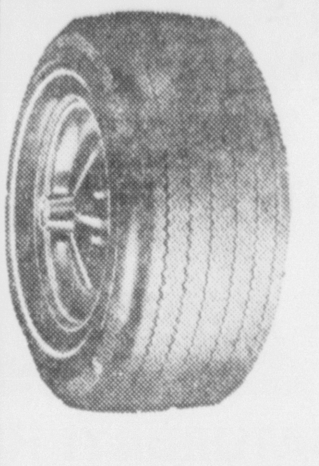
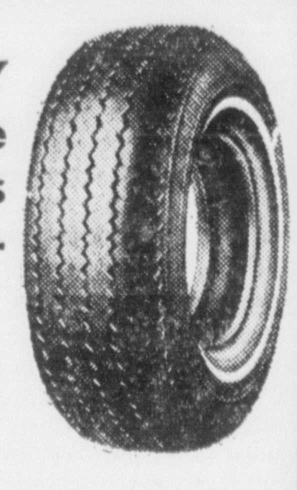
TIRES
POLYGLAS VS. MICHELIN X RADIAL



What better time, than WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY to tell the true facts about the Fiberglas Belted Tire —and the Steel Belted Radial Tire. CAIN'S TIRE has no axe to grind here—as we handle both the Goodyear Polyglas & the Michelin X Radial. SO



THE FACTS:

Goodyear makes the statement that if it isn't Goodyear, then it isn't Polyglas. The fact is that polyglas is a combining of the two materials that make up this tire—Polyester & Fiberglas—Goodyear simply combined the words, copy-righted the result and consequently can say they have the only Polyglas tire—when the true fact is most of the majors have a Polyester-Fiberglas belted tire.

The Goodyear Polyglas tire is a very good product—about twice as good as the original equipment tire, which makes it about half as good as the Michelin X Radial Tire. The fact is Goodyear & the rest of the tire companies came out with the Polyglas type tire, when they completely failed in their efforts to make a Radial Tire. They failed with the ultimate tire, so they went back to the next best thing—a biased belted tire.

INVESTING

Balance Can Be Added To Portfolio

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our first investing in 1960 was primarily for income. Now I see we should have bought for growth. I enclose our portfolio and would appreciate your comments. — M. H.

A. Your portfolio contains mainly sound and growing issues. Four issues do not fit your goals and they should be sold. Capital from the sale of Adams Express, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Iron Ore and National Aviation could be used to purchase two new stocks plus additions to three of your holdings.

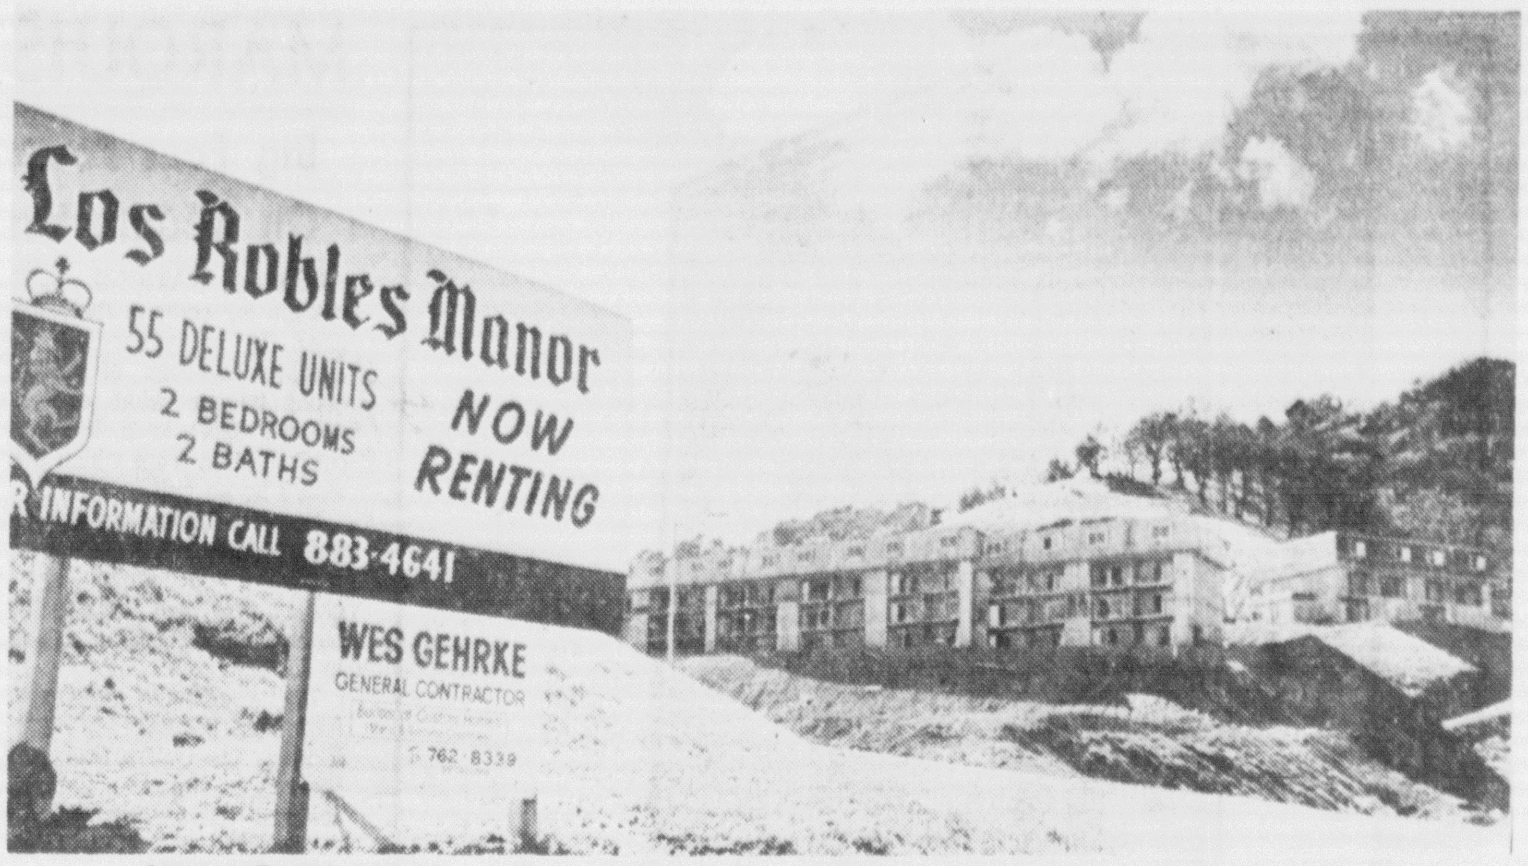
By increasing your commitments in Baxter Laboratories, Holiday Inns and Textron to around $2,000 each you will bring your portfolio into better balance.

Two issues which could work out well long-term are Kellwood Company and Emery Industries. Earnings for the former, a soft goods supplier to Sears, Roebuck, were $4.15 a share on a 16 per cent jump in sales to $213 million for fiscal 1968. A two-for-one split is scheduled for the end of this month. Emery, a specialty chemical producer, has begun 90 per cent plant-expansion program. Sales and earnings are up sharply in the current fiscal year.

Q. My 11-year-old son who is retarded received $400 from an auto accident. Since he will require vocational training later, I invested this in Equity Growth Fund, hoping to add to it. Did I do the right thing? — J. M.

A. Your fund, new in 1966, has since been an above-average performer among growth funds. Total assets at last report were under $50 million — not large enough to make transactions cumbersome. As yet it has no performance record in a prolonged downside market so its stability cannot be compared with other growth funds. About 90 per cent of assets are in common stock — the remainder in cash and governments.

You must remember that any investment carries the possibility of a loss of capital, and mutual funds are no exception. If you have no immediate need for the money, you will probably see a good increase in your fund.



'PHOENIX' APARTMENTS RISE IN NOVATO

Rebuilt on the ashes of a $300,000 fire last September which destroyed 43 apartments in Los Robles Manor across Highway 101 from Hamilton Field, these new units under construction by Wes Gehrke soon will be ready for occupancy. Apartments in two buildings not destroyed by fire have already been completed and some are occupied. (Independent-Journal photo)

Wall Street Sags Fourth Day In Row

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed sharply lower again today.

Selling prevailed for the fourth straight session, with declines outnumbering advances by more than 3-to-1 just before the close.

Volume was slightly ahead of yesterday's but still was light.

Analysts said the market was supercautious today because it was the last session before the three-day break at Washington's birthday.

Analysts said speculation about possible higher interest rates was a depressing factor.

Steels were off fractionally, motors were mixed with fractional gains and losses, utilities were fractionally mixed, and rails were down slightly.

Oils were off, with Royal Dutch Petroleum off 1½ and Standard Oil New Jersey off 1g.

Twentieth Century Fox was the most-active issue, off ¾ at 40¾. It has been riding the waves of merger speculation.

GLEN'S TV has moved from 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael to 1111 Second Street.

This is the second consecutive year the company has been low bidder. 'Black Studies' Grants Merely Bring Violence

Any college administrator who finds life dull these days has only to announce that his school will institute a black studies department. Things will immediately become exciting.

The rush to include Afro-American history and other "black studies" in college curricula began in 1967. Leaders of academia fancied that by recognizing these long-overlooked subjects, they would prevent any major complaint by the increasing number of Negro students being enrolled under special scholarship arrangements.

QUITE THE OPPOSITE has proved true. Wherever black studies have been promised, this has been but the prelude to violence. The courses have promptly been labeled insufficient. Agitators have demanded separate black studies departments. Then they have demanded control over those departments. As each demand was granted, new, more extreme demands have been made.

The record has been repeated at institution after instutition.

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY at Waltham, Mass., went the full route last fall with a complete, separate black studies department. Sixty-five black students then occupied the administration building until they were granted veto power over selection of a chairman for the new department.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA set up a faculty committee to prepare a black studies curriculum. The Black Students Union demanded the classes "right now" and went on strike — and the two Negro professors on the faculty committee resigned in sympathy, thus blocking the whole procedure and setting the stage for a new protest now under way.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN acceded to demands — backed by two marches on the state capitol — for a separate black studies department. Two weeks later, black students staged a new demonstration, demanding full control of the new department.

SAN FRANCISCO STATE COLLEGE hired Dr. Nathan Hare to head a new black studies department. Hare promptly went out on strike with the Black Students Union to enforce its 10 demands — which included enrollment of all black students, whether qualified or not, and complete black student control over the new department, including hiring of instructors.

THE LIST goes on and on. The pattern is repeated over and over: a special effort to meet the needs of black students is followed by demonstrations, violence, arson, seizure of buildings, holding of faculty members as hostages, etc.

The 10 demands at San Francisco State College parallel closely the 10 demands last year by the Black Student Association at Roosevelt University, Chicago (another school that is a scene of current disturbances) and those at other colleges across the nation.

A similar pattern is now being carried down into the high schools.

LEADING NEGRO educators take a rather dim view of the whole affair. The new courses are set up too quickly, the instructors often are unqualified, and the value of some of the courses is extremely doubtful, they contend.

This, however, means nothing to the protestors. Their goal is separate black universities. The quality — or lack of it — in such institutions does not seem to concern them.

Twelve years ago, the U. S. Supreme Court decreed that there must not be separate schools for blacks. Since then, the Justice Department has moved on school district after school district to halt segregation by school or by classroom.

All that would be overturned if the Black Students Union and its separatist allies had their way. They do not seem to understand, or care, that overturned with it would be just about every other advance made by black Americans in recent years.

Growing Problem

The noise around us continues to grow. And there is no method by which to measure how much the stress of noise affects our mental an physical health.

The din of traffic, the crashing and banging of tearing down and building up, the bellow of the bulldozer, the roar of gasoline-motored saws, the thunder of jet aircraft—all are an increasingly invasive part of life in Marin, as the population grows and the world moves on.

The Federal Council for Science and Technology recently reported that "the over-all loudness of environmental noise is doubling every 10 years. If noise is allowed to go unchecked, the cost of alleviating it in future years will be insurmountable."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Local Option Proposed To Add To Topless Bar-Girls' Troubles

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Apparently, the troubles of young ladies who are required to serve drinks in liquor establishments only half attired, (that is, with nothing on above the waist) are never to cease.

For several years, the state Beverage Control has sought to control wearing apparel in liquor establishments by requiring adornment above the waist on female dispensers. The department has had a little luck, here and there, but is involved with court decisions.

The court decisions hold the department must cite a law which the employer or employee has violated. So in certain instances, the waitresses may continue serving unadorned, while in others, a law may have been violated and the operator of the establishment loses his license if he continues this attraction.

HOWEVER, Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, has come up with what he thinks may be the answer. Quimby has introduced legislation giving cities and counties the right to regulate the dress worn by employees of a restaurant or tavern.

He says it should be up to the governing body of each city and county to determine whether it approves of topless attire, and not up to the state.

"Law enforcement agencies in my district," he said, "have been unable to control what they consider to be 'improper costumes', and at times, no costumes at all."

THE SUM effect of Quimby's proposed legislation would be for the state to eschew preemption in this field, and leave it up to the local communities as to whether they want atire or no atire.

All of which could result in several scores of different ordinances, and in a migrant waitress being required to carry a truck-load of costumes with her, ranging from half a bikini to a Mother Hubbard, with a Bali-Bali dress or two thrown in for good luck.

And then, there is the possibility that some cities and counties might not give a hoot what type of costumes is bar-girls wore, resuling in no ordinance at all, which would result in putting regulations right where they are at the present time.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tax Rate Freeze Lacks Meaning

Doubtless with the best of intentions, the board of supervisors is again solemnly resolving to maintain or even reduce last year's tax rate. Perhaps this notion deserves some closer examination before it becomes a sacred annual ritual.

Certainly last year's experience showed that a tax freeze is no guaranteed road to voters' approval. Nor is it any indication of what happens to our property taxes. In most areas of the county went up last year (in one instance $23.12 for an average home) despite the supervisors' agonizing efforts which saved $2.07 on the same home. The county budget accounts for little more than a fifth of our property tax dollar. Schools, special districts, cities, etc. demand the major portion, and the supervisors can do nothing about it.

Thus the question facing the supervisors as well as the taxpayer is clear: "Who is going to benefit and how much, vs. who is going to suffer and how much?" This question must be answered for every budget item; it cannot be evaded by the simple device of a frozen tax rate.

Cautious budgeting, economical management, tight administration, these are not only laudable; they are imperative. So is due regard for the citizens' needs and the wholesome future growth of Marin. If the tax rate remains the same or can be lowered when all needs are considered — fine. If it must be raised by a few cents, so be it. We only get what we pay for, and what matters is not the dollar spent but the value received.

Questions About Mutiny Sentence

Is something upside-down? Today's (Feb. 13) Independent-Journal brings the story of the man, Pvt. Nesrey Sood, who has just been sentenced by the Army for "mutiny."

As the data come to me this man was himself originally AWOL because he was trying to get to his children who were being mistreated in Oakland and was not permitted to visit them legally by the military. Does the Army ever ask questions about its system which pits a man's humanitarian and fatherly instincts against his enthusiasm for protocol?

Again, the charge of mutiny is apparently based on the fact that this man was one of 27 others who sat down on a work detail and sang "We Shall Over-come". The reason? He propably knew as did several others that the young soldier (20-) who was shot in the back of the head at 20 yards by the guard placed over them was suicidally depressive . . . sick . . .

Now a man who in two instances has registered his horror at the inhumanity of the Army has been sentenced for 15 years of hard labor on account of "mutiny."

I have some ordinary citizen-questions to ask. Has the Army investigated the officer that refused to allow a father to go on leave to correct injustices against his children? Is the Army investigating the superior officer who failed to get the sick prisoner under psychiatric care? Is the Army considering charges of brutality against the guard who would rather murder a man from behind than use other means to contain him? . . .

Communist Line Negro Rebellion

Congratulations on your courageous coverage of the Black Panthers' attempts to organize the black high school student. The members of our Truth About Civil Turmoil (TACT) committees have been trying to distribute, within our limited means, copies of the document your quoted from, along with some supplementary commentary . . .

But let's look a little deeper. In 1928, in direct response to the Sixth Communist International held in Moscow that year, Soviet agent Joseph Pogany, under the alias John Pepper, set forth the Communist Party line in "American Negro Problems," a 16-page pamphlet. That line said that Negroes constitute an oppressed colony within the body of the USA. It further declared the Communist Party must recognize that the Negro national liberation movement has tremendous revolutionary potentialities. To bring about this so-called liberation the comrades were told to put forth the slogan of "self-determination." Finally the Negro Communist, in a second booklet "Negroes in a Soviet America" were urged to emphasize in their propaganda the establishment of a Negro Soviet Republic in the territory of the United States . . .

$10 Fishing Fee Called Outrageous

According to an I-J news item recently, it will now cost me $10 to fish.

We are already paying $3 for the privilege of fishing in the water district lakes — the proposed hike in cost will mean a total of $10 for each man.

This is outrageous — and many retired men will now be unable to fish there. There should be some way to help them.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IT TAKES A LOT to shock residents in the neighborhood of the U. of California campus in Berkeley these days. A prof emerged from the campus swimming pool recently to discover that some miscreant had hooked his shoes and socks from his locker. The weather was balmy, so he decided he could walk barefoot to the nearest shoe store, attired in his regular suit, shirt, and tie. Nobody, including the shoe store clerk, gave him a second glance. The clerk, in fact, after fitting him with shoes and socks, inquired casually, "Care to wear them, sir, or shall I wrap them up?"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Big Four Powers Dance Quadrille On Middle East Powder Barrel

UNITED NATIONS — The margin for error in the Middle East is so paper-thin that another outbreak of violence could trigger what everyone dreads. That is a big-power confrontation from which there would be no exit.

Yet, the diplomatic quadrille going on here is so slow-paced, a stately roundabout with one step forward and two steps back, that it seem an exercise in futility.

The exchanges among the four "big powers" — France, Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union — are on a bilateral basis. They talk with each other in pairs, passing back and forth memoranda of who said what and why. This is an acknowledgement, from the United States side certainly, of the insistence by Israel that a settlement can come only through direct negotiation with the Arabs and never by a compromise imposed by outside powers.

THE RUSSIANS and the French are hot for an imposed settlement. In theory, the U.S. delegation is also for a compromise arrived at by the Big Four. But Ambassador Charles Yost, head of the American delegation, is so cautious in his approach that progress can come only by indirection and then with a gradualism hardly discernible.

Blessed are the peacemakers, in the words of Matthew, for they shall be called the children of God. But, if the experience in the Middle East is a criterion, they will have to collect their blessings in the hereafter. For one year and four months Ambassador Gunnar Jarring has with extraordinary courage and persistence labored to bring the two sides together.

He has come under fire from both Arabs and Israelis as the violence and hatred have steadily escalated. They have berated the peacemaker as he has striven to damp down the fires threatening at any moment to flare out of control. By his persistence and his patience moving from armed camp to armed camp Jarring has contributed more than anyone else to keeping at least a semblance of peace.

But Jarring has been in New York for nearly a month waiting for new directives to come out of the four-power conversations. And sitting by and waiting as the flames flare up is frustrating to the point of despair.

THOSE immediately concerned with the threat of a new war in the Middle East are aware of a half-dozen ways in which a larger conflict could be triggered. The most obvious flashpoint is Jordan. In Amman King Hussein has, since the six-day war of June, 1967, performed an amazing tightrope act. It hardly seemed possible he could survive close to a second year as he teetered over the abyss.

How much longer the act can continue is the unknown factor as Hussein balances off Bedouins against Palestinians. With each day that passes the terrorist Fedayeen become more powerful. On the day they depose or destroy the king, Israel may feel compelled to move against a base dedicated to wiping out the Israeli nation and the Jewish people.

WITH FEW exceptions the Asian-African states support the Arabs. As with the black militants in the United States, the angry epithets — "colonialism," "imperialism" — are fitted onto the problem in the Middle East. Brown and black peoples identify with the Arabs in their encounter with the West.

The door to compromise is narrow, the language of the Nov. 22, 1967, U.N. resolution that Israel shall restore territory taken in the June war— not "the" territories. Does this leave room for the return of some but not all of the conquered territory? With each exchange of gunfire, each blast of violent words, the answer is more uncertain.

The man standing before the West Pakistan high court was Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, once a protege of Pakistani President Mohammad Ayub Khan and now his bitterest political foe.

"During the last three months," he told the court, "Pakistan has been engulfed in crisis. The people have risen fearlessly. . . What is taking place is a revolution."

On all three counts, there seemed no doubt.

IN THOSE three months more than 50 persons had died in the improbable nation split into east and west by 1,000 miles of India and united only by religion, in demonstrations against Ayub's 10-year rule.

Bhutto, a former foreign minister, had been jailed on charges of inciting West Pakistanis, particularly students, to violence.

Another Ayub opponent, Air Marshal Asghar Khan, had been sprayed by police with colored water and given a summons to answer a charge that he had violated a government order prohibiting assembly of more than five persons in a public place.

Police had invaded a mosque and flailed about among the worshipers with their steeltipped bamboo rods, a special sacrilege in Pakistan whose state religion is Moslem.

In Dacca, East Pakistan, political prisoners testified of tortures.

THIS WAS Pakistan, a nation held up as an Asia model of stability and progress.

Ayub's "Decade of Progress" had indeed made great economic strides, especially in West Pakistan. But the poor still were there and there were more of them.

Bengali East Pakistan, speaking a different language than the west, never really had been integrated. It was ruled from the west almost as a vassal state.

Literacy in the nation as a whole stood at an appalling 16 per cent.

Educated youngsters seeking a life better than the village existence of their forebears could not find jobs.

For Ayub distrusted the city masses, the intellectuals and the politicians he had overthrown in october, 1958.

HE SAW the constitution he had devised as his monument. He caled it "basic democracy" but it really was not a constitution at all. Actually, it was a bargain struck between Ayub and the village chieftans.

An indirect system of voting for president placed electoral powers in the hands of 120,000 elite.

His opposition demands restoration of parliamentary rule, universal suffrage and decentralization of power to recognize regional diversities. For Ayub it would be the end of Pakistan.

Grudgingly Ayub, 10 years older now and weakend by a lung ailment, has been giving ground. For years he depended upon the army for his chief support. Today, he may not even have that.

Trees May Grow On Village Square If Only Boat Can Get You There

Daffodils are $1.50 a dozen. "It's due to the rain."

Romaine lettuce has brown spots. Again, it's the rain. The lichen is heavy on the apple and Spanish moss hangs long on the oak. My shoes are green on their bottoms. Greenshoes, they call me.

Part of the land near Overlook Drive in Bolinas is slipping, Mrs. Alice Silva advised the other day. Can it be that Curt Gentry is right that this is the year parts of our state will be eaten by the sea?

WATER ISN'T funny to a Marina Village man who sat in the back row at Corte Madera Town Hall Monday night and told about retired Col. John Conkle's water worries following Saturday's deluge.

"Yesterday," said the man, who identified himself only as a mariner of Yolo Drive, "I took a rowboat and rowed down there. There was water in that man's back yard. If I were he, I would be pretty damned mad.

"If I were he, I would be up here stomping," added the man. "It hasn't hit me yet but I care in principle. These houses are sinking further and further."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst placated the man, saying he should have attended a meeting three weeks ago when an offer of town aid was made to the villagers. It's up to the residents to look into an assessment district or a dike, said he.

The council also looked at colored slides showing a portion of Paradise Drive which has slipped, apparently due to subterranean waters.

ON HIGHER ground, the council discussed types of trees for proposed relandscaping of the Village Square.

Colored photographs of trees were passed around and a splendid, stalwart gray-haired woman handed sprigs of two trees to councilmen to view.

Mrs. Juliette Kraeger acted the heroine's role for half an hour in the play as follows:

"We have to have a tree that will hold up to our winds," said Mrs. Kraeger. She recommends New Zealand Christmas and mayten and named the genus of the first tree.

"Is it full? Does it block the view?" asked Councilman Robert P. Simmons. "The perennial favorite is the flowering plum," said Councilman Byron White. He also named genus. "It's so scraggly-looking in winter," responded Mrs. Kraeger.

Councilman H. S. Norville: "We have an approved list of trees for the town." Mrs. Kraeger sallied back: "It's at least 100 years old." Councilman Harold Wagstaff siad he would "go for" the mayten but also likes liquidambar and silver birch.

"They get very high and need watering," piped Mrs. K. "Why is the Town Council being the deciding factor on this?" queried Norville. "I think it's great!" retorted Mrs. Kraeger. "You're all getting to know what a tree looks like."

The subject was referred to the Village Square Association and the parks and recreation commission, of which Mrs. Kraeger is a member. The heroine went up to the dais, collected her sprigs and, a bit later, exited like a queen into the rainy night.

And speaking of rain, there's a great Valentine message with painted hearts on the base of a stop standard at Corte Madera and Redwood avenues. Funny, it wasn't noticeable on Feb. 14. It must have been the r - -n.

ABM System Looks Pretty Thin, But Explanation Plenty Thick

WASHINGTON — I had lunch with General Blunderbuss at the Army-Navy Club the other day, and I decided it would be a good time to ask him about the controversial antiballistic missile system.

"General, do we really need an ABM system?"

"Of course, we do. The military wouldn't push for it unless it was absolutely necessary," the general replied. "Would we?"

"Probably not. But there seems so much confusion about it. For one thing, you call it a 'thin' shield. That in itself doesn't give you much confidence in it."

"OF COURSE it doesn't," Blunderbuss said. "And that's the idea. If we call it a 'thin' shield, then Americans will demand a 'thick' shield, and that's what we wanted in the first place."

"Why didn't you propose a thick shield to start with?" I asked.

"Because it cost too much money. We've discovered from experience that if you ask for $5 billion, you can always get $20 billion more. But if you ask for $20 billion to start with, they might cut you down to $5 billion."

"But the critics say that the thin shield would have no effest as far as the Russians are concerned."

"The thin shield is not aied at the Russians. It's aimed at the Chinese. When the Chinese have their ICBMs, we're going to need something to stop them."

"THEN THE THICK shield you'll build after the thin shield will take care of the Soviet missiles?"

"Not necessarily. We're not sure that by the time we build a thick shield it will work."

"Why build it then?"

"My dear fellow, the object of the antiballistic missile system is not to knock down missiles; it's to give us something to negotiate with. If we announce we're building an ABM system, it will force the Soviets to build one and we're not sure they want to spend that kind of money. So the announcement would make the Soviets come to some arms-control agreement."

"But if we agree with the Soviets not to build an ABM system, how will that protect us from the Chinese?"

"WE WILL STILL build our thin shield, but the Soviets will know that it has nothing to do with their missiles. They obviously would have to build a thin shield of their own against the Chinese ICBMs, but we would know the Soviets would not wish our missiles any harm."

"Then we would have to come to some agreement as to how thin our shield could be?"

"Exactly."

"How could we do this if we don't know if your antiballistic system will work?"

"The Chinese don't know if it will work either. That's the beauty of the ABM system. If they were certain it worked, they could figure out ways to evade it. But if they don't know if it will work at all, it will act as a deterrent."

"THAT MAKES sense, but what worries people is that if you build a thin shield and the other side knows where the antiballistic missiles are located, then those places will be the first ones attacked. I must say I sympathize with the people in Boston for not wanting to be part of a 'thin' ABM shield."

"You've got to forget about Boston in the overall defense capability picture. We didn't select Boston because it's Boston. Heaven knows, if anything happened to Boston we'd all be terribly upset. But if we didn't build it in Boston, we'd have to build it somewhere else. Would you prefer we put it in Washington, D.C.?"

"Heck no. If that's the choice, by all means put it in Boston. I don't even have any relative there."

Resident Reports $1,500 Burglary

Nearly $1,500 in jewelry and clothing has been reported stolen from a San Rafael home.

Margaret P. Bunn of 71 West Seaview Avenue listed a $750 mink cape, a $100 ring, a $150 gold watch and a $150 cameo on a gold chain among the stolen items. Police said the burglar entered the home through a breakfast nook window.

Demos Oppose Campus Violence

A resolution opposing the threat or use of violence by anyone at San Francisco State College was adopted unanimously Tuesday by the Marin County Democratic Central Committee.

The resolutin, which took almost two hours to work out, also urged all parties to the conflicts at the campus to begin immediate negotations without any conditions, and called on Gov. Ronald Reagan to help lessen tensions there and to seek more money for educational programs, espcecially for minority groups.

Voting Hours

Voting hours for the election of 11 new members to the Marin City Target Area Board will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 27. The hours were given incorrectly to the Independent-Journal Tuesday. Voting will be in front of Hayden's market in Marin City.
